No imported fruit is welcomed to this market more heartily than the Californian peaches, pears, plums and apricots. They arrive here while our domestic fruits are yet almost in blossom and last right through our season. In fact, this year some housewives have preserved Californian peaches in preference to Canadian, being able to get them in Montreal at $1 a box retail. This year only 110 cars came to Montreal; last year when the crop was heavier 140 cars were sold in the city. Several Californian firms have agencies in Montreal and from here distributions are made over all Eastern Canada. American strawberries are also appreciated on this market, arriving months before ours are fit for the market.

SOFT DRINKS FOR ROYALTY.

The firm of M. Timmons & Son, Quebec, is one of long standing as manufacturers of soft beverages. From their first start they aimed to make an article entirely free from adulteration of any kind, such a pleasant and wholesome drink as would commend itself to the favor of consumers, and in this effort they have succeeded beyond expectation, for they have long occupied a leading position among manufacturers of the same lines of goods in the Dominion. The production of so many kinds of beverages, whether for medicinal or other purposes, forms an important item in the sum total of Quebec's manufacturing industry, and it is gratifying to the community to know that this pioneer house can always be depended on to supply a palatable article for table use, made from the purest ingredients and compounded with the expert skill that long years of experience affords. Such caterers to refined public taste as the Chateau Frontenac, the Garrison Club, the social institutions in St. Roch's, the Clarendon Hotel, Victoria Hotel, and the leading households of the city can testify to the superior quality of the products of the Timmons factory. And to this may be added the testimony of the Provincial Exhibitions from which Messrs. M. Timmons & Son hold first prizes, diplomas and medals for the excellence of their exhibits.

Combined with their main line of manufacturing they are sole agents and bottlers of the Caledonia Mineral Waters, a favorite drink so much used that it passes through the firm's hands in car loads.

The latest success achieved by this firm is portrayed in the following certificate:

H. M. S. OPHIR.

Quebec, Sept. 21, 1901.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT

Messrs. M. Timmons & Son, of Quebec, supplied the Royal Yacht with a very large quantity of soda water, lemonade, ginger ale and ginger beer for use on the homeward voyage, and that I have found all excellent.

THREE BRANDS OF CHEWING GUM.

Three brands of chewing gum which are having quite a popular run lately among the trade are the "Victoria Fruit," "Malted Pepsine," and "Maple Leaf," manufactured by The Canadian Chewing Gum Co., 363 Spadina ave., Toronto. These brands are all prepared with the utmost care as to quality. The first is a delicious chewing gum, popular with athletes, bicyclists, etc., and is put up in neat boxes containing six flavors. "Malted Pepsine" is a medicinal gum, furnishing, among other virtues, a capital aid to digestion. It is recommended by many physicians. The "Maple Leaf" brand is a great big bargain in chewing gum and sells rapidly among the young folks.

The Canadian Chewing Gum Co. are offering their goods to grocers on very liberal terms, some of their brands netting the retailer 100 per cent. profit. Trial orders will receive prompt attention, while the company will also be pleased to furnish samples and prices to intending customers.

THE REASON WHY.

The failure of the public to read an advertisement may be traced to the advertiser. Every man who knows his own business can write an advertisement about his wares or his methods which will prove as interesting to newspaper readers as are many of the articles paid for and published in the magazines. Every man can talk about his business to an acquaintance in an entertaining manner, and if he should write in the same spirit his advertisements would not lack readers.—Philadelphia Record.

A PUSHING BUSINESS MAN.

THE careers of few business men have been more interesting than that of F. R. Lalor, of Dunnville, Ont. Mr. Lalor started life as a dry goods clerk in Dunnville, and opened out for himself as a retail grocer in that town 17 years ago, with limited capital and a moderate connection. In the short space of time that has elapsed since then his business has extended until he now is owner of two of the largest dry goods businesses in the Dunnville district, and is partner in the largest grocery business in the town. A few years ago he started in the evaporating business, which has so grown that his works are now claimed to be the largest in America. The operating fuel is supplied from Mr. Lalor's own natural gas field, located five miles from Dunnville, the gas being conveyed through large iron mains. Five other evaporating plants are operated by Mr. Lalor at other points. He has a vinegar factory at Dunnville, where high-class cider vinegar is manufactured. Last year Mr. Lalor built a large canning factory, receiving a bonus of $10,000 from the town. This factory has since been turned over to a joint stock company, The F. R. Lalor Canning Co., Mr. Lalor holding a controlling interest. Great things are expected of this enterprise. Mr. Lalor's latest move has been the starting of a chicory factory. The chicory is grown by neighboring farmers, evaporated, roasted and ground in Dunnville, and the finished product is claimed to be fully equal to the imported article.

As a wholesale dealer and exporter of wood ashes, Mr. Lalor has also won success. The magnitude of his operations may be judged by the statement that the railway charges on his exports of ashes to the United States reached $60,000 last year. All of which bespeaks good progress in 17 years.

A WELL-EQUIPPED WHIP FACTORY.

The Hamilton Whip Co., Hamilton, have recently greatly enlarged their building, and they have now one of the largest and most complete plants of the kind in the world. They report a brisk trade, and have for months past been running their factory overtime. Having the latest and most improved automatic machinery, etc., they are in a position to manufacture reliable whips at the lowest possible prices consistent with best workmanship.

They have recently placed on the market a number of new leading lines of whips, which have been well received by the trade generally. They carry an enormous manufactured stock, and are in a position to complete all orders the day they are received.

For durability, quality, finish, etc., their goods have an enviable reputation throughout the whole Dominion.

A MISTAKE!

IT is, in our opinion, a mistake for the RETAIL GROCERS to defer, until late in the Fall of the year, stocking the New Season's Dried Fruits for the sake of saving a fraction of a cent per pound, at which the Latest Arrivals are generally offered, and, accordingly, to book their orders from Montreal, EX. SECOND DIRECT CARGO from the Mediterranean Ports, which means delivery from Montreal in the last days of November, often beginning of December, and the goods in their hands several days later.

Early Goods, only sometimes, cost a little more, while they are always worth to the retailers a great deal more than the late ones.

"The early bird catches the worm, and the early NEW GOODS secure the trade."

Observing merchants, who realize the advantages of receiving the New Dried Fruits at the earliest date possible, do not hesitate in buying their requirements from the EARLIEST ARRIVALS offering, and, by the time their competitors receive their first lot, they, very often, have ordered a second or third supply.

It is erroneous to believe that consumers do not want New Dried Fruits before Christmas-Eve, as they look for them immediately after the Green Fruits become scarce on the market, and the month of November is one of the best selling months for New Dried Fruits.

This is the experience of many shrewd retailers, but they are not in a hurry to boast of it to their less forward confreres who slumber peacefully while awaiting their supplies, 15th or 20th December, and who are sure to be left with ample stock after the holidays, to carry on a becoming JANUARY CHEAP SALE . . . at a respectable loss!

BUSINESS AND ITS MANAGEMENT.

A FEW HINTS IN REGARD TO THE MATTER.

COST PRICE, EXPENSE, PROFIT.

By ERNST TROY.

THESE are the main items that enter into every commercial calculation. Without accurate knowledge of the amount of each of the first two items, the third, and the most important, will always be an unknown and uncertain quantity.

The failure of many merchants and manufacturers, especially of the latter, is traceable to the fact, that they operate without a thorough and comprehensive method or system for ascertaining the cost price of their product and the relative percentage of expense incidental to conducting their business. As a consequence they either undervalue their goods, i.e., sell them too low, thereby incurring direct loss, because they realize insufficient, if any profit; or they place too high a value on their goods, resulting in loss of sales. Both errors will lead to decline of business and failure.

Those who have had experience in building, sometimes find, when the contractors' bids are opened, that the figures vary from 25 to 50 per cent., although they are all based upon the same plans and specifications and in face of the fact that the markets for the raw material and labor are open to all contractors alike. How then is this large difference between the bids to be accounted for? Very simply. Some of the contractors had not learned how to accurately arrive at the cost or the work required to be done. As the contract is usually awarded to the lowest bidder, it frequently happens that, after settling up, he finds that he has lost money on his job in place of the profit which he fancied would be left for him. On the other hand, the bidder who "overshoots the mark," by bidding too high is left out in the cold by his competitors.

Business men often make precisely the same mistake. A young mechanic, who has been employed in some kind of manufacturing business and thoroughly understands how to make a certain article of manufacture, connects himself with a good salesman in the same line of business. The former feels competent, and is, in fact, entirely capable of making the goods; the latter feels certain that he can sell the product. The young firm starts under, what seem to them, very favorable auspices, but neither of the partners has had any experience as a business manager or accountant. The practical man, the manufacturer, figures the cost of the goods and probably includes all items of material used and the amount paid for labor, believing that he has thus arrived at the cost price. Both partners then add to the total what would satisfy them for profit, but, as neither of them has ever had charge of the cash drawer of a manufacturing or business establishment and, not knowing how many items of different kinds and nature are daily paid out, which are as much a part of the cost of the manufactured product as the raw material and price paid for labor, these items are ignored in their calculation. They go along in business and think they are making money until the first inventory is taken, when, to their amazement, they find that they have made little gain or that they have actually lost money. Not knowing how to account for this state of affairs, they imagine all sorts of causes—sometimes suspecting employees of dishonesty, when the true reason is, they did not know the cost of their goods and therefore imagined they were earning a profit.

An investigation follows which reveals the true cause of the trouble. To wit: The supposed profit was based upon an erroneous cost. The question then arises, What is the remedy? The answer—find the way to ascertain the correct cost of your goods, the percentage of expense connected therewith, and be sure you have these two items summed up right before you add the profit you wish to realize. What a reasonable percentage of profit for a successful operation of the business should be, will depend upon the nature of the business, the stability of the goods, and the competition to be met. No criterion can be set for such a percentage. What would be considered a liberal profit in one line of business would be entirely inadequate in another, but no profit can be safely calculated without positive knowledge regarding the cost price of the goods.

It is not within the scope of this article to furnish a formula for the purpose of ascertaining the cost. Each line of business will require a different method and system according to the character and nature of the respective business.

It is only intended to point out the necessity of the introduction at the beginning of business of a thorough and complete system for the proper calculation of the cost price. An expert accountant familiar with the line of business can construct such a system and it would be advisable for young beginners to adopt the system in use by some successful house in their line, with such modifications as their own business will suggest.

The cost price should include:

The raw material, freight, travelling expenses of buyer, labor, rent of factory premises, insurance on plant, power, light, heat and packing expenses; depreciation of machinery, tools and patterns. In short, every item and outlay which pertains to the factory and is properly a factory charge which no manufacturer can escape or avoid to complete the manufactured article ready for delivery to the purchaser—these items are ascertainable by quantity, weight, measure, time average or percentage.

Expense should be divided into two parts:

(a) Store expense:

This account should include all items of expense which do not add anything to the value of the product but necessarily arise from and are incidental to conducting the business, such as store or office rent, insurance of manufactured stock, taxes, bookkeepers, postage, stationery, credit department expense, etc.

(b) Selling expense:

Composed of salesmen's salaries, commissions, travelling expenses, and advertising.

When the relative percentage of expense to the amount of goods manufactured has been ascertained and due allowance has been made for the same and for discounts allowed to customers and probable losses on bad debts, the business man is in proper position to fix the percentage of profit to be added to his goods in order to realize satisfactory results.

To sum up:

First. Find the correct cost price.

Second. Ascertain percentage of expense to be covered.

Third. Make due provision for loss and shrinkage.

Fourth. Make all the profit you can legitimately secure.—Endorsed and adopted for circulation by the Business Literature Committee of the National Association of Credit men.—The Bookkeeper.

SHORT-SIGHTED BUSINESS MEN.

By The Philosopher.

NOT long ago a very large manufacturing concern — one of the AaA1 class doing an international business — concluded to install an advertising department, and steps were taken toward employing a capable person to conduct the department, according to Shop Talk. The member of the corporation having the matter in hand was the secretary, a pleasant looking, soft spoken, man. Among others who were invited to call for an interview with this gentleman was a man who, as an advertiser, had won considerable fame. The man called upon the Secretary. The Secretary did not seem to be well acquainted with his caller's reputation. That, however, may not have been his fault.

He asked a few general questions; not the brusque, leading questions that would be put to a man in view of the importance of the proposed position; rather, they were shy, hesitating, unimportant, betraying the official's inexperience with the question of publicity, the value of all sorts of experience, the amount of detail-routine clerical and high calibre brain work demanded of the man who should install such a department, and even of the real worth of such a department to the company.

The Secretary asked the man his price.

The Man: "Six thousand dollars."

"What will you guarantee for six thousand dollars?"

"My best services."

The Secretary laughed. That was impolite. The man politely asked what they had expected to pay—not that he was willing to accept less, but as a lead to reopening the conversation along more business-like discussion and convincing the official of his experience, ability and value.

The Secretary laughed again.

The man said "Good day," and left.

This is an instance wherein, presumably, two good parties failed to connect because of a lack of understanding of common ground, rather, because the official was not the kind of a man to examine candidates or because the man was not sufficiently self-assertive to bulldoze the Secretary into listening to him and weighing his statements.

In this particular case the man in question actually was a person of large experience in this work of organizing and developing departments of publicity, with training embracing nearly every branch of the advertising business, and might have made a most capable manager of the new department, justifying the six thousand dollars (which, by the way, was but a few dollars more than his current earnings) and eventually warranting a much higher salary.

This is not an isolated case; it is of common occurrence. What if the man did ask more than the company, doubtless, had expected to pay? Why not find out what basis the man had for asking six thousand dollars?

If his reason did not justify it the Secretary then would have been right in refusing further consideration; if his work did justify it then it is assumable that the man was too good a man to decline merely because of a matter of price; it is even presumable that he might have proved the cheapest man for the job.

Perhaps if the man did not know his capacity and was not earning enough—his position, be it remarked, was one of trust and responsibility involving the expenditure of money, but which, for personal reasons, he would have relinquished for this other—and had asked $25, $50, or $60 a week this would have come nearer to the company's estimate and perhaps have gotten the place.

Now the question is did the company want $1,200 service or $6,000 service.

If the company could have secured relatively better and cheaper service at $6,000 than at $1,200, would it not have been equally ready, barring its secretary's blundering, to take advantage of the opportunity.

Who lost by the contretemps, the man or the company?

Is it worth while to endeavor to ascertain the ability of a candidate for a position, irrespective of wages asked and the amount one expects to pay?

Is it worth while being businesslike?

THE BUSINESS MAN'S STATIONERY.

Business men are practising false economy when they imagine they can get along without printed stationery, such as letter heads, note heads and envelopes. Of course, they can get along in a sort of a way, just as can a man who wears shabby clothing. But the appearance is much better when neatly printed stationery is used in business correspondence. In fact, it is positively unbusinesslike to be without it, and certainly leaves a rather unfavorable impression on those who receive communications written on such paper.

Printing really adds but little to the cost of plain stationery and the business man who refuses to add the increased cost is short-sighted indeed, for he loses more than he gains.

INTEGRITY IN BUSINESS.

Apart altogether from moral considerations it does not pay to be lacking in strict integrity in business. The man who is careless about his habits in this regard; who is willing, when the opportunity presents itself, to take advantage of others by sharp practices, is bound, sooner or later, to win for himself a reputation which will prove not only unenviable, but unprofitable—shutting himself out from sympathy and active help in time of need, and making everyone who deals with him suspicious of his actions and careful that he gets no opportunity for victimizing them.

While sitting in a restaurant the other day, the writer overheard a conversation between two business men which illustrates the point.

"Do you sell Brown, in Brownstown?" asked the younger of the two men.

"No; he wants our goods, but he tried some sharp work with us four or five years ago, and we made Jones our agent in that town. He was not as big a man as Brown then, but he has several agencies in the same way since and now has the larger business of the two. He has not as much capital as Brown, but he has a far better credit."

Another case of the kind was brought before my notice the other day by a young grocer. "I had to do a difficult thing to-day, said he. "A grocer whom we both know wanted $500 for six months. I had the money and he knew I had it. But three years ago I lent him $100 for three months, and though he was able to pay me at the time promised he kept me waiting for almost a year. I did not make any fuss then, but I resolved never to run any more risks with him. I had to tell him this, to explain why I would not give him the money. He says he can make $200 with the $500 in six months, but cannot get the money. It's hard to shut him out of that chance, but probably the lesson will be worth more than $200 to him."

A few weeks ago an instance of an altogether different nature illustrates the point almost as well as either of these two. One wholesale merchant called in to see a friend about a customer in the country. "He has been buying for cash with us for some time," explained he, "and now wants an unusually large order on time. How is he?"

"Safe as a rock," answered the friend. "He resolved at the bottom, and has not much cash yet. But you can depend that he won't buy anything he can't pay for. If he puts in an exceptionally large order it is because he has to fill one of that kind, or because he is sure of a sale for it in some way."

"Thanks; I'll send him the goods."

The goods have already been paid for; much sooner than was anticipated.

Honesty pays; there is sometimes temporary advantage in deception, but in the end it will prove unprofitable.

D.

CHANGING FROM CREDIT TO CASH.

The following reasons are given by Business as the basis of a letter that might be sent out by a merchant who has decided to adopt the cash system:

January 1 will see an important change at our store.

This is what the change will be:

On and after that date we shall pay spot cash for everything we buy.

Everybody who buys anything from us will be obliged to pay us spot cash for it.

These words "everybody" and "everything" mean exactly what they say—there will be no exceptions made.

These are the reasons why:

If we sell on credit, we must buy on credit.

If we buy on credit, we must lose the discounts cash buyers get.

That means that we must sell the goods for a trifle more than we ought to.

If we buy and sell on credit, it calls for a large amount of expensive book-keeping.

That means that we must sell our goods for another trifle more than we ought to.

If we sell on credit, we are sure to lose a certain amount a year on bad debts.

That means that we must sell our goods for still another trifle more than we ought to.

Under a credit system, we can't snap up the special bargain lots that are always on the market.

We can't buy the sacrifice stock of the man who must have money.

We can't buy closely and turn our stock quickly.

▲ We must buy regular lines of regular goods at regular seasons.

All these things will be different now—in our store.

The change for the better will be immediately seen on every counter, every shelf and every price-tag.

We shall carry more goods, fresher goods, better goods, more stylish goods.

We shall have a lot of money, and we shall divide the saving with you—with the lion's share for you.

"DO IT NOW'S" FOR THE GROCER.

Written for THE GROCER by G.R.B.

THAT short phrase can be of more importance in the saving of money and trouble in the career of the ordinary business man than the one, "Do It Now?" Is there any merchant who, as he reads this phrase, cannot recall to his memory numerous incidents that occurred where money could have been saved if he had taken the prompt action implied in our subject. I think not. Therefore, it is not out of place for me to give a few suggestions where prompt action could be used to advantage, so that those who read may learn.

If your stock of a certain article is running low and you think it time to order more, don't wait until the last package has been sold and another customer in the store for the same article that must be dismissed with the phrase "Just out." Don't delay until such time, I say, but send your order and "Do It Now."

Some line of goods you purchased may not meet with the approval of your customers, and therefore it remains upon your shelves. You think it time it should be placed upon the bargain table to be turned into ready cash. Don't put off this necessary action until the goods become unsaleable—turn your thoughts into actions and "Do It Now."

When you receive a telephone order don't proceed to wait on the other customers before entering the 'phone order, but "Do It Now."

If your window display has been greeting the eye of the public for the past three months or more, and you think a change would do it good, don't delay; follow up your thoughts and "Do It Now."

When a customer in haste gives you an order at the door, don't trust to your memory to remind you of that order at your leisure, but make a memo of it, and "Do It Now."

If a shipment of goods arrives, don't leave the checking of weights and numbers of parcels until to-morrow, but "Do It Now." Short weights and breakages must have immediate attention if allowances are desired.

If you advertise in the daily newspaper to obtain best results, change your advertisement every day. Don't let the same copy appear from day to day until several weeks are past. Consider the possibilities of extra business from changing an advertisement and "Do It Now."

If a draft from your wholesaler is presented, don't think it nerve on his part, asking for your acceptance; but if you can possibly fulfil the requirements of the draft, accept it, and "Do It Now."

If a note soon falls due for which you haven't sufficient funds on hand at present to meet its requirements, don't delay making preparations to fulfil your obligations. Make a start to collect some of the outstanding accounts, and "Do It Now."

If your delivery system fails to get customers' goods to their homes at the promised time, which causes customers to complain, don't wait until your complaining customers are dealing at the place across the way before making the necessary change, but "Do It Now."

Don't let unscrupulous travellers, by holding out tempting offers, persuade you to overload yourself with slow selling merchandise. The chief evil arising from overstocking, financial embarrassment, may, perchance, overtake you. Make up your mind once and for all that you will only buy in quantities to suit your trade, and "Do It Now."

To make a success of your business don't know too many of your neighbors' business methods; for, in condemning these to your customers, you but give your neighbor a free advertisement. Make up your mind to know only your own business, and "Do It Now."

Analysis of Messrs. Violet Freres' "Byrrh" :

We have carefully analyzed samples of the "Byrrh" Wine of Messrs. Violet Freres, of Thuir, France (Pyrenees Orientales).

The conclusions at which we have arrived, as the result of the investigation, are that "Byrrh" is an article of great purity, that no ingredients but Wine of high-class quality, and bitters of a wholesome and unobjectionable character enter into its composition, and that it is also quite free from adventitious impurities.

The flavour and bouquet of Messrs. Violet Freres' "Byrrh" are particularly agreeable, and the results we have obtained lead us to pronounce it an excellent, wholesome and appetising wine.

Every grocer in Canada should have it in stock. Here are a few of the reasons why you should sell it :—

Because no other article will give such excellent satisfaction to your customers.

Because the packets make a handsome display which will attract the eye of everyone who enters your store.

Because your customers are going to be told all about its excellent baking qualities through every leading paper in Canada, and they will ask for it and accept nothing else.

Because it gives you a handsome profit—a case of 120 packets, which retails at 5c. each, costs you $3.00.

Because the "Empire" spirit is strong in the heart of every Canadian woman, and this is the only British article of the kind on the market.

THE CHEESE MARKET.

CHEESE has reverted to 8¾ to 9c. for Quebec and 9¼ to 9½c. for Western Septembers on the Montreal wharf, but even at the low price the market shows but little activity.

To date this season we have shipped 1,859,444 boxes, against 2,161,152 boxes last year, a decline of 301,708 boxes on the season's shipments. This decrease has been noticeable for some months, but exporters have been trying to find solace in the thought that the Englishman must be refusing to speculate, that stocks in England must be light, that the demand must come in time, that prices must advance, that everything would be lovely in the sweet by-and-by. Now comes the startling intelligence that stocks in England are at least as heavy as last year. Stocks in Liverpool on October 1 were 104,000 boxes, against 85,000 on the same date last year and 53,000 boxes two years ago. London and Bristol also are pretty well loaded up. Stocks in Montreal amount to at least 400,000 boxes, and probably 500,000 boxes, which, even for this time of the year, are heavy. There are considerable goods of June and July make still in the market, and September make is only beginning to move. Add to these facts the other that the weather in England is, unlike last fall, favorable to a heavy pack, and the outlook is scarcely promising.

Yet, those best informed have faith in the future of the market. One condition that leads them to think thus is the relative low price of cheese this year as compared with last. If the English retailer puts his price down in proportion, the consumption ought to increase. But will he? Can he sell at 5d. per lb.? Another important point to note is the fact that a great many cheese factories are turning to the manufacture of butter. At the present high price of butter the farmer can make 15c. per 100 lb. more on his milk by giving it to the butter factory than by having it made into cheese. It is said that all Quebec is going into butter, while some large factories in Ontario have also changed over to the other side of the dairy business. This must cause an appreciable diminution in the fall make, amounting at least to 100,000 boxes. Yet the English importer refuses to nibble.

It is thus very difficult to presage the future course of values. It is difficult to see how they can go lower, while some think that if a man of nerve came into the market and bought 40,000 or 50,000 boxes he would bolster up prices in two days. But a boom was tried some weeks ago and failed. Taking it all in all, the situation is so mixed that dealers do not know "where they are at." The various influences at work cannot be calculated.

SATISFACTORY EGG MARKET.

CANADIAN eggs are meeting with phenomenal success in England this fall. To date, this season has shown a falling-off in our shipments, but if the outlook counts for anything this decrease will shortly be converted into an increase. Last week's shipments were considerably above those of the corresponding week last year.

At the opening of the pickled egg season a few weeks ago, contracts were entered into at 6s. 8d. to 6s. 10d. But there were firms more optimistic who had faith in higher prices and to-day they are getting 7s. c. i. f. for their goods. Seldom, if ever, have the Canadian pickled eggs turned out better than they are this year, as we pointed out a few weeks ago. They are strong in price and in good condition, and the good quality is having its influence upon the British market.

The condition is in striking contrast to that of last year, when the eggs were put into the vats under trying circumstances. This spring was cool and probably that fact, more than any other, accounts for the satisfactory results.

Fresh eggs are now in better request in England, the last sales reported being at 8s. 2d. c. i. f.

SCARCITY OF FISH.

SPEAKING to THE CANADIAN GROCER this week, an experienced dealer in fish gave it as his opinion that during the last 25 years sea fish, such as cod and herring, had never been as scarce as they are this year. During the past two months it has been very difficult to obtain supplies, and the lowest price for No. 1 green cod now is $5.25 per bbl., and for No. 1 Nova Scotia herrings, $5.50 per bbl. These are fish dealers' prices, and wholesale dealers ask $1 per bbl. more.

It seems reasonably certain that this scarcity cannot be relieved during the coming season, and dealers can prepare to pay big prices. The consumption, however, will likely be checked by these high prices, particularly when frozen smelts, pickerel and other fresh Manitoba fish begin to arrive. The same dealer whom we have quoted above ventured the statement that the public will not buy cod or herring when they go higher than $7 per bbl., if a substitute can be procured.

It has been pointed out during the past week that Montreal harbor has seen a complete change in the matter of herring importations. Not many years ago the port would be teeming with 30,000 or 40,000 barrels of Nova Scotia, Cape Breton and Labrador herring, representing about $200,000, while to-day scarcely a few hundred barrels can be seen. This week one shipper got in a big shipment, amounting to two cars. The famous Labrador herring used to be distributed from this centre to Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. All this trade, and that done in flour and cereals by the ships on their return trips, has been swept away on account of the failure of the fish catch on the Labrador, Newfoundland and Nova Scotia coasts.

CEYLON AND INDIAN GREEN TEAS IN CANADA,

THE business that is being done in Canada just now in Indian and Ceylon green teas is not satisfactory. The package tea houses are steadily taking them, but very few transactions are reported on wholesale account.

There is an inquiry for them from the wholesale houses and some samples are being shown, but the difficulty is in regard to price.

During the summer months the quantity of Ceylon greens consigned to this market was rather larger than the requirements demanded. The result was, as it always inevitably is, that sales were made at prices that were anything but remunerative. Now, when those in the trade are open to buy, they want to do so at the old figures, which the holders declare they cannot afford to accept. The difference in the views of buyers and sellers is from 2 to 3c. per lb.

Judging from the private advices from Colombo, to which we have recently had access, the growers there are anything but satisfied with the prices they have received.

One of the largest firms in Colombo writes its representative in Toronto that the prices at which he has been selling green teas are lower by  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1d. than can be got at the auctions in Colombo for black teas from the same gardens. The firm in question declares that unless buyers in Canada increase their limits or the Ceylon Government increases the bonus, which is 80-100 of 1d. per lb., the growers will have to stop making green tea.

It is, no doubt, most discouraging to sell tea at a loss: but we cannot but think that those engaged in making green teas in Ceylon are disposed to evince discouragement rather early in the campaign.

The position that black teas of Ceylon and Indian growth occupy in the world to-day was obtained only after the expenditure of much effort, time and money. It may not require as much effort, time and money to introduce and establish upon the market the green description as it did the black, simply because India and Ceylon are now well known as tea-producing countries. But the growers and dealers in India and Ceylon cannot expect that they are going to accomplish with green tea in a few months what has taken them several years to accomplish in regard to black teas.

NEW MEDITERRANEAN FRUITS.

THE S.S. Escalona, from Patras and Denia, with the first direct shipment of 1901 Mediterranean dried fruit, arrived in Montreal last Saturday with a cargo of 58,394 packages of raisins and 17,560 packages of currants.

The fruit has opened out fresh and plump, rather small, perhaps, yet free from any of the defects that ruined last year's trade.

In this respect Canadian importers have learned a lesson; they will buy no more cheap fruits. Last year, when prices were high, a cry went up for the lowest priced goods, the result was, and still is, wholesalers have a considerable quantity of candied raisins on their hands. One firm is disposing of Morand's last year's fine off stalk, kept in cold storage all summer, at $1 per 28-lb. box. This is the highest price now ruling on 1900 raisins.

So dealers have come to the conclusion that the only safe course to pursue at such a distance from the scene of operations is to buy only from reputable houses, and of these only the best brands. In consequence there is, as a general rule, good fruit landing this year.

We notice another tendency, to get goods here early. In former years importers have found it profitable to bring the bulk of their shipments by the second direct vessel, but last year they got a surfeit of this policy. The late arrival of the goods caused an endless amount of trouble and annoyance, particularly where contracts were made for shipment by boat, and the goods were not in retailers' hands early enough in the holiday period. To insure delivery in open navigation and to have the consumption commence early, some wholesalers have brought the bulk of their importations by the S.S. Escalona.

This year the market did not show much difference in the prices of the two cargoes. The bulk of the orders were placed about 16s. 6d., which will allow the wholesalers to sell the standard brands of finest off-stalk Valencias out-of-stock at  $5\frac{1}{4}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. Since the Bellona, the second vessel, has sailed the market has declined to 15s. for best and 13s. 6d. to 14s. for inferior brands. Currants are steady.

HOW AN INJUSTICE IS DONE TO CANADA.

M R. J. G. COLMER, secretary to the High Commissioner in London, has done Canada a good service in calling attention to the erroneous figures that were being circulated by a London firm regarding the imports of Canadian dressed beef into Great Britain.

The actual exports of dressed beef of Canadian production to Great Britain during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, were 8,819,213 lb. valued at $725,737, against 2,548,653 lb. valued at $203,339 the previous year. According to the figures issued by the London firm, instead of an increase there was an enormous decrease, which the firm, when written to by Mr. Colmer, said had been taken from the British returns.

It turns out that the discrepancy between the Canadian and British figures was due to the old practice which obtains in Great Britain of crediting to the United States the products of Canada which are exported to the Mother Country via United States ports.

It is time the Dominion Government took the matter up and brought strong pressure to bear upon the Imperial authorities to have the present system of tabulating imports so amended as shall enable the imports of Canadian products to appear in the returns in their proper quantity and at their proper value.

THE REJECTED CANNED BEEF.

We have been given to understand that the Canadian Department of Agriculture has cabled to South Africa asking for the return of a few cases of the shipment of Canadian canned beef which was rejected by the War Office as being unfit for human food.

The firm that put up the meat challenges the report of the War Office, and it is understood that the chemists who examined the goods before they were shipped practically do the same thing.

On this side of the Atlantic the reputation of Canadian canned beef stands high, the home market being largely supplied thereby, and it is important that the matter should be thoroughly investigated.

THE UNION OF CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

Viewed as a Business Proposition.

WHEN in 1869, Newfoundland by the vote of its people refused to come into the Confederation which two years before had given the Dominion of Canada birth, Sir John Macdonald, the then Premier of the young Commonwealth wrote the Governor-General of Canada that "the acquisition of the Island is of little importance to Canada * * * We can wait therefore with patience for the inevitable reaction that must take place in a year or two."

Not only have the two years passed but nearly 30 besides, and still the Island which does sentinel duty at the entrance to Canada's great inland waterway is outside the pale of Confederation.

CANADA NOT AN ARDENT WOOER.

Because she is a colony separate and distinct from us, it does not follow that no attempt has been made to woo and win her. But the Dominion was never an ardent wooer. There was a desire, born perhaps of a little pride, to give Confederation that completeness which it was the ambition of its fathers to see; but, like Sir John Macdonald, most people considered that "the acquisition of the Island was of little importance to Canada." But while we were ignorant of the importance and the possibilities of Newfoundland, the latter was undoubtedly prejudiced against the Dominion. Among the ignorant portions of her population unscrupulous politicians circulated the rumor that Canada wanted to possess Newfoundland in order that she might use infant Newfoundlanders as

WADS FOR CANNON.

And what is strange, among a good many it found credence. Under such conditions, voluntary union was not possible. And our experience with Nova Scotia had set the seal against a union of any other description.

But the clouds of ignorance and the evils of prejudice are passing away. And those who in both colonies persisted that union was inevitable, even when others declared that Newfoundland had chosen "perpetual celibacy," are not unlikely to see the desire of their hearts and be satisfied.

UNION DESIGNED BY NATURE.

The two countries were never designed by nature to each go down through time separate political entities. Remembering that Labrador is a part of the political Newfoundland, it is no geographical blunder to say that the Dominion and Newfoundland are now only divided by an invisible boundary line, while as members of the British Empire the two are one.

SENTIMENT AND BUSINESS.

But sentiment is not everything, especially in these days when the spirit of commercialism is becoming a greater force in the world than the desire for national aggrandizement. And while sentiment is a pleasant prospect on which to dwell, and a quality that neither cannot be nor should be eliminated in this matter of union between Canada and Newfoundland, it is just as well that we should consider it from a business standpoint; for it will be from such a standpoint that the success of the union will in future be judged should it ever be consummated.

THE ATTEMPT OF 1895.

When we consider the question of union from a business standpoint we naturally

Canada and Newfoundland. At that time the Island was in severe financial straits. If ever a country appeared to be on the verge of financial ruin it was Newfoundland. On May 16, 1895, the papers, defining upon what condition Newfoundland was willing to confederate with the Dominion, were laid upon the table of the House of Commons.

Briefly, Newfoundland asked Canada to assume its debt of $15,000,000, which included the railway obligation, and an annual subsidy of $650,000. Canada, as represented by the administration of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, offered to assume $10,350,000 of indebtedness and to grant $6,000 per mile to the railway that was at that time in process of construction across the Island. As this $6,000 per mile would have meant an expenditure on that account of $1,692,000, it follows that Canada was willing to assume a charge of $12,042,000 or a little less than $3,000,000 below the sum stipulated by Newfoundland. In regard to the annual subsidy there was a difference of $150,000, the amount the think of a partnership; and in the further process of reasoning one is led to consider what is to be gained by such a partnership. A business transaction is only satisfactory in as far as it results in profit to those party to it.

THE CONDITIONS OF 1895.

It is six years since the last attempt was made to bring about a union between Canadian Government was willing to give being $500,000. With Newfoundland in the financial condition it was, it was thought by many that it valued itself at too high a figure. But those who have carefully studied the subject, particularly in the light of to-day, not only realize that the price was not unreasonable but that it was a better figure than we can ever again expect to have submitted to us in any future negotiations that may be undertaken.

BUNGLED NEGOTIATIONS.

We considered then, and we have had no occasion since to change our mind, that the Bowell Administration never entered into the consideration of question of union with Newfoundland with energy and an ambitious desire to bring it about, while it certainly did not conduct the negotiations in a business-like way. No doubt the serious dissensions that were brewing in the Cabinet, and that shortly after resulted in the famous bolt of its seven members, incapacitated the Government from grappling with the Newfoundland or any other question in a proper manner. But that is only an explanation of, not a justification for, the manner in which the negotiations of 1895 were bungled.

VIEWED FROM A BUSINESS STANDPOINT, the union of Canada and Newfoundland is a consummation devoutly to be desired. Newfoundland is, by no means, the barren country it was up to even a recent period thought to be. And its industrial features are not confined to its fisheries. Its seal and cod fisheries are still, of course, its principal industries, but it is now recognized that its possibilities in such industries as mining, lumbering and pulp making are most promising. The prominence which it has within the last few years gained in regard to its Bell Isle iron ores is, of course, well-known. Not only are these ores practically unlimited in quantity, but they are the most easily and cheaply mined of any iron ores in the world. In fact, it is the very low cost at which they can be laid down that gives Sydney the advantage which it doubtless possesses over Pittsburg and other iron and steel centres on this continent.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S RAILWAY.

The railway, which was not finished when Canada and Newfoundland last entered into negotiations for union, is now in operation across the Island, connecting at Port Aux Basques with an excellent tri-weekly steamship service plying between that point and the railway system of Canada. The railway is now an asset of the Island, the ownership having, through a recent agreement, again reverted to the Government, and with it 3,000,000 acres of land and the ownership of the colonial telegraphs.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S TRADE.

Although the population of Newfoundland is only about 210,000, its aggregate foreign trade last year was $16,000,000, of which $8,597,414 were exports and $7,497,147 imports. The revenue was $2,050,000.

Taking our own official returns as the basis, less than 2 per cent. of Newfoundland's aggregate trade was with Canada. Does anyone mean to say that with two countries, one politically and commercially, that this proportion would not soon rapidly increase? Our exports to are a great deal larger than our imports from Newfoundland, being, in 1900, $2,144,070 and $660,678 respectively. Our chief exports to Newfoundland during 1899 and 1900 were as follows:

THE DEBT QUESTION.

To take over Newfoundland would mean an increase in our public debt. But so did the taking over of the several Provinces at Confederation. Had Newfoundland entered the Dominion then we would have had to assume its debt. But Newfoundland is certainly more to be desired now than then, and Canada is certainly in a better position to assume the Island's liabilities now than she was then. The little Customs revenue that Canada would lose through Newfoundland's coming into the Confederation would be practically nil. Nearly all the merchandise we import from Newfoundland comes in under the free list. Last year, for example, the dutiable imports were only $12,303, on which the duty collected was $2,740. On the other hand the revenue of Newfoundland, which last year amounted to $2,000,000, would accrue to Canada.

THE FRENCH SHORE DIFFICULTY.

If one can judge from the interviews and the editorials which have recently appeared in the daily press nine-tenths of the people of this country are in favor of Confederation with Newfoundland, but quite a number only favor this after the French shore difficulty has been settled. This we cannot consider any other than a narrow proposition. While we do not believe that the difficulty will ever result in a resort to arms by the two great powers concerned, as long as it is unsettled there is always the possibilities of such an unfortunate eventuality. Consequently, Canada should be almost as much concerned as Newfoundland herself in the settlement of the question, for the Dominion would possibly suffer just as much from a resort to arms as the Island itself. With the question a Canadian one, it is the general opinion, particularly among journalists in Great Britain, that a solution of it would soon be found. There is therefore nothing for Canada to gain from a policy of drift, and it is short-sighted of us to think otherwise. The French shore difficulty is becoming less and less formidable. The St. John's correspondent of The London Financial Daily News in a recent article said: "For the past 20 years the French have been losing their hold on our western seaboard. The number of their stations have declined very rapidly from almost 100 to less than 20. At the present moment, including both cod and lobster locations, they maintain only 16 stations on the whole 800 miles of coast where they exercise fishing rights."

From the standpoint of practical politics, and from the standpoint of business commonsense, the Confederation of Canada and Newfoundland is to be desired. And it is gratifying to see that the people of both colonies are recognizing that such a consummation would be best for both.

INTO LARGER PREMISES.

McBride & Stronach, wholesale fruit and produce commission merchants, Toronto, have recently moved into more commodious premises at 23 Church street, in order to accommodate their increasing business. The firm are prepared to buy and sell on commission. fruit, butter, eggs, poultry, potatoes and all kinds of produce. They aim to realize the best price possible for their patrons and to make prompt returns. Such business methods should secure them a liberal share of patronage.

A Royal Tea

The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York used
"Red Rose" Tea during their visit in St. John.

The selection of "Red Rose" Tea by those in authority to be served to their Royal guests is good proof of the high standing this brand has attained.

In the Maritime Provinces "Red Rose" Tea is accepted as a standard by which other teas are judged, and enjoys a much larger sale than has ever before been attained by any other brand.

In Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland the sales are already assuming large proportions, although it has only recently been introduced in these Provinces.

In Manitoba and the Northwest Territories business is just being started, but I am quite confident that the people there will appreciate good tea just as much as they do in the East.

I claim for "Red Rose" that it is "good tea." The kind of tea that most people like best. The kind of tea that helps increase a grocer's business.

It is composed of Ceylon and Indian Teas, and is packed in six grades to retail at 25c., 30c., 35c., 40c., 50c., and 60c. per lb.—1 and  $\frac{1}{2}$ -lb. packets.

Each grade is put up either Black, Mixed or Ceylon Green.

Flour, Breakfast Foods and Feed.

Hints For Those Who Handle Them.

FLOUR AND CEREAL FOODS IN THE RETAIL STORE.

It is true with regard to practically every staple line handled by the retail grocer, flour and feed prove particularly good lines to the dealers who buy them most shrewdly, handle them properly and sell them to best advantage. The principal factor in a good flour and feed trade seems to be skilled buying, but this is followed up by the best retailers by care in handling and energy in selling. A member of the staff of THE CANADIAN GROCER interviewed several Toronto retailers on the matter the other day. The opinions given are worth reading.

NOT WHAT IT USED TO BE.

"The flour trade is not what it used to be," said James Knowles, who has carried on a flour and feed business on Yonge street for over quarter of a century. "There was a time when we could depend on flour keeping for some time in the summer, but we cannot now. Manitoba wheat flour might last a month, but other kinds should not be kept more than two weeks. The trouble is, I think, that moths have gotten into the mills and cannot be got rid of.

"Years ago we bought flour in barrels. Now I only get it in bags, which are not only more convenient to me but more satisfactory to my customers than were the barrels. I only get certain brands and keep these in stock all the time. I only buy as I need, sometimes every week, sometimes not so frequently."

"Do you have any trouble with rats or mice?"

"No. I have two good cats."

"Is there much change in the breakfast food trade?"

"Yes. The introduction of so many new kinds of package goods has created a demand which we knew nothing of years ago, though the trade in bulk breakfast foods is still good. I do not handle every line of the new goods; only those which have proved to be popular."

THE VALUE OF CONSISTENCY.

"The best way to buy flour is to get a good line and to depend on it; to believe in it, and to make your customers believe in it," said D. J. Kelly, of Kelly Bros., Queen street east. "By having a line, including about half-a-dozen brands, which can be depended on, one may expect to give satisfaction to their customers; and that is what you must do to build up a trade in any line. We get all our flour, with the exception of one brand, from one house. They not only guarantee its quality but protect us in the matter of price. If they anticipate an advance they notify us, and we make a contract, to have it delivered as we need it. If prices jump suddenly and we send in our order at once we are allowed half the advance. This is good for us in every way, and, as we sell a large amount of flour and sell theirs almost exclusively, it is, I should judge, good for them.

"We keep it upstairs in a room in which there is nothing else that could possibly taint it or affect its quality in any way. Most of it we keep in the centre of the room. The rest is on stands high enough for a cat to get a good chance after a mouse.

"We have an excellent trade in flour, not because we cut prices, but because we have convinced our customers they can depend on our qualities."

BUY ACCORDING TO MARKET.

"The best way to buy flour," said D. Bell, Yonge street, "is to watch the market closely and buy according to conditions. The travellers tell us when an advance is probable, and I have my own opinions. When I think the market is so low that buying ahead is safe, and may prove profitable, I place a big order. When the market is high and not likely to go higher, my orders are based according to my immediate requirements.

"I get five brands and stand by them exclusively. They have proven satisfactory to my customers, so I will keep them as long as their quality is as good as it now is.

"Care should be given to the

STORAGE AND HANDLING

of flour. Like butter, it draws taste from other goods, so must be kept apart from anything that might affect it. I keep it on tables in my storeroom. Being on tables, it is also free from mice or rats.

"As to selling, I treat it as I do other staples. It is well to push it once in a while. I am now distributing a few samples of high-grade flour in miniature barrels, which the makers of one of my brands have supplied me with. Once in a while it is well to make a good display of flour, either in the window, or in the interior of the store."

NEVER SPECULATE IN FLOUR.

"We never speculate in flour; never buy in anticipation of an advance," said Mr. A. Moyer, of M. Moyer & Son, Spadina avenue. We buy as we need it, in four sizes of bags, stones, halves, quarters and eighths. We have two brands as leaders and a couple of others for those who want something different from them. We keep them, as you see, on our back counter. They thus help to advertise themselves and require very little pushing. We have not any special trade in flour, but supply practically all our family customers with it. We treat it as a staple line in every way.

"Breakfast foods are a good line, and the demand for them is constantly growing.

LOOKS FOR A PROFIT.

"My idea in buying flour is to get the smallest quantity so as to insure freshness and to get it at the lowest possible price. Sometimes I only buy a small quantity; at other times I make a contract for a large order, and sometimes I join a group of buyers to get close prices.

"I stick to three or four brands. These are sufficient to satisfy all my trade, and, as they are fully satisfied and I keep their trade, I am content as long as I make a profit for myself

"I keep both bulk and package breakfast foods. There is sometimes a complaint re freshness and of hulls in oats regarding bulk goods, but enough of my customers want them to make it advisable for me to keep it in the bulk state. But the demand for package goods is growing, and I keep these prominently before my customers."

KEEP A DOZEN BRANDS IN STOCK.

"We have found it advisable to keep a dozen brands in stock," said Mr. R. Brown, of Brown Bros., Queen street west. There is quite a difference of opinion as to what is the best flour, as is the case in regard to other goods. But with a dozen brands we are able to please practically everybody. We buy according to the market. When we expect an advance we place an order to cover the period we think prices will be maintained; but we take great care not to buy too much, so that we will not be stuck if a big reaction follows the advance.

"Flour should be kept high and dry—safe from mice and from the possibility of taint. We keep ours on a specially prepared shelf in our storehouse fully four feet above the floor.

"Yes; we push it. At this time of year, when baking is popular among the women, we display it, both in our windows and on our counters. It is a staple line, but, like every other staple line, it should be brought to the front once in a while."

MAKES A PRIVATE BRAND HIS LEADER.

"My favorite brand of flour," said John Butcher, Queen street west, "is one which bears my own name, and is recognized as a specialty of this store. I have other brands, of course, but this is my leader. I call it the "Aylmer," and have called it by that name for twenty-eight years. My method of buying is to make a yearly contract at a favorable time of year. By making such a contract, which you can depend upon to be a large one, I get the closest possible prices.

"We keep our stock either on high counters or in the centre of the room devoted to its storage. We are not afraid of mice or rats for we have five of the best cats in Toronto. But it is best to keep flour by itself in a clean, dry place.

"Package foods are so steadily growing in popularity that we keep practically everything on the market. We have never demonstrated ourselves, but the "Shredded Wheat" people have demonstrated their goods in our stores. This undoubtedly increased our sales of that line. I buy breakfast foods in large quantities if necessary, but small quantities if possible, so that I get the closest prices going. We push them continually, every clerk must know the good qualities or characteristics of each line and be ready to recommend them to customers. Bulk breakfast foods are easy to handle in the winter, but in the summer one must be very careful about freshness. We often buy twice a week to be on the safe side."

NEW FLOUR MILL IN HAMILTON.

One of the recent additions to the milling industry in Hamilton, Ont., the "Ambitious City," is Bennett Bros.' flour mill, the Hamilton Roller Flour Mill, which has been fitted with the most up-to-date milling machinery obtainable, and has a capacity of 100 barrels every 12 hours. Five brands are made, namely: "Gold Seal," "Cook's Pride," "Ocean Wave," "Our Crown" and "Bakers." These brands have proven of such practical value that Bennett Bros. are already compelled to keep their mill running both night and day. The five brands would make an excellent range for any grocer.

QUALITY IN OATMEAL.

Through the advantage of being situated in one of the best oat-growing sections of Canada and the adoption of the most up-to-date methods, John Sutherland, London, Ont., has succeeded in acquiring an enviable reputation for the quality of the oatmeal, rolled oats, split peas and pot barley turned out by his mills. This reputation has extended beyond Ontario, until now Mr. Sutherland finds an excellent demand for his products in the Lower Provinces, and is doing a steadily-growing export trade. The wide market keeps the London oatmeal mills, which have a capacity of 80 barrels per day, in constant operation.

THE FOLLY OF PRICE-CUTTING.

AN interesting communication in regard to the folly of price-cutting appeared in a recent issue of The American Miller. From it we take the following: "It is the price-cutter that is the bane of flour milling. The attempt to increase the consumption of flour or bread by cutting into his brother miller's trade at a price that will not pay for the wheat is what has put too many mills on the market at one-half to one-fourth their original cost. Look at other lines of trade to-day. See the great business they are doing, and all at a large profit. Take a leaf out of their book. Take a leaf out of the book of the two handlers of this wheat crop named above, and then compare it with the miller's profit on the largely increased capital invested in his plant. It will be conceded that flour milling as a business for the investment of capital, in comparison to other manufacturing lines, has no claims on a basis of profit. It is the price-cutter to whom most of this must be charged.

"When a price cutter, in order to steal his brother miller's trade, sells flour below cost, he becomes a party to the most foolish, unnecessary and unbusinesslike proceeding that could possibly be indulged in. The consumer neither knows nor cares whether the flour miller gives his product away or not. He demands of him an article of flour of high quality, which he is willing to pay for.

"And now we come to the effect that this price-cutting has had on the operative miller. Unless there is a good profit in any business its employees will suffer with low wages. There is just where the trade of miller is to-day. The work that a miller does in a small or medium-sized mill at the wages now commonly paid has no parallel in any other trade. And the same can be said of the whole operating milling fraternity, as, while the millers in large mills do not have the small millers' work to do, their 12 hours per day and every other Sunday, at the wages per hour now being paid, do not compare favorably with those of other trades.

"If flour is sold minus a profit, the best efforts of the operative miller, with all of his machinery and complex systems, his skill, his years of experience, his technical knowledge, his means of increasing his education, testing his flour to sample by baking and chemical tests, will all come to naught. There will be no harvest for him during this greatest harvest year unless the price-cutter is cut out."

PATENTED FOODS.

England has almost as many health foods on the market as this country, and some of the meals and breads are patented. Millers who have witnessed the public craze for something new in the cereal line and the willingness to pay several prices for anything with large pretensions and a novel name will understand the feelings of the British bakers toward these patented breads. One of them advertises as follows: "Try our Brown Bread. No Patent, but God's pure product made from the finest, decorticated wheat." And it is quite likely that his bread is just as good as the stuff protected by a patent.—American Miller.

BUCKWHEAT AND RYE FLOUR.

By making a specialty of the business and by the installation of a plant particularly adapted to the work, Quance Bros., Delhi, Ont., have acquired an enviable reputation and a steadily-growing trade in buckwheat and rye flour. They have lately made extensions that make further development of their business not only possible but assured.

HAVE IMPROVED THEIR MILL.

The Seaforth Milling Co., Seaforth, Ont., have again started running their mill after being closed down for the past few months making repairs. The mill has had a thorough overhauling from top to bottom, and is now one of the best equipped plants in the Province of Ontario, having all the latest and most improved machinery. The company are looking forward to big things this coming year, as the wheat in this section is exceptionally good this season. With such excellent wheat and new machinery this company should find a steadily increasing demand for their flour.

THE DEMAND FOR HEALTH FOODS.

THE past five or six years have witnessed a surprising impetus to the study of the effects of foods on health. Not only have the medical profession and devotees of domestic science shown special regard to the matter in recent years, but the general public have come to look upon it as a problem of vital interest to them, and have spent much time and thought in the study.

Possibly one of the chief factors in directing such general attention in this direction has been the advent of whole wheat flour and of shredded wheat biscuits.

The chief virtue claimed by their originators for shredded wheat biscuits is that they are "naturally organized" foods, and that they make possible "natural" conditions.

As the natural condition of the human body is a healthy, vigorous state, and as it has been amply proved that this unique food does contribute very largely to sound, vigorous health, the "natural" result has been a surprising development of the demand for shredded wheat biscuits in both urban and rural districts.

Practically everybody has tried these biscuits, and the demand for them has led to the establishment at Niagara Falls, N.Y., of one of the largest and finest food works

Some Notes on Winnipeg's Retail Grocery Trade.

WINNIPEG is well supplied with up-to-date retail grocery houses, and to those who remember the numerous corner stores of 1880-82 with their array of canned goods and little else, the well-appointed stores of to-day are a convincing proof that Winnipeg has passed from the status of a border town to the dimensions of a city. It would be difficult in a brief sketch to mention all the stores of this kind in the city, but quite a number are more or less conspicuous, either for the length of time they have been in business or their specializing some particular line of trade. All the large grocery stores handle vegetables and green fruits, etc.

THE HUDSON'S BAY CO.

The Hudson's Bay Co., as being the oldest grocers, are probably entitled to first mention, but their establishment has been the subject of so many descriptions it is a little difficult to find anything new to say. This department of the company's business is well managed, and special attention is given to direct importations of dried table fruits of extra quality, imported biscuits, and fancy and expensive cheese. The system in vogue is counter check books and electric cable cash carriers.

THOMAS HURTLEY & CO.

Another long-established house is that of Thomas Hurtley & Co., on the market square. Mr. Hurtley has been engaged in business here since the early seventies. In those days the name was Hurtley & Leach, but after a few years in the grocery business Mr. Leach decided to try his fortune as a theatrical manager, and sold out to Mr. Hurtley. This house, in addition to a large city trade, is headquarters for many contractors buying camp supplies, and for an extensive and growing country trade. Before coming to Winnipeg, Mr. Hurtley, who is a Yorkshireman by birth, was for some years in the merchant service, and has visited many of the countries whose products he has since had to sell, and the knowledge thus gained has made him a shrewd and intelligent buyer. The system employed is that of counter check book and desk autographic register.

HARGRAVE & CO.

Hargrave & Co. have been in business for some 20 years, but a full description of their handsome new premises appeared in these columns a few weeks ago. This house enjoys the distinction of being the first to adopt the National Cash Register Multiple Drawer System.

W. H. STONE.

W. H. Stone, formerly Stone & Bryson, is another house to be counted among the old timers. Mr. Stone is a Somerset man, and studied his business from the ground up in the Old Country. In addition to a good general trade, the house is recognized as headquarters for a large proportion of the C.P.R. employes. Mr. Stone is recognized among the jobbing trade as a shrewd buyer and his customers get the benefit of his experience. The system employed for handling cash and accounts is the counter check book and desk autographic register.

D. W. McLEAN & CO.

D. W. McLean & Co. is an old-established and reliable house, carrying a large well-assorted stock and enjoying an extensive trade. This house is particularly noted for artistic and novel window dressing at holiday times.

W. B. FRANCIS & CO.

W. B. Francis & Co. is one of the newer houses, Mr. Francis having been for some years with W. H. Stone before starting for himself. The house has recently adopted the multiple drawer cash register system.

TORONTO - ONT.

with the Hudson Bay Co., Mr. Jackson being for some time manager of the grocery department. The stand is an old one, having been occupied for many years by Jobin & Co. before they went into the jobbing trade, and Jackson & Campbell succeeded to a goodly proportion of the French-Canadian trade, worked up by the old firm. This house carries a very high class of stock and makes a specialty of table butter.

C. D. ANDERSON & CO.

C. D. Anderson & Co. is also an old-established house with a large clientage that have dealt with them for so many years that they would hardly know how to go elsewhere. This is the only large grocery store on the east side of Main street.

F. E. WELDON & CO.

Perhaps one of the best known houses in the city is that of F. E. Weldon & Co., corner of Portage avenue and Dowald streets. At the present time they are just finishing a large extension of their building and brick-ing the whole, so that it will present a very handsome appearance. A large and choice stock of general groceries is carried, and the house makes a great point of carrying the freshest of dairy and creamery butter and the newest of new-laid eggs.

HUNTER & CO.

Hunter & Co. occupy large premises of their own about a quarter of a mile west of Main street on Portage avenue. The house is well and favorably known, and has a large, regular trade in family supplies in the southern portion of the city.

HARDY & BUCHANAN.

Hardy & Buchanan combine crockery with their grocery business, and have an extensive trade. Their premises are on the corner of Notre Dame and Isabel streets, a very thickly settled part of the city. They make a specialty of country trade, and handle immense quantities of dairy butter.

MUSTARD WITHOUT A BRAND.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER, — Re pure goods. In opening a box of mustard to-day I found that it had no brand on it. Is it not a great fraud to think of the amount of impure goods people have to consume? If the Government would appoint inspectors to go into all the leading stores and inspect all goods, and demand the name of the manufacturer on each package, and all goods found not pure to impose a fine of $100 on the said manufacturer for first offence and gaol for second offence, we would soon get pure goods for the people.

ARCH. WILSON.

St. Catharines, Oct. 18.

P.S.—This is not saying that there is not plenty of pure goods given as good goods and charged the price.

A ROYAL TEA.

In THE CANADIAN GROCER of October 11 an account was given of the very extensive business of Mr. T. H. Estabrooks, the St. John, N.B., tea importer and blender, whose "Red Rose" tea is sold throughout the Lower Provinces and Newfoundland, in Quebec and Ontario, and now in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. THE GROCER is glad to welcome Mr. Estabrooks to the list of its regular advertising patrons, and to chronicle the fact that "Red Rose" tea was the tea used by their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York during their stay in St. John last week. "No higher compliment could be paid to its quality and reputation," remarked a groceryman.

CHANCE TO GET A GOOD SHOW CASE.

The value of good showcases in the retail grocery store is generally recognized, and as it is the natural desire of every grocer to have his store equipment complete, every grocer will appreciate the offer made by John Taylor & Co., Toronto, by which they make it possible for a grocery to get a fine, oval front case, valued at $12 together with an assortment of soaps at a price less than the value of the soaps alone. The offer referred to, which appears on page 2, should be read by every grocer.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, October 24, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the wholesale grocery trade this week is the large quantity of canned salmon which is being taken into stock by the different houses. Quite a quantity of canned vegetables is also coming to hand. The foreign dried fruits which arrived at Montreal on Saturday last have not, up to the time of writing, reached the trade in Toronto, but the wholesalers expect to have them in stock before the week closes. There is a fairly good business being done in canned vegetables at steady prices. Salmon continues in good demand. The firmness noted in the coffee market last week has been more than maintained since our last review, and prices on the outside markets are from  $1\frac{1}{4}$  to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb. higher. The demand here is fair. Quite a little business is being done in syrups and molasses. Spices, generally, are firm and particularly cloves. Rice and tapioca are both in fair request, and the latter is rather firmer in the primary markets. The demand for sugar is light with prices steady. The tea market, generally, is firm and in some grades of Ceylon and Indian teas and China greens prices are higher. There is a fairly good demand for currants, but in other lines there is not much doing. Sultana raisins are rather firmer.

CANNED GOODS.

There has not been much change in the situation; the feature of trade this week is the delivery of new goods, particularly canned salmon, very large quantities of which have been taken into stock by the local wholesalers. The demand for canned salmon keeps fairly brisk. There have been some transactions during the week in well-known standard brands for shipment from the Coast, but at firm prices. Advices from the Coast state that the quality of the fish put up on the Fraser late in the season is not good. When being offered low-priced Fraser river fish it will be well, therefore, for the trade to be on the alert. The ruling prices for canned salmon to the retail trade are still \$1.25 to \$1.30 for Northern sockeye, and \$1.42 $\frac{1}{2}$  for Fraser river sockeye, in five-case lots and over, and \$1.45 for less quantities; Cohoes, \$1.05 to \$1.15, and pink salmon, 95c. to \$1.

There has been a fairly good demand for canned tomatoes at 85 to 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  c. The demand, however, is only of a sorting-up character. It is reported that some lots of old tomatoes are being offered at rather lower prices than new goods are being quoted at. But this is only to be expected. There is also some old corn being offered as low as 75c. to the retail trade, but the quality is declared to be rather poor. New corn is in fairly good demand at 80c. up. Peas are in fairly good demand at 82 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 85c. Very little is being done in canned fruits.

COFFEE

The coffee market during the past week has shown a great deal of strength. It is the general opinion that fairly large

See pages 148 and 149 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

stocks are held, but that they are in strong hands. The crop news continues to be unfavorable in regard to Brazilian coffees. A cable from Brazil early in the week, said: "We do not think drouth has done serious injury; think advance has been too rapid, as probabilities are that receipts will be heavy for the present." Another cable via Europe, said: "Trees exhausted. Crop a failure." Still another cable from Santos, said: "Weather continues very unfavorable. Damage to crop serious." The price of coffee in the primary market is from  $1\frac{1}{4}$  to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  c. higher than a week or 10 days ago. Local wholesalers report a fairly good demand on retail account, and quote slightly higher prices. We quote: Green Rios, No. 7, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  c.; No. 6, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$  c.; No. 5, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$  c.; No. 1, 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business has improved in both these lines and the demand is now fair. Business is particularly good in good sugar syrups, at from 37 to 40c. per gallon. The ruling prices on molasses are 25 to 28c. for New Orleans, and 36 to 39c. for Barbados.

SPICES.

A cable from London this week reports the market for cloves excited, with prices advancing. Cochin ginger is about 15s. dearer. Pepper is held firm but with prices unchanged. Local wholesalers report a fairly good demand.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The demand for both rice and tapioca is fair. We quote: B rice,  $3\frac{1}{4}$  to  $3\frac{1}{2}$  c.; Japan,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 6c.; tapioca,  $4\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  c. Advices to hand this week announce an advance of about 9d. in the price of tapioca in the primary market.

SUGAR.

Trade, locally, is rather quieter than it was a week ago. The outside markets during the past week have ruled firm. This is due to light receipts of raw sugar, the receipts in the United States last week being only 16,235 tons, while the meltings were 30,000 tons. The total stocks of raw sugars in Europe and America at the end of last week were 658,850 tons against 372,841 tons last year. Willett & Gray say that the refiners in the United States would willingly pay an advance of 1-16c. per lb., but that there were no sugars apparently on offer at less than  $\frac{1}{8}$  c. per lb. advance. The European markets are steady. Locally, prices are still as before.

TEAS.

The tea market, generally, is strong and a rather better demand is being experienced locally this week. There is quite an inquiry from the wholesalers for Japan teas, but prices are firm and there have not been many transactions. The brokers report a good demand for flavory Ceylon teas, but there are very few of these on spot, and the London market rules firm. Wholesalers report that desirable Ceylon Pekoes, which were selling to the retail trade at 18 to 19c., are now worth 19 to 21c., and are difficult to get. The supply of low-grade teas is ample, but the stock of these is very much less than it was some time ago. Nearly everyone seems to be asking for China green teas, but there are practically none on the spot in first hands. China teas that were shipped here three or four weeks ago cannot be duplicated except at an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1c. per lb. There is a little inquiry for Ceylon greens, but as the views of buyers and sellers are apart, few, if any transactions are taking place. A cable from Calcutta announces an advance of  $\frac{1}{4}$  d. per lb. in black teas there.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS — A cable from Patras on Tuesday reported the market there very firm. Up to the time of writing the shipment of direct fruit ex-Escalona, which arrived in Montreal on Saturday last, has not reached the Toronto market, but it will likely be here before the week closes. The ruling prices for cleaned fruit are: Fine Filiatras, 6½c.; Patras, 7 to 7½c., and Vostizzas, 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The fruit ex-Escalona is not yet to hand on this market although the steamer arrived in Montreal on Saturday last. There is not much being done, and ruling quotations are as follows: Fine off-stalk, 6 to 6½c.; selected, 6½ to 7c. Advices from Denia report the market unchanged.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS — Prices were received in Toronto on Tuesday and according to these the wholesale trade will be able to sell 1-lb. cartons of seeded raisins at 9½ to 10½c. This same fruit sold last year at 11½ to 12c.

SULTANA RAISINS — A cable from Smyrna reports that fine grades are now very scarce and that the market is firm. Local wholesalers report a fairly good demand for Sultana raisins at 11 to 12½c. per lb. for spot goods. For later shipment they quote 9 to 11½c.

PRUNES — Although there is not much doing for this time of the year the demand is fair. We quote new Californian prunes: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6½c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6 to 7½c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8½ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS — Prices are high and there is not much doing. We quote in 25-lb. boxes: Peaches, 10½ to 14c., according to quality; apricots, 13 to 17c.

PEELS — Candied peels are in fairly good demand and prices are as follows: Lemon, 11½ to 12½c.; orange, 11½ to 13c.; citron, 16 to 18c.

FIGS — Quite a number of orders have been booked to arrive by cheaper shipment. May figs on spot are quoted at 3½ to 4c., and for future delivery, 3 to 3½c. Eleme figs on spot are quoted at 10c. in 10-lb. boxes of four rows.

GREEN FRUITS.

The Scott street fruit market was closed for the season on Thursday last, thus marking the close of the summer fruit trade. There are still, however, fairly liberal offerings of pears and grapes. Malaga and Californian lemons are starting to move nicely. Jamacia oranges are in good request, both in barrels and boxes, prices being 25 to 50c. lower. Cape Cod cranberries are $1 per bbl. easier. Ontario berries are unchanged. Bananas are selling well at steady prices. Apples are coming in fairly well. The crop seems to be rather larger than was anticipated, but there is a large proportion of inferior fruit. We quote: Pears, 30 to 40c. per basket; tomatoes, 25 to 35c.; peppers, 25 to 50c.; grapes, in 10-lb. baskets, 20 to 30c.; quinces, 30 to 40c. per basket; apples, $3.75 to $4.25 per bbl.; bananas, $1.75 for 1st and 75c. to $1 for eight-hands. Malaga grapes are $6.50 to $7.50. Malaga lemons are offering at $3.75 to $4 per box, and Californian lemons at $5 per box; Jamacia oranges are $5.50 per bbl. or $3.75 to $4 per box; Cape Cod cranberries, $7 to $8 per bbl.; Ontario cranberries, $6 per bbl.; pineapples, $3.50 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The warm days this week had the effect of increasing receipts materially, but prices of fresh gathered have been maintained. As there has been a good export movement from this market prices of limed eggs hold steady. The general price asked for cases of selected new-laid is 18c., while fresh gathered range from 15 to 16c. Cold-stored eggs sell readily at 14 to 16c., and limed eggs at 14 to 15c. per doz.

BEANS — There is a fair trade doing, but as offerings have increased there is a reduction of 5 to 10c. throughout. Choice hand-picked pea beans are worth $1.70 to $1.75 and unpicked, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY — Prices are stiffening slightly as the demand is keeping up rather better than was expected. We quote: 9½ to 10c. for extracted clover and $2 to $2.25 for No. 1 clover comb.

DRIED APPLES — The demand for evaporated apples is not heavy yet, but holders manifest a confident spirit, and prices have been raised ½c. for carlots, new stock now being offered at 9½c. for carlots and 10c. for cases. There is practically nothing doing in dried apples, but a local jobber is seeking stocks of choice quarters at 6c. Jobbing prices will probably be from 6½ to 7c.

POTATOES — The offerings on track here are large, as many as 25 to 30 cars being on sale at one time. Consequently prices have lowered, the range for good stock being from 48 to 50c. per bushel on track, Toronto. Small lots are in active demand at 50 to 65c. out of store.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY — Receipts have been fairly large, but the warm weather has retarded sales somewhat, and prices are slightly lower throughout. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 5½ to 6½c.; turkeys, 10c. per lb.

LIVE POULTRY — The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until October 31 for spring chickens, not less than two lb. each, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 3c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

GAME — A big trade is being done in this line just now. Prices are steady. We quote: Teal and butterballs, 25 to 30c.; bluebills, 40 to 50c.; pintails and redheads, 50 to 60c.; black ducks, 75 to 85c. per brace; canvas-back and mallards, $1.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — There is a good demand for really choice dairy butter, but there is still an over-supply of held stock. Creamery makes are in good demand at steady prices. We quote: Dairy prints, 16 to 17c.; best tub, 15 to 16½c.; poor to medium grades, 12 to 14c.; creamery prints, 21 to 21½c.; boxes, 19½c.

CHEESE — Jobbers here are taking very little interest in cheese at present, as the market is considered too steady for speculating, and as enough stock is held to supply local demands. Prices are unchanged at 9½ to 9¾c.

FISH.

There is a steady improvement in the demand for prepared and smoked fish, while fresh are still in good request. We quote as follows: Fresh fish — Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7 to 7½c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish — Ciscos, $1 to $1.10 per basket; finnan haddie, 6 to 7c. Digby herring, 75 to 80c. per bundle. Prepared fish — Dried cod, in 112lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5 to $5.25; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters — Standards, $3.75 per small pail, or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

VEGETABLES.

Hubbard squashes are unusually scarce this season. Corn is done. Celery and tomatoes are less plentiful than a week ago. Cauliflower is more freely offered, and is 50 to 75c. per doz. cheaper. Citrons are 5 to 10c. each cheaper. We quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15 to 20c. per peck; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 20c.; cauliflower, 70 to 80c.; celery, 40 to 60c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.; cabbage, 25 to 40c.; tomatoes, 25 to 35c. per basket; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush; potatoes, 60 to 65c. per bush; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 5 to 15c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 5 to 10c. each.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — The wheat market is quiet with prices steady. Manitoba No. 1 hard is quoted at 80c. grinding in transit, or 78c. Toronto and west. Ontario wheat is quoted at 65 to 66c. at outside points, middle freights. Receipts at the local street market are liberal. We quote: Wheat, white and red, 68 to 73½c.; goose, 65½c.; oats, new, 40c.; rye, 54c.; barley, 47 to 58½c.; peas, 67 to 69c.

FLOUR—An active demand is reported. We quote on track, Toronto (bags included) as follows: Manitoba patents, $4; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.60; Ontario patents, $3.50 to $3.60; straight roller, $3.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is an active demand. The small delivery of oats makes it hard for manufacturers to keep up with their orders for rolled oats and oatmeal. Prices are 10c. higher. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $4.30 to $4.40 in bags and $4.45 to $4.55 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.30 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas $4.25; pot barley $4.50.

SEEDS.

The range of the market is slightly higher. Good qualities of alsike are worth $6 to $7, and of red clover, $4.25 to $4.75 aboard at outside points. Somewhat higher prices are paid for a few samples of extra choice large grain, pure seed, but, on the other hand, some lines have to sell for less than these quotations, because of their inferiority. The range of values in timothy is from $2 to $2.25 for choice machine-threshed seed.

MARKET NOTES.

Tapioca is 9d. per cwt. dearer.

Cloves are cabled firm and excited.

Hubbard squashes are extremely scarce this season.

A cable from Greece reports the currant market very firm.

Cochin ginger is much dearer in the primary market.

Sultana raisins of fine grade are cabled firm and scarce in Smyrna.

Cape Cod cranberries are $1 per bbl. lower. Jamaica oranges are 50c. per bbl. lower.

Green Rio coffees are fully 1¼ to 1½c. higher than a week or ten days ago in the primary market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, October 24, 1901.

GROCERIES.

A BRISK fall trade has been doing all week. The principal event has been the arrival of the ss. Escalona, on Saturday, with the first direct shipment of currants and Valencia raisins. The ss. Bellona has also set sail for this port but is not expected before the second week in November. The Valencia raisin market has eased off somewhat since last sales were made for the second vessel. New Malaga raisins are also in store now with certain local houses who have them earlier than usual. It is said that the sales of Comadre figs have been extraordinarily large this season. Sugar is somewhat stronger in primary markets, but no change has taken place here. Teas continue firm, reports from all quarters being similar in tone. Canned goods are without change this week; stocks in wholesale hands are remarkably light, particularly in regard to tomatoes, and in spite of optimistic opinions on the future dealers refuse to make any heavy purchases; orders for canned goods to arrive are now discontinued, as dealers are now delivering from stock. Canned blueberries are growing scarcer every day. Boiling peas are up to 2c. a lb. in bags.

SUGAR.

Since our last report the raw sugar market has steadied and strengthened. It now looks as if the lowest point had been touched as the latest cable quotes 7s. 8½d., and New York is strong at 3½c. for centrifugal 96 test. In regard to the latter market the supplies have been light of late and but little business has been done. The local market is unchanged although there is a trifle more business being done. Refined is worth $4.30 for granulated and $3.45 to $4.20 for yellows, as to grade, per 100 lb. City 5c. extra.

TEAS.

The firm tendency that we have noted during the last few weeks continues in more pronounced form. The Japan tea market keeps very strong and seems to be recovering from its depression of a few weeks ago. Agents have received instructions this week to hold goods for higher prices. There has been a fair inquiry from jobbers for teas this week, but stocks here are very light. Some old teas have been turned over between jobbers, but the market is pretty well cleared of these goods.

Shipments of low-grade China greens to Canada have been phenomenally light this year, only 500,261 lb. against 6,306,045 lb. to the same date last year, and 3,157,850 lb. the year before. Better grades are in good request in this market.

Indians and Ceylons are also in good condition, and the outlook is hopeful. The latest Calcutta mail advice says: "More keenness was shown by buyers for all grades of tea, prices being firm with an upward tendency; here and there common leaf sorts marked a pie or two advance, whilst medium broken Pekoes called forth more inquiry, being generally rather dearer." Shipments are much below those of last year, particularly to America, and it would seem a good time to buy. The advance of 2c. on all grades is fully maintained.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair demand for syrups at current quotations. We quote as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.50 in 38½-lb., and $1.10 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

A demand is springing up for molasses and this article is beginning to engage the attention of the local trade again. The situation is regarded as strong on account of the comparatively low prices. Sales have been made this week at 29c. in the combine district.

CANNED GOODS.

Last week we reported that one large house had sold out its first orders of new tomatoes. This week we understand that there are other houses situated similarly. It is a matter of opinion as to how long this hand-to-mouth policy will be pursued. Tomatoes today are selling at 82½ to 85c.; corn, at 77 to 80c., and peas at 80c. The demand from the retail trade is rather slow. Regular fall deliveries have been nearly completed and only a small sorting trade is now being done.

Salmon is selling freely out of wholesale hands at $5 to $5.60 for Fraser river, and $4.80 to $5 for Rivers Inlet sockeye. Lobsters in 1-lb. flats are obtainable at $9.50 to $10 and in 2-lb. flats, $10 to $10.50.

One house informs us that it has been sold out of blueberries and, for the moment, is unable to replenish the stock. Goods are now worth 87½c. Gallon apples are quoted at $2.60 to $2.75.

SPICES.

All spices are firm as our readers will see by a New York despatch printed in another column. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16c.; Jamaica, 25c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Seed tapioca has been advanced this week and higher prices are looked for. The demand is fairly strong. We quote as follows in combine district: B rice in bags, $3.10; in half bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots, an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ¼ bags; $3.10 in ½ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½c. per lb., and tapioca, 3¾ to 3½c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

VALENCIA RAISINS — Since the Bellona left Denia, the market has receded to 13s. 6d. and 14 to 15s. for finest off-stalk. The Escalona arrived in port on Saturday with a good shipment of raisins. Standard brands of finest off-stalk are selling at 5½ to 5¾c. per lb., although inferior goods can be procured at lower prices. Selected are worth 6 to 6¼c. and layers, 6½ to 6¾c.

CURRANTS — The market is steady. New goods are in stock and are selling at 5¼c. for fine Filiatras in bbls.; un-

PEELS — English peels are selling at 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10c. for lemon; 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for orange, and 14c. for citron.

PRUNES — Liberal orders are being taken for prunes. To arrive prunes are worth 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 60-70's, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 70-80's, 6c. for 80-90's, 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 90-100's. Some old 90-100's are obtainable at 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

MALAGA RAISINS — Some new Malaga raisins have been put into stock this week, one house having a full assortment. For immediate delivery we quote: London layers, \$1.60 to \$1.65; "Connoisseur Clusters," \$2.20 to \$2.25;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, 70 to 75c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," \$3.35 to \$3.40;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.10 to \$1.15; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," \$4.65 to \$4.75;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.40 to \$1.50. For future delivery by Bellona, dealers quote, "Royal Buckingham Clusters" at \$3.10.

NUTS.

Almonds are slightly higher, otherwise there is no change. Grenobles are now worth 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 11c. to arrive; Sicily filberts, 8 to 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 11c., and shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. Last year's shelled walnuts are worth 16 to 17c.

GREEN FRUITS.

There is but little change to report. Malaga grapes are somewhat higher as also are Canadian grapes. We quote: as follows: Californian Valencias, $5 to $6 per box; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 per bbl.; Messina lemons, 300's, $5.50; 360's, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Verdilli lemons, $3.75 to $4.75 per box; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Canadian apples, $3 to $4 per barrel; Californian plums, $2 per box; peaches, $1.25 to $1.50; limes, $1.50 per box; Ontario peaches, 75c. to $1 per basket; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; Californian Bartlett pears, $4.25 per box; bananas, No. 1, $1.75 to $2.25, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 50c.; Bartlett pears (bbls.), $2 to $3.75; Spanish onions, 80 to 85c.; sweet potatoes, $2.50 to $3.50; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; Canadian grapes, 20c. for blues, 25c. for green and red; cranberries, $7.25 to $7.50 per bbl.; barrel onions, $2.50.

FISH.

Green cod and herring are very scarce. There is a good demand for all procurable lines of fish. We quote: Haddies, 15 and 30-lb. boxes, 6c. per lb.; Yarmouth bloaters, 60 in a box, \$1 per box; Yarmouth bloaters, 100 in a box, \$1 per box; smoked herrings, medium, 13c. per box; single haddock, 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb.; Marshall's canned, kippered and with tomato sauce, \$1.45 per doz.; also Canadian kippered, etc., 95c. per doz.; No. 1 green haddock, \$4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 green codfish, \$5.25 per bbl.; No. 2 green codfish, \$4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 dressed or skinned cod, 100-lb. case, \$1.50; dried codfish, per 112 lb., \$5; Ivory brand boneless codfish in 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 20-lb. boxes, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 40-lb. boxes, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; No. 2 mackerel, \$12 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, \$5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$11.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$6.25 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 B. ### COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The export demand for eggs is good at 7s. for pickled and 8s. to 8s. 2d. for fresh stock. The market is firm at 19 to 20c. for fresh candled and 15c. for seconds.

HONEY—Honey is strong at $1.50 to $1.60 per dozen and 9½c. for strained honey.

POTATOES—The market is steady and prices have a stiffening tendency. Carrots have sold at 62½ to 65c.

BEANS—Prime white beans are down to 3c. per lb. out of wholesale hands.

ASHES—The market is quiet, first pots being worth $1.25, and seconds, $3.75 to $3.80.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—The market has taken a better turn since the recent decline. Quebec cheese is worth 9c. on the wharf and western Septembers, 9½c.

BUTTER—The butter market is in good shape, although there is considerable poor stuff coming forward. Fancy creamery is selling out of jobbers' hands at 20½ to 21c. Western dairy is a drug at 14 to 14½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Green cod is scarce and high. Boiling peas are worth 2c. per lb. Pork has been reduced 50c. per barrel this week.

Some bargains are offered in last year's fine off-stalk Valencias.

Some houses are out of pearl barley and cannot replenish their supply.

Malaga raisins are very low this year and the quality of the new fruit is excellent. Sales are much in excess of last year.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

October 24, 1901.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N. B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page 146.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices. All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

AND YOU MAY REASONABLY EXPECT YOUR OIL TRADE TO LARGELY INCREASE.

Are you tired of going down cellar for your oil and toiling up stairs with heavy unwieldy cans and jugs? If you have been doing this don't you think it about time to give your back a rest, and stay where you can see that the "light-fingered" customer does not get away with goods valued at many times the profit on the oil sale? You can do this if you like by installing in your store a

WHAT USERS SAY OF CRANSTON TRADE DUE BILLS.

"We could not be induced to go back to the written due bill or credit system again now that we have the coin style. They have become popular with our customers. They are like cash and can be used by the farmers as such in making deals, and they thus advertise our business and help us to get many new customers. It means that we practically issue our own money for the local goods we buy. They are up to date. All loss and bickering about accounts are avoided by their use."

SIR THOMAS G. SHAUGHNESSY.

AMONG the gentlemen who were elevated to the Knighthood during the recent visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York to Canada none were more satisfactory to the people of this country than that of Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy. His position as President of The Canadian Pacific Railway brought him into line as a fit subject for such honors. But the satisfaction with which his elevation was received was not merely born of the fact that the head of a great railway system had been selected for the recipient of Royal favor; it was born of the fact system which is, perhaps, the best managed on this continent, and to the efficiency of which he has contributed a remarkable energy, prescience and administrative ability."

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is a native of Milwaukee, Wis., being born there on October 6, 1853. His career as a railway man began in 1869, when he entered the purchasing department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, subsequently becoming general storekeeper of the line, a position he held when Mr. (now Sir) Wm. Van Horne left the company to assume the presi-that a man of striking personality, large executive ability, and practical business acumen had been thus honored.

Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth, unless the native talents which came with his birth and which he has so assiduously developed during the 48 years he has been in the world, can by any stretch of the imagination be so termed.

"It was felt," said The Montreal Witness, when referring to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy on the occasion of his Knighthood, "that he has been paid a fitting compliment as the head of a great dency of the C.P.R. In 1882 he became general purchasing agent of the C.P.R., having been selected for the position by Sir Wm. Van Horne. Two years later he became assistant to the general manager, and then in succession assistant general manager, assistant president, a director and vice-president, and finally in June, 1899, president.

Besides being President of the C.P.R., Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is a director of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway, of The Accident Insurance Company of North America, of The North-West Land Company; vice-president of

The Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway and of The B. C. Southern Railway, and president of The Montreal & Western Railway.

"EMPIRE" BRAND SODA

There are names in every branch of the world of commerce which stand alone—names which represent all that is best and greatest in each particular line. The name of Brunner, Mond & Co., Limited, of Norwich, England, is such an one. The unvarying excellence of their products is known throughout the world. After much pressing on the part of the grocery trade of Canada they now place their Super-Carb. soda on the market in packet form under the trade name of "Empire" brand soda. The packet is handsomely gotten up and will make a most attractive store display. The packet, which contains half a pound, will retail at five cents.

Brunner, Mond & Co., through their Canadian agents, Winn & Holland, have set aside a generous appropriation for advertising "Empire" soda, and by the first of November all the leading papers of Canada will be telling the public of the merits of "Empire" brand. The excellence of the article—backed up by a well-planned and vigorous advertising campaign—cannot help but make "Empire" soda sell like hot cakes.

OUR IMPORTS OF BRITISH VINEGARS.

The past year has shown a considerable increase in the imports of British vinegar into this country, the receipts during the year being valued at $10,998 against $8,605 in 1900, the returns showing that the demand has been general, extending to every Province in the Dominion.

Possibly the firm that has been most instrumental in building up this increased trade has been Purnell, Webb & Co., Bristol. This firm are manufacturers of malt vinegars, and make a specialty of spiced vinegars for pickling. They have a wide connection in Canada, having large customers in St. John, N.B., Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Vancouver and other centres. Everywhere they are known they are recognized as a thoroughly reputable firm, and as manufacturers of high-grade goods of consistent quality.

AFTER THE BUSINESS.

Enterprise and experience are undoubtedly two of the strongest factors in building up any business. Therefore, as they are thoroughly trained as chemists and as manufacturers, and are full of pushing, up-to-date energy, The Bellman-Oliphant Manufacturing Co., Collingwood, Ont., are possessed of the principal essentials to success as manufacturers and wholesale dealers in general store sundries, such as drugs, cough drops, flavoring extracts, inks, etc. They are now "out after business" in keen style, but only want cash customers, as they have put their prices at the lowest possible basis. They ask readers of "The Canadian Grocer" to write to them for quotations.

A CANADIAN ON THE TEA TRADE EXPANSION.

MR. P. C. LARKIN, of The Salada Tea Company, and Mrs. Larkin returned to Toronto this week after three months' absence in Great Britain. The journey to Great Britain was taken with the special object of seeking renewed health for Mrs. Larkin, and which "The Canadian Grocer" is glad to say was successful. Although the visit was chiefly for the object stated, Mr. Larkin spent some time in the tea circles in London, Eng. When I saw Mr. Larkin in his office on Wednesday, he was as deep as ever in the affairs of his own business, but found time to give me a few minutes' talk.

"I understand, Mr. Larkin, that you were present at a meeting of the Indian Tea Planters' Association, where some discussion took place in regard to ways and means of promoting the tea industry."

"Yes," said Mr. Larkin, "I was. On my arrival in London I was requested to meet the Indian Tea Planters' Association, and give them some idea from my point of view of the tea situation in the United States and Canada. They were particularly interested in the prospective development of the green tea trade, and as we had handled Ceylon greens for the last three years, since they were first produced, I was in a position to convey to them an idea as to how they had been received by the public, not only in Canada, but in the States of New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and the New England States. I showed them how sales of Salada green Ceylon had gone on increasing, from week to week, through at least two years, and that the sales were much larger now than they had been at any previous time. I also told them that we were making much more rapid progress with Ceylon greens than we did with Ceylon blacks, seven or eight years ago. And everybody knows that there are now practically no China Congous sold in Canada.

"The meeting resolved itself into a discussion of how best to quickly displace Japan teas on the Canadian and United States markets. Of course, my advice to them was on the lines that the 'Salada' tea business has been carried on. I told them we had a fine article to offer the public, and we told the public about it. I explained that the only way in which you can reach the large mass of the people was by advertising, sampling, etc. I furthermore told them that if they could see their way to expending such a sum as 5d. per lb. on all the Indian tea produced, which would mean an expenditure of $400,000 or $500,000, it would be sufficient for advertising purposes and would create a very quick revolution, particularly in the green tea trade. The expenditure of such a sum in sampling and advertising would, I felt, positively increase the consumption in America of Indian and Ceylon tea by fully 10,000,000 lb. per annum during the next four or five years. This, from the planters point of view, would be a most excellent thing. It would relieve the London market of such a quantity of tea annually that the price for blacks would be increased fully 1d. per lb., and that this expenditure need not be continued for more than four or five years.

The increased consumption thereby brought about would be permanent."

"How were your suggestions received?"

"I might say that a number of persons in London interested in the tea trade, whom I met, agreed with my suggestions were excellent from a business point of view, and that if they could be carried out would put all the gardens on velvet; but they stated that the difficulty lies with people who feel that, as they are not making money now, they cannot entertain the idea of increasing their expenses one iota. However," continued Mr. Larkin, "I understand that something is to be immediately done in an effort to capture the American market, which means the capturing of 100,000,000 lb. of tea per annum. The great difficulty heretofore has been the fact that most of the planters have a very faint idea of the amount that would be sufficient to attract the attention of the whole tea-drinking community to the article which they have for sale. No matter how good that article may be, unless this is done, dozens of years must pass before the whole trade is secured."

"What about the package tea trade in England?"

"The package tea trade is making wonderful progress in England. One of the largest concerns there have a most magnificent establishment, covering acre upon acre of ground."

Mr. Larkin before concluding the interview stated that one of the things that struck him forcibly while in England, was the sympathy exhibited by the people there with the United States over the assassination of President McKinley. He said that in London there was a large profusion of flags, and that it appeared to him that out of every three flags displayed, one was the Stars and Stripes. The day that Mr. McKinley was buried, Mr. Larkin was in Oxford, and he noticed the same display of United States flags there.

A UNIQUE SYSTEM OF TRADING.

The credit system of carrying on a retail business has long been recognized as having serious drawbacks. Not only is a great deal of work necessitated by the charging up of small items and much loss occasioned by bad debts, but the inability to pay cash to the wholesale dealer prevents the retailer from getting many "snaps" which would increase his net returns. The strictly cash system has been found almost impossible in many towns, as many of the buyers have not the ready money to pay cash down for all their purchases.

The advent of a system designed to reduce the disadvantages of both these systems to a minimum and to combine the advantage of both is, therefore, of considerable moment to retailers.

J. K. Cranston, Galt, Ont., has introduced a system of trade due bills in the shape of aluminum, brass or cardboard coins in all currency denominations from 1c. to $1 which are sold to customers and afterwards recognized as currency by the retailer. If a credit customer takes out these bills, say, $5 worth, they are charged at once, and are treated as cash, doing away with all charging.

Modern Merchandising

Demands modern methods. The ALLISON COUPON BOOK is a strictly modern CONVENIENCE and SAFEGUARD against mistakes and consequent loss of money. It is better than any pass-book, punch or check system ever invented, and its absolute accuracy makes it the CHEAPEST SYSTEM on this big earth—excepting, of course, the cash system. See here.

If a Man Wants Credit

for $10, give him a $10 Allison Coupon Book, charge him with $10, and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for ten cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all. And so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. NO PASS BOOK. NO WRITING. NO TIME LOST. NO KICKING. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? # JAPAN TEA

TEA THAT IS TEA
AND EVERY POUND OF IT IS PURE.

TEA

being an article about which Canadian people are most particular, it becomes a matter of much importance to every grocer that this department of his business be given extra careful attention, and to see that all his teas are free from mixture or deleterious ingredients.

JAPAN TEA

being the purest, cleanest, most wholesome and invigorating tea imported into Canada, it is perfectly natural that Canadians prefer it above all other kinds, and, therefore, the grocer who is desirous of giving his tea department one steady push forward, will find JAPAN TEA a powerful factor towards helping him in this respect. Every element necessary to the production of high class, healthy tea is found in the beautiful loamy soil of JAPAN.

Trade between Canada and the West Indies.

CHATS WITH MEN FROM DEMERARA AND TRINIDAD.

TALK WITH A MAN FROM DEMERARA.

MR. CHARLES GUY A. WYATT, of the firm of Sandbach, Parker & Co., Demerara, British Guiana, was a visitor in Toronto the other day. When Mr. Wyatt left Demerara a few months ago for Great Britain, it was not his purpose to make Canada a stage in his journey. Some business matters, however, which developed during his sojourn in the Mother Country caused him to turn aside to the Dominion on his homeward journey. It may be selfishness on my part, but I for one was not sorry that there was a digression in Mr. Wyatt's original itinerary, for he was a most engaging conversationalist and talked in an interesting manner about British Guiana and her trade.

Mr. Wyatt is very desirous of seeing trade between Canada and his country developed beyond its present limited character.

DEMERARA SUGAR EXPORTS.

"We export," he said in reply to a question about 100,000 tons of raw sugar annually. On an average, practically 80 per cent. of it goes to the United States and nearly 20 per cent. to England. All that goes to Canada is the small fraction that is left. A little more came to Canada last year, it is true, but even with the increase the total meant but very little.

"Not only is the United States taking our sugar, but we are taking their products and in larger quantities than before. The machinery for our sugar mills we used to get from England, but we are now getting it from the United States. People are going to buy where they can sell. We cannot send steamers one way with full cargoes and bring them back empty. The countervailing duty on European bounty-fed sugar imposed by the United States is practically a discriminating duty in favor of West Indian cane sugars. This countervailing duty allows us to get our sugar into the United States on the same level as the bounty-fed sugars of Europe."

"What about the Canadian preferential tariff?" I asked.

U. S. COUNTERVAILING TARIFF.

"The Canadian preferential tariff does not meet the case. It still leaves the United States tariff more favorable to us. If Canada would put on a countervailing duty, the same as the United States has done, sugar would come this way. Trade between Canada and the West Indies hinges on sugar."

"Are you in favor of reciprocity with the United States?"

"The United States is the only nation on the earth that has done anything for us. We have a market there, and we are ready to do anything within reason to keep it."

"British Guiana," continued Mr. Wyatt, is larger than the United Kingdom, but the country has never been opened up. The population, which is nearly all the result of immigration, is about 300,000, of whom 50,000 are in Georgetown, the capital. The population is nearly altogether confined to the coast line. We have a gold mining industry, but I suppose that up to the present time every dollar's worth of gold got out has cost two dollars. Diamonds of the first water are found, but they are very small. They tell me in England, however, that wherever there are small diamonds large ones must be."

"What products do you think British Guiana could take from Canada?"

"Everything that comes from the United States. And what applies to British Guiana practically applies to the whole of the West Indies."

"How about the sugar-making methods employed in British Guiana?"

"They are more up to date than those employed in any other part of the British West Indies. Nearly every cent the proprietors of the mills have made has been put into new and improved machinery and plant."

CHAT WITH A MAN FROM TRINIDAD.

ON Monday last I had an interesting chat with Mr. Robert S. Reid, of Gordon Grant & Co., Trinidad, British West Indies. Mr. Reid, like Mr. Wyatt, was on his way home from a visit to Great Britain. His visit to Great Britain extended over a period of six months, during which he evidently grasped every opportunity of drawing the attention of the people there with whom he came into contact to the necessities of the West Indies.

"Canadian trade with Trinidad," said Mr. Reid in reply to a question, "is growing all the time. A good deal of what we formerly bought in New York now comes from Canada direct."

"Of what lines do you speak particularly?"

TRADE GROWING WITH CANADA.

"Particularly of flour, cheese and butter. In these articles trade is growing, and I think it will continue to grow. Potatoes is another Canadian product in which our trade is increasing. These increases are due largely to the direct line of steamers that are now run between Canada and Trinidad and other parts of the West Indies by the Pickford & Black Co. Before these direct steamers were put on, the little we imported from Canada came in small sailing vessels whose chief cargo was fish and lumber."

"Do you consider the Canadian preferential tariff of any benefit to Trinidad?"

"I think it is going to help trade a great deal. The one-third reduction in the tariff, although not quite, is nearly as favorable to our sugars as the United States countervailing duty. A countervailing duty in Canada on European bounty sugar would be better for us than the present preferential tariff, for it would necessitate the Canadian refineries using more cane sugars. It is having this effect in the United States at any rate. The more sugar you bought from us the more goods would we buy from you. We go to New York to buy because they buy from us."

"Cocoa is one of your chief industries, is it not?"

"Yes; and our trade with Canada is increasing, and with the United States it is increasing very much."

CANADIAN FLOUR.

"How is Canadian flour taking in Trinidad?"

"It is taking all right. There was some dissatisfaction at one time, when the flour was shipped to us by middlemen, who would buy flours of different quality but ship it to us under one brand. In this way, of course, the quality was not uniform, and dissatisfaction was naturally the result. Now the millers are shipping direct, and they are shipping the right stuff."

The question of reciprocity naturally came in for some consideration during our conversation.

THE RECIPROCITY QUESTION.

"As far as reciprocity between Trinidad and the United States is concerned," explained Mr. Reid, "opinions in our country are strongly divided. There are a good many who are against it and want a treaty with Canada. And there are a good many who favor the United States and not Canada. Sugar and cocoa are practically the dividing lines. The sugar interests would like a treaty with Canada, but in order to get our sugar into Canada under a lower tariff, we would, of course, be compelled to lower our tariff on flour and other articles from the Dominion. This might, some fear, offend the United States. As the United States takes the greater part of our cocoa, those engaged in the latter industry fear retaliation upon their product. The difficulty lies in satisfying both interests. Both industries are about of equal importance, although sugar employs relatively more labor. We export, roughly speaking, about 60,000 tons of sugar, and, as it is estimated that one man is employed to every ton of sugar produced, it means that 60,000 men find employment in the industry."

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF WITHIN THE EMPIRE.

Mr. Reid is in favor of a preferential tariff within the British Empire. "But," said he, "I do not think we shall see it, at any rate for 10 years. During the four months I was in England I could find no one who would give me any encouragement. However, I have some hope that Mr. Chamberlain will do something for the West Indies after the Boer war is settled."

In reply to a question, Mr. Reid said that the chief articles on which Customs revenue was raised in Trinidad were flour and rice, the duty on flour being 80c. per bbl. and on rice 52c. per 100 lb.

Gordon Grant & Co., of which Mr. Reid is a member, are large commission merchants and bankers, and, in their latter capacity, sell drafts on Canada. In fact, they are the only ones in Trinidad—either bankers or merchants—who do so.

CANADA'S TRADE WITH BERMUDA.

From The Maritime Merchant.

WHILE Canadian exports to the British West Indies have not shown a very encouraging increase in volume during the past decade, it is pleasing to note that we are each year selling more and more goods to the little island of Bermuda. Mr. W. T. James, who is one of the leading importers at Hamilton, the capital of the Island, was in Halifax last week, and in an interview with The Merchant stated that the increase in Bermuda's imports from Canada from year to year has far exceeded the expectations of those who first attempted to develop the trade. In contrasting the old and new conditions he said:

"I think it was in the month of September 1888 that the first boat of Pickford & Black's line made her initial trip on the Jamaica route calling at Bermuda, and I think the trade returns of that year will show total imports from Canada of about 5,000 barrels and perhaps not as much as that. From October to February of last year, five months only, steamers of the same line landed no less than 55,000 barrels, an average of 11,000 barrels a month, or 132,000 barrels a year. I remember quite distinctly when the misunderstanding arose between the Cunard steamers and the Imperial Government with regard to a subsidy and the old boats were withdrawn.

"My esteemed friend, the late Captain Crowell, and I, discussed the advisability of putting on a steamer. He favored a small boat and no accommodation for passengers, the idea being to minimize expenses as much as possible. I said to him: 'No, Captain Crowell, I believe that this business is bound to expand and that the better the boat and the more accommodation it can give, providing it does not cost us too much, the greater are our chances for success.' The speculative discussion ended there, but I can now see that even my most sanguine expectations were far short of what the business has, in course of time, grown to be. I dare say you know that I am the agent for the Canadian boats at Bermuda and of course am much interested in the success of the line. I do all that I can to put business in the way of Canadian houses and except in a very few cases, I have every reason to feel satisfied with the values obtained and the treatment received. I buy all my flour in Canada and am slowly but steadily increasing my purchases. I buy canned fruits and vegetables from the Simcoe Canning Co., and have found their goods to be better quality than the American. Some few years ago I began importing creamery butter from Nova Scotia and found it so satisfactory that I purchased an interest in a creamery at Lawrencetown and arranged to take its whole output. In addition to this I get a large quantity of a similar article from Smith & Proctor, of Halifax, and I must say that both in quality and price they have given me entire satisfaction."

Asked as to why so much trade in the line of provisions is sent to New York, Mr. James said that throughout the group of Islands there are many small merchants, and each one wishes to do his own importing. Orders are sent to such firms as Austin Nichols & Co., of New York, for as small amounts as two boxes of cheese, a few boxes of soap and five or six cases of canned goods. As a result, it is no uncommon thing for the New York steamer to have no less than 200 complete sets of B.L. on one trip. Mr. James thought that perhaps New York prices were a little finer than the jobbing prices at Halifax, but, with the Island in a prosperous condition and the standing of the trade substantial, he sees no reason why business might not be developed from Canadian ports to advantage. Mr. James imports the bulk of his tea direct from Ceylon, which he finds a better market than London. He is agent for one of the best tea companies at Colombo.

TRADE CHAT.

IN Hamilton, on October 28, the city council passed, without opposition, a by-law prohibiting the use of trading stamps after January 1, 1901.

Among the exports to the United States this week there were 28,750 lb. of "Salada" tea.

Jos. Baltzer, who has purchased the grocery stock of Mrs. Jell, Preston, is carrying on business in the same premises, and will dispose of the entire stock.

The new soap factory of Werlich & Pritchard, Preston, is expected to be soon under roof, as the work is being pushed ahead rapidly, so that it will soon be in operation.

John Lindsey and John H. Meir, formerly in business in Owen Sound, have returned from Walkerton to that place where they intend opening a general store on Union street next week.

Louis de Forest, grocer, McAdam Junction, N.B., was brought to St. John, on October 23, with brain fever. Dr. Holden is attending him at the home of C. W. de Forest, his brother.

On October 23 the arbitrators appointed to settle the amount due the Maritime Milling Co. from the National, Phoenix of London, Guardian, and Union insurance companies filed their award at Halifax. The award is understood to be unanimously in favor of the milling company for the full amount of its claim.

The official returns show that the gold shipments from Dawson for September amounted to $3,000,000. This brings up the total for the last four months to $21,640,000.

In Petrolea, a meeting of those interested in the establishing of The Pampton Creamery Co. was held in the packing company's office there, and preliminary arrangements were made for organizing the company. The capital is to be $5,000, divided into 250 shares of $20 each. They are now circulating the papers for stock subscriptions, and doubtless the company will be soon thoroughly organized and placed on a firm financial basis.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Ernie Hustwitt, the popular traveller of The A. F. MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co., Limited, boarded the train Monday morning for the West. "His grip contains samples of the world's finest products," remarked a member of the firm.

A NEW CHEWING GUM FACTORY.

Mr. S. T. Britten, founder of S. T. Britten & Co., and originator and manufacturer of the "Red Jacket" chewing gum, is now in the city of New Orleans putting up a factory to make that brand of gum.

Two years ago Mr. Britten amalgamated his business with that of The American Chicle Co., and now takes a practical interest in the company. He has just finished a large factory at San Francisco, erected for the interests of the company, where they make the "Red Jacket," "Tutti-Frutti" and Beeman's "Pepsin" gum brands.

The company has a capitalization of $9,000,000 and has in all nine factories manufacturing nothing but chewing gum. It is gratifying to see a Canadian taking such a high position in so large a concern.

EGYPTIAN MUMMY CORN.

A friend of Samuel Wilson, a Sandwich West Ontario farmer, gave him a small quantity of corn which had been procured from the covering of an Egyptian mummy, thought to have been interred over 20 centuries ago.

The seed was planted and in due course of time cornstalks developed, and the ears ripened. The corn is bright red in color and bears no similarity to the native Canadian cereal.

This was a case of corn that was cast on a mummy being seen after many years.

SECRETARIES PLEASE REPORT.

WILL the secretaries of every grocery clerks' association in the Dominion kindly send to me a report of each meeting? There are thousands of grocery clerks not members of any organization for clerks, but they are deeply interested in every movement pertaining to clerks, and desire to keep posted in what is being done in the associations. Others are asking for rules and regulations with the object of forming other branches. This winter promises to be one of the best in the history of organizations for clerks, judging from the reports I have heard from members.

STORE HOURS.

"Clerk" asks: "How long should a grocery store remain open?"

Merchants have told me it never paid them to keep open after 7 p.m., but they continued to keep their clerks at work simply because their competitors remained open. From 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. is long enough hours for any ordinary grocery store to be doing business. If a man works faithfully that long he has done his duty, according to my way of thinking. Saturday night close at 10, that is late enough, for all can easily do their buying before that hour. There are some customers, if you remained open until 11.30 p.m., who would come in five minutes before closing time. Village stores generally remain open longest, and yet their people retire earlier than those of larger towns. In the large towns and cities stores generally close at a sensible time. If the business could be done from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., as in some grocery stores in the cities, what a boon it would be to the clerks.

There has been a great improvement in shorter hours for grocery stores during the last few years, and I think the public and the merchants are both becoming more educated on this matter and better hours are coming.

CANNED GOODS FROM THE DEEP.

"F.G." tells of a sale of a large quantity of canned fruits or vegetables which had been sunk in a wreck for so long a time that the labels were completely destroyed, though the contents were unaffected. This seemed a hopeless lot of goods for any grocer to buy, yet they were sold to a merchant, who varnished all the cans, making the outside look clean; then he put the following card up:

I am a can of something good,
I'd tell my name if I but could,
For I was sunk upon a boat
And lost my name and pretty coat;
But still I'm sound and very sweet—
Fit food for kings and queens to eat.

The price was placed on them and the public snapped at them, not knowing if they were buying peaches, tomatoes or pumpkins. And the lot was disposed of at a good margin of profit. The man who conducted this sale has a brilliant future before him.

A FIRST POETIC OFFENCE.

"C.W." pokes fun at my verse of Oct. 18. This is my first offence. I promise to reform. It might not have happened had I not been celebrating the visit of the "Dook."

TEA AND COFFEE.

"R.F.D."—The cost of tea to a family is very much cheaper than coffee. One pound of tea is said to make 250 cups. One pound of coffee will make 35 cups. Thus, it requires nearly 8 lb. of coffee to produce as much beverage as 1 lb. of tea. Don't push your cheap teas and coffees. Have a good price for reliable goods.

STORE-CLEANING TIME.

"B.J."—This is the time for making your store look well for the winter. The season of dust and flies is now over. This is store-cleaning time. Just as the women folk have their house-cleaning time, so should the grocery clerks have a time to rearrange the store, clean up and generally go through the stock. It pays well for the time invested. In fact, it is absolutely necessary in most grocery stores, and should be done thoroughly from cellar to ceiling, under the counter and in every nook and corner. If you have not the time to do this, see that it is done by others.

DON'T BE JEALOUS.

"E.W."—It never pays to be jealous in business. Every person understands why a man speaks mean of his competitor, and it rebounds on the man himself. Don't do it. If you can't say something good don't say anything bad. One should always remember this, if possible; yet we so often forget.

COOKED MEATS.

This is a department of the grocery business which has made wonderful strides during the last few years. The growth of this business has been remarkable, and it is permanent also, because of its practicability, obviating the time and necessity of cooking in the family, especially when the good wife wants a hurried meal. This is a department which can be developed with grocers. All that is required is to keep the trays, knives and utensils scrupulously clean and have the best goods obtainable. Place them prominently before your trade and you will be surprised at their sale.

The sale of cooked meats is not confined to the summer months, although a much larger quantity is then sold. The number of customers is increasing who use these meats for Sunday dinners where no servant is employed. The housekeeper can go out to service in the morning, and, on her return, can have a nice dinner ready in a few minutes' time with very little labor and no danger of soiling hands or clothes. Stores which have no facilities for the handling of fresh meats can do a cooked meat business with very little room, with no danger of waste and small amount of investment, as the stock must be renewed frequently.

FIRST IMPRESSION.

"P. McB." The first impression customers have of a store often determines their trade. If they are promptly and pleasantly served they will come back again. Should they, on the other hand, be indifferently treated, having to wait some time before they are spoken to, it is very probable they will not return. You should always look after the strangers. If possible give them a little extra attention. It is possible to size up the success of an establishment just by the manner they treat their customers. The people who value your trade generally get it. Those who are indifferent to your interests will lose it. Look after your customers at all times.

MACHINERY DISPLACING CHINAMEN.

New automatic machinery is being introduced in the British Columbian canneries, which threatens to largely displace Chinese labor. One of these machines was placed in Boutelier's cannery near Vancouver to finish the tail end of the pack. When the Chinese found that the machine was doing much of the work formerly done by hand they struck. It is said that the Chinamen in the Northern factories have refused to contract for next year's pack because of the introduction of this machine.

Grocers should remember that Royal Baking Powder is never peddled. Consumers are supplied only through retail dealers.

It is the honest advertising which the Royal Baking Powder Company does that aids and protects grocers more than they sometimes remember. It trains the housewife to buy standard goods at reliable stores and to not patronize peddlers. Peddlers are the bane of honest grocers.

Grocers should keep a full, live stock of Royal Baking Powder, remembering that every sale of it is a blow at the peddler and a strike for honest dealing in high-class goods.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

THE APPLE TRADE.

A CABLEGRAM was received this week by Eben James from Woodall & Co., saying that only odd lots of apples were selling and that the market is active for both Canadians and Nova Scotians; at Ribstons, 23s. to 28s., Blenheims, 18 to 21s. 6d., Kings, 20 to 25s. The shipments of apples last week to Liverpool, London and Glasgow reported were 4,311 bbls. from Boston; 15,361 bbls. from Montreal, and 21,719 bbls. from Halifax, as compared with 40,341 bbls. from Boston; 34,381 bbls. from Montreal, and 16,261 bbls. from Halifax to the same points last year.

CEYLON TEA STATISTICS.

Odell & Co., Colombo, Ceylon, under date of September 21, report as follows, regarding the tea market:

"About 23,639 packages have been offered since our last of which 19,389 passed the hammer at an average of 37 cents. Prices generally, are firm, although a little irregular. There has been a good demand for all good tipple brokens. Common to medium sorts we may quote a trifle easier. The quality continues good. Shipments to the United Kingdom for first half of September were  $4\frac{1}{2}$  million lb., and we estimate shipments for the whole month at 6 million lb. The Chamber of Commerce quote shipments from January 1 to September 16, 1901:

THE SUGAR CANE CROPS.

Willet & Gray say: "The total increase in the new beet and cane sugar crops of the world is estimated at 817,311 tons. It will be noted that the total increase in the world's production in two years is nearly 2,000,000 tons, cane showing rather more increase than beet, against which, probably 1,000,000 tons will be required for increase of consumption and for the filling of depleted stocks. The million tons excess production is the cause of the present depression in the sugar markets and of the low prices ruling."

CURRENANTS IN LONDON.

With the arrival of the Zringi, bringing an assorted cargo of desirable fruit, market business has shown a considerable improvement. Prices for all qualities are maintained at a firm level, quite as much by the eagerness of buyers as by the stronger attitude of holders, who, however, seem daily less inclined to make any reductions in the price of their fruit. Several further cargoes are now afloat for London, but the volume of shipments from Greece up to the present has been too small to allow of the accumulation of stocks which generally takes place at this time of year. Nor is there any probability of any early change in these conditions, Greek holders showing a determined inclination not to make heavy consignments of unsold fruit to English markets. In this position they are supported by an excellent demand from all other consuming countries, which, it must be remembered, were, like England, practically cleared of stocks before the new season commenced. The quality of the present crop continues to be a matter for general congratulation.—Produce Markets' Review.

CANNED GOODS IN LONDON.

There has been a much better market inquiry for salmon during the past week, and prices are slightly firmer in consequence. Stocks on the spot, especially in the better grades, are now being considerably reduced, and, as the new arrivals by sailing vessel cannot reach here before February or March next, it would not be surprising to see a further improvement in valuations take place at no distant date. Owing to the failure of the sardine fishing on the French Coast the market is very firm, particularly for 15-oz. tins, which, at the moment, are in very poor supply, and valuations are gradually advancing. Californian fruits are still comparatively slow of sale, which is surprising considering the low and attractive prices at which these goods can be bought. The large crop of English-grown fruit has undoubtedly interfered with the demand, but, now that these supplies are practically over, a better inquiry may be looked for.—Produce Markets' Review.

COAST PRUNES EASIER.

The lower offerings from responsible packers on the Coast are taken to indicate a weakness among holders and a pressure to sell. The prices quoted show a decline from the last previous offering of 1c., and it is stated in some quarters that bids on round lots are being solicited from the Coast at a shade under these figures. The tendency of the market is also somewhat lower on Oregon prunes. A private letter touching on the Coast situation, says: "The market here is easy and there is considerable anxiety noted among holders in all quarters to sell. The trade in the section east of the Mississippi river is buying slowly, and it looks like a slow business for the fall. The old crop is a drag on the new and amounts to about 30,000,000 lb."

CALIFORNIAN ORANGE OUTLOOK.

In connection with the new crop of Californian oranges, shipments of which are expected to begin within the next two weeks, Mr. E. S. Moulton, of Moulton & Greene, Riverside, Cal., who is in New York, says: "Estimates on the crop made early in the season have been revised, and now instead of showing a probable output in excess of that of last year the prospects favor a crop about 20 per cent. short of the early estimates. Last year's output figured up to about 25,000 carloads, including lemons. I do not look for any large movement in the crop before the latter end of the month. The crop looks well and shows up finely. The outlook for transportation facilities is better than last year. It is expected that the short apple crop of the country will improve the demand for oranges and a good, healthy market is looked for. The percentage of Washington navel oranges is increasing every year, and this season the output promises to be at least 60 per cent. of the whole."

MR. MUNRO AS PRESIDENT.

THERE was quite a good attendance of members at the meeting of the Montreal branch of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, held on Tuesday afternoon, in the Board of Trade rooms, under the presidency of Hon. J. D. Rolland, at which were nominated a president of the Canadian association, a Quebec vice-president, and three members of the executive.

It was announced that Mr. William McMaster absolutely refused to be nominated for the presidency of the Canadian association, whereupon Mr. George E. Drummond moved, and Mr. C. C. Ballantyne seconded, that Mr. Robert Munro be nominated for the office, and this was unanimously concurred in, Mr. Munro suitably acknowledging the honor.

On motion of Mr. R. R. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. George E. Drummond, Mr. J. J. McGill was nominated as the Quebec vice-president, and Messrs. Ritchie, Quebec; S. S. Willett, Chambly, and E. Goyette, Marieville, were nominated as the Province of Quebec members on the executive.

It was decided that a circular be sent out to manufacturers in this Province inviting them to attend the annual meeting of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to be held in Montreal, November 5-6, and so become familiar with the objects and work of the organization.

The committee on the banquet reported that everything was in good shape for making the affair a success. Besides the after-dinner speakers, there will be three first-class male voices and an orchestra to add pleasure and variety to the proceedings.

TEA DUTIES IN THE OLDEN DAYS.

[From Planting Opinion.]

IT may interest the planting community, who are anxious to see the British tax on tea reduced if not abolished altogether, to know that proposals were made over a century ago with the same object. In those days the tax was very heavy, and, in consequence, there was a great deal of smuggling. The London Chronicle of May, 1784, published the "Third Report from the committee appointed to inquire into the illicit practices used in defrauding the revenue." The committee considered whether the entire abolition of the tax would not be compensated by resulting advantages. "Such a measure," they reported, "would undoubtedly accruing from such a measure both to that company and to the general navigation of these Kingdoms, and also by retaining a very considerable sum which is now annually remitted to the continent of Europe, are too obvious to be described. It seems reasonable to presume," the committee continued, "that under such a plan the tea legally consumed in Great Britain would not be less than 13,000,000 lb. annually; at present it is rather less than 6,000,000 lb. The legal import of tea, upon such an alteration, would employ 38 large ships, and about 4 800 seamen constantly in the China trade, instead of 18 smaller ships and about 2,000 seamen." The way in which the committee propose to raise an is very curious. "It has been suggested to your committee that if an account were taken of all the houses in the Kingdom liable to the window tax, which consume tea (and there are few of that description in which tea is not consumed), the present produce of the tea duties might be assessed and rated upon the windows of such houses." It was pointed out that this could be done with little extra trouble and expense, and the result would be that "the whole family within such houses would purchase their tea at about one-half the present legal price; and even those who smuggle it at present would, in that event, have it much cheaper and without fraud; servants and the lower class of people would have tea free of duty."

PERMANENT ADVANTAGES

HOUSES UNDER SEVEN WINDOWS

each would be assessed at 10s. 6d.; seven to ten windows, 16s., and so on up to houses of 20 windows and upwards, which might be assessed at 70s. It is curious to notice that the taste for different kinds of tea was assumed to be regulated by the number of windows in the tea-drinker's house. Persons having houses containing from seven to ten windows were supposed to drink Bohea; 11 to 13 windows, Congou, Singlo and Hyson; while those with 14 windows and upwards could drink nothing but Hyson. It was also pointed out that a mere reduction of the tea duty might reduce the profits of smuggling and lead to increased consumption of tea, which would more than make up for the revenue lost by the reduced duty. It is, perhaps, unfortunate for modern tea growers that they cannot plead extensive smuggling as justifying their demand for reduction of the duty.

CANADA AND THE AUSTRALIAN TARIFF.

It is understood that the Dominion Government is not disposed to act with haste in regard to the preferential tariff and Australia. As we pointed out in a recent issue, New South Wales has for three or four years been accorded the privileges of the preferential tariff. With the Australian Commonwealth adopting a protective tariff, New South Wales is legally no longer entitled to these privileges. At the same time, it is well that Canada should wait at least a while before taking these privileges away. There has been a strong desire among a good many business men in Canada for some time for a reciprocal arrangement with Australia. Under the circumstances, therefore, it would be best for the Federal Government to allow things to remain as they are for the time being.

The Australian tariff, unlike the McKinley tariff of the United States, was not designed in any particular to injure Canada. It was a concomitant of the confederation.

The amount of duty collected on imports from Australia under the preferential tariff is not large, being $70,672 in 1900, and the one-third of the tariff added would not bring the total up to $95,000. Even, therefore, from a financial standpoint, there is not much to be gained from denying to Australia the continuance of the one third reduction in the tariff.

But, while we can afford to go slow in removing Australia from the list of countries enjoying the preferential tariff, it does not follow that we should delay in trying to bring about a reciprocal trade arrangement between that country and our own.

When Hon. Wm. Mulock went to Australia to attend the opening of the new Commonwealth's first Parliament it was understood that reciprocity was to be one of the subjects he was to bring before the Barton Government. But whatever opportunity his visit may have afforded for the discussion of the question was dissipated by his unfortunate illness.

It is to be hoped the Trade and Commerce Department will take the matter up and push it vigorously.

COMMERCIAL EDUCATION.

THE New York University School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, which began its second year of active work recently is a striking evidence of the tendency towards advanced commercial education.

During the first year of this school's existence it was conducted as a fully-equipped training school for certified public accountants. This year its scope will be enlarged. A chair of political economy and banking and lecturer on law will be provided, and the theory, history and geography of commerce and other special subjects will be studied. Among the lecturers will be some of the most prominent bankers, editors and business men of New York.

Thanks to the leading boards of trade and to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Canada is awakening to the necessity of establishing a commercial curriculum in the universities of this country. But we have yet a great deal to do before we can claim to be up-to-date in this particular.

Opportunities like dew drops do not stay forever.

VALENCIA RAISINS 2S. HIGHER.

CABLE advices to hand this week announce an advance of 2s. per cwt., about equal to ½c. per lb. in the price of Valencia raisins.

The Valencia raisin market has ruled steady for some time, but in spite of that importers have bought sparingly, hoping for the advent of lower figures before it was absolutely necessary for them to place their orders for the Christmas trade. The unsatisfactory character of last season's trade naturally greatly influenced them in arriving at that decision. The market having gone in a direction directly to the opposite of their wishes, they naturally repent that they had not bought before, especially when the figures ruling were moderate.

A couple of weeks ago prices declined 2 to 5s. in England, according to quality, but this was followed by a heavy demand from all distributing centres and an improvement in prices. Shipments afloat to the United Kingdom were then 4,347 tons behind the average of the past two seasons.

Higher, rather than lower, prices are what therefore might have been expected.

SWELLED CANS AND "BOILING OVER."

In an interview published in last week's issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, Mr. Henry Swan, of Swan Bros., King street east, Toronto, was made to say: "We have found that by 'boiling over' canned fruits they can be made fit to use. These might be taken home and used, but they should never be given to customers, even at a reduced price."

This hardly conveys the exact meaning Mr. Swan intended. His statement was: "I know of cases where canned fruits have been 'boiled over' successfully, but I look upon doing this as an extremely dangerous experiment, and could not recommend it to anyone."

SULTANA RAISINS ADVANCING.

Sultana raisins, like Valencia raisins, have taken an upward turn.

On Monday a cable was received in Toronto announcing an advance of 1s. per cwt. on the higher grades. On Wednesday this was followed by another cable advising "a booming market and heavy advances in prices."

Although a couple of weeks ago the market was easy it must be remembered that the crop is no larger than that of last year, while prices were something like 20s. per cwt. lower.

DEPARTMENTS OF TRADE AND COMMERCE IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

THERE is undoubtedly a great deal of dissatisfaction in Canada in regard to the do-nothing policy of the Trade and Commerce Department, over the destinies of which Sir Richard Cartwright presides. But those who are for doing away with the Department, instead of reforming it, should first stop and think. We have already endeavored in previous issues to point out to them the unbusiness-like character of such a policy, and it is our purpose here to draw the attention of our readers to what other countries are doing or have done in regard to such department.

We think it will be generally conceded that among the nations none are more progressive in commercial matters than the United States. Whatever has utility that country endeavors to take advantage of, and whatever is obsolete to reject. Now, what is the tendency of opinion over there among commercial men in regard to a Department of Trade and Commerce? Simply that it should be created. And, at the next session of Congress, a determined effort is to be made to have it created. It is true that such an effort has been made before, but its failure was due, not to the absence of a desire for it, but to the want of the claim for it being persistently pushed. Now, it is so generally recognized as a necessity that the prospect of its creation has much improved, particularly as it has the approval of President Roosevelt. Mercantile associations are taking the matter up, and a few weeks ago that important and influential body, the Merchants' Association, unanimously adopted the following resolution :

Whereas, the great increase in the manufacturing industries of the United States and the development of our natural resources have already rendered the question of markets and of commercial relations between this country and such markets of vital increasing importance to the future prosperity of the nation ; and,

Whereas, Such markets must, in the very nature of things, be sought largely in foreign countries, which fact renders the subject one of international importance, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, the Board of Directors of The Merchants' Association of New York, do hereby declare for the immediate establishment, as a part of the Federal Government, of a Department of Commerce, the Secretary of which shall be appointed by the President, and shall be a member of his Cabinet, and the duties and scope of which shall be along lines similar to the duties and scope of the other Departments in relation to their respective subjects ; and the executive officers of the Association are hereby empowered and instructed to cooperate, in every way consistent, for the establishment of such Department.

Then the scheme has an advocate in the person of Mr. John A. Kasson, the well-known expert on reciprocal trade matters.

In Great Britain there is the Board of Trade, whose duties are partly ministerial and partly judicial, the president being a member of the Cabinet. France has her Minister of Commerce who superintends matters appertaining to foreign commercial relations and cognate subjects. Prussia has a similar official, although his duties appertain more to the chambers of commerce within the Kingdom than to matters without. The Australian Commonwealth, when launched on its career a few months ago, thought it wise to have a Minister of Trade and Commerce as a part of the Government machinery.

In Canada there are some who would have us take a backward step because, forsooth, the head of our own Department has, by his persistent inertness, given currency to the idea that such a portfolio was a sinecure and not a necessity.

It is to be hoped that at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which is to be held next week in Montreal, attention will be given to the subject, and another effort made to impress upon the Government the necessity of removing Sir Richard Cartwright, and replacing him by someone who is in sympathy with the objects of the Department, and who has the energy and ambition to advance those objects.

ILLEGAL WEIGHING MACHINES.

Complaints have been received at the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, that improper weighing machines are being used in certain sections of the country for weighing articles mentioned in section 16 of the Weights and Measures Act, such as cereals, seeds, lime, bituminous coal, potatoes, turnips, onions, etc.

As no weighing machine that is of less certified capacity than one bushel can be used under the law to weigh any of these articles, inspectors of weights and measures have been notified to confiscate all weighing machines so illegally used.

A BETTER DEMAND FOR LUXURIES.

A POSITIVE indication of the prosperous condition of the country and its people is the brisk demand that grocers, wholesale and retail, are experiencing for the better class of articles and also for goods that are ordinarily considered luxuries. Dealers say that this feature of the trade is remarkably noticeable from one end of the country to the other.

An instance of it is found in the demand for corn syrup, as compared with that for molasses, in the Province of Quebec. This Province has the reputation of consuming a large quantity of Barbadoes molasses, and, indeed, previous to last year, its people preferred Barbadoes to any other molasses or syrup. Even fancy-priced molasses offered at the same price as Barbadoes could not be sold in many instances in competition with the latter article. Last year, however, when Barbadoes was high in price and corn syrup was low, the people took to tasting corn syrup, and a great many grew to like it. But it was expected that the demand would again revert to Barbadoes this fall, as it is now selling at 12c. per gal. less than last year, while corn syrup is  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb. higher. But, although the syrup is costing about 15 to 16c. per gal. more than the molasses, there is still the volume of demand for the clear syrup that there was last year. This means that the people can afford to tickle their palates.

It seems reasonably certain, too, that the importation of liquors will be larger this fall than for many years. In September, some of our large wholesale firms ordered their fall supply, but since that time such an extraordinary demand has sprung up, that several of our houses have been compelled to cable repeats.

In canned goods of the fancy description, in chocolates and cocoas, in bottled goods, in such things as table raisins; in fact, in all lines that are generally considered luxuries, there has been a decided increase in business this fall. And it is not unreasonable that it should be so, for crops have seldom been so uniformly bountiful or the country, on the whole, so prosperous.

THE SUDDEN DEATH OF W. H. GILLARD.

NOT for many years has such a shock came to the grocery trade of Canada as the announcement on Saturday morning last that Mr. W. H. Gillard, of Hamilton, had passed suddenly away near the midnight hour of the previous night. As head of the firm of W. H. Gillard & Co., wholesale grocers, he was known from one end of the Dominion to the other. His warm heart, his genial manner, and his kindly face made him friends everywhere. Among his confreres in the wholesale grocery trade his popularity was striking, and one of the evidences of it was the fact that for 10 years he was the president of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild for the Dominion, an office which he occupied up to the time of his death.

In his own city of Hamilton he was one of the strong men, for exacting as were the demands of his own business, he was a moving spirit in all that appertained to the welfare of the "Ambitious City." He was at once a prince among merchants, and a man of large public spirit among his fellow citizens. The 64 years of his life that had been passed were all too short. But it was a busy one, something over 40 years of it being spent in the wholesale grocery trade.

He was born in Devonshire, England, on July 22, 1837. His father, who was a tea merchant, came to Canada with his family in 1858, settling in Hamilton. The deceased, who had previously received a first-class commercial education in Lynton and Barnstaple, entered the office of John and James Turner, the wholesale grocery firm, of which the late Senator Turner was the principal partner.

He remained in this position until April, 1867, when he was admitted as a partner. He remained thus until June, 1878, when he associated himself with his brother John, and established the present firm of W. H. Gillard & Co., whose trade connection now spread far and wide over a large part of the Dominion. Only a few months ago the firm established a branch of its business at Sault Ste. Marie.

Deceased was vice-president of the Hamilton Board of Trade in 1884 and 1885 and president in 1886 and 1887, and a member of the council continuously for 18 years. At a special meeting of the board on Monday morning the following resolution of condolence, moved by A. Turner and seconded by W. A. Robinson, was unanimously adopted:

The members of the Hamilton Board of Trade are again called on to record the untimely death of one of their most valued members, W. H. Gillard, whose demise occurred on Friday, October 25. The members desire to express their deep sorrow at the loss of their colleague, who throughout the long period of his career had earned, by his probity, abilities and energy, the success to which he was entitled, and the respect of the entire community.

As a member of the board for more than a quarter of a century, during which period he occupied the position of vice-president in 1884 and 1885, and president in 1886 and 1887, and member of the council continuously for 18 years, his services to the board were always freely given, and were marked by ability and thoroughness in everything he took in hand. His devotedness to the interests of the city and the country of his adoption was exceptionally great, and the community at large have suffered a great loss by his decease.

The board desires to convey to the members of the family of Mr. Gillard its sympathy in the loss which they have sustained.

The wholesale grocers of Toronto and Montreal showed their appreciation by placing floral tributes on the coffin of the deceased.

Deceased was actively connected with other commercial enterprises besides that which bore his own name, among the most important of which was the Aylmer Canning Co., of which he was president.

Up to within a few hours of his death, deceased was apparently in the best of health. He left the office for his home about 5.30 p.m. on Saturday, and two hours later, shortly after having partaken of dinner, he was stricken with paralysis. Four hours later, in spite of all that medical science could do, he breathed his last.

The funeral on Monday afternoon was one of the largest Hamilton has seen for a long time. At Undercliffe, the late home of the deceased, a family service was held at noon, conducted by Canon Bland. On and around the casket that enclosed the form of the beloved father and citizen were many beautiful floral tokens of affection and regard.

At 2.30 the remains were taken to Christ Church Cathedral, where a service was conducted by Rev. Canon Bland. There were present, besides many citizens, members of the board of trade, the past presidents and board of management of St. George's Society, members of Strict Observance Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and the travellers and the office and warehouse staffs of Gillard & Co.

The honorary pall-bearers were: F. C. Bruce, M.P.; John A. Bruce, president of the Board of Trade; A. Turner, George E. Bristol, H. N. Kittson, William Marshall, George Roach and Samuel Barker, M.P. The active pall-bearers were the following travellers and members of the office staff of the firm: George A. Turner, George H. Carley, M. P. Malone, W. J. Turner, John Hazey, M. Hazey, R. Bedlington and G. C. Bingham.

At the close of the service the cortege reformed and proceeded to Hamilton cemetery, where all that was mortal of the late W. H. Gillard was laid to rest,

"Never Mind The Past"--It's gone forever.

And there are but few of us would want to recall it.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, October 31, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade this week is fairly brisk. The orders individually are no larger, but as there is a good hand-to-mouth demand, the aggregate is fairly satisfactory. Besides the orders that are being taken, quite a large quantity of seasonable goods, such as fruits and canned goods, are being taken into stock. There is, in consequence, not much leisure around the wholesale grocery warehouses these days. As far as prices are concerned, the feature is a reduction of 10c. in the quotation on Acadia granulated, which is now 15c. lower than that put on the market by the Montreal refiners. The demand for sugar is light. There is just a moderate demand for canned vegetables at steady prices, but in canned salmon there is still a brisk trade being done. Canned meats, fruits and lobster are all quiet, with prices unchanged. The activity noted in the coffee market has been well maintained and further advances are chronicled in prices, both locally and outside. The tea market generally is firm for all descriptions and in some lines there have been actual advances in quotations. In spices, the feature is the firmness in cloves, ginger and pepper. Syrups are meeting a good demand and the same can be said of molasses. There has been a sharp advance in Valencia raisins at Denia, and sultana raisins are also quite a little higher. Currants are steady and unchanged. Californian prunes are a little easier in the primary market, while evaporated peaches and apricots are rather firmer.

CANNED GOODS.

Nothing particularly new has taken place in the canned goods trade during the past week. The demand for canned vegetables, such as tomatoes, peas and corn, is fairly good for small quantities and prices rule steady. The ruling quotations are 85 to 87½c. for tomatoes, 82½ to 85c. for peas, and 80c. up for corn. There is very little being done in canned fruits, but jams, jellies and marmalades are going out well. The demand for canned salmon keeps active and prices are fairly steady. Northern sockeye we quote $1.25 to $1.30 and Fraser River sockeye at $1.42½ for 5-case lots and over and $1.45 for less quantities. Cohoes run from $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality. Pink salmon, 95 to $1 a doz.

COFFEE.

The coffee market, particularly for Rios, has been active with prices higher during the past week. The unfavorable crop news is the chief factor in the advance in the market. Out of sympathy with the conditions ruling in the primary markets, local quotations are again higher. We quote Green Rios as follows: No. 7, 8c. per lb.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 8¾c.; No. 3, 9 to 10c. The local demand during the past week has been active.

NUTS.

The weather for Grenoble walnuts, according to recent despatches, looks a little

See pages 35 and 36 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

more favorable. The sales of Grenoble walnuts on importation account seem to be rather better than usual.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a good demand on the local market for syrups, particularly for the good-tasting sugar descriptions, at from 40 to 45c. per Imperial gallon. Corn syrup is also in fair demand. In molasses, a fairly good trade is to be noted. Advices from New Orleans state that the market for the new crop is fairly steady, and that receipts are so far light, the market having scarcely opened up. The ruling prices here for New Orleans molasses are 25 to 28c., and for Barbadoes 36 to 39c.

SPICES.

Advices to hand report that the price of Cochin and Jamaica ginger has advanced about 4s. per cwt., and the prospects are that there will be a further appreciation in values. Cloves are also firm. The statistical position of pepper is improving all the time, and prices rule firm. Locally, there is a fair trade being done in spices on retail account.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Business is fairly good in both these lines, and prices are unchanged. We quote: B rice, 3¼ to 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c. per lb.

SUGAR.

The feature of the grocery trade this week is a decline of 10c. per 100 lb. in the price of granulated, by the Acadia Refinery. As this reduction has not been followed by the Montreal refineries, the difference in the quotations of the former and the latter is now 15c. per 100 lb., instead of the usual 5c. The demand for sugar is still light, and the market is unsettled. In New York on Saturday last, two of the refineries made an advance of 5c. in the price of certain grades of yellow sugar, but this was not general, as the Arbuckles continue to fill orders at the old figures. The raw sugar markets during the past week have been weak and irregular, and beet sugar is now down to 7s. 3¼d., the lowest point on record. In New York, raw cane sugars are quoted 1-16c. per lb. lower. The margin between centrifugals and granulated is now $1.04 in the United States, although it is thought that this margin is more apparent than real, as some, at least, of the sugars which the refineries are now melting cost them rather more than the prices ruling to-day. The receipts of raw sugar in the United States are increasing, being 53,442 tons, while the meltings last week were only 28,000 tons. The total stocks of raw sugar in Europe and America at the end of last week were 676,305 tons, against 313,874 tons at the same time a year ago.

TEAS.

The tea market generally is now in a fairly strong position. Both Indian and Ceylon teas are firm. There is not a very active demand locally for teas of Indian and Ceylon growth except for fine flavor descriptions which are scarce. Low-grade teas while in better supply than the finer descriptions are not as plentiful as they were a short time ago. The quality of both Indian and Ceylon teas arriving on the market is on the whole excellent and showing good value. In Japan teas there has been a further slight hardening in prices. The demand here, however, is only moderate. The firmness in China green teas is still maintained while there is a good inquiry and supplies are difficult to get. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of Oct. 18, say that with a material diminution in the offerings of Indian tea, which fell from 57,598 packages to 39,573, buyers purchased with more confidence and there was a recovery from the weakness of the previous week. The official wire gives the exports of Indian tea to the United Kingdom for the first half of October as 11,010,000 lb. against 14,120,000 lb. in 1900, making the total quantity from April 1 to October 15, 84,001,800 against 90,150,000 lb. In Ceylon teas, there was also a marked decrease in the quantity offered, only 16,735, being catalogued against 21,254 packages the previous week. This smaller supply together with the reduced offerings of Indian tea was sufficient to steady the market and cause good general competition at the lower rates of the previous week.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The market in Patras remains firm, and efforts that have been made to buy at lower than regular quotations have proved abortive. There is moderate demand on the local market of a sorting-up nature. The ruling prices for good fruit from stock are as follows: Filiatras, 6 to 6½c.; Patras, 7 to 7½c.; Vostizza, 7½ to 8½c. per lb. For later November shipments, Filiatras and Patras currants are quoted ¾ to 1c. per lb. lower than the above figures.

VALENCIA RAISINS—A cable which came to hand this week has caused a great deal of surprise in the grocery trade, announcing as it did an advance of 2s. per cwt. in prices. As importers have been looking for a decline, and have in consequence purchased but lightly, they are, of course, anything but satisfied with the turn the market has taken. Some orders for importation were, however, placed a few days before the advance took place. The sales on retail account have not been large except for late November shipment. Quotations from stock are as follows: Fine off stock, 5¾ to 6¼c., selected, 6½ to 7. For the fruit due two or three weeks hence ex Bellona, 5 to 5¼c. is quoted for fine off stock and 5¾ to 6¼c. for selected.

SULTANA RAISINS—This market has also attracted a little more than usual interest during the past week. On Monday, a cable despatch announced an advance of 1s. per cwt. on the higher grades, and that the market was firm and active. On Tuesday, another cable stated that the market was booming, and that there had been a heavy advance in prices. There is not a great deal of business being done in this line, and prices to the retail trade range from 9 to 12c. per lb.

PRUNES—Advices from California report the market a little easier. Local business keeps light, with prices unchanged. We quote new Californian prunes: 100 110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—As choice apricots suitable for this market are costing 9c. on the Coast, very few of them are likely to be brought to this market unless there is a marked reduction, as, freight and duty added to that figure, the price would be altogether too high for anything but a small trade. With evaporated peaches, however, the conditions are not exactly the same, and relatively more business may be done in them. For the few evaporated fruits that are on this market we quote in 25-lb. boxes as follows: Peaches, 10½ to 14c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

FIGS—There is a fairly-good demand for figs, particularly for November shipment. Tapnet figs from stock are quoted at 3¼c., and for November shipment at 3 to 3½c. Smyrna naturals are quoted in 50-lb. bags at 3½ to 3¾c. per lb. We quote Eleme figs as follows, according to quality: 10-lb. boxes, 9 to 10½c.; 12 lb. boxes, 9½ to 11½c.; 16 lb. boxes, 10½ to 14c.; 20 lb. boxes, 11 to 15c., and 28-lb. boxes, 12½ to 17c.

DATES—The first shipment of new season's dates arrived in Toronto this week. Very few orders appear to have been taken to arrive. We quote: Hallowees, 4½ to 5c. per lb.; Sairs, 4 to 4½c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

This week the most notable feature of the green fruit market is the advance in prices of Cape Cod cranberries, which are $1 per barrel higher, and apples, which are firmer. There is a good demand for apples, but the demand for pears is not quite so brisk. The price of Cape Cod cranberries is raised out of sympathy with other markets and not so much on account of the demand here. We quote pears, 30 to 40c. per basket. Tomatoes are scarce, but the demand is falling off. We quote 25 to 35c. per basket; peppers, 25 to 50c.; grapes in 10-lb. baskets, 20 to 30c.; quinces, 30 to 40c. per basket. Apples are all the way from $2.50 to $4.50 per bbl., according to quality; bananas, $1.75 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for eight hands. Malaga grapes are scarce, at $6 to $7. Malaga lemons are selling at $4 per box, and Californian lemons at $5 per box. Jamaica oranges are $5 per bbl., or $3.50 to $4 per box. Cape Cod cranberries, $8 to $9 per bbl.; Ontario cranberries $6 per bbl. Pineapples are scarce. Price, however, is about the same as last week, $3.50 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The continued warm weather has made the receipts of eggs good. There is a good demand for all kinds, and prices are a little firmer in some lines. Good new-laid eggs bring as high as 18c. per doz. Fresh-gathered bring from 16 to 17c. Cold-stored are worth from 15 to 16c.

BEANS—There is a fair trade in beans, but prices are unchanged. Choice hand-picked pea beans are worth $1.70 to $1.75, and unpicked, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY—There is a fair supply of honey, and the demand is equal to the supply. We quote: Buckwheat honey, 5½ to 6c.; clover, 9½ to 10c.; in combs, $1.75 to $2.50 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—Dried apples are very quiet. Evaporated apples bring about the same prices as last week, selling at about 9½c. for carlots and 10c. for cases. Dried apples are offered at about 6c. Jobbers would probably get about 6½ to 7c.

POTATOES—Good stock potatoes are scarce this week, but there are lots of inferior stock on the market. Good potatoes bring about 60 to 70c. per bag. Some were sold as low as 55c., however.

GAME—The receipts of game this week have been exceedingly large. Prices are same as last week, however, but owing to the warm weather sales are being pushed at the lowest prices. We quote: Teal and butterballs, 25 to 30c.; bluebills, 40 to 50c.; pintails and redheads, 50 to 60c.; black ducks, 75 to 85c. per brace; canvas-back and mallards, $1.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—The season is nicely opening and the receipts are heavy. The weather, however, is against the market and in consequence sales are being pushed at the lowest figures. Geese and turkeys are lower, turkeys being 1½ to 2c. lower than last week. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 5 to 6c. per lb.; turkeys, 8 to 8½c.

LIVE POULTRY—There is a good demand for live poultry and the supply so far has been good. The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay for spring chickens, not less than two lb. in weight, 6½ to 7¼c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For fowl they will pay 5 to 6c. per lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The supply of butter is good, and it is in brisk demand. The large proportion of the tubs that are coming in sell at about 13c. per lb. and are suitable for bakers only. Choice prints of dairy butter bring 18c., choice rolls, from 16 to 18c. per lb., choice butter in tubs, 16 to 17c.; medium tubs vary from 13 to 14c. Creamery prints are in good demand, and sell at 20 to 21c.; creamery solids, 19 to 20c. per lb.

CHEESE—Cheese is steady and prices are unchanged. The market is firm, and the supply on hand is sufficient to meet local demands. Quotations are 9½ to 10c.

FISH.

The demand for prepared and smoked fish is improving. There is no change in prices, however, excepting in ciscoes, which are lower, and in finnan haddie, which have advanced. We quote as follows: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, 80c. to $1; finnan haddie, 7 to 7½c.; Digby herring, 75 to 80c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5 to $5.25; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—No change in prices. Standards, $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

VEGETABLES.

Cauliflowers are scarcer. Tomatoes are very scarce and will soon be out of the market. Citrons are about the same. Lettuce is higher. We now quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15 to 20c. per peck; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 20c.; cauliflower, 75 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 40 to 60c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.

cabbage, 25 to 40c.; tomatoes, 30 to 35c. per basket; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 55 to 70c. per bag; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 5 to 15c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 5 to 10c. each.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Manitoba hard is quoted at 81c. grinding in transit, or 79c. Toronto and West. The receipts at the local market were large during the past week. Millers are paying 66c. for red and white Ontario wheat. White and red is a little lower. Barley and peas are a little higher. We quote: White and red wheat, 62 to 70c. goose, 64½ to 65c.; oats, new, 39 to 41c.; rye, 54c.; barley, 50 to 59c.; peas, 68 to 71½c.

FLOUR—Manitoba bakers' is slightly lower, dropping 25c per bag; Ontario patents, in bags, $3.50 to $3.60; Hungarian patents, $4; Manitoba bakers', $3.75; straight roller, $3 per bag here in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is a good demand. Market is slightly lower. We quote: Oatmeal, standard, and rolled oats, in carlots on track here, $4.20 in bags, and $4.35 in bbls.; broken lots are 25c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.30 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.30; pot barley, $4.50.

SEEDS.

There has been a large offering of red clover during the past week. Prices are about the same, however. We quote $4.25 to $4.75. Alsike is scarcer at 6 to 7c. Owing to their scarcity, little more than the above prices are paid for extra fine lots. On the other hand, there are a good many samples of inferior and low-grade clover, which have to be bought considerably below the lowest of the above prices. Timothy ranges in value from $2 to $2.25 for choice machinery-threshed seed.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼ to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 50 to 55c.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 8c.

MARKET NOTES.

Sultana raisins are active and higher in Smyrna.

Valencia raisins are cabled 2s. higher from Denia.

The tomato season is nearly over and they are very scarce.

Acadia granulated sugar is 10c. lower. No changes have so far been made by the other refineries.

Notwithstanding the high price of apples, pears are remarkably cheap, the price per basket of pears being lower than the price of the same quantity of apples.

Cape cod cranberries are $1 per bbl. higher than last week. Their advance is in sympathy with the rise in other markets, and not so much on account of the demand here.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, October 31, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE regular fall business seems well up to the mark and all signs indicate a healthy feeling in the country. Orders are probably lighter than they were a year ago, but this is only a proof of the tendency of things. In articles of luxury, especially, is the demand good. Bottled goods of all kinds as well as liquors are being bought in unexpected quantities, indicative of the prosperous condition of the country from ocean to ocean. This week wholesalers are busy delivering this season's goods that arrived within the past 10 days, including dried fruits and canned salmon. The demand for canned goods just now is rather light as retailers are well stocked. Canned goods prices show no change. The market for teas is strong and a better business is being done both on wholesale and retail account. The feature in the sugar market is a drop of 10c. in the price of granulated by The Halifax Sugar Refinery, coming just at the time when the local trade looked for a steady market at least. Refiners here show no inclination to follow suit. The demand for corn syrup is strong and a little jobbing trade has sprung up in molasses. In spices the feature is the strength of the market. Coffees are also very firm. American pork is 50c. lower and lard is a trifle easier. No Canadian pork is obtainable.

SUGAR.

Again there is a new record in the price of raw beet sugar. Tuesday cable reported the London market at 7s. 4½d. or 1d. below the lowest point ever touched before. The chief cause of this depression was Licht's estimate of a 6,400,000-ton crop, against 5,700,000 tons last year. This increase coupled with the heavy crop of cane sugar has had a strong bearish influence. At the present moment further declines are not expected, and, indeed, there are those who look for advances two months hence. The existing depression in Germany and the eagerness to realize on the new crop may be largely accountable for the depressed condition of the market at the present moment. On Monday the Halifax refinery reduced granulated sugar 10c. per 100 lb. The Montreal refiners have as yet made no change in their quotations, and although they may follow in the near future, no tendency in that direction is evinced at the present moment. The demand for sugars has been very good lately and the refiners are pretty well sold up. Another unfavorable circumstance is the fact that American refiners have weakened 5c. on yellow sugars during the past week. Local prices are $4.30 for granulated and $3.45 to $4.20 for yellows, as to grade, per 100 lb. City 5c. extra.

TEAS.

A cable received from Yokohama last Saturday, reads: "Market up very high on low grades. Buyers eager to transact. No exporters seem to have stock. High and middle grades actually scarce." This describes the Japan tea market as we find it to-day. Since about the middle of August mail advices have said the price of tea has been below the cost of production, and but little tea has been picked up since that time. The available stock has dwindled to a small supply, and will soon be worth more for home consumption than for export. The total tea export of Japan will this year not reach more than 36,000,000 lb., the smallest export in 15 years. The reason seems to be that the selling price is not keeping far enough above the cost of production, and the Japanese are naturally turning to more profitable lines.

The strong market for Indian and Ceylon teas is having its effect upon the China black-tea market. Congou teas are quite firm and grades that some time ago would not sell at 10c. are somewhat above that figure.

China greens are very firm, not only pea leaf and pin head gunpowders, but even country teas are from 15 to 30 per cent. higher than they were two months ago. The demand from Canadian retailers is very good.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups is exceptionally good, much better than was anticipated. We quote: 3½c. in bbls.; 3½c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.50 in 38½-lb., and $1.10 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

At present there is but little molasses moving as dealers have not yet disposed of those stocks they bought off the wharf. Jobbers still quote 2s and 29c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is without any feature. Tomatoes are in rather light supply but the fact that stocks of old goods are being cleared out at 80c. keeps the value of the new pack down to 82½ to 85c. There seems to be but a few cases more obtainable at the lower figure. Corn is worth 77½ to 80c. and peas, 80c. The retail demand continues to be rather slow.

Salmon is also quiet so far as new business is concerned. New goods are now being delivered into retail hands. Fraser river brands are now being sold at $5 to $5.60 per case, and Rivers Inlet, $4.80 to $5. Lobsters in 1 lb. flats are selling at $9.50 to $10 and in 2 lb. flats, $10 to $10.50.

Gallon apples will not be used much this year. Some canners are quoting $2.65, for new goods, a high price that will limit consumption.

SPICES.

The entire spice market is firm, with advances accorded in cloves and ginger. The demand is good. We now quote as follows: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16c.; Jamaica, 25c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market is very firm, New York showing several advances. Mochas advanced 2s. in London. Asked if these foreign changes would have any effect on retail prices, one dealer answered: "Oh, some time next year, perhaps." Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The tapioca market continues strong and steady and wholesale prices must advance when present stocks give out. The demand for both rice and tapioca is good. We quote in combine district: B rice in bags, $3.10; in half bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots, an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ¼ bags; $3.10 in ½ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½c. per lb., and tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The local raisin market is without change. Prices are very irregular on account of the many brands and qualities on the market. Some off-stalk raisins sell as low as 1½c., while reputable goods are worth 5½c. per lb. Selected are worth 6 to 6½c. and layers, 6½ to 6¾c.

CURRENTS — There is nothing new to report in currants, the demand being fair and prices steady. Fine Filiatras, in barrels, are worth 5½c; uncleaned, in cases, 6c.; cleaned in 1-lb. cartons, 8c., and finest Vostizza currants, 7½ to 8c. Amalias are quoted at 6½ to 6¾c.

PEELS — Peels are selling fairly well out of stock at 9½ to 10c. for lemon; 10 to 10½c. for orange, and 11c. for citron.

PRUNES — Prunes are selling very freely to arrive. They are worth 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7½c. for 60-70's, 7c. for 70-80's, 6c. for 80-90's, 6c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS — The sales of Malaga raisins are quite large; larger, indeed, than for years. The price is low and quality excellent. For immediate delivery we now quote as follows: London layers, $1.60 to $1.65; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.20 to $2.25; ¼'s, 70 to 75c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.35 to $3.40; ¼'s, $1.10 to $1.15; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $1.65 to $1.75; ¼'s, $1.10 to $1.50. For future delivery by Bellona, dealers quote, "Royal Buckingham Clusters" at $3.10.

SULTANA RAISINS — Good, sound fruit now in stock is worth 9½ to 11c. Some goods are coming and will be here by the end of November to sell at 8½c., while very light stock will sell at 10½c.

NUTS.

The nut market is without any change. Grenobles are worth 10½ to 11c. to arrive; Sicily filberts, 8 to 8½c.; Tarragona almonds, 10½ to 11c., and shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. Last year's shelled walnuts are worth 16 to 17c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market is very quiet, apples and bananas being the principal moveables. Spanish onions are very scarce and it is now difficult to obtain supplies. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, $5.50 per bbl.; Verdill lemons, 300's, $5.50; 360's, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Canadian apples, $3 to $4 per bbl.; Californian plums, $2 per box; peaches, $1.25 to $1.50; limes, $1.50 per box; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.75 to $2.25, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 50c.; Spanish onions, 90 to 95c.; sweet potatoes, $2.50 to $3.50; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; Canadian grapes, 20c. for blues, 25c. for green and red; cranberries, $7.25 to $7.50 per bbl.; barrel onions, $2.50.

Price, $1.00 per box, containing 36 five-cent bars.

DID you ever figure the profit on the premium system of buying Chewing Gum? Take, for instance, the rocking chair that costs $6.75 with gum which sells for $8.00. Your cash profit is $1.25, without figuring the freight you pay on the chair. Now, figure 800 pieces of Britten's Havana Fruit Gum at 80c. per box, which contains one dollar and eighty cents worth of gum, and you will find the 800 pieces would cost you $3.55 5-9. Consequently, you pay $3.19 4-9 for your premium chair. This seems an easy way of getting the chair, but, if you'll watch some of the advertisements of the departmental stores, you'll see some of the same chairs sold for $1.98. Don't forget that the jobbing house, the railway company, the chewing gum company, all have to make a profit on this chair, and, as you are the purchaser, you must pay the piper.

FISH.

The fish market has shown considerable activity this week, herring and cod being sought particularly. We quote: Haddies, 15 and 30-lb. boxes, 6c. per lb.; Yarmouth bloaters, 60 in a box, $1 per box; Yarmouth bloaters, 100 in a box, $1 per box; smoked herrings, medium, 13c. per box; single haddock, 4½c. per lb.; Marshall's canned, kippered and with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; also Canadian kippered, etc., 95c. per doz.; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 green codfish, $5.25 per bbl.; No. 2 green codfish, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 dressed or skinless cod, 100-lb. case, $1.50; dried codfish, per 112 lb., $5; Ivory brand boneless codfish in 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 20-lb. boxes, 5½c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 40-lb. boxes, 4½c. per lb.; No. 2 mackerel, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $11.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6.25 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B. C. salmon, $11 per bbl.; No. 1 B. C. salmon, $6 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, $3 per ½ bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, $6.75 per ½ bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, $1 per keg; Holland or Dutch herrings, 75c. per keg; large salted eels, $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; canned Canadian sardines, per 100, $3.75; canned U. S. little neck clams, $1.50 per doz.; canned U. S. Kensetts Cove oysters, $1.25 per doz.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $1, $1.50, $5, $5.50; little neck clams, $4; 1-lb. lobsters, flat cans, $9.50 to $10; ½-lb. lobsters, flat cans, $10 to $10.50.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—The market remains steady. Western millers are asking 5c. per bbl. more money, and in cases are said to be getting it, but on the whole there is not much change. Spring patents are worth $3.95 to $4.10; winter patents, $3.55 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.80.

GRAIN—We quote: Manitoba, No. 1 hard, 77 to 78c. afloat October; peas, 52c.; rye, 56½ to 57½c.; No. 2 barley, 52½ to 53c.; oats, 12½ to 13c.; buckwheat, 56½ to 57c.; corn, 61½ to 62c.

OATMEAL—The market is firm at $1.10 to $1.50 in wood in carload lots, and $1.75 to $1.85 from wholesale hands. In bags the wholesale price is $2.35 to $2.37½.

FEED—The market for bran remains very firm under a good local and export demand. Ontario bran is worth $16 to $17 in carlots. Shorts are scarce at $18 to $19.

BALED HAY—The market continues firm for spot stuff and prompt delivery. The supply is hardly equal to the demand. No. 1 timothy is worth $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8.50 to $9; clover mixture, $7.50 to $8.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market is firm at an advance of fully 1c. on the week, large sales of fresh selected stock having been made at 18 to 19c. Straight lots of western are selling at 15c. To the retail trade 21 and 16c. are the ruling figures. The market is strong, showing a rise of 1c. on the week.

HONEY—The demand is only fair and prices remain steady. White clover honey in comb is worth $1.50 to $1.60 per dozen, and strained honey, 9½c.

POTATOES — The market continues to stiffen carlots having been sold at 65 to 67½c. per 90 lb., and a No. 1 car western at 70c. to arrive. Good potatoes are getting scarce and are wanted, as very few retailers have laid in their winter stock yet.

Beans — Sales of carlots have been made at $1.50 and $1.52½. Some people are waiting for lower prices still. Wholesalers are selling prime white beans at 3c. per lb.

ASHES — The market remains quiet. First pots at $4.25 and seconds at $3.75.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE — Although prices have not changed much there is an easier feeling. Quebec Septembers are changing hands at 8½c. per lb. and western goods do not bring more than 9c. per lb. The English market is weak and dealers there are not buying.

BUTTER — The butter market is strong, wholesalers selling fancy creamery in tubs at 21½c. Export choice creamery is worth 22c. Dairy is selling to the retail trade at 14 to 18c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

All teas are firm.

Bran is 75c. higher.

Eggs are up 1c. per dozen.

Chicago pork is 50c. per bbl. lower.

Acadian sugar is down 10c. per 100 lb.

Packers want $2.65 for new gallon apples.

Potatoes are strong and wanted in this market.

Flaxseed is now on the market after a continued scarcity. It is worth 4¼ to 5½c.

There are but few Spanish onions on the market and the price is now 90 to 95c. per crate.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., October 31, 1901.

THE Special Fall Number of "The Grocer" is again to hand. The opinion of the trade is that it is not only a credit to the grocery trade and to the publishers but to Canadian journalism. Its display "ads." in particular, call for attention. In business circles the week has been active. Markets are quite generally firm, though there are a few changes to note. There has been considerable interest during the week in onions. The present high prices are very firm and the prospect is to higher figures. Fish are quite scarce and prices are rather higher. The winter-port steamers are now very shortly expected. There is every prospect for a large business.

OIL — In burning oil prices are unchanged; prices are low, but are quite firmly held. In paint oils, stocks are light. Linseed oil is 3c. lower than our previous quotation. In turpentine the tendency has been upward and prices show an advance of 2c. Lubricating oil has a slow sale, and while prices are unchanged they are quite firm. In cod oil there have been fair receipts, but prices are still high, although they are hardly as firm. In prices, wax and candles are unchanged. The latter show an improved sale.

SALT — In Liverpool coarse salt the market continues to be lightly supplied. Demands are met by stock received via Boston. Prices are quite high; lower figures are expected during November. In fine salt sales are light, chiefly Canadian. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 58 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS — New goods have come to hand, but shipments have been very slow. Shippers complain of difficulty in getting cars. In baked beans the market is quite bare, though goods have been ordered a long time. In vegetables, prices tend firmer. Many are not pushing sales at the prices now ruling. In fruits there is little sale at this season, and stocks are fair. There are western inquiries for blueberries and gallon apples. There is a fair local stock. In salmon the market is now quite well supplied, though no cohoe fish have yet been received. Prices are unchanged. Meats are more quiet. Domestic sardines are freely received. In kippered herrings and haddies the demand is greater than the supply. Clams have a good sale.

GREEN FRUITS — Trade is very active. Apples are rather easier owing to much cheap fruit being sent here from Nova Scotia, which is not fit for export. A considerable quantity of this is sold at auction. In oranges, Jamaicas have the market; price is unchanged. A few Jamaica pineapples are offered; they are splendid fruit, but quite high. Lemons have a fair sale. Malagas have the market. During the past week stock was very scarce. Canadian grapes are still freely offered, though season is late. Some very good Canadian pears and quince have been received. The former is good keeping stock. Cape Cod cranberries are quite low and have a steady sale.

DRIED FRUITS — New Malaga fruit is now offered. Prices this season are quite low, and quality very good. Malaga loose muscatels are being quoted much earlier than Californias and at quite low figures. They were quite freely bought and effect the sale of Californias. In seeded raisins the latter have sold quite freely. Prices are much lower than last year. In Californian prunes, some shippers are refusing orders for 90-100's and 80-90's. In currants prices are easier, and are very much lower than last year. New York cleaned stock continues to be largely sold. In figs there is just a fair business. New peels are daily expected. Evaporated apples are very high and dealers buy in small quantities. Onions are rather higher and stocks are fair.

DAIRY PRODUCE — In eggs higher prices are quoted. While stock is light and receipts come in slowly, there is but a fair demand. Buyers' ideas work up slowly. Butter is rather easier and more stock is coming in from nearby points. Western stock is not liked, and packages are rather large. Cheese shows no change and the sale is but fair.

SUGAR — The Acadia refinery has reduced the price of granulated 10c. per 100 lb. In granulated some very nice domestic samples are seen; in yellows there is still room for improvement. In both lines some foreign sugars are still offering.

MOLASSES — Porto Rico is still the chief seller. Fair stocks are held; prices are unchanged. Besides Barbados and some little St. Croix, there has been some New Orleans offered this week. The price is quite low, and quality of stock very good.

FISH — This is the busy season. Owing to the lower prices of smoked herring, large shipments have been made west. Receipts are quite free. Pickled herring are still in very light supply, and high prices rule. There are very few outside fish, such as Shelburne and Canso, offering. In dry cod, prices are rather higher. Large fish are not coming here, going direct to United States points. Pollock keeps low and the sale is limited. In finnan haddies, western trade has commenced. Prices are firm. A large quantity of these goods come from Nova Scotia. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.60 to $3.65; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 5 to 5½c.; smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.15 to $2.25 per ¼ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ¼ bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — In flour, a fair business is doing. While prices are unchanged they are firm, particularly Ontarios. Feed is scarce and high. In oatmeal prices have been again advanced, and oats are very high. There is quite a demand for oats at this season. Stocks of oatmeal are very light. Cornmeal holds firm at the high figures. Local prices for beans are lower and with new goods there will be still lower quotations. Barley and peas are high. We now quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $1.60 to $1.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $1.75 to $1.90; cornmeal, $2.85 to $2.90; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 49 to 50c.; handpicked beans, $1.80 to $2; prime, $1.70 to $1.85; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3; split peas, $4.50 to $4.55; barley, $4.10 to $4.25; hay, $12 to $14.

ST JOHN NOTES

Dearborn & Co. have new Malaga raisins to hand, both layers and loose muscatels.

Geo. E. Barbour reports a particularly large sale of Fairbank's lard during the past week.

A. E. Smith has been appointed representative here for McMeekin & Co., tea merchants, London, Eng.

C. E. Macmichael, representing The A. F. MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co., distributed some handsome advertising matter to the trade during the week.

Mr. Wethey, of St. Catharines, was in the city during the week and called on the trade in the interests of his well-known Condensed Mince Meat.

W. T. Merriek, representing Rose & Laflamme, has been here placing some of Goodwillie's fruits in glass with the retail trade. He was particularly pleased with his sales, and these goods, so popular west, are likely to be in equal demand here.

"We could not be induced to go back to the written due bill or credit system again now that we have the coin style. They have become popular with our customers. They are like cash and can be used by the farmers as such in making deals, and they thus advertise our business and help us to get many new customers. It means that we practically issue our own money for the local goods we buy. They are up to date. All loss and bickering about accounts are avoided by their use."

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, October 28, 1901.

THE weather has been simply glorious throughout the week, and every threshing outfit has been running for which men could be found. It is estimated that the daily average threshed has been about 1,500,000 bush. Although there are many thousands of bushels of wheat fallen below the original grade, there is no question that the harvest has recovered to a very considerable extent from the effect of the heavy rains. This is having a very decided effect on business, and the volume for the week shows a well marked increase. Collections also are somewhat easier, but a very decided improvement in this direction is looked for next week.

WHEAT—The market has been firm in tone all week, and, though the advance in price has not been large, it has been a steady advance. At the close of the market on Saturday, No. 1 hard October in store Fort William was worth 70½c. per bush., and No. 1 Northern, 67¾c. At country points, prices have ruled higher, and No. 1 hard, on a standard rate of freight, sold at from 59 to 60c., while lower grades brought 50c.

FLOUR—This market is firm with a good volume of business. Prices remain without change. We quote: Lake of the Woods, Five Roses, $2; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX, $1.15; Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $2; Glenora patent, $1.85; Alberta, $1.65; Manitoba, $1.45; XXXX, $1.15.

CEREALS—This market presents no new features—business is fair and prices unchanged. Rolled oats in 80 lb. sacks, $2.20; 40 lb. sacks, $1.12½; 20 lb. sacks, 57½c; granulated and standard oatmeal, $2.70; split peas, $2.50; cornmeal, firm, $1.70 to $1.75; white beans, $2.25 to $2.30.

CANNED GOODS — Nothing new to report in this market except the fact that some canneries are prophesying an advance in tomatoes. Trade in canned goods is fair but not excessive.

COFFEE—This market is very much excited, owing to the reported short crop and the rapid advances on primary markets. The advances amount to from 1½ to 2c. per lb., so that No. 5 green Rio could not now be laid down here under 10 to 10½c. The local price has so far only advanced to 9½ to 9¾c., but a further advance is anticipated.

DRIED FRUITS — New currants have arrived and are of very fine quality. The price is 7½ to 7¾c. per lb., with 1c. addition for cleaned in bulk. Raisins show a fair demand, and prices are unchanged. Fine off stalk, $2.10 per box; and layers, $2.25 to $2.30, according to quality. It is of interest to note the increasing demand for both currants and raisins in the 1-lb. cartons. It would seem that in time the demand of the housewife would be entirely for cleaned fruit. New figs are due to arrive in about 10 days.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—All Californian fruits have advanced from ¾ to ½c. Apricots are now 13½ to 14c.; peaches (unpeeled) 10 to 10½c.; nectarines, 10½ to 11c. Evaporated apples remain firm at last week's price of 11 to 11½c. Dried apples have advanced and are quoted at 8 to 8½c.

SALMON—There has been some considerable talk of a drop in salmon, owing to the very large catch just at the last of the season, but it is not likely that this market will be much affected thereby. All the houses here had purchased their stock before any drop came, and some of the standard brands are sold, with a contract that they shall not be resold under a certain price, so that although there may be some shading, there will be no actual lowering of prices, at least for the present, on such brands. We quote: Red sockeye, $5.75; spring catch, $5; flats, $6; Cohoes, talls, $4.50 to $4.75.

NUTS—New Grenoble walnuts are expected to arrive the first week in December. The quality is reported excellent. Opening price for the best will be about 12c. Brazil nuts, according to latest reports, show a tendency to advance in the east. Fancy are worth 13½c. to 14c.; smaller sizes, 11½ to 12c.

SUGAR—The market shows no change in price for the week. It would seem rather as though Canadians are paying too high a

The best selling tea in Canada today is Blue Ribbon Ceylon packed and sold by
12 Front St. East - Toronto

price in proportion to the sugar that can be imported; but whether Canadian refiners can afford to reduce the price is a matter that concerns themselves. In the meantime, a good trade is being done at the old prices. We quote: Extra standard granulated, $5.05; extra ground, $6.50; lumps, $6.50 to $6.75; bright yellow, $4.30.

SYRUP—We quote: Extra bright, per lb., 3 to 3½c.; medium, 2½ to 3c.; glucose, 3¼c.

MOLASSES—We quote: Common, per gal., 35 to 38c.; Porto Rico, 45 to 46c., and Barbadoes, 55 to 57½c.

box; Californian do., $3.50; British Columbian do., $2.50; oranges, $5 to $5.50; lemons, $6; cranberries, $9 per bbl., and Malaga grapes, $8 per keg.

MARKET NOTES.

Lake of the Woods Milling Co. have received the contract for supplying 6,000 sacks of flour for the Indian agencies of the West.

Among the visitors in the city this week was Mr. Baker, representing Huntley & Palmer, Limited, the biscuit manufacturers. He presented many of the trade with handsome wall showcases, with all their leading lines displayed therein.

COLD STORAGE FOR APPLES.

"For three years," says The Green Fruit Grocer, "we have placed Baldwin apples in cold-storage houses worked by ammonia and machinery, such as are built in large cities on scientific principles. We pick our apples as soon as they have matured, place them immediately in barrels and draw at once to the cold storage house. The sooner they are put into cold storage after being taken from the tree the better; when the apples have lain in the barn in barrels for a week or two they have not kept as well as those

LEVER'S SOAPS DISPLAYED.

HONEY—Both strained and section honey show good demand, when the present high price is considered. We quote: Comb, 22 to 23c. per section, and strained, 15c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS—The market has settled down to winter fruits, and prices and everything are moving along steadily. Winter apples this week are fine stock, and, as all fall stock is cleared up, the winter apples will begin to move out next week. We quote: Snow apples, $6 per bbl.; winter apples, $4.75 to $5.25, according to variety; pears, Washington, winter varieties, $3 per

VISIT FROM A HALIFAX MERCHANT.

Mr. G. A. Cook, of G. A. Cook & Co., general provision merchants and grocers, Halifax, N.S., was in Montreal during the past week on a purchasing trip. Mr. Cook is one of Halifax's most enterprising merchants and, like all the "Bluenoses," is most courteous and broad-minded, characteristics which stand out boldly enough to challenge notice.

The creamery building at Whitechurch is progressing rapidly, and this week will be ready for the machinery.

moved at once to cold-storage houses. We find that the apples shrink some and have to be run over before shipment if held until the latter part of March. Sometimes it has taken one barrel to fill out the shrinkage of 10 barrels. We often find five or 10 decayed apples in a barrel of Baldwins opened about April 1. If the apples were held in barns a few weeks before putting in cold storage we might find a peck or more of bad apples. Baldwins which we put in cold storage and which we could have sold for $1.20 per barrel last fall, we find no difficulty in selling in large quantities at $3 per barrel March 15."

BUSINESS CHANGES.

DIFFICULTIES, ASSIGNMENTS, COMPROMISES.

AT a meeting of the creditors of G. A. Labelle, general merchant, Masham Mills, Que., on October 25 it was decided that the assets were to be sold.

Edward Boucque, grocer, Three Rivers, Que., has assigned.

Patrick Mason, grocer, Renfrew, Ont., has offered to compromise.

J. G. Langlois, general merchant, Magog, Que., is offering 25c. on the dollar.

Alex. McLean, merchant, Kamloops, B.C., has assigned to John T. Robinson.

G. Fournier, general merchant, Herbertville, Que., is offering 25c. on the dollar.

The creditors of Burnham & Holdsworth, grocers, Digby, N.S., met on October 31.

La Forest & Hogarth, general merchants, Victoria Mines, Que., are asking for an extension.

F. G. Morin, general merchant, Montmagny, Que., has compromised at 60c. on the dollar.

Bilodeau & Chalifoux have been appointed curators of the assets of Ernest Landy, butcher.

R. F. Meredith, late general merchant, Burford, Ont., has offered to compromise at 60c. on the dollar.

FRA ELBERTUS ON WORK.

EVERY employe pays for superintendence and inspection. Some pay more and some less. That is to say, a dollar-a-day man would receive two dollars a day were it not for the fact that some one has to think for him, look after him, and supply the will that holds him to his task. The result is that he contributes to the support of those who superintend him. Make no mistake about this: Incompetence and disinclination require supervision, and they pay for it, and no one else does.

The less you require looking after, the more able you are to stand alone and complete your tasks, the greater your reward. Then if you cannot only do your own work, but direct intelligently and effectively the efforts of others, your reward is in exact ratio, and the more people you can direct, and the higher the intelligence you can rightly lend, the more valuable is your life.

The Law of Wages is as sure and exact in its workings as the Law of the Standard of Life. You can go to the very top, and take Edison for instance, who sets a vast army at work—and wins not only deathless fame, but a fortune, great beyond the dreams of avarice. And going down the scale you can find men who will not work of themselves and no one can make them work, and so their lives are worth nothing, and they are a tax and a burden on the community. Do your work so well it will require no supervision, and by doing your own thinking you will save the expense of hiring someone to think for you.—The Philistine.

THE TIME TO PUSH COLLECTIONS.

THIS is the time of the year when retailers in all lines of trade should push their collections the hardest, according to a writer in The Commercial Bulletin, and when the best results will be obtained from giving a little extra time to the collecting of outstanding claims. The retailer also has a good excuse for pushing his collections during the month of October and the first half of November. He can go to his customers and rightly claim that the larger proportion of his accounts mature during this period, and that the money due him is necessary in the continuance of his business so that he may keep his credit unimpaired with the wholesale firms from whom he buys goods.

THERE ARE SEVERAL REASONS

why the retailer should devote considerable attention to collections at this time, and why he should strive to collect in more money during the next 30 days than during any other similar period of the year. The consuming public should be the most prosperous now. The summer's work is at an end, and both the farmers and the laboring classes have realized on their labors. Earlier in the year they were enabled to meet last winter's accounts, and if they have been provident and careful in their living, they should have some money accumulated with which to meet their obligations with the grocer, the dry goods man, and the shoe dealer. When the consuming public has money it is much easier to collect on account than when the returns from labor or from the farm are less than the daily cost of living.

ANOTHER FACTOR

in the situation consists in a consideration of the future from the retailer's standpoint. The retailer who fails to collect in his accounts before November 15 will find that payments on old accounts up to the turn of the year are nominal, and there is reason why this should be so. With the latter part of November many families tie up their earnings in Thanksgiving celebrations, and following Thanksgiving, they begin to save any surplus funds which reach them for the Christmas and New Year holiday buying period. Holiday gifts are generally bought for cash, and the consumer accumulates his cash to invest in this class of goods. Then, too, with the advent of cold weather, many laboring men find themselves with no work in prospect until spring, and farmers quite generally find their income is restricted after they have marketed their grain and stock previous to the advent of cold weather. As a matter of fact, the consuming public is not in a position to pay its bills as promptly following cold weather as it is at present, and the careful retailer will make every effort to get in his money while the situation is favorable to this policy.

On the other hand, there are few retail dealers but that need their money from collections more at the present time than at almost any other period of the year. The retailer who bought his stock of fall and winter goods a month or six weeks ago finds that by paying his bill promptly he can save a considerable sum of money in discounts from the jobber. These discounts are worth saving and many times help to make a business, which would otherwise only return a fair living, profitable to the owner of it.

The retailer's stock is the heaviest at this time of the year and he has more capital invested in it. Necessarily he needs all the money he can obtain on back accounts in order to pay for and carry his increased stock. He will shortly be or is already in the market for increased Christmas supplies. There are few stores that do not carry some no matter in what line of trade they may be, and these Christmas goods can be purchased very much cheaper if the merchant is in a position to pay cash for them or to discount his bills at the end of 10 days. If the goods are bought on the cheapest possible basis and to the best advantage, they can be sold cheaper, and the merchant who can sell holiday goods on a moderate basis, and at the same time secure good profits, is getting a good start towards expanding his business the following year. Customers who do not shop at any other season of the year go shopping at Christmas time, and get as much for their money as possible, owing to the fact that they have so many demands to meet in the way of Christmas gifts. The merchant who sells their goods on a low basis gets their good-will and secures advertising for the future that is bound to aid him in increasing his business.

HOW COLLECTIONS SHOULD BE MADE.

Now, as to how collections should be made at this time. The collection proposition is about the same the year around, but on general principles, the merchant who asks a debtor to pay him in a half-hearted way, and as if he were fearful that he was committing some breach of business etiquette in dunning him, will not meet with the same success as the merchant who is firm, and when he takes a position on this proposition, he does not recede from it. If you must have money, Mr. Merchant, and your customer owes you money that is necessary to your business, you are doing yourself and those dependent upon you, your creditors and your employees, an injustice if you do not go after it as hard as possible and with the determination to get it.

In this connection there are many merchants who are inclined to be

because they are afraid they will lose their future custom if they demand money that is due them. The customer who secures goods on credit and does not meet his obligations weekly or monthly in full, but who is carried over those periods when he is not earning money, is under obligations to the merchant. This is a one-sided business transaction in which the merchant extends all the courtesies of the situation. Make your customers realize this, Mr. Merchant. Make them feel that you are granting them a concession when you carry them for a month or two months at a time, and that when you demand money from them it is not because you are fearful they will never pay the bill, but simply owing to the exigencies of business, which demands that you shall meet your obligations with the man from whom you buy your goods. If you keep them filled with the idea that they are under obligations to you, you will find it far less difficult to collect the account and you will stand less danger of losing a customer when you do demand your money than you will if you are so anxious for their business that you make them feel you are indebted to them.

These few remarks pertain to the customer who is recognized as good pay, but does not meet his accounts promptly. The dead-beat is eliminated from consideration for the reason that his is a special case which demands special attention.

THE COLLECTION CAMPAIGN

may be instituted the first of October by sending a statement to all customers of the amount due at that time. Couple this with a polite note to the effect that you have carried the account for three months, or whatever period it has been carried, and state that you must meet obligations amounting to so many dollars within the next week. Say to the customer that as this courtesy has been extended to him you expect him to call at your store within the following week and meet the obligation in part or in full, just as you feel about it. At the end of 10 days, if the customer does not call to "square" himself on the little matter, send him a second letter in which you make the point very much stronger that you have absolutely got to have the money and that you expect it from him, owing to the courtesies you have extended him.

PERSONAL VISITS.

If this second letter does not bring desired results, go after the man personally, Mr. Merchant, and talk Spanish to him. If you have persuasive eloquence sufficient for the purpose, make him feel pretty bad because he has given no heed to your previous letters, and make it very apparent that you expect money, and a good round sum, on the account due within a very short time. Your work will begin to bear its fruit soon after this call, if the customer has any sense of personal honor. If he has not, that is another question. He should never have been granted credit in the first place, but if he has been granted credit it will probably be as well to place the account in the hands of your local lawyer as a finality.

UPSIDE DOWN.

The cut of J. S. Bennett's grocery shelf boxes, which appeared on page 17 of the special number of THE CANADIAN GROCER, stood on its head instead of upon its feet. Bennett's boxes look well in almost any position, but still it would have been better had the cut appeared right side up instead of the opposite.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Frozen Eggs—Miscellaneous Notes.

FROZEN EGGS.

THE preservation of eggs in bulk in cold storage is a new wrinkle that is coming into extensive use, according to an exchange. This scheme was devised by the manager of one of the largest biscuit manufactories in the United States, and, as a result, it has been adopted at numerous large bakeries, hotels and restaurants, where the eggs are used, whites and yolks as a whole. The manager in question, whose factory was at that time using between 30,000 and 40,000 dozen eggs per annum, noticed that in the fall and winter eggs lose some of the freshness they have in the spring. The requirements of the business demand an egg that has its original fresh, rich and meaty flavor, and one that will beat up light. Instead of storing the eggs in cases in cold storage, the experiment was made of breaking the eggs as soon as they arrived from the west into cans holding about five gallons, or about 35 dozen each, and freezing the mass solid by refrigeration and holding it in that condition. When wanted the frozen eggs are weighed out by the pound, or measured as a liquid.

THE GUELPH PROVISION CO.

At a recent meeting of the Guelph Board of Trade The Guelph Provision Co. asked the active assistance of the board for their project of building a large pork packing and cold storage warehouse in Guelph by stock subscription. The advantages of a local market for hogs and the importance of a cold storage warehouse were briefly set forth. Shipping in cold storage was the coming business. The company pointed out the profits of the business, and the suitability of Guelph for the same. The likelihood of the dressed meat industry taking the place of the export of live cattle in time was also urged.

PROVISIONS FOR THE CAMPS.

Owing to the active demand for supplies for winter camps, many orders requiring prompt shipment to inland water points are being received now before the close of navigation. In provisions, as the demand is especially good, many buyers have postponed ordering owing to the lower prices for hogs. But, owing to the small stock of hog products in the hands of the packers, the decline in the price of raw material has made no impression on the value of the product. It is doubtful if prices of the hog product will decline much during the next month owing to the great demand.—Brad-streets.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The receipts of dressed hogs are steady. Prices are steady at \$7.50 to \$7.75. Lamb is, if anything, lower. Other lines are unchanged with a moderate demand. We quote: Hogs, \$7.50 to \$7.75; mutton, \$5.50 to \$6; lambs,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; beef carcasses unchanged at \$7.25 per 100 lb. for best, and for ordinary, \$6 to \$7 per 100 lb; best hind quarters sell at 8c.; fore quarters,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. for best; calves from \$7 to \$8 50.

The deliveries of live hogs were light. Prices are unchanged at \$5.75 to \$6 per cwt. Good breakfast bacon is in good demand, with prices unchanged. We quote: Long clear bacon,  $11\frac{3}{4}$ c. in ton and case lots; hams,  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to  $14$ c.; breakfast bacon, 15c.; rolls, 12c.; backs,  $14\frac{1}{2}$  to 15c., and shoulders,  $11\frac{1}{4}$ c. Canadian heavy mess is higher. We quote: pork, mess, \$21; do, short cut, \$21.50. The lard market is steady. We quote: Tierces,  $11\frac{3}{4}$ c.; tubs, 12c.; pails,  $12\frac{1}{4}$ c.; compounds,  $8\frac{1}{2}$  to  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

MONTREAL.

In spite of the reduction in the price of hogs in this market, it seems impossible to secure any Canadian pork, and dealers must trust to American supply. Chicago pork has again been reduced 50c. this week. Lard is somewhat weaker, general sales being made at \$2.50 per pail. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, \$22.00; Chicago clear pork, \$23.50 for heavy and \$23.00 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, \$22.00 to \$22.50; hams, 13 to 14c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, \$2.50 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), \$2.01 for 1 to 24 pails; \$2.04 for 25 to 49 pails; \$2.01 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, \$1.72  $\frac{1}{2}$  per pail; Cottolene,  $11\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 20 lb. pails, and  $10\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In pork, rather easier prices rule. Beef is unchanged. There is but a fair sale.

Pure lard is firm at the very high prices, and there is a fair stock. In compound lard, there is a large sale.

WINNIPEG.

There is very little to note in the market this week. Cured meats, butter, cheese, and eggs, remaining unchanged.

MR. T. WILSON TAKES A WIFE.

Mr. Thos. L. Wilson, so well-known to the wholesale grocery trade as manager of the Trading Agency, Board of Trade Building, Toronto, was married in Ottawa on October 23. The bride was Miss Sarah Lawe, daughter of Mr. Lawe, D.L.S., Winnipeg, and a niece of Sir Richard Cartwright. Rev. J. M. Snowden officiated. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. R. E. Young, of the Department of the Interior. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left the same evening for New York to spend their honeymoon.

THE CANADIAN GROCER begs to join with the many friends of the happy couple in tendering congratulations.

The Ontario Fruit Growers' Association will hold its annual meeting at Cobourg on December 4, 5 and 6, when two American experts will be present, Prof. Waugh, of Vermont, and Prof. Van Deman, of Washington.

INQUIRIES REGARDING CANADIAN TRADE.

The following were among the inquiries relating to Canadian products recently received at the High Commissioner's Office in London, Eng.:

1. A London firm of engineers, machinists and general contractors desire to obtain the sole agency in Great Britain for any Canadian engineering or manufacturing firm of repute wishing to establish a connection with the principal engineers, ship-builders or railway companies.

2. An agent calling upon wholesale ironmongers, builders' merchants and the iron trade generally is willing to represent any good Canadian house requiring such services as he can offer.

3. Inquiry comes from Havre for the names of Canadian exporters of baled hay.

4. A gentleman in Glasgow conversant with the timber trade desires to represent, on commission, several well-established firms shipping Canadian yellow pine.

5. A German commission firm shortly commencing in Berlin ask to be placed in communication with Canadian houses requiring such representation as they can offer.

6. The names of probable buyers in Canada of hair felt, roofing, silicate cotton, etc., are asked for by a London firm manufacturing these goods.

7. A firm in the Midlands inquires for addresses of several reliable patent agents practising in Canada.

Inquiries received at the Canadian section of the Imperial Institute:

8. A firm of whiskey distillers is open to appoint a pushing firm as sole purchasing agents in Canada for its brands of Scotch whiskey.

9. A London house seeks a Canadian agency in polished wood boxes, cane cases, boxwood, acorns, brush backs and similar lines.

10. A manufacturer of biscuits is prepared to appoint suitable Canadian agents.

[The names of the firms making the above inquiries, can be obtained on application to the editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER.]

A UNIQUE ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mr. R. S. Webster has retired from the firm of R. S. Webster & Co., general merchants, Udora, Ont., leaving the business wholly in the hands of Wm. O. Webster, who will conduct it under the old firm name. When announcing his retirement, Mr. Webster issued a somewhat unique circular, of which the following is a copy:

"FOR AULD LANG SYNE!"

THE MAKING OF SULPHUR MATCHES.

THE match-making industry affords a striking instance of the great economy in time and labor which has been accomplished, particularly of late years, by the development of labor-saving machinery. Of the many articles that are necessary to the comfort of our domestic life, there are few that are produced and sold so cheaply as the common, tipped match. Were it not for the very ingenious machinery which has been specially devised for their manufacture it would be impossible to produce matches in such enormous numbers, and place them on the market at the astonishingly low price which prevails at the present time. The rapidity of manufacture may be judged from the fact that the machine used in one of the leading factories in the United States, described in a recent issue of Scientific American, from which this article is taken, is turning out 18,000,000 matches per day of 20 working hours.

MANUFACTURE OF SPLINTS.

The raw material for the manufacture of "splints," as the diminutive sticks of wood which carry the igniting material are called, usually consists of a special grade of sawn lumber, the wood being chosen for the straightness of its grain and its freedom from notches. This lumber costs from $26 to as high as $50 per 1,000, board measure. In cutting the splints it is necessary that the grain should run parallel with the splint, otherwise the latter will snap in two when the match is struck. The impossibility of securing sawn lumber in which the grain is everywhere parallel with the board results in a considerable percentage of waste. To avoid this waste and to render it possible to use a cheaper grade of lumber, The Federal Match Company manufacture their splints from white-pine cordwood. The rough lumber, as soon as it is delivered at the works, is peeled, split, and stacked to dry. The split wood is then sawn crosswise of the grain into 2-inch lengths, and the splints are cut from these blocks in the specially-designed planing machine. The planing tool of this machine consists of a double row of circular knives superimposed above one another, there being 32 of these little knives in each row. As the knife makes 250 strokes per minute, the capacity of each machine, allowing for time lost in picking up a fresh block, is nearly a million splints per hour. The splints are first dried by hot air, and then gathered up by boys and placed in the hopper of a cleaning machine, where all slivers or broken fragments are separated out. The cleaner consists of a hopper which delivers the matches onto the upper end of a sloping oscillating table, whose surface contains a number of parallel grooves, running in the direction of the oscillation. At intervals of a few inches transverse slots are cut entirely through the table. The match splints travel down the table and fall into a receptacle below, while the slivers and broken fragments fall through the slots. From the cleaning machine the splints are taken to a straightening machine, where they are shaken down until they arrange themselves side by side in long parallel rows, just as cordwood is arranged and stacked by the woodenter. The machine is then stopped and the slats drawn away, leaving the matches straightened out ready for further handling. They are picked up and put in "holders," little boxes 4 inches deep, 2 inches wide, and 15 inches in length.

THE MATCH-MAKING MACHINE.

The match making machine finishes the match in one continuous operation, dipping it in paraffine wax, tipping it with phosphorus, drying it out, and delivering it ready for shipment, the whole operation taking just 32 minutes, and the matches being turned out at the rate of 18,000,000 per day of 20 hours. Generally speaking, this machine may be described as an endless belt, 600 feet in length, known as the carrier, which extends up and down the length of the room, passing at each turn over end-sprockets. The belt travels with an intermittent motion at the rate of 9 inches a stroke and 30 strokes a minute. Each link of the belt consists of a set of transverse slats, known as a "block," and in each block are placed 100 splints. After the splints have been inserted no further handling is necessary, each block being successively dipped in wax, dried, tipped with phosphorus and again dried, and finally delivered as finished matches ready for packing.

The special improvement in the machine under consideration, as distinguished from all others, lies in the great rapidity with which the splints can be charged into the endless carrier. In the ordinary type, the splints are fed a few at a time from a single hopper located at the charging station, a single row of matches being fed at each forward movement. In the machine used in the particular factory referred to by Scientific American, the hopper is replaced by a vertical loop, called the charging station, which is arranged above the endless carrier and

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA

BLACK

The merit of the Black Teas has established them high in popular estimation. They are drunk wherever the English language is spoken. They follow the flag and drive out less meritorious growths.

OR

But some consumers are wedded to light drawing kinds, with pale liquor and without the full body and richness of the black kinds.

GREEN

The Green Teas of Ceylon and India are made expressly for this trade. In Make, Quality and Price they challenge comparison with other growths.

They are grown, prepared and packed with the same skill by the British Planters who have revolutionized the black tea trade.

They have caught on in Canada and are no longer in the experimental stage. Try them.

has an intermittent motion corresponding in speed and frequency with the movements of the carrier. In the vertical sides of this charging station are eight assembling stations, each of which performs functions corresponding to those of the single hopper in the old type of match-making machine, by charging in this case a row of 50 splints into special perforated brass holders. Each of these holders has a capacity of 8 rows of splints; and by the time a holder has made the circuit of the eight charging stations and passed entirely around the loop, it is loaded with its full quota of 400 splints. The loaded holder is now automatically brought into position over the carrier, and its load discharged directly into the frame or "block" beneath it, 400 splints being delivered at each intermittent stroke of the machine. It will thus be seen that, by the provision of a separate multiple-unit charging station in place of the single hopper, the capacity has been increased 10-fold.

Each frame is made up of 9 parallel slats of wood, which extend across the full width of the carrier. As each frame is successfully brought forward beneath the brass plates the load of 400 splints is pushed down from the plates into the frames. The slats are then closed up tightly, and the splints locked in, by means of a circular cam.

THE ENDLESS CARRIER,

as we have said, has an intermittent motion in one direction, and the insertion of the matches in the block is accomplished at the moment the carrier is stopped—the cam opening the frames, the matches being transferred from the brass holder, and the slats closed up and locked before the carrier makes its next advance. The frames, with the matches in place, next travel over a steam-heated drying table, at the end of which a beater strikes a blow upon each frame and levels the matches out evenly, ready for their passage over the phosphorous roller. The lower ends of the splints then travel through a bath of melted paraffine wax, the paraffine being necessary to make the splint burn easily after the match is struck. The matches next travel over a roller, the lower part of which is immersed in a steam-heated bath of melted phosphorus. As each frame, with its 400 matches, travels across the upper portion of this roller the proper amount of phosphorus is deposited. By the time the matches have travelled in the carrier through the whole circuit of the machine the composition has become thoroughly dried out. The matches are ultimately brought back to the receiving station end of the system, where the circular cam descends between the slats and releases the matches, and they are pushed out of the carrier frame automatically by means of a discharger comb which descends from above the slats for this purpose. The matches are then carried down over an inclined, oscillating table, where they are automatically arranged in parallel piles for convenience of handling. They are then gathered up and taken to the packing tables, where they are put into match boxes of various sizes, and packed in boxes and in crates for shipment.

MACARONI AND ITS KINDRED PRODUCTS.

MACARONI and its kindred products—vermicelli, spaghetti, noodles and "letters"—are coming to be recognized as staple products, and recently its consumption has increased to considerable proportions. "Macaroni," declares The St. Louis Globe Democrat, "is rapidly taking a place on the American dinner table as a necessity. It contains about the same proportion of starch, gluten and sugar found in potatoes, and among many families it is being used as a substitute for the tuber. Its cost is less in proportion to potatoes and its nutritive value about as great. One pound of macaroni will last a family of six people for two meals, while a pound of potatoes will only last half the time. For years macaroni was looked upon with disfavor by Americans because it was an Italian dish, but it has been growing in popularity right along until it is now found on almost every table in the land. Formerly there was an impression that Italian macaroni was the best, but the American manufacturer has demonstrated that he can put up a better article than comes here from Italy, although there is still a considerable quantity imported. The American-made macaroni is more cleanly manufactured. In Italy, the drying process is still crude. The strings of doughy mixture are placed out of doors on any supporting projection and the macaroni gathers all the dirt that comes its way. In the American-made article, the dough, after it comes from the molds, is carried to drying rooms, where it remains six days before it is ready for packing. In the manufacture the American uses the latest and best machines. The macaroni machine is a big cylinder with a number of small holes in the bottom. The dough is placed in the cylinder and a plunger under hydraulic pressure forces the tubes of macaroni through in long strings. The centre holes are made by rods that fit in the cylinder holes, leaving only a slight space for the macaroni around them."

HUSTLERS AND NON-HUSTLERS.

"I tell you," the sprightly passenger in the pepper and salt suit was saying, "there is nothing like get up and hustle. I hustle. If business doesn't come to me I go out and hunt it. Yesterday I made nearly $11 repairing sewing machines. Had six jobs. I can afford to take a holiday once in a while."

"Well," slowly replied the passenger in the suit of sombre black, "I'm not so good on the hustle. I've had only one job in the last six months."

"That's too bad," returned the other sympathizingly. "What's your occupation?"

"Building lighthouses."

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch.

Your idea may be that all starch is starch and that your customers won't detect even a slight difference in quality. You may think that because there is a cent or two extra profit on "Mushroom" brands (that come and go), you can retain the confidence of your trade—it doesn't pay to trifle with the confidence that a customer has in you and your goods.

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch is as staple as flour. In the name there is the fame of nearly half a century. In the making there is the skill of long experience combined with honesty of purpose and unequalled manufacturing facilities. Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch represents the highest type of perfection there is or can be in starch. Kegs of 100-lbs.—handsome enamelled horse-shoe tins holding 6-lbs.—handsome 1-lb. packages that give a touch of life and color and "go" to a grocer's shelves.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

No. 9

EVERY store-keeper who wants a brightly lighted store should use this lamp—it is the only one giving 200 candle power.

IT makes its own gas automatically and is cheaper to run than a center-draft oil lamp.

THERE is no smoke or smell, of any kind, from it.

HUNDREDS of them are in use and every one is giving satisfaction.

IF THE LAMP IS NOT ALL YOU HOPE IT TO BE WE WILL CHEERFULLY RETURN YOUR MONEY.

The Kind of Training Needed for Success in Business.

By C. C. GAINES.

THE problem before us is, what to do for the average American boy, —the boy who, in the near future, will begin life, whose "economic activity" will be business, and who would seek, through training, to become an able man of affairs. I want to help this boy. If I may, to become a better man; to enable him to render better service, and to inspire him to a higher view of the vocation to which he is called.

The bed rock on which to build a business man is character.

What is character? It is the work of many unseen influences; heredity is its seed; environment its soil, and will-force its secret. Character grows. It does not spring, like Minerva, full-panoplied; no, not even in those who are born again; but, "day by day, here a little, there a little, grows and strengthens for good or evil." Good intentions and good principles may both be unheeded, and go to atrophy and decay; or, they may grow into that superb discretion which gives masterly control of all wrong impulses, that splendid moral potency which neither temptation can weaken nor disaster destroy.

HABITS AND TASTES ARE CHILDREN OF CHOICE, NOT CHANCE.

Disraeli remarks: "The youth who does not look up will look down, and the spirit which does not soar is destined, perhaps, to grovel." The future holds blessings for the young man who goes into business with an ambition to deserve the respect and esteem of the wise and good, who appreciates the value of loyalty, purity, honesty, and truth, who carries an unstained shield. This man's future is safe. But the boy who believes that success depends on sharpness and chicanery—that ability to get the best of a bargain, no matter by what deception or meanness, is business—is sure, sooner or later, to discover that he is the victim of his own treachery. All experience goes to show that no enduring success in business can be achieved through dishonesty; and that no matter what the talents and energies, no matter how liberal, polished, and profound the education—these are of little value unless accompanied by personal integrity.

Says G. D. Boardman: "Sow and act, and you reap a habit; sow a habit, and you reap a character; sow a character, and you reap a destiny." "I find the greatest thing in this world," says Oliver Wendell Holmes, "is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving." The finding is correct. You must keep struggling upward, if you would avoid sliding down hill.

It is for you to determine what your habits shall be; for you to say whether you shall rise when the time comes for leaving your bed; whether you shall be promptly in place at meals; whether you shall eat only wholesome food; whether you shall study, or hate, your books; whether you shall get an education, and be known as a cultured gentleman; whether you shall be polite and appreciative, or the opposite; whether you shall work with energy and enthusiasm—"with a will"—or be lazy; whether you shall read the best books, or those which corrupt good taste; whether you shall select good companions and elevating associations, or those which are degrading; whether you shall speak kindly, truly, distinctly, and correctly, or roughly, profanely; and with foul words; whether you shall spend your leisure in exercise, reading, wholesome amusement, and recreation, or in loafing around the street corners and saloons, in card playing and telling filthy stories; whether you shall pay cash, or run into debt; whether you shall keep good hours, and preserve your physical health and vigor, or waste your energies in late hours and dissipation; whether or not you shall meet temptation, and master it; whether you shall smoke a cigarette, or never touch tobacco; whether you shall shun intemperance, as you would a contagious disease, or take the first drink; whether you shall purify your thoughts, or have a mind full of evil imaginings, unclean sights, and lascivious pictures; whether you shall be brave enough to set a good example, and to refuse to follow a bad example; whether you shall support the right, and be an aggressive force for good, or "be a clam." You may be what you will—what is good, or what is bad. But be careful. Your reputation, your position socially, your standing and success as a business man, your health of mind and body, your happiness, your character—your destiny—will all be determined finally and forever, by the habits you are now forming of thought, of speech, and of action.

How to work is the thing the boy most needs to know who has his way to make in the business world. "Labor omnia vincit," and no business man may expect to conquer without it. In my 20 years' experience as the principal of a business school, I have found only those young men impossible—I may even say hopeless—who could not be induced to work. The business men who succeed do so by unceasing application. Ask any man the secret, no matter in what activity, and he will answer: "It is toil, grit, endurance; not simply ambition, but sustained ambition; not only aspiration, but perspiration." "Whenever I hear a young man praised as giving unusual promise, as a man of genius," says Ruskin, "I always ask just one question, 'Does he work?'"

Of hardly less significance is concentration, or patient industry—the power of drudging, hour after hour, and day after day, until the work in hand, whatever it may be, is done. Be it sweeping the store (Andrew Carnegie and many other eminent business men attach great consequence to their "beginning at the bottom" thus), or extending and adding columns of figures, or planning a season's purchases, or writing advertisements, or selling goods—hand work or head work—the business man must be so trained that he is able and willing to do it, if need be.

EXPERIENCE IS STILL THE BEST LAMP TO LIGHT ONE'S PATH.

Ability, or the power of doing well the thing to be done, comes next. A successful manager must take pride in his work, and be clearly master of every detail, small and great. The most satisfactory means of acquiring this mastery is by actual experience. To this end the merchant should have early contact with the business he is to follow; the younger he begins to trade, the more likely he is to love it. No man may expect to prosper who does not have a taste for his business, a genuine appetite for its most commonplace transactions. If these seem to him arduous, unpleasant, or trifling, he would better devote his energies to some other vocation. One cannot succeed eminently in what one despises. The late A. T. Stewart never lost his eagerness for his business, and is said to have taken as much pains, and as evident pleasure, in waiting on a customer during the latter part of his life, as when he began business. It should be added that his customers were never better pleased than when he served them, whether they knew who he was or not.

The merchant of 50 years ago believed that business could not be learned by educational process. The school which proposed to teach business was looked upon with suspicion. It advertised to do the impossible. The tricks of trade had to be taught in the shop or in the counting room, under a system of apprenticeship. The merchant received the boy into his family, and made him the trusted companion of his life and labors. It was the same, in that day, in all trades. But conditions are changed. The volume of business now transacted, and the methods in vogue in offices, stores and factories, make it impossible for the business man of to-day to afford time for the general training of his clerks and assistants. The shop is the place where training must be used, rather than sought. Thus, in many occupations, it has become necessary to substitute practical training in the schools for the teaching formerly given through experience.

THE IMPORTANCE OF TECHNICAL TRAINING

Until very recently, our general scheme of education in America, except in proprietary business schools, made no provision for specialization in this direction. The same condition prevailed in England. On the Continent, especially in Austria, Germany, and France, public attention, for many years, has been wisely drawn to the importance of commercial education, and courses of instruction, admirably systematized, have been arranged for their higher schools. In the present keen struggle for trade, place, and positions, the work done by these schools has so clearly demonstrated its advantages to the commerce of the country, and to the students themselves, that educators, both in England and America, have been induced to provide adequate systems of training for pupils of all ages—for those who would begin as office boys and clerks at from 14 to 16, and for college and university men at from 20 to 25 who wish to be prepared for higher functions than merely clerical service or trading behind the counter generally entails.—Success.

DUTCH AND CANADIAN CHEESE.

By Dr. Hamilton Seymour.

THERE can be little doubt that cheese-making is coeval with bread. We have many references to cheese not only in the books of Homer, Euripides, and Aristotle, but in the sacred writings there are many allusions such as in I. Samuel, xvii., 18, where David is directed to take the cheeses to the captain of his brethren. It is only within recent years that cheese-making has become an art, and to such an extent has the trade developed that we now often find entire districts on the continents of Europe and America, and even in the Arabian deserts, devoted to the careful production of cheese.

In this short article I wish to confine my remarks to some Dutch and Canadian cheese which I recently had the privilege of examining at the well-known English warehouses of Messrs. Nalborough & Sons, Limited, Harwich, hoping at some other time to direct attention to their establishments at Hoorn, in Holland. The firm, as everyone in the trade knows, is a very old house with an extensive business as cheese merchants all over the country. I may convey a little information if I speak of the firm's Harwich premises, consisting of public and private offices, and large warehouses, one devoted to Goudas, and another to Edams. These large, lofty cheese warehouses are substantially built and well appointed. One was H.M. bonded warehouse, and the other in 1874 was fitted up in the best Dutch style with broad shelvings upon which the cheese is placed 6 to 8 inches apart, and kept in a healthy and uniform temperature as far as the season permits. The floors are concrete, and everything is scrupulously clean. In one warehouse as much as 50 tons of Goudas has been seen at a time, whilst the other is capable of holding 10,000 Edams. I find that the Goudas are cheese made of full cream and selected from dairy farms of established reputation and well known to the firm's buyers in the Bodegraven, Gouda, and Woerden markets, and unlike the factory cheese which has been made from milk that has been partly skimmed, while the Edams are selected from the choicest dairies pitched on Hoorn, Alkmaar, and Purmerend markets, and are absolutely the finest that money can buy.

If we were but alive to the value of cheese as one of the articles of diet, we would eat more; I say one of the articles of diet, for in these days of epicureanism few are content to live on bread and cheese. Nor is it desirable, for we might say with Shakespeare "Why my cheese, my digestion," but if we consider it in its chemical composition, we find it very rich, richer than any other known food in nutritive elements, providing, as Dr. Edward Smith in his work on foods says, "We select a good specimen." I certainly think that good specimens of cheese are those of hairy-made Goudas and Edams imported by Messrs. Nalborough & Sons, for they are made of milk containing the whole cream, and we all know how wonderfully clean are the dairy farms of the Southern and Northern Netherlands.

There is another and different class of cheese to which I wish to direct attention in closing my notice, because Messrs. Nalborough & Sons are sole agents for Great Britain, namely, MacLaren's Imperial Cheese, which not only took the highest award for excellence at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893, but carried off the gold medal at the Paris Exposition in 1900. I am very pleased, as a writer on food, to call attention to this luxurious cheese, for I know from visiting the Ontario districts where the dairy farms are, the breed of cows, the rich pasturage, and the manner of preparing this double-creamed cheese, that there is no better fancy cheese in the world. No wonder that it has recently found its way on to more than one Royal table, for it is pure and rich, pleasing alike to the eye, palate and stomach. All must agree with Mr. John Boyd Thacher that this was the only cheese that scored perfection (100 points), and whilst the present standard is kept up will beat any fancy cheese in the market.—The Age, London and Glasgow.

NO "SLOUCH" OF A NATION.

The esteemed "Canadian Grocer" is jubilant because the Canadian cheese at the Pan-American Exhibition won the gold medal offered for the best exhibit. It does not detract from the satisfaction of "The Grocer" that at the Chicago World's Fair the Canadian cheese also won over all competitors. The Dominion is winning all the cheese prizes, and she is winning all the prizes for small yachts, and a country that can do either with Uncle Sam as a competitor is no slouch of a nation.—Merchants' Review, New York.

KIN YEZ SWIM?

A learned man who knew so much it hurt him, once hired a boatman to row him across a wide river.

On the way across he began to interrogate the boatman:

"Friend, do you understand metaphysics?"

"Divil a bit," said the boatman, and kept on rowing.

"Then one-fourth of your life is lost Do you know rhetoric?"

"Not at all."

"Then half your life is lost. Have you ever studied mathematics?"

"No."

"Then three-fourths of your life is lost."

Just then the boat struck a snag and upset.

"Kin yez swim?" asked the boatman.

"Alas, no," replied the philosopher.

"Sure, thin, the whole av your life is lost."

A man may have plenty of experience, the very best of goods, and the necessary capital, and then be unsuccessful in business for the want of the right kind of advertising.

HERE SINCE A.D. 1851.

When Mr. Eddy, the venerable match maker of Hull, was asked lately how long his matches had been on the market, he replied laconically, "Here since 1851." While 50 years is not a long time when one is speaking about the pyramids of Egypt or the gold mines of King Pharaoh, it is a long time in this country for one man's goods to be steadily on the market.

Eddy's new match factory, built at Hull last autumn to replace the one burned the April previous, now turns out from about 33,000,000 to 35,000,000 matches per day, and as all these are used in Canada, where the total resident and floating population is only about 6,000,000, it shows that Canadians appreciate a good article and use it without stint, for in order to use up the entire output of the Eddy factory at Hull, each adult must burn from six to eight matches daily.

The editorial chair of Pickles, a monthly publication issued by H. J. Heinz Co. Pittsburg, Pa., has been assumed by Beecher Ogden. Pickles is bright and has a good flavor, all of which it is likely to maintain.

OUTPUT OF BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The Ontario output of cheese last year was over $13,000,000. This is a net increase of $900,000 over the year before. Of this 89 per cent. is estimated to have gone directly into the pockets of the farmers and others who supplied the milk. Last year also shows an increase of 30 in the number of cheese factories over the year before, the number on January 1, 1901, being 1,203.

The number of creameries last year was 15 less than there were in operation the year before, being 308, and the output of creamery butter 72,000 lb. less, yet the sum realized for this product was $1,746,000, as against $1,632,000 in 1899.

WINDOWS AS AN INDEX TO CHARACTER OF CLERKS.

A COMMERCIAL traveller says: "You can tell what kind of clerks a grocer has by the appearance of the store windows. If they are dirty and ill-kept you can bank upon it the clerks do not amount to much. And if I were wanting a man to run my store I would never hire one from a place where the windows were not clean and well arranged, but would consider myself lucky if I could secure a man from a store that had a reputation for good windows, for I consider how the windows are kept as an index to the character of the clerks. Dirty, slovenly windows mean poor clerks every time, and clean, well arranged windows, will, as a rule, be found where the clerks are energetic and capable."

This is the way most people judge grocery clerks, and the ease of windows is undoubtedly one of the most important points in storekeeping. Yet, I think this is an unfair test of a clerk's ability and usefulness, because many merchants will not allow their clerks to take the time they should in order to properly clean and arrange the windows, particularly in the summer months, when they require so much attention. There is no excuse for unclean and unattractive windows at this season of the year, when new goods are constantly coming in, which by a very simple arrangement can be made to look well and it will pay you (even though it necessitated you working a few minutes overtime) to have the windows of your store well trimmed, otherwise people will think you are careless, even though they may not be candid enough to say so and an impression of this kind will be equally hurtful to you and the business.

MAKING CLERKS' MEETINGS INTERESTING

"H. R. H." writes: "Knowing you are interested in the welfare of clerks and clerks' associations, I venture to suggest that it might be helpful to all concerned to mention in your 'Corner' how useful it is for clerks in a city, especially, to know one another, to understand each other, and have some general idea of what is in store for us in the future. Where is the best place and how can we best exchange ideas are questions which ought to be asked by every clerk in this city. We want our association meetings, which are held on the second Tuesday of every month at 8.30 p.m. in the I.O.F. Temple Building to be helpful to all. We who have been in the habit of attending have had delightful times, for we frequently have good music and games to give plenty of variety to our meetings. There is no reason to my mind why we should not have two to three hundred clerks every meeting night to hear addresses and discuss matters of mutual interest."

A few weeks ago mention was made of the work being done by the Toronto Clerks' Association. I trust the clerks will attend in large numbers and profitable meetings will be held throughout the coming winter.

CUPID HITS A CLERK.

Cupid, that sly little rascal, has been at work, and one of his victims is a well-known grocery clerk. One of his co-workers thus describes the symptoms and progress of this affair of the heart. First, the young lady would give this clerk the preference to serve her. Then, he began to observe more time than ordinarily required was needed to wait upon this particular customer. After a short time, the clerk regards it as his duty to deliver personally small parcels at a certain house; and this necessitated considerable time and preparation on his part. Now he has asked for 10 days or two weeks' holidays, and our friend supposes a presentation, appropriate remarks, etc., are what his fellow clerks are supposed to fill in.

Certainly, on an occasion like the above, do the proper thing for such ceremonies are all for the good of the trade.

In England they evidently have strange ideas on the question, judging from the following notice which a Liverpool firm of retail grocers recently sent to all their clerks and managers:—

MATRIMONY—A WARNING.

We fear that some of our assistants are entering into marriage contracts without realizing the trouble they are getting themselves into. It is a most serious step for any man to take, and especially so for one who hopes to be his own master some day.

His first object should be to save at least £200; after that enough to furnish a cottage—as when marriage is entered into before these two objects are attained there is absolutely no hope of saving, as the whole earnings must go for housekeeping, etc.

We ourselves have set our face against any man marrying before he is a manager, and, indeed, we do not even then approve of it except he has money saved; and so strongly do we feel this that we shall not in future retain young men who marry without our consent.

We earnestly trust that our young men will lay this matter to heart, and act upon our advice.

Of all the foolish remarks I have ever read I think the silly and arbitrary tone of this notice, comes first. If every grocery clerk here has to wait until he has $1,000 and enough more to furnish a cottage, there will be but few marriages in this country. I feel unable to deal with this subject and invite the opinion of others more experienced, including our lady housekeepers.

THE SIZE OF EGGS.

"N.R." writes: "There has been a great deal of complaint about the size of the eggs we are getting to sell these days. If it is the fault of the hens then nothing further can be done, but I believe there is too much sorting over done by commission houses and other centres where the larger eggs are picked out to be shipped to England, where they are sold by weight, and anything will do for our home market. If it's fairer to sell eggs by weight then let us have it so, and my impression is that eggs, beets, turnips, carrots, parsnips, onions, potatoes, apples, tomatoes and possibly all other fruits and vegetables should be both bought and sold by weight, for it is the fairest way for all. A peddler sold one of my customers a bag of potatoes for 10c. less than I quoted. She thought it looked rather small so she had her son take it down to the corner store and have it weighed, when she found out the bag only tipped 74 lb., so she really lost by buying from him. And if I mistake not the court decided not very long ago it is not compulsory to put 90 lb. to a bag of potatoes. Surely we must have some rule to go by for it is just as essential as having to give 16 ounces to the pound."

In reply to my correspondent's first part of his letter, "The Egg Question": I agree with him that the sorting is frequently done in commission houses, and I have known some farmers who have been mean enough to select the large eggs for their own use and sell the smaller to the storekeeper, for anything in size appears to go in this market. It will be remedied only when eggs are sold by weight. The same rule applies to the fruits and vegetables you have mentioned. It is very unjust to measure turnips or parsnips, because they do not pack in a measure and the only fair way to sell them is by weight. This applies with almost equal force to all the vegetables you have named. It is always a pleasure to me when customers get nipped when buying from peddlers. That is one class of competition I do not like, and I would have been just as well pleased if all the potatoes sold by peddlers only weighed 71 lb. to the bag. I was always under the impression a legal bag of potatoes should weigh 90 lb., and always sold them at that weight. I must ask our legal adviser on this point. Perhaps, I have been giving too many potatoes.

PEANUT VENDERS.

"S. M. C." inquires where he can get an automatic peanut vender. I do not know any made in Canada. The Paul E. Berger Manufacturing Co., 395 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., make them and doubtless would be glad to give you information.

ADVERTISING SPECIALTIES AT LOW PRICES.

"F. E. F." writes: Do you believe in the modern way of doing business, i.e., advertising specialties at a low price as a bait for business?

No, sir; customers are sure to find out the hook, and if you cut the price on some lines you must make it up on others or fail. Every merchant is entitled to a fair, reasonable just profit, and this selling of certain lines of goods below cost may be the modern business method, but unless compelled to do so, do not start it, for it is this practice that has made it so hard to do a fair, square legitimate business nowadays. The trade is getting demoralized by grocers offering baits in prices on different lines and everything is getting so cut that it makes it hard for a merchant to secure profit enough to give him a decent living.

It is very easy to get prices down, but it is mighty hard to get them up again, so as to give you a fair margin for your work and investment. The public were never keen to thank a merchant for giving away his profits. This should be remembered.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

CANNED TOMATOES IN THE UNITED STATES.

TOMATOES are already scarce everywhere, and we have a lesson this winter as to the popular demand for this modern vegetable, as it may well be called. They are now quoted as in request at $1 to $1.05 per dozen for standard No. 3. In spite of the fact that we have ordinary reasons for expecting the commercial conditions of the country to be very quiet between this and Christmas, first, from the imminence of the election season; and later, from the influence of the holiday season, we nevertheless believe that the opening of the year 1902 will find No. 3 standard tomatoes quoted at $1.25 a dozen. This will mean an advance of the retail price of about 15c. a can, and will naturally result in a rapid clearing out of all cheaper grades, including tomato soups and soup material. What the effect on the opening market of next year will be is difficult to conjecture, but it is certain that almost the entire calculable crop of tomatoes will be sold as futures, and it will put The Tomato Packers' Association to their trumps to handle the situation wisely and well as to price. It will also almost force a unity of the different tomato packers' associations—something that is needed.—The Trade, Baltimore.

Prospects for the Japan rice harvest are excellent, returns showing the condition to be one-tenth better than the average.

It is said that within the past two weeks London has bought in New York about 3,000 packages Congou at 8 @ 8½c. in bond.

CALIFORNIAN ORANGE SHIPMENTS.

The orange and lemon shipments to the east from Southern California last season aggregated 22,500 cars. It is expected that the shipments this season will not fall short of 26,000 cars. The orange crop of Northern California, also, promises to largely exceed that of last year.

CURRENTS STRONGER IN NEW YORK.

The New York Journal of Commerce of November 1, said: "More firmness was noted to-day in the spot market for currants, holders showing strength under an active inquiry and concentration of stocks. Values were reported at the close to-day very steady at 5½c., showing an advance during the last week or 10 days of fully ¼c. In fine Amalias in barrels fully 15-16ths. of the total stock here is said to be held by the one house. Outside holders generally report being closely cleaned up, and at least one house has refused business on the 5½c. basis. The demand has been active, and it is said some orders to-day for interior account were turned down at 5½c. in a large way. There is also noted a good inquiry for cleaned, with cleaners quoting 6½c. for cartons inside. It is stated that some goods have been purchased to come by way of Rotterdam on the basis of 1½s. 3d. for Amalia grade, owing to the delay in the arrival in Greece in the Abbagia. This vessel should have begun her voyage to this side several days ago, but at last report was disabled in a Mediterranean port still some distance from her destination in Greece. The probabilities are now that she will not load and arrive here before December, if then. In the meanwhile the ideas of holders of goods on the way here ex-Guildhall have stiffened up considerably, and nothing is now offered below 5½c., with one holder of a small lot asking up to 5¾c. for fine Amalias."

COAST PRUNES EASY.

Commenting on the Coast prune outlook, a private letter says: "Notwithstanding the early promise of a good export outlet for Californian prunes there has been a very disappointing demand, and holders are beginning to wonder what is going to become of the crop. Already the competition from Oregon is being felt, and it looks as though growers there were prepared to meet the views of buyers in all quarters. From the east the apathy of buyers is distracting. There seems to be no desire to purchase for prospective requirements, everybody being satisfied to fill orders as they come in. The demand from the central west has been more encouraging, but the tendency to lower values shown among holders here has affected buyers, and no one now wants to load up until the future course is certain. The influence of the holdover from last year is felt seriously. It is figured up to 30,000,000 lb., but may be more than that. The new crop won't be less than 50,000,000 lb. The estimated production in Oregon and the Northwest is around 30,000,000 lb., and on the low basis offered seems to be more attractive to buyers."

SULTANA RAISINS IN LONDON.

The demand for all kinds of Sultanas is large and increasing. There is now a wide range of qualities and prices, and, while common fruit is now relatively cheap, all fine parcels command high prices. The Smyrna crop is now fairly well fixed at about 25,000 tons, of which 7,000 tons are estimated to be remaining in the country of production, leaving the large proportion of 18,000 as already shipped to countries where it is consumed. The London share of these shipments up to the middle of the month is only 190,000 boxes against 288,000 boxes, and 391,000 boxes up to the corresponding date in 1900 and 1899 respectively. Greek Sultanas, which are both bold and fine, supplement admirably the short supply of fine Smyrna fruit.—Produce Markets' Review.

SITUATION IN CURRANTS.

With the better selection now in stock, trade in currants has assumed full October proportions. The excellent quality of Provincial fruit has, perhaps, caused an unusual demand for this growth as compared with more expensive fruit, but trade in the latter has been of sufficient volume to prevent any accumulation of stocks. From a retailer's point of view, perhaps the feature of most interest is the remarkable quality of fruit obtainable from 20 to 25s., and it is to be hoped that every opportunity will be taken to bring this improved state of things before the consumer in order, as far as possible, to reinstate the article in public favor after the disastrous experience of last year. In spite of the disinclination of Greek shippers to send their fruit on consignment to consuming markets on the same scale as in former years, the demand from all countries has been so heavy that more than half the crop has already been shipped, while the stocks in consuming countries are everywhere small. With this position in view, it is not surprising that holders in Greece are still disinclined to consign their remaining stocks to the various markets, preferring to sell on f.o.b. or c.i.f. terms, and there can be little doubt that, if this policy is continued, scarcity of spot stocks will cause fluctuations in an upward direction. During the recent times of scarcity in various grades, the Greek merchants have acted very wisely in not attempting to exact prices which, on the arrival of further supplies, would have proved to be fictitious and injurious to the trade.—Produce Markets' Review, October 26.

CANNED SALMON HIGHER IN LONDON.

Large quantities of salmon have again changed hands, and valuations for the medium grades are rather firmer, while the better qualities are in good request at 6d. to 1s. per case advance. The present tempting prices have not only increased the home consumption, but larger quantities have been shipped for export during the past month than for any other corresponding month during the year, and when it is taken into account that the present time is generally looked upon as one of the quietest periods for this article, the result is most encouraging. It is to be hoped in the interest of all connected with the trade that quotations will keep somewhere near their present basis, which should help salmon considerably to regain the confidence of the trade, which it has, to a large extent, lost during the past season.—Produce Markets' Review, October 26.

CAUTION REGARDING FRUIT CLEANERS.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER.—We understand that some person from the United States is calling upon the wholesale trade and offering to sell them fruit cleaning machines similar to the "Cyclone" fruit cleaner, of which we are the sole patentees and manufacturers in Canada, and sell to the trade. The "Cyclone" fruit cleaner is admitted to be the best fruit cleaning machine in the market, and selling one of the United States makes, or any other make than our own manufacture, is a direct infringement of the Canadian patent, and naturally we will take steps to protect same.

We feel it our duty to caution the trade against any misrepresentation of this nature, and thus save their time and money, for not only would the seller but also the buyer lay himself open to damages or to have the machine destroyed for infringing upon a patent granted by the Crown.

Hoping you will find space for this letter in your valuable paper,

We are, yours obediently,

NICHOLSON & BROCK.

TO TEST THE TRADING-STAMP LAW

The Attorney General of Ontario has submitted a case to the Court of Appeal for consideration and decision in regard to the status of trading-stamp companies. Under a provision of the Municipal Amendment Act of 1901 of the Legislature the councils of cities, towns and villages are empowered to pass by-laws prohibiting the sale or any transactions in trading stamps by any individual, firm or company, provided always that no such by-law shall apply to any merchant or manufacturer who issues coupons or tickets which he himself redeems in money or merchandise. It is objected that the Act may be construed to give power to municipalities to pass by-laws prohibiting the Dominion Trading Stamp Company, Limited, or other companies of the same nature from doing business, and the Court of Appeal is asked to declare whether the legislation was within the powers of the Ontario Assembly.

THE MAKING OF CITRON.

The making of candied peel, or what we call citron, is a complicated process. A correspondent in Italy of The Table in London gives an account of a visit to a factory devoted to this industry. The fruit from which the finished product is made is like a large lemon, 8 or 10 lb. in weight. It grows in groves in Corsica and Calabria upon trees about 6 ft. in height. The first process is to cut the fruit in halves and take out the cores, which are discarded. The peel is then sealed in barrels of salt water for two or three weeks. It is then withdrawn and soaked for 21 days in a succession of syrups, beginning with 8 parts of sugar to 20 of water until the final one contains 20 parts of sugar to 1 of water.

The fruit thus treated is then cooked in a number of large caldrons, where it simmers for 24 hours. When cool, it is skimmed, cooked again with fresh syrup, cooled and cooked a third time. While still hot it is packed in wooden boxes, in which it is sold by wholesale. The peel thus treated will keep for 10 years, although the fresher it is the better. The slightly bitter flavor of preserved citron is caused by the soaking in salt water. Two hundred people are employed in the factory. The women receive 18c. a day.

HOG-RAISING IN QUEBEC.

AN earnest attempt is to be made by Professor Robertson, the Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, to promote the raising of hogs in the Province of Quebec. Although the Province offers every facility for this agricultural industry, the farming population have not taken it up extensively as yet, and last year only 75,000 hogs came into Montreal. All through this summer the scarcity has been irremovable, although the highest prices were paid. At the present moment live hogs are so scarce that Canadian pork is virtually unobtainable on the Montreal market and Montreal packed pure lard is worth 20 to 30c. a pail more than the Ontario goods. There is no doubt that the chief difficulty which Quebec pork-packers must meet in their attempt to increase their export trade in bacon, hams and pork is the inability to get a supply of live hogs. Consequently, Professor Robertson's attempt to induce the farmers to go into the business more extensively is as well taken as it is timely.

A campaign of education is to be begun by holding a series of meetings in the Province of Quebec during the coming autumn and winter. Mr. F. W. Hodson, live stock commissioner, has in hand the matter of arranging for a number of speakers who have been most successful in attending such meetings in the Province of Ontario.

Doubtless there are many farmers who could add the business of raising hogs to their general farming with much profit to themselves. As the dairy industry, particularly the manufacture of butter, has increased in the Province, it is desirable that the raising of hogs should grow with that. The marvellous growth of the bacon business in Denmark has been closely identified with the increase in the butter trade. A little skimmed and buttermilk mixed with grains are foods well suited for making fine bacon in an economical way. Due attention will be given to the idea of raising hogs weighing from 160 to 200 pounds live weight, which bring the highest prices and the most profit to the producer.

This step on the part of the Government has been taken after solicitation on the part of some of the leading packers. The Laing Packing and Provision Co. alone will require some 5,000 hogs per week to keep their new works running when completed.

A CAUSE FOR THANKFULNESS.

With the near approach of Thanksgiving Day, and our heartfelt national appreciation of the wonderful progressive condition of our country, we are drawn into a warmer touch of sympathy and feeling toward our Canadian cousins, through the utterances of King Edward VII.

His Majesty, with that kindly friendship he has always exhibited towards the United States, has appointed Thanksgiving Day celebration of the Dominion of Canada to fall on the same date as in this country.

With a true feeling of thankfulness, why should we not give more consideration towards the expansion of our trade with Canada, through special treaties, and a reciprocity that would be an absolute future safeguard? Ten years ago the exports from this country to Canada were valued at $28,000,000, while last year they increased to $10,000,000. An import duty is imposed on nearly every article imported from Canada, while it is estimated that 30 per cent. of our manufactures are admitted to Canada free. The Canadian market is well worth our cultivation, for the people have tastes in common with us, and our manufactures will naturally go to supply their needs.—Robert Mitchell Floyd in The Trade Press List.

King Edward has practically no more to do with the proclamation of Thanksgiving Day in Canada than has the President of the United States. It is the work entirely of our own Government. But we thoroughly appreciate the sentiments expressed by The Trade Press List toward this country. It is only to be regretted that such sentiments are not more common in the land of the Stars and Stripes—and in the Dominion too.

THE INDISPENSABLE MAN.

THE indispensable man is a myth. There never was such a thing and there never will be in commerce, in the State or in the Church. The man to fill the gap may not be in sight, but he is not far from any one of us at any time. He who thinks he is indispensable is dangerously near the place where he may some day be rudely awakened to the fact that his room is preferable to his company.

Success, in a recent issue, said that some of the most successful business men in the United States make it a rule to dispense with the services of any man in their employ, no matter how important his position may be, so soon as he comes to regard himself as indispensable.

This may seem harsh, and even unbusinesslike; but, if we look into it, we shall find that there is wisdom in this practice. Experience proves that, the moment a man looks upon himself as absolutely necessary, he usually ceases to exercise to the fullest extent the faculties which have helped him to rise to that indispensable point. He becomes arrogant and dictatorial, and his influence in an organization is bound to be more or less demoralizing. Many concerns have been seriously embarrassed by the conduct of managers, superintendents, or heads of departments, after they had reached positions where they thought no one else could take their places.

This undue appreciation of one's own importance is as disastrous in its results as utter lack of self esteem. It is really evidence of a narrow mind, and ignorance of general conditions; for a man who is up to the times, thoroughly posted in regard to the world-wide trend of the twentieth century, will realize that there are very few people in the world, no matter what their talents or ability, who cannot be replaced. It is a very rare character, indeed, that is imperatively necessary, and the man who actually reaches this point does not brag of it, nor act as if he considered himself indispensable.

EXPORTING CANNED TOMATOES.

THE strength which characterizes the canned tomatoes in the United States seems likely to exert quite an influence on the Canadian market this season.

We have already referred on two occasions during the past few weeks to the fact that some good-sized quantities of ripe tomatoes had been shipped to the United States from points in Ontario. Business in this respect has not, however, been confined to the ripe article, for the demand has extended to canned tomatoes, and some lots have already been exported.

THE CANADIAN GROCER learns that the syndicate last week exported 10,000 cases of tomatoes in one block alone to the United States. And besides this, some of the packers are exporting small lots of canned vegetables and fruits to Europe.

The situation in canned vegetables is at present more satisfactory than it has been for some time. Although the carry over of tomatoes from last season was larger than usual, owing to the big pack of 1900, the quantity put up this year is only moderate as far as we can learn. The demand on United States account is, of course, only abnormal, but it is bound to exercise its influence on the Canadian market this season. Quite a business is also looked for from Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia. But the fact must not be overlooked that the consumption will to some extent be regulated by the price. The experience of the past season in reference to currants is a concrete example of the influence of price on consumption. Not for a great many years was the crop as small or the price as high, yet there were currants enough to go round, simply because the high price enormously curtailed the consumption.

The canned tomato trade in the United States is rather quieter than it was, but prices are still firm and quotations at Baltimore on November 1, according to The Trade of that city, were as follows: No. 3 standard, $1.02½ to $1.10; No. 3 seconds, 97½ to $1; No. 2 standards, 80 to 82½c.

Our advice to dealers in Canada is to keep their stocks well assorted, but to avoid speculative buying.

As far as the export trade in canned vegetables is concerned, we can scarcely expect to do any other than a small business with the United States except during seasons like the present. But with Great Britain it is different. Just as the future of the canned vegetable industry in this country depends upon the development of the export trade, so the export trade depends largely on the British market. It is gratifying to know that some of the packers, realizing this, are making an effort to push their goods there. If they persevere and consistently put up first-class goods, we have no fear of the ultimate results. At present the export trade in canned vegetables is small indeed, but it is growing, as will be gathered from a glance at the following table of the exports during the last six years:

|           |          |
|-----------|----------|
| 1896..... | $ 3,207 |
| 1897..... | 10,899   |
| 1898..... | 10,340   |
| 1899..... | 19,934   |
| 1900..... | 18,101   |
| 1901..... | 43,527   |

If the proportionate increase could be maintained during the next few years, our export trade in canned vegetables would ultimately be of some value. The countries to which our canned vegetables were exported last year were as follows:

|                           |          |
|---------------------------|----------|
| Great Britain .....       | $32,586 |
| United States .....       | 3,795    |
| British West Indies ..... | 6,206    |
| Other Countries.....      | 940      |
|                           | $43,527 |

The number of the packers in Canada who are jealous of the quality of the goods they put up is increasing, but there are all too many who either do not know how to put up choice goods, or knowing, will not do so, for there is quite a quantity of inferior tomatoes on the market again this season. We have this from undoubted authorities. Should, therefore, any low-priced goods be offered it will be well for the trade to be assured of their quality before buying.

THE TURNIP MARKET WEAK.

The demand for turnips, either from local consumers or from consumers in the United States, is not yet very great. The producers are anxious to sell off their surplus products, but as the dealers have no facilities for their storage, either here or on the other side, they will not be able to buy until the demand sets in, which will not be until the weather becomes colder, and that will not be probably for a month.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

AN important judgment, affecting all of our large Canadian exporters of eggs, was rendered at Ottawa last Saturday morning by Mr. Justice Burbidge, in his decision on the case of Wm. Meldrum & Co., Montreal, vs. D. D. Wilson & Co., Seaforth. Mr. Meldrum was really conducting the case on behalf of an organization of egg-packers, including, besides himself, D. Gunn Bros. & Co., Toronto; Dundas & Flavelle Bros., Lindsay; John Walker, Chatham; The Loynachan-Scriver Co., Limited, Montreal; Gunn, Langlois & Co., Montreal, and Rutherford & Marshall, Toronto.

The coalition have won and the public is now at liberty to use the glycerine process which has done so much for Canadian eggs during the past few years.

This "glycerine process" was patented by D. D. Wilson & Co. in 1900, and, on the strength of his patent, Mr. Wilson was proceeding to take action against others who were using it, to force them to pay a royalty. The different members of the organization we have just spoken of were threatened with injunctions, and a suit was entered into against John Walker, of Chatham. This was offset by the action of Wm. Meldrum & Co. to annul the patent on the ground of priority of usage. In the trial, which was held at Toronto in June, Mr. Meldrum swore to having employed the process as far back as 1894, and he produced English witnesses to prove he had sold glycerined eggs to them in 1896. On the ground that the process was in general use, and that it demanded no exercise of the inventive faculties, he regarded the patent as useless. The judge has upheld his view.

The real secret of the process is the employment of a solution of hydrochloric acid to remove from pickled eggs the deposit of carbonate of lime that forms upon them while being preserved in a pickle of lime water.

THE LATE ROBERT SWAN.

DEATH on Sunday morning last took from the grocery trade of Toronto one of its best-known members in the person of Robert Swan, of the firm of Swan Bros. In fact, it is no exaggeration to say that there is no one in the grocery trade of Toronto who was so well known. His personality was great. He was a man of striking appearance; but it was his largeness of heart, his genial disposition, and his beneficence that created for him a circle of friends whose number far exceeded that which it is the fortune of most men to possess. He is gone, and one is reminded of the saying: "We shall not see his like again."

Deceased was a native of Longformaeus, Berwickshire, Scotland. He came to Toronto in 1853, and for nearly 40 years he was associated with his brother, Mr. Henry Swan, in carrying on the business of which he was an active partner up to the time of his fatal illness.

Besides being so well-known in the grocery trade, he had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances in benevolent and church organizations. Among the offices held by him were the presidency of the Caledonian Society for two years, a place on the Charitable Board of St. Andrew's Society for 16 years, and on the board of the Working Boys' Home. He was a member of Rehoboam Lodge A. F. & A. M., of the Board of Trade, and of the Sons of Scotland. In religion, he was a Presbyterian, and worshipped at Deer Park church.

Many were the tributes to his memory that were to be heard when the announcement of his death was made. But I think none of them were more fitting than that of a very old farmer who had known the deceased for a great many years. "Ah," said he to me, "he was a very fine man. I am sorry indeed to hear of his death. You know he wasn't like most men. When he came round to buy your butter and it was not as good in quality as it ought to be, he wouldn't tell you it was bad; but in the kindest way possible he would tell you that he didn't think he would take it just then. And then, better still, he would never say an unkind word about anybody. What he always seemed to try and pick out was a man's good qualities, not his bad. I wish more of us were like him."

At his funeral on Tuesday one gathered an idea from the number and class of men who had turned out to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory how well he was known and esteemed. Most of the wholesale grocery houses were represented. Retail grocers were there in large numbers. And not a few brokers. And this was not all, for among the throng was to be seen, it seemed to me, men from nearly every line of business in the city. The members of the various benevolent and other societies of which he was a member were present in large numbers. The farmers who had dealt with Swan Bros., some of them for many years, showed by their presence that they had not forgotten Robert Swan. I saw one farmer who had come from away up in North Ontario. "Yes," said he, "I felt I must come down to pay my last tribute of respect to Robert. I have known him since I was 10 years old, when my father brought me for the first time to Toronto. Since then I have seen him at least half a dozen times a year. He came up to our place when father was buried and now I am here to pay my last tribute of respect to him."

The remains were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous. Among those who sent them were: The employes and ex-employes of Swan Bros.; Rehoboam Lodge, A. F. and A. M.; James Swan, William Ince, William Ince, jun., James Ince, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murray, Mr. and Mrs. James Mackenzie, Mr. Fullerton, Miss Parsons, Thomas Kinnear, Mrs. W. H. Cawthra, Mrs. E. S. Cox and daughter, Mr. Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. David Walker, Mrs. W. H. Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Jarvis, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Fiske, Col. and Mrs. Pellatt, Mr. Rennie, Mrs. H. H. Fudger, Mrs. H. D. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bull, St. Andrew's Society, the Caledonian Society, Hon. S. H. Blake, Mrs. Moss, Miss Meakins, of Hamilton, and the brothers and sisters of deceased.

The cause of death was pneumonia, and his illness was only of a week's duration.

SUGAR BEET AGITATION 50 YEARS AGO.

A NUMBER of meetings have been held in Galt, Ont., and vicinity recently in regard to the establishment of beet-sugar factories there. By an article which appeared in The Toronto Globe of November 2, reprinted from The Globe of November 1, 1851, we are reminded that meetings with a similar object in view were held there 50 years ago. The article which appeared in The Globe of November 1, 1851, read as follows:

DR. NAPHEGYI ON BEET SUGAR.

"Dr. Naphegyi, having been requested by the Council of Galt to deliver a lecture on the cultivation of sugar beet, in order to bring before the minds of the farmers attending the annual fair the benefits that the country would derive from the manufacture of beet sugar, addressed a large audience in the town hall, among whom were many of the principal farmers of Dumfries and neighboring townships. * * * The doctor called the attention of his audience to the sugar beet—a specimen of which, weighing 25 pounds, he exhibited—which, from experience, he asserted, could be raised with profit in Canada. He was well acquainted with the kinds of soil in which the sugar beet flourishes best in France, Belgium, Germany, Hungary, and the United States, and he said that with the exception, perhaps, of the State of Kentucky, there is not in any one of these countries a soil better adapted for raising that vegetable than that of Dumfries. The manufacture of sugar from the beet had been tried in Kentucky, and yielded a return of 8 per cent. on the capital invested. In Canada we have a high duty on sugar from abroad, so that if a profit of 8 per cent. can be made in Kentucky, 38 per cent. can be made in Canada. Fifteen tons from the acre he considered a small crop, and had no doubt but 25 or 30 could be raised with ordinary care and attention. He would give $3 a ton for as many as could be brought to his factory in Paris. True, parties from a distance could not afford to carry them far for that price, but it requires a comparatively small tract of land to raise a large quantity of beets, so that a large number of sugar factories would have to be established and thus bring a market near every farmer's door. The culture of the beet did not tend much to impoverish the soil, and it left the land in a better state for raising wheat. The doctor concluded by making the following proposal to the farmers in the neighborhood of Galt:—If any number of farmers agree to raise among them 200 acres of the sugar beet he will supply them with seed, establish a sugar factory in Galt, and purchase these beets at the rate of $3 a ton, delivered at his factory. This proposal was received with a good deal of satisfaction, many of the farmers expressing their willingness to give the beetroot a trial.

"A vote of thanks to Dr. Naphegyi for his able and instructive address was moved by James Cowan, Esq., seconded by A. Shade, Esq."

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, November 7, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THERE is perhaps not as much activity around the wholesale warehouses as there was a week ago. This is due to the fact that most of the deliveries of canned salmon and canned fruits and vegetables have been made. The foreign dried fruits by the first direct steamer are now practically also in the hands of the retail trade. Taking it on the whole a fair business is being done. There is a steady tone in regard to canned vegetables, and a fair sorting-up trade is reported at unchanged prices. Canned salmon is still going out well. Coffees are quiet and prices outside are rather easier. Syrups and molasses are in a moderate demand only. In sympathy with the market in the United States the price of all grades of sugar has been reduced 10c. per 100 lb. There is still very little business being done in sugar. Rice and tapioca are meeting with a steady demand. The tea market rules firm for practically all descriptions, but business locally is not active. Currants are meeting with a fair demand, but there is not much being done in raisins. Quite a fair trade is being done in prunes. One of the most active lines just now in foreign fruits is mat figs, which are in active request. Dates are quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

There is practically no change in the canned goods situation. Canned vegetables are meeting with a fair sorting-up demand at unchanged prices. As the season advances the idea obtains that tomatoes are gaining in strength, on account of the lightness of the pack. It is the general opinion that at to-day's prices tomatoes are good property. The ruling quotations on tomatoes are 85 to 87½c.; 82½ to 85c. for peas, and 80c. up for corn. There is a small sorting-up demand for canned fruits, particularly for peaches and strawberries. Business in canned meats is seasonably dull. In canned lobsters, business is confined to small sorting-up orders. The demand for canned salmon is keeping up well, and for this time of the year appears to be a little better than usual. With retailers selling at two tins for 25c., the consumptive demand for sockeye salmon is large. Canned salmon is slightly dearer in England. Northern sockeye we quote $1.25 to $1.30 and Fraser River sockeye at $1.42½ for 5-case lots and over and $1.45 for less quantities. Cohoes run from $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality. Pink salmon, 95 to $1 a doz.

COFFEE.

The outside markets are slightly easier at the time of writing both on this side of the Atlantic and in Europe. Locally the demand has fallen off slightly for green Rio coffee, and very little demand is so far being experienced for mild descriptions. Quotations locally are unchanged. We quote

See pages 35 and 36 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

as follows: No. 7 green Rios, 8c. per lb.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 8¾c.; No. 3, 9 to 10c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business continues to show slight improvement, but the movement is not yet heavy. Ruling prices at which syrups are selling are 40 to 35c. per gallon, and for New Orleans molasses 25 to 28, and for Barbadoes, 36 to 39c.

SPICES.

Spices continue on the whole in a good position. Advices state that if the reported shortage in cloves is confirmed prices will certainly go higher. Both ginger and pepper continue firm. The demand on retail account for seasonable spices is fairly good.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

In both these lines the demand is steady and prices unchanged. We quote: B rice, 3¼ to 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c. per lb.

SUGAR.

The feature of the local market since our last review is a reduction by all the refineries of 10c. per 100 lb. in the price of all refined sugars. As the Acadia refinery had previously made a reduction of 10c. in granulated, the total decline in that concern's description of granulated is 20c. within two weeks. The basis of granulated sugar is now $4.20 per 100 lb. f.o.b. Montreal for Redpath and St. Lawrence sugar and $4.05 for Acadia. The latest reduction in price is due to a similar decline by two of the refineries in the United States, namely, the Arbuckle and Howell. The Trust, however, while it has not officially changed its prices, is understood to be doing so quietly, and it is expected it will finally announce that its figures are the same as those quoted by the other refineries. At the prices which the Arbuckle's and Howell's are quoting the difference between centrifugals and granulated is 94c., the lowest for several months. The demand for refined sugar in the United States has been fairly good, especially for the soft grades which are rather scarce. The raw market in Europe is rather firmer both for beet and cane sugar. In the New York market raws are also steady, and although the receipts have been large there has been no pressure to sell. The receipts last week were 35,094 tons, and the meltings 30,000 tons.

CANDIED PEELS.

The demand is a little better than it was. We quote: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c. per lb.

TEAS.

The position of the tea market continues strong as far as prices are concerned. This applies particularly to Indian and Ceylon descriptions. The representatives of some of the houses here have been notified to withdraw former quotations and demand higher prices. The demand for Indian and Ceylon teas is not brisk, however. The little inquiry that there is is chiefly for the fine liquoring descriptions which, as we pointed out in previous issues, are scarce. There have been some transactions in low-grade descriptions, but they do not amount to very much. Private advices received here from India estimate that the crop will be shorter than the figures previously given, namely, 14,000,000 lb. Everything points to a strong market. It is also estimated, of course, as previously pointed out, that there will be quite a shortage in the Ceylon crop. China black teas, it is estimated, will be about 20,000,000 lb. less than last year. Russia, which is a large buyer of China black teas, is already increasing her purchases in Indian and Ceylon descriptions. This is, of course, tending to strengthen the market. Japan teas continue to rule firm, although the market is now practically closed. There is some inquiry locally, for China green teas, particularly sifted and points, which are both very scarce.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Quite a fair trade has been done during the past week in spot goods, and a large number of orders have been placed for the fruit due by later steamer. Prices in Greece are about 3d. lower, according to a recent cable, but this slight change has had no effect upon the local market. The ruling quotations are as follows for spot goods: Fine Filiatras, 6 to 6½c.; Patras, 6¾ to 7½c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c. For future delivery 5¼ to 6c. is being quoted for fine Filiatras and 6 to 6½c. for Patras.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The outside market continues strong locally, but there is not much being done. Spot goods are being quoted at 5½ to 6c. for fine off-stalk, and 6½ to 7c. for selected. For delivery late in the present month as low as 5¾ to 6¼c. is being quoted for selected raisins. A cable from Denia says a further advance in prices is expected.

FIGS—The demand for figs is quite brisk, particularly for mats, which are selling in large quantities at 3¼ to 3½c. Naturals are being offered to the retail trade at 3 to 3¼c. Eleme figs are meeting with a fair request at from 9 to 15c., according to quality and brand. It is estimated that the sales of tapnet figs by Toronto houses so far this season amount to about 1,200,000 lb.

PRUNES—The demand for prunes is good for this time of the year. We quote new Californian prunes: 100 110's, 5c.; 90 100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 50's, 8¾ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

DATES—There was quite a lot of old dates sold recently. Consequently the demand for new dates is limited at present. New fruit is quoted at 4½ to 5c. for Hal-lowees, and 4¼ to 4½c. for Sairs.

SULTANA RAISINS—There is only a little business being done, and prices range from 9 to 12c. per lb.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—There is not much being done and prices continue to rule high, particularly for apricots. We quote in 25 lb. boxes as follows: Apricots, 13 to 16c. per lb.; peaches, 11 to 13c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The supply of apples is fully equal to the demand this week, as they are not moving quite so fast. The quality of the receipts has improved, most of the windfalls having been got rid of. Canadian cranberries, for extra good quality, bring $7 in some cases. Tomatoes are about done. Quinces are scarce and have advanced 10c. per basket. Bananas are higher, but Californian lemons are lower in price, owing to the dealers receiving shipments direct. We quote pears, 30 to 40c. per basket, and $2.50 to $3.50 per bbl.; tomatoes, 30 to 40c. per basket; peppers, 25 to 50c.; grapes in 10-lb. baskets, 20 to 30c.; quinces, 40 to 50c. per basket. Apples are all the way from $3.50 to $4.50 per bbl., according to quality; bananas, $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for eight hands. Malaga grapes are scarce, at $6 to $7. Malaga lemons are selling at $4 per box, and Californian lemons at $4 to $4.50 per box. Jamaica oranges are $5 per bbl., or $3.50 to $4 per box. Cape Cod cranberries, $8 to $9 per bbl., and $2.75 to $3 per case; Ontario cranberries, $5 to $7 per bbl. Pineapples are scarce. Price is the same as last week, $3 50 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The supply of eggs is not so good this week as last, and the receipts continue to drop off. The prices have advanced 1c. all around, and are firm with probably an upward tendency. Good new-laid eggs bring as high as 19c. per doz. Fresh-gathered bring from 17 to 18c. Cold-stored are worth from 16 to 17c.

BEANS—The trade in beans is quiet, the prices remaining unchanged. Choice hand-picked pea beans are worth $1.70 to $1.75, and unpicked, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY—The demand for honey is normal, but the supply is not so good. Clover honey is now being held firm at 10c., while honey in the comb has advanced. We quote: Clover, 10c.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—Dried apples are still quiet. The market is rather dull, and evaporated are 1½c. lower. Evaporated apples bring 8c. for carlots and 8½c. for cases; dried apples, 6c. Jobbers would probably get about 6½ to 7c.

POTATOES—The receipts of potatoes are large this week, and there is a better quality on the market. The price is somewhat lower in tendency this week. Good potatoes sell as low as 50c. on the track, and bring about 60 to 70c. per bag. Some are sold as low as 55c., however.

VEGETABLES.

Lettuce has advanced to 40c. per doz. bunches and is firm at that price. The tomato season is over. Citrons, pumpkins and squashes are scarce. We quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15 to 20c. per peck; lettuce, 30 to 40c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 20c.; cauliflower, 75 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 40 to 60c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c. cabbage, 25 to 40c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 50 to 70c. per bag; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 5 to 15c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 5 to 10c. each.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The receipts of butter are large, but a good deal is of inferior quality. The price has declined 1c. in some instances. Choice rolls are now only bringing 17c. in most cases. The large proportion of the tubs that are coming in sell at about 12c. per lb. and are suitable for bakers only. Extra choice prints of dairy butter bring 18c., choice rolls, from 15 to 17c. per lb., choice butter in tubs, 15 to 16c.; medium tubs vary from 12 to 14c. Creamery prints are in good demand, and sell at 20 to 21c.; creamery solids, 19 to 20c.

CHEESE—Cheese is weaker and prices are ¼c. per lb. lower. The supply on hand is sufficient to meet local demands. Quotations are 9¼ to 9¾c.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—The receipts are not so heavy this week as last. The weather this week is favorable and the receipts ought to be larger. Prices are firm. Turkeys are ½c. per lb. higher and are firm. We quote as follows: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6c. per lb.; turkeys, 9c.

LIVE POULTRY—The receipts of live poultry this week are large. The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, not less than two lb. each, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 3c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

GAME—The receipts of game have fallen off during the past week. However, the weather is favorable and the receipts should be considerably increased. The market is firmer. We quote: Teal and butterballs, 25 to 30c.; bluebills, 40 to 50c.; pintails and redheads, 50 to 60c.; black ducks, 75 to 85c. per brace; canvas-back and mallards, $1.

FISH.

With the colder weather the demand for both prepared and smoked fish is steadily improving. Oysters are scarcer now and the demand has improved. There is no change in prices. Ciscoes are still weak and sales in this line are being pushed at lowest prices. Finnan haddies are ½c. lower. We now quote as follows: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, 75c. to $1; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 75 to 80c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5 to $5.25; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—No change in prices. Standards are firm at $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Owing to scarcity of cars the receipts of Manitoba hard have fallen off and the price has advanced. Manitoba hard is now quoted at 83c. grinding in transit, or 81c. Toronto and West. Millers are paying 66c. for red and white Ontario wheat; the demand for red and white is brisker. Oats are 1c. higher. Barley and peas have an upward tendency. We quote: White and red wheat, 62 to 70½c. goose, 64 to 64½c.; oats, new, 40 to 41c.; rye, 53c.; barley, 50 to 59½c.; peas, 70 to 71½c.

FLOUR—Manitoba bakers' and Ontario patents are 5c. lower, but prices are firm with a tendency to advance. Straight roller is 25c. higher. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.45 to $3.55; Hungarian patents, $4; Manitoba bakers', $3.70; straight roller, $3.25 per bag in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is a great demand for eatmeal and rolled oats from the Lower Provinces, and the price thereof has advanced 30c. for rolled oats and 40c. for oatmeal. Note the advance of 20c. in split peas. Oatmeal in carlots on track here, $4.60; and standard and rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.50; in bbls., 15c. more; broken lots are 25c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.30 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.50; pot barley, $4.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

There is a steady demand, and prices are firm. Note the rise in sheepskins. This rise is due more to the increased size and better quality of the sheepskins offered than to a falling off in the supplies. The season for deerskins is just opening. There have been no receipts in this line however. The price offered for green deerskins is 12½c. Wool is quiet.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼c. to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 60 to 65c.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 8c.

SEEDS.

There has been a very free offering of red clover during the past week. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: $4.25 to $4.75. Alsike is scarcer at $6 to $7. Owing to their scarcity, little more than the above prices are paid for extra fine lots. On the other hand, there are a good many samples of inferior and low-grade clover, which have to be bought considerably below the lowest of the above prices. Timothy ranges in value from $2 to $2.25 for choice machinery-threshed seed, but only small occasional samples are shown.

MARKET NOTES.

Currants are slightly easier in Greece.

The price of canary seed is tending upward.

All grades of refined sugar are 10c. lower than a week ago.

The tomato season is about over, only a few baskets being now on the market.

The receipts of poultry and game this week are not so large as last, in spite of the colder weather.

Strictly new-laid eggs are at a premium and command the highest prices going, one lot selling yesterday for 20½c. per dozen.

Owing to the producers holding their butter for higher prices, which never came, there are on the market large quantities of this product, the greater portion of which is of inferior quality.

The demand for oatmeal and rolled oats is brisk from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, owing to the shortage of the oat crop there. Prices have advanced here and are likely to remain firm.

The local demand for apples is good, and there are large quantities being put away for home consumption, the present prices in England not being high enough to enable the dealers to place apples on the market there to sell at a sufficient margin of profit.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, November 7, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE different establishments appear to be crushed with fall business.

Retailers at water points are ordering their fall supplies freely, while inland grocers are hurrying forward their fall requirements before the imposition of winter freight rates. The feature of the market continues to be the falling in raw sugar quotations. During the week there has been a further drop of 2d. Montreal refiners are down 10c., while Acadian sugar has also dropped the same amount, remaining 15c. below Montreal prices. Teas are firm both for blacks and green, and wholesalers report that they are doing twice the business this fall that they did last year. In canned goods there is nothing new to report, because there is little new business being done. In rice the feature is an advance in Patna rice that we have anticipated for some time. At present the primary Valencia raisin market is only about 6d. above the lowest point. Currants have been fluctuating lately, principally on account of variations in exchange rates. The lard and pork market is easy, although supplies are still extremely scarce; Chicago pork has dropped a dollar on the week and Canadian pure lard is down 10c. per cask. New figs are now in stock.

SUGAR.

The foreign sugar markets continue to evince that record breaking depression of the past two months. The London quotation has dropped another 2d. this week, being now quoted at 7s. 2½d. There seems to be no bottom to the market and refiners cease to express surprise at the course of events. Values have gone so low, however, that a reaction will not come unexpectedly, but the time for that has not arrived yet. In sympathy with the drop in Acadian sugar last week, Montreal refiners marked prices down 10 cents per 100 lb., but the Acadian refinery followed with another drop of 10 cents on the plea that they had stocks to clear out. At present Acadian sugar is 15 cents per 100 lb. below Montreal refined. Local prices are $4.20 for granulated and $3.35 to $4.10 for yellows, as to grade, per 100 lb. City 5c. extra.

TEAS.

The retail trade has concluded that it is about time to buy tea, in view of the rising market, and this week wholesalers report an active demand for medium and low grades. There are still some exceedingly good values being offered in medium grade Japans as stocks of 17 to 19c. tea that were bought last year to sell at 21 and 22c. are not yet all cleared out. It was thought last fall that retailers would raise the price of their best seller from 25 to 30c., and wholesalers prepared themselves accordingly, but the demand for the 30c. tea never came and consequently the retail trade has been getting some good values in 25-cent teas this year. Some wholesale houses dropped considerable money on the transactions. However, these stocks are pretty well cleared and, indeed, all stocks of Japan teas seem to be rather low. The retail demand is said to be fully twice as great as last fall.

Blacks remain quite firm and the new strength has encouraged trading, both in China and Indians and Ceylons.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups continues to be exceedingly brisk; in fact, corn syrup has come to be considered one of the staples of the trade. Prices remain unchanged. We quote: 3½c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.50 in 38½-lb., and $1.10 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

Business is chiefly confined to jobbing between the wholesale houses and even of this there is not much doing just now. A better demand from the country is not expected for some weeks to come. Prices are still 28c. in carlots and 29c. for single puncheons.

CANNED GOODS.

There has not been much change in the canned goods situation this week; dealers are seemingly resting on their oars waiting for the retailers to clear out their heavy fall purchases. The big deliveries have just been completed and for the time the wholesalers do not feel the consumptive demand. The feeling in regard to tomatoes is particularly strong. There are still some Quebec goods selling at 80c., some of last year's western at 82½c., while new goods bring 85 to 87½c. per dozen. Corn and peas are without change at 80c. for new goods.

At present there is a decided scarcity of canned asparagus. Some wholesalers are out of stocks and find it impossible to replenish them. Gallon apples are now selling out of stock at $2.65 to $2.75, last year's pack.

Salmon is quiet and steady. Fraser River brands are selling at $5 to $5.60 per case and Northern at $4.80 to $5. Lobsters are in fair request as also are canned meats.

SPICES.

The spice market is steady, firm and active. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16c.; Jamaica, 25c.

COFFEE.

On account of the reported shortages in coffee crops, the market is very firm. There is a good demand on retail account. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Patna rice has been advanced ¼c. per lb. and is now worth 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. This is in sympathy with strong advices that we have mentioned from time to time. Tapioca is very firm. We now quote in combine district: B rice in bags, $3.10; in half bags, $3.15; in quarter bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots, an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4¾c. per lb., and tapioca, 3¾ to 3¾c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The primary market has not shown much change, remaining very low. The advance to date has amounted to only 6d. above the lowest point touched. Prices do not show much change on the week and the arrival of the second direct steamer is not likely to effect any change. There are some low grades of off-stalk selling at 4½c., but finest off-stalk is quoted at 5½c. per lb. Selected are worth 6 to 6½c. and layers, 6½ to 6¾c.

CURRANTS — Fine Filiatras in half cases are worth about 5¾c., cleaned, in 1-lb. cartons, 8c., and finest Vostizza currants, 7¾ to 8c. Amalias are quoted at 6½ to 6¾c.

PEELS — New peels are worth 9½ to 10c. for lemon; 10 to 10½c. for orange, and 14c. for citron.

PRUNES — Are selling freely to arrive at unchanged figures. They are worth 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7½c. for 60-70's, 7¼c. for 70-80's, 6c. for 80-90's, 6¼c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS — A good business continues to be done in Malaga raisins at unchanged prices. For immediate delivery we quote as follows: London layers, $1.60 to $1.65; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.20 to $2.25; ¼'s, 70 to 75c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.35 to $3.40; ¼'s, $1.10 to $1.15; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.65 to $4.75; ¼'s, $1.40 to $1.50. For delivery by Bellona, dealers quote "Royal Buckingham Clusters" at $3.10.

SULTANA RAISINS — The Sultana raisin market is higher and has now advanced about 3s. from its lowest point. For immediate shipment good, sound fruit is worth 9½ to 11c. Some cheaper goods will be here by the end of the month.

DATES — New Hallowee dates are now in stock and are generally quoted at 4½c. This is a record shipment in point of early arrival, being received three weeks earlier than heretofore. They came via New York from Bussorah on through bills of lading on ss. Tabaristan. There were 6,000 boxes for different Canadian cities.

NUTS.

The first shipment of Grenoble walnuts ex-St. Louis via New York will be in stock here by the time "The Grocer" reaches its readers. The first shipment will cost about 11c. to lay down here, making the retail price about 13c. Later shipments, first half of December will be 1½c. less. Sicily filberts, 8 to 8¾c.; Taragona almonds, 10½ to 11c., and shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The volume of business now being transacted is not large. Apples are in small supply and prices are accordingly high. The grape season is about finished. We quote: Jamaica oranges, 85 to $5.50 per bbl.; Verdill lemon, 300's, $4.50 to $5.50; 360's, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Canadian apples, $3 to $5 per bbl.; Californian plums, $2 per box; peaches, $1.25 to $1.50; limes, $1.50 per box; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.75 to $2.25, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 60c.; Spanish onions, 90 to 95c.; sweet potatoes, $2.50 to $3.50; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $6.50 to

for good buyers.

In spite of the last cables from Japan which say : "Stocks are exhausted. No more Common Teas can even be had. Crop 36-million pounds, the smallest in 15 years." In spite of advice from China saying : "Impossible to fill orders. What little stock left here of Green Teas is fully 20 per cent. above opening prices." In spite of all this, I SAY TO YOU : My prices have not changed. I have a large stock and plenty more coming by next steamers from China and Japan.

Now is the time to buy and this is the place to get the greatest values. Apart from my actual stock I have

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—The market has ruled steady during the past week with the usual demand to meet current wants, but without any activity as there appears to be no anxiety on the part of buyers to anticipate their wants. Spring patents are worth $3.95 to $4.10; winter patents, $3.55 to $3.75; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.80.

GRAIN—We quote: Manitoba, No. 1, hard, 76 to 76½c. all oat October; peas, 51c.; rye, 56 to 56½c.; No. 2 barley, 52½ to 53c.; oats, 41 to 45c.; buckwheat, 56½ to 57c.; corn, 61½ to 62c.

OATMEAL—Rolled oats are higher and wholesalers are now asking $5 in barrels and $2.45 in bags. Carlots are worth $1.60 in wood. There is a good inquiry for export even at the advanced prices.

POT BARLEY—The market is very firm, carlots being quoted at $2 in bags and $1.20 in barrels. Wholesalers ask $1.60 per bbl.

FEED—The market for bran keeps firm under a continued demand for local and export requirements. Sales of Ontario bran were made in bulk at $16.50 in carlots. We quote: $17 to $17.50. Shorts are scarce and worth $18.50 to $19.50 in carlots. Mouillie, $19.50 to $25.

BALED HAY—Owing to the continued demand for export, and the current requirements of the local trade, the market has lost none of its former strength. No. 1 timothy is worth $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8 to $9; clover mixture, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The egg market continues very firm. Fresh eggs are bringing 18 to 22c. as they arrive. To the retail trade eggs are selling at 25, 21 and 16c.

HONEY — Clover honey in comb is worth 11 to 12c. in a jobbing way and 13 to 14c. to the trade. Extracted is worth 9½c.

POTATOES — The market is steady on a good volume of business, choice lots bringing 65 to 67½c. per bag of 90 lb. on the track.

BEANS — There is a firmer feeling in the bean market and it is thought bottom prices have been reached. Carlots are changing hands at $1.50.

ASHES — The market is firmer under an improved demand, sales of first pots having transpired this week at $1.35 to $1.40, an advance of 10c. per 100 lb. Second pots are nominal at about $1.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE — It was thought that the lower prices would have stimulated the demand, but the English importers persist in their hand-to-mouth policy. Finest western colored Septembers are changing hands at 9 to 9½c., while good Quebec Septembers have sold at $4 to 8½c. on the wharf. It is said there are large stocks held in the city that cost 10c., and the loss will be serious if the market does not take a turn.

BUTTER — The boom that we have reported in butter during the past weeks has faded away and the English market is lower all round. The decline here amounts to about ½c., and the easy feeling continues. Fancy creamery is now worth 21½ to 22½c. In tubs, creamery is worth 20½c. Western dairy is hard to sell at 14 to 16c. Western creamery is worth 19½ to 20c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Roller oats are higher.
Lard is down 10c. a pail.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, November 4, 1901.

BUSINESS has been good throughout the week. Collections have improved considerably, and will, no doubt, continue to do so from this date on. There are one or two price charges that are of interest. Sugars have declined 10c. per cwt., and tobaccos have advanced 1c. per lb.; in almost all other lines the market has remained steady.

FLOUR—This has been one of the most active weeks of the season so far. Prices have been steadily maintained throughout the week. We quote: Lake of the Woods, Five Roses, $2; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX $1.25; Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $2; Glenora, $1.85; Alberta, $1.65; Manitoba, $1.45; Imperial XXXX, $1.25.

CEREALS—Rolled oats have been advanced 10c. per sack all round, and quotations are at present: Rolled oats in 80-lb. sacks, $2.30; 40 lb. sacks, $1.17½; 20-lb. sacks, 60c; standard and granulated $2.80; split peas, $2.50 to $2.65; cornmeal, $1.70 to $1.80. White beans show a further sharp decline and are quoted at $2 to $2.10, as against $2.25 to $2.30 last week.

SUGARS—No doubt in sympathy with the weakening of the American market, sugars have declined 10c. per cwt. in all grades.

We quote: Standard granulated, $4.95; bright yellow, $4.20.

SYRUP—There is no decline in syrups in sympathy with sugars. The demand is normal at last week's quotations. We quote as follows: Extra bright, per lb., 3 to 3½c.; medium, 2¾ to 3c. A new departure in the line of syrups is the importation of golden syrup in 2-lb. tins from the manufactory of Abram Lyle & Sons, Limited, England. This syrup is slightly more expensive than the home manufactured and is very distinctly superior in quality and appearance. In fact, it is almost equal in flavor to maple syrup.

MOLASSES—We quote: New Orleans, 35 to 38c.; Barbadoes, 55 to 57½c.; Porto Rico, 45 to 46c. per gal.

COFFEE—Green Rios are very firm and have advanced ½c. during the week. Present quotations are 9½ to 10c.

DRIED FRUITS—New muscatel raisins are on the market and the quality is excellent with prices slightly lower than last year. Opening quotations are: 2 crown, 7c. per lb.; 3-crown, 7½c. per lb.; 4-crown, 8c. per lb. All Californian dried fruits maintain their firmness.

TOBACCOS—There has been an advance of 1c. per lb. on all cut tobaccos. The reason given for this advance is the low price at which dealers here have been handling these goods, considerably less than eastern prices.

SALT—Considerable difficulty is being experienced in securing shipments of salt. There appears to be two reasons for this. One is scarcity of cars and the other is shortage at the manufactories. In either case unless a change comes speedily salt is likely to be scarce on this market all winter, as it is not profitable to bring it in by the all-rail route.

GREEN FRUITS—The market is restricted to strictly winter lines. Mexican oranges arrived this week, and are very fine fruit, well colored and sweeter than the Mexicans usually are when they arrive on this market. Winter apples are now the staple fruit. Prices are high in all lines, and the quality not by any means up to the standard of excellence. Tokay grapes are still on the market in small quantities, but the price is high. We quote: Snow apples, $6; spies, Gravenstein's and other good winter varieties, $5.50; American red, $5; Mexican oranges, $5.50 to $6, according to size. Nellis pears, $3 per box; Ontario basket pears (last shipment), 75c. per basket; Tokay grapes, $3.25 per box; Malaga grapes, $8 per keg; red and black Rogers

BUTTER—From this date forward prices given will be jobbers' prices to retail trade, as creameries are nearly all closed. Bricks in good demand at 22 to 23c.; packages, 21 to 22c., according to quality. Dairy butter—Supply of choice table butter is very scarce, and there seems small hope of improvement. Best grades are being bought at 14 to 15c. and jobbed at 17 to 18c.

CHEESE—All cheese is practically out of first hands, and jobbing prices to retail trade are 10 to 10½c. for best and 9 to 9½c. for inferior cheese.

EGGS—A few stray cases of Manitoba are coming, but are of very poor quality. The bulk of the market supply are Ontario eggs. 17c. is paid for good candled stock here, and these are jobbing at 19 to 20c.

NOTES.

During the week a carload of Goodwillie & Son's goods, of Welland, Ontario, arrived in the city. These goods are beautifully put up in glass jars of 1½-lb. weight and retail at 25c. It is a most attractive form of package, and the increasing demand shows that with certain sections of the trade these goods are fast superseding the tin cans.

Among visitors to Winnipeg this week was Mr. S. T. Nishimura, a tea merchant of New York, and formerly of Yokohama. He was on his way to Yokohama for a visit.

STORY OF AN EGG.

R. J. Gallagher, of Alliston, Ont., wrote his name and address on an egg, which finally got into a shipment to the Old Country. Thomas Orr, of Hamilton, Scotland, got the egg, and wrote Mr. Gallagher, in part, as follows:

"It is with much regret I did as you desired—ate the contents of this shell—so, now that I have got out of the infirmary, I return the shell to you. The date the egg (excuse me for calling it names) reached here was the 25th of September, 1901, but the combustible inside this shell had the taste of having been laid in the year one. Hoping you will persuade the hens in the Dominion of Canada that the eggs they lay are not for election purposes, nor yet Anarchists' bombs, but for freens in Bonnie Scotland."

TRADE CHAT.

EX REEVE HUNTER is fitting up his mill at Oxenden, near Wiarton, Ont., and by next summer expects to have a complete roller process installed.

A general store has been started at Port Elgin by McLean & Hood.

The Ottawa Board of Works has decided to allow no more hanging signs to be erected in the capital.

Jas. Holmes, Carthage, Ont., has sold his cheese factory to Mr. Morrison, Woodstock, Ont., for $4,000.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association will be held in Toronto on November 19.

There is a shortage of grain cars in the West, and, in consequence, the receipts of Manitoba wheat are not so large this week as formerly.

A Aldrich has closed his cheese factories at Rainham and Cheapside, Ont., near Hagersville, Ont., and is making preparations to combine both into one on the Rainham town line.

At a meeting of the executive of the Retail Merchants' Association, Peterborough, it was unanimously decided to keep open their places of business on Saturday, October 9 the King's Birthday.

Timothy J. Donoghue, a former Kings tonian, but more recently known as the "Produce King of the Yukon," is at the Rossin House, Toronto. It is he who is said to have outwitted the astute Yankee dealers of Dawson, and practically to have cornered all the hay, oats and potatoes in that city.

Downing & Co. have recently moved into their new general store, Port Arthur, which they have fitted up in the latest improved fashion, and are now able to conduct their business on a more extensive scale.

S. R. Boyer, of Florenceville, N.B., has sold his buildings and stock to B. Frank Smith, of the same place, who intends to continue his business in shipping farm produce on a more extensive scale than ever from his new headquarters.

In Montreal they are having trouble over the naming of an organization which is to be formed by the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association amalgamating with an association formed by the Montreal egg merchants. The members of the new concern decided to call it the Montreal Produce Exchange. But the Montreal Corn Exchange object to this, they claiming that they have the exclusive right to the word "exchange," and have handed the whole matter over to a council of the Montreal Board of Trade to decide, in spite of the objections of the Butter and Cheese Association, who claim that such matters do not lie within the Board of Trade's jurisdiction. Here the matter rests.

DEATH OF MRS. W. G. A. LAMBE.

Mrs. W. G. A. Lambe, wife of Mr. W. G. A. Lambe, the well known broker of Toronto, died suddenly on Sunday last. The deceased had undergone an operation on Friday, but on Sunday there was a sudden collapse, and in spite of what medical skill could do death ensued. THE CANADIAN GROCER extends its sympathy to Mr. Lambe and his afflicted family in the great loss they have sustained.

WINN & HOLLAND, SOLE AGENTS FOR CANADA, MONTREAL.

BEET SUGAR FACTORY AT WIARTON.

WORKMEN have about completed the excavating for the new factory, of the Wiarton Beet Sugar Manufacturing Co., Limited, and Mr. Higgins, who is in charge of the building, is in Toronto waiting for the derricks and other machinery on its way from Montreal to enable him to go on with the operations.

Located on the water's edge on one of the leading thoroughfares of Wiarton every opportunity will be given for the reception of the raw material and the shipment by water of the manufactured product. Railroad switches will also be run by the sides of the beet sheds, boiler-house, limekiln, and storage warehouse, thus enabling all raw material to be directly unloaded from the cars at the place where it is used, and the manufactured product readily loaded on the cars. The main building is to be erected entirely of stone and brick, and there will be adjoining it a substantial office building of stone. The main building will be 240x120 ft., 65 feet of the width being the factory proper, four storeys in height, and the other 54 feet, one and two storeys high, is to be used by the agricultural department in weighing and taring beets, as the wash-house, the boiler-room, limekiln and machine-shop. The sugar storage warehouse, 20x75 feet, built also of stone, will be to the right of the main building, and will have a storage capacity of 6,000 barrels of sugar. The arrangement of these buildings will be such as to effect the greatest saving of labor, for the beets will be floated in flumes from the sheds to the factory where they will be converted into sugar. Then the sugar will be packed into barrels and run by gravity into the store-houses.

With an average working capacity of 350 tons of beets per 24 hours this factory will be a model of its kind. This capacity in times of rush may be pushed to 400 and even 450 tons of beets per 24 hours, if necessary. It will be equipped with the best modern machinery for the production of granulated sugar with the greatest economy of fuel, steam and labor.

The Colonial Construction Co., of Toronto, have been awarded the contract, and they have engaged J. C. Dumont, an experienced Michigan engineer. Operations on the foundations were begun on October 8, and it is expected that the first storey walls will be finished before the snow comes.

A NEW BRUNSWICK RAILWAY.

The surveying of the line of road from Newcastle to Gibson, N.B., is finished and it is expected that by the fall of 1902 trains will be running over the whole road from Fredericton to Norton. The railway bridge across the Nashwaak river will be a steel structure resting on stone and masonry abutments and piers and will span the river near its mouth.

CANADIAN OATS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

Through Lord Strathcona's office in London, the Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. Sydney Fisher, has made arrangements whereby practically the whole of the surplus oat crop of Alberta, which this year is more than 1,000,000 bushels in excess of the British Columbian demand, can be delivered in South Africa on account of the War Office. In spite of the distance, the transportation facilities of this country are so perfect that oats can be conveyed from Alberta for a distance of over 3,000 miles, to the Atlantic seaboard, and thence transhipped to South Africa at a less cost than oats from Great Britain or the United States, and yet the farmers of Alberta will receive 25 per cent. higher prices than they have been receiving elsewhere.

The oats are to be purchased in the district between Calgary and Edmonton, shipped to Calgary, thence to Montreal after they are inspected, where they will be elevated, clipped, and bagged before being transhipped on the I. C. R. cars. They will then be loaded from the cars to the steamers waiting at St. John to receive them, whence they will be brought to South Africa.

CALIFORNIAN OLIVES.

Californian olive growers are preparing to harvest their crop. In every orchard in the State the trees are loaded with the fruit, and the acreage devoted to the cultivation of olives is much larger this year than ever before. In recent years the yearly crop of olives seldom ran over 2,000 barrels, or, taking seven barrels to the ton, about 286 tons. The growers who sell their olives as they come from the trees have formerly received $60 per ton for their product, or about 3c. a pound. It costs 1c. a pound to pick the fruit, thus allowing the growers $40 a ton for their olives. This year the total crop of the State will reach 800 tons, or 5,600 barrels, an increase of 3,600 barrels over last year. The price this year has dropped 33 1/3 per cent. Olives now bring only $40 a ton as they come from the tree, half of which goes to the pickers, thus allowing the growers only $20 per ton.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., November 5, 1901.

The chief topic of conversation of late, in this city, has been smallpox. We in St. John have been particularly fortunate, as for years there has not been a case here. This is more than most of the larger cities can say. So, when a few cases were reported last week, there was much more talk than the facts warranted. At the time of writing, things have quieted down, as no new cases have been reported for some days. The disease, so far, has been confined to one locality. Every precaution is being taken. Business is very active. Merchants find it difficult to take delivery of goods arriving, their teams being so busy shipping goods. There is great complaint about delay in getting goods from the West. Lack of cars is reported as the chief difficulty.

OIL—In burning oil the market is unchanged. Dealers are very busy getting goods shipped. Demand is very large. Paint oils, which are a light stock, are tending higher. The English market reports quite an advance in linseed oil, and the outlook is for a stiff market. Turpentine is also higher. There is but a fair sale. Lubricating oils are dull at this season, and prices are quite firm. Seal oil continues high. Cod oil is high but not quite as firm. There is an improved sale for candles. The best grades of wax are firm.

SALT—Stock is very light of Liverpool coarse salt. Prices are firmly held, and will remain high till about the middle of the month when the first direct Liverpool steamer of the winter port business will arrive. In the meantime supplies are brought via Boston. Our dealers also supply Eastern Maine and other bay ports from there. In fine salt there is only a light business. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 56 to 58c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl., 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10 lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS—Full lines of new goods are now here, many cars having arrived during the last week. Receipts, particularly in vegetables, are not as large as last season. The markets have been satisfactory. Even with prices firm jobbers have cut figures to cash trade, when buying in any quantity, so fine as not to cover the expense of selling. Some of the larger retailers, unable this year to buy direct, at lowest figures, bought through jobbers, getting their good about at cost. Prices are unchanged. The market is well supplied. Gallon apples are held firm at the higher figures. Blueberries are scarce. A new line was noticed on the market this week put up by a local packer—"Pork and Cabbage." Kipper herring are firm, the supply not being equal to the demand. Haddies are also a short pack. Domestic sardines are quite plentiful.

GREEN FRUITS—Business has been very active. Apples are quite plentiful. For best stock full figures are obtained. Considerable cheap fruit is offered. Some nice winter stock is now being received. Grapes are still quite large sellers, chiefly Ontario, but the demand has commenced to fall off. Both Canadian and American pears are offered, but the season is late. Oranges are quite low, and there is an improved sale. Lemons sell freely. Malagas have the market. Lower prices are expected. In cranberries prices are reasonable. Some very good native berries are offered, but they are not as highly colored as those from Cape Cod. Quinces have a limited sale.

DRIED FRUITS—The market is now well supplied with both new Valencia and Malaga raisins. Prices, particularly of Valencias for import, continue to ease off. Stock is quite good, particularly Malaga fruit. These in loose muscatels are taking the place of Californians. Two-crown Californian fruit is reported very scarce, but this grade does not come here. In prunes, some shippers decline orders for 80-90's and 90-100's. No foreign prunes are being sold this season. Currants sell freely. The market is easy, showing a great change from last year. Package goods very largely have the market. New figs have a fair sale. Peels are being asked for. New goods are daily expected. Evaporated apples are in very light supply. Buyers are not willing to give present prices. Onions are a fair stock. There is quite a range in quality.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs continue to work up. Receipts are light. While case eggs are not high, some fancy prices are heard for fresh stock. In butter, the higher prices have been the cause of quite free receipts from local points and the market is rather quiet. Cheese is dull and rather lower.

SUGAR—Prices are 10c. lower all round. Sales are large. Quite a quantity of foreign goods continue to arrive. The candy trade import quite freely. There is an improvement in quality of local goods offered, particularly granulated.

MOLASSES—While the market is dull considerable goods are being moved in a small way. There is quite a stock held, chiefly Porto Rico. Some New Orleans is offered. Syrups in tins has an improved sale.

FISH—There have been quite free receipts of both dry cod and pickled herring during the week. The sale of the latter is very large and the high prices continue. Bay herring are about the only grade offering. For two years supplies of Shelburne and Canso herring have been much lighter than formerly. In pollock, prices are still low. There is much less sale than a few years ago. Smoked herring are low. Receipts have been quite free. The heavy American duty cuts that market from us. Our fresh fish are bought at very low figures and smoked on the other side. The sale of fresh fish is small. Finnan haddies have a large sale. We quote as follows: Haddies,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.; smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; fresh haddock and cod,  $2\frac{1}{2}$ c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, \$1.50 to \$1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, \$2.15 to \$2.25 per half bbl.; Canso herring, \$5.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, \$1 per box; Shelburne, \$2.50 per half bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, prices are unchanged. There is considerable movement. Dealers complain very much of delay in shipment. Lack of cars is given as the reason. In oats and oatmeal, prices are very high and are tending upward. Stock here is small. Beans are reported rather firmer. Sales have been light. Barley is high. Split peas have again been advanced. Blue peas are about out of the market. Cornmeal is firm. Heavy export hay shipments still made. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.00; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $4.70 to $4.80; cornmeal, $2.85 to $2.90; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 45 to 48c.; hand-picked beans, $1.75 to $1.80; prime, $1.60 to $1.65; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $4.50 to $4.55; barley, $4.20 to $4.25; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Baird & Peters have been appointed New Brunswick agents for Christie, Brown & Co.

Mr. Sears, for a number of years with Merritt Bros. & Co., leaves this week for Minneapolis.

Mr. Rose, of Rose & Laflamme, Montreal, called on the trade this week in the interests of the Imperial Syrup Co., and did a nice business.

Mr. Robert Jardine, representing The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., has distributed to the trade a very handsome price list printed in colors, their handsome packages showing off to advantage.

Mr. Sharp, for a number of years chief clerk of the Royal Hotel, is about to join the ranks of the benedicts. The fact will be heard with much interest by a very great many of the travelling men visiting St. John. THE GROCER feels sure they will join in extending congratulations.

SHOULD HAVE BEEN "BOAR'S HEAD."

Through the letter "e" instead of the letter "o" the N. K. Fairbank Co.'s brand of lard was made to read "Bear" instead of "Boar" in a reading notice in our issue of October 25 (the special number).

EXPORTS OF CANADIAN PORK HAVE INCREASED.

From the figures supplied by the Commissioner of Agriculture the Canadian export trade in pork, bacon and hams has greatly increased. From the small amount of $645,360 worth in 1890, the amounts of the exports have swelled up to the magnificent total of $11,829,000 for the year ending with June, 1901, showing an increase of over $11,000,000 worth of hog products during the past 10 years.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Dressed hogs are unchanged, the price being still $7.50 to $7.75 per 100 lb., and the receipts being heavy. There is a steady demand. Receipts of beef were large. Carcasses are selling at $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6.50 to $7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5 to $5.50 per 100 lb. Front quarters are most in demand.

Prices on live hogs have dropped 37½c., selects now selling at $5.62½ and lights at $5.37½, and the prospects are for still lower prices. Export cattle in choice lots report a phenomenal business in consequence, and are not able to cope with orders. Chicago pork is down $1 per barrel. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00; Chicago clear pork, $22.50 for heavy and $22.00 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13 to 14c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.40 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), $2.01 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.04 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.01 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, $1.72½ per pail; Cottolene, 11½c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10¾c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In pork and beef there have been quite free shipments during the week. Considerable domestic pork is seen on the market. Prices are rather easier. There is also some domestic beef offered. Lard still remains high.

PROVISION TRADE NOTES.

MONTREAL.

At present the lard market presents the strange spectacle of a falling in values and an inconvenient scarcity of supplies. The world's supply of lard for November 1, 1901, is given as 137,436 tierces, against 149,763 tierces on October 1, 1901. Last year at this time the visible supply was 122,070 tierces or even less than this year. Yet, we are told that it is absolutely impossible to secure the delivery of a carload of lard from any of our Canadian packing houses. The packers of compound lard

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN TRADE.

The following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London :

1. Inquiry is made for the name of a first-class firm of Canadian oven builders who would be prepared to work a patent oven for which the patent in Canada is fully secured.

2. A list of wholesale druggists' sundrymen in Canada is asked for by a firm of wholesale stationers in London.

3. A Birmingham firm ask to be placed in communication with one or two large exporters of cheese from Canada.

4. A Dundee firm having opened a department for the sale of wood pulp, would be glad to know of a Canadian exporting firm wishing to appoint an agent for Scotland.

5. A gentleman having 20 years' experience in selling British goods in Canada—having an extensive and influential connection amongst importers, railway companies, etc—is shortly leaving for another business journey, and would be glad to undertake the interests of an additional manufacturer or two.

6. A Bradford firm desires to be placed in communication with umbrella manufacturers in Canada.

7. A firm in the Midlands asks for information respecting the possibility of opening up a trade with Canada in several brands of British-made cigars.

8. The addresses of Canadian carriage manufacturers are asked for by a correspondent who is prepared to take up the agencies of such firms for the United Kingdom.

9. A Huddersfield firm asks to be referred to the principal firms in Canada who are merchants in woollen and worsted goods.

[The names of the firms making the above inquiries, can be obtained on application to the editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER.]

THE POOR APPLE CROP.

This year the apple crop, excepting, perhaps, in California and Nova Scotia, is short over all the world. The apple crop is a failure in Sweden and Germany, and there cannot be more than 100,000 barrels stored away in the whole Province of Ontario. Usually, in other years, one dealer has that many.

The quality of the Ontario crop is also poor, and amounts to only about 15 per cent. of the average. In the United States the crop is only about a third of what it was the year before last, the shortage being 47,000,000 barrels. Ontario and Quebec buyers have been compelled to go to Nova Scotia, and they have already shipped over 100,000 barrels from there westward. Nova Scotian apples are also being shipped in large quantities to the British market via Montreal, a thing never heard of before.

Notwithstanding the scarcity of apples everywhere, the English market seems to be very erratic this year, and several dealers have met with positive losses, as the market there does not appear to respond to the high prices prevalent elsewhere.

LARD

*****

Orders can be filled by any of the leading jobbers in Canada or direct.

There is one word sadly misinterpreted, that word is "substitute." Because an article is a substitute it is not necessarily inferior. The electric light is a substitute for the candle and the modern flour for the product of the windmill. Our "Boar's Head" brand of Refined Lard Compound is a substitute for hog lard, and is an improvement on any other frying and shortening medium. Grocers totally unable to sell other brands of Compound with any satisfaction, find that Fairbank's "Boar's Head" brand takes the place of every other lard with their customers, then, too, the price is about 2c. less per lb. than hog fat.

POSSIBILITIES OF EXTENDED TRADE WITH BARBADOS.

THE VIEWS OF A MAN FROM THAT ISLAND.

WITHIN the last three weeks I have had the pleasure of interviewing three gentlemen from the British West Indies in regard to the question of trade between them and this country. The outcome of two of the interviews was printed in last week's issue. The third interview was on Monday last, when, thanks to Mr. Charles Pickford, of The Pickford & Black Co., I was given an opportunity of meeting Mr. J. Allen Jones, of Barbados. Mr. Jones, who is a member of the firm of Jones & Swan, general commission agents, Barbados, was in Toronto for a few days on his way to Great Britain. He left Barbados in August and has been visiting points in the United States and Canada. He expects to return home early in January next.

Mr. Jones is a man who, to me, appeared to be consumed with a desire to see more trade done with Canada and the British West Indies.

"What I would like to see," he said, in reply to the question, "is more business men from Canada visit us during your winter months and study for themselves the requirements of our markets. The ground is simply left to the United States. The travellers from that country come down to the West Indies and get the business. Canada could do a great deal more in flour if business was properly pushed. In some instances, merchandise has been sent from Canada to the West Indies which was either not suitable for our market or not properly packed. And because the first venture did not prove a success, the people who sent them, made no further effort."

"What is the opinion in Barbados regarding the quality of Canadian flour?"

"About the first lot of flour that was shipped to Barbados was old stuff that had been held in stock. Naturally, the quality not being good, satisfaction was not given, and Canadian flour got a bad name. The idea that Canadian flour is not suitable for our climate is now, however, exploded. Since your people began to study our market and exercise proper care, we have learned that the quality of Canadian flour is fully equal to that of the United States."

"The idea in regard to hoops is also exploded," interjected Mr. Pickford.

"Yes," continued Mr. Jones, "it is. At one time, you know, it was thought that nothing but the round hoop was the proper thing on a barrel of flour. And that militated for a time against Canadian flour, on the barrels of which flat hoops were used. Of course, Barbados is a small place, and it has the prejudices of a small place."

"One thing that the people in the West Indies demand in their flour," remarked Mr. Pickford, "is whiteness. It must be white."

"Yes," added Mr. Jones, "but it must also have body."

"What about Canadian oats?" I asked.

"A few years ago, we, in Barbados, used nothing but oats from the United States. Now they come altogether from Canada. They are very much better than the oats from the United States."

"What does Barbados import?"

"We have to import all our food supplies. In fact, we have to import nearly everything."

"Except your ice and rum," interjected Mr. Pickford with a laugh.

"That's right. We have two factories making ice; the price at which ice sells is one cent per pound, which is, we think, moderate."

"Your exports. What about them?"

"They are largely confined to sugar and molasses. Our island is only 14 miles wide by 21 long and our population 200,000, but last year we exported 60,000 tons of sugar and 15,000 puncheons of molasses. About one-third of our molasses goes to Newfoundland and the balance to Canada. Were our machinery more modern we could do even better than that. Our machinery is very old-fashioned, windmills still being used. Demarara and Trinidad, with their more modern machinery, extract 20 per cent more juice from the cane than we do. Our sugar goes to the United States, the countervailing duty there being more advantageous to Barbados sugar than the Canadian preferential tariff."

"Is there a desire in Barbados to do more business with Canada?"

"There is. But as I have already said, Canadian business men should visit us and learn for themselves what we want. Trade is increasing. I think," he added, addressing himself to Mr. Pickford, "that your steamers last year carried more merchandise for the West Indies than ever before."

"Yes," said Mr. Pickford. "At present the shortage of cars is, however, making our cargoes lighter than they otherwise would be. To give you an example: I know of 15 to 25 carloads of stuff that within the last 10 days have gone to the West Indies via New York which would have gone by our line via Halifax, could the railways have supplied the cars."

"Are not your rates, Mr. Pickford, the same as those on the boats running out of New York?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Pickford, "just the same."

THE TRAFFIC IN COFFEE.

THE actual deliveries of coffee in Europe and the United States during the 10 years beginning with July 1, 1891, and ending with June 30, 1901, have been 121,277,600 bags, or a yearly average of 12,127,761 bags. Of the grand aggregate for the 10 years under consideration, the Republic of Brazil furnished about 62 per cent., or 76,785,000 bags, an average per year of 7,678,500 bags. In the last five years Brazil's exports have been 47,221,000 bags, or a yearly average of 9,444,200 bags.

The deliveries of coffee from all countries to the United States importers during the 10 years 1891-92 to 1900-01 were 50,531,347 bags, or an average per year of 5,053,135 bags. The deliveries in the United States for the 12 months ending with June 30, 1901, amounted to 5,813,883 bags, of which Brazil supplied 1,722,919 bags, or 80.8 per cent.; all other countries, 1,120,961 bags, or 19.2 per cent.

COFFEE PRODUCTION IN BRAZIL.

The total production of coffee in Brazil during this 10-years' period has been 77,878,000 bags, an average of 7,887,800 bags per year. During that time the smallest total product in 12 months was 1,309,000 bags, in 1893-94, and the greatest total was 10,927,000 bags, in 1900-01. From the ports of Rio de Janeiro and Santos, the great coffee-shipping markets of Brazil, the exports of coffee during the 10 years have been as follows, the year ending on the 30th of June and the figures (in even thousands) representing the number of bags:

The shipments to Europe make a grand aggregate of 10,365,000 bags and those to the United States an aggregate of 36,320,000 bags. The shipments from Rio de Janeiro during the 10 years amounted to 30,913,000 bags and those from Santos to 45,812,000 bags. The trade-year ending June 30, 1901, is noted for the heaviest crop of Brazil coffee on record, for coffee deliveries to the markets of the world for any year on record.

CANNED HALIBUT.

Halibut canning is an industry which has recently started on Portiere Island, British Columbia, by The British Columbia Fish Company. The first cans were put up three months ago, and the contents are in fine condition, and the flavor, to those who like halibut, all that could be desired. The British Columbia Fish Company are making a trial shipment to China in charge of a Chinese agent. The same company are pickling spring and steel head salmon, according to the latest approved methods. The product of their skill is very edible. The fish are pickled whole, and when kept for weeks cannot be told from a fresh salmon. To the cured fish there is a slight pickle taste which rather improves the flavor than otherwise. The company are having considerable success in finding a market for this new product of British Columbia.

CANADIAN TINNED BEEF IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The complaint, that among other things, the Canadian tinned-beef sent to South Africa last April, contained borax, has been withdrawn by the chemist in South Africa by whom it was made. Although borax is used by some firms to preserve their meat before cooking, yet it seems that Canadian packers do not extensively use this chemical. A prominent army officer in Natal who had sampled the beef and read the very gratifying testimonial enclosed, which had been received in regard to previous shipments of Canadian beef, declared the product was of even better quality than stated. As the War Office makes only grave and unsatisfactory statements, the Canadian Department of Agriculture will persevere until the stigma on Canadian beef is removed, and until the packers of this country are again entrusted with orders by the War Office.

ANOTHER FIRE AT SYDNEY. CAPE BRETON.

On October 29 the store of Voight Bros., Sydney, C.B., was totally destroyed by fire, and the whole business portion of North Sydney was only saved from a similar fate by the determined fight of the firemen and the magnificent water supply which the town possesses. The building is fairly well covered by insurance, but there is only $4,500 on the stock, which was valued at $150,000, and was one of the largest in the Maritime Provinces.

CAUSE OF CHEESE BEING OFF FLAVOR.

The Department of Agriculture has received the report of Prof. Harrison, bacteriologist at the Ontario Agricultural College, regarding the off-flavor of the cheese from the Innerkip and other Ontario factories. He said that the curd had a combined bitter and aromatic smell, and this gave to the cheese a bad flavor and bitter taste. He attributes the cause to certain species of yeasts, bacteria and moulds which are found on maple trees and fruit trees, and which, probably, by wind and dust, found their way into the cans which were probably standing under or near the trees. As the whey was returned in the cans in which the milk was taken away, the infection was more widely spread. Then the empty cans were left on the roadside, exposed to the dust and dirt, also causing infection. Besides all this, gas-producing germs were found in most of the barns that were examined, they being dirty, dusty, and full of cobwebs.

B. C. FRUITS IN WINNIPEG.

As a result of a conference with the officials of The Dominion Express Company, British Columbian fruit growers expect to be able to place their strawberries and other perishable fruits on the Winnipeg market next season at a price that will enable them to compete with those grown in other centres. On account of the long distance, it is proposed that they should send their fruit consignments eastward in ventilated crates.

VISIT FROM THE TEA COMMISSIONER.

Mr. William Mackenzie, Ceylon tea commissioner, was in Toronto a few days last week. After calling on the wholesale trade he was much impressed with the progress that was being made with Ceylon greens. He said they were making equally good progress in the United States.

Current Market Quotations for Proprietary Articles

November 7, 1901.

Quotations for proprietary articles, brands, etc., are supplied by the manufacturers or agents, who alone are responsible for their accuracy. The editors do not supervise them. If a change is made, either an advance or decline, it is referred to in the market reports, as a matter of news, whether manufacturers request it or not.

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch.

Your idea may be that all starch is starch and that your customers won't detect even a slight difference in quality. You may think that because there is a cent or two extra profit on "Mushroom" brands (that come and go), you can retain the confidence of your trade—it doesn't pay to trifle with the confidence that a customer has in you and your goods.

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch is as staple as flour. In the name there is the fame of nearly half a century. In the making there is the skill of long experience combined with honesty of purpose and unequalled manufacturing facilities. Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch represents the highest type of perfection there is or can be in starch. Kegs of 100-lbs.—handsome enamelled horse-shoe tins holding 6-lbs.—handsome 1-lb. packages that give a touch of life and color and "go" to a grocer's shelves.

SOME MERCHANTS' EXPERIENCE.

Solomon said in his haste: "ALL MEN ARE LIARS!" He didn't mean it. He was simply so mad with one man that he included all the rest.

Let us not fall into Solomon's mistake. We should take out of our experience the wisdom there is in it and stop right there!

Otherwise we are as stupid as the cat who sat down on a hot stove lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove lid again, and that shows good judgment. But she will never sit down on a cold one, either.

Now, some merchants have had hard experiences lately with coupon books that were represented to be absolutely correct in count and made up just as good as any other, but they were not, and you won't know what a perfect coupon book is until you have tried either Allison's Coupon Books or Allison's Coupon Pass Books. Both are good; one book suits some, while the other fills the bill with the rest of the merchants.

We are doing a lot of special engraving work now for merchants who use books in large quantities. Our books are carried in stock by jobbers. We will be glad to send you a free sample.

Allison's name on a Coupon Book is itself a guarantee of perfection.

The Canadian Manufacturers in Convention

A Notable Gathering at Montreal, Where Important Subjects were Discussed and Significant Speeches by Public Men Delivered.

HE thirtieth annual convention of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association was held in Montreal on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 5 and 6. This was the first time in its history that the association has met outside of Toronto. About 150 delegates were present from all parts of the Dominion and it was doubtless as representative an industrial gathering as Canada has ever seen. The Montreal conferees attended the meetings in large numbers and the two evening sessions saw an attendance of over 400 of Canada's wealthiest citizens.

The first item on the programme was of a character to make the visiting delegates feel thoroughly at home. It was a civic reception at the City Hall at which his worship Mayor Prefontaine, in the name of the citizens of Montreal, extended a hearty welcome to the association. The City Hall presented a busy scene about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning as the delegates arrived. They were met by a number of aldermen and Hon. Mr. Rolland, who, by the way, took a warm interest in the entertainment of the visitors throughout their stay, and escorted them to the council chamber which was pretty well filled. Mayor Prefontaine then read the following

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

"Mr. President and Gentlemen,—It gives me the greatest pleasure to address a few words of welcome to your association and to express the satisfaction of our citizens at being privileged to entertain your association in a city which owes so much, and which will owe much more to the manufacturing industry of Canada before Montreal's destiny is attained.

"I am one of those who believe that this

GOOD CITY OF MONTREAL,

at present by far the largest, most wealthy and most influential community in the Dominion of Canada—is destined to be one of the three principal cities of the American continent. And in arriving at this conclusion, I have been influenced, among other things, by a recognition of the sterling character and indomitable enterprise of her manufacturers, and a firm belief in a vast development of her manufacturing industry. Of course, I take into account Montreal's unrivalled position as a great seaport in the very heart of the most productive of the continents, and I anticipate the steady improvement of all of her unrivalled natural trade facilities. I do not fail to recognize the importance of advancing our educational methods, and of perfecting our municipal system of government, and I admit the value of the proverbial energy, industry and skill of our mentally strong, northern-bred working classes—the bone and sinew—yes, and the wholesome heart—of our community. I am perfectly aware, too, of of maintaining the soundness—the reputation for scrupulous integrity of our great financial and commercial institutions; but I firmly believe that none of the other interests working for the future greatness of the city in which you are to-day, is of greater importance than the one with which your association is so intimately and so profitably connected.

"And, as Mayor of Montreal, I am proud to say that this good city is almost as much interested in the development of the industrial institutions throughout the length and breadth of this Canada of ours, as it is in those located within our own municipal boundaries.

"Our harbor is the national port. Montreal is, as the metropolis, the

HANDMAID OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

Every extra bushel of grain raised in Canada means that much more export trade for Montreal, or will, when our terminal facilities are put on the footing they ought to rest on; every factory established or enlarged means increased trade. So our interests are identical, whether we live here under the shadow of Mount Royal, or are engaged in the development of industrial activity along the busy shores of the great lakes or in the prairie towns of the Far West. It is to your advantage, as well as to ours, that the manufacturing industries of Canada should flourish and that Montreal should prosper and succeed in that gigantic work of perfecting the terminal facilities in the harbor, to which she has set her hands.

"Perhaps I may be permitted to say here that I hope the time has about come when we good Canadians from every hamlet, every village, every town, every city, every Province, of Canada, will regard the interests of our most remote fellow-countrymen as identical with our own. Montreal, I hope, and really believe, has got far beyond that foolish stage when it regards the progress of a sister community with an eye of jealousy, and of all the things which make me proud of the city which has been so generous to me, that is one I especially admire. With our before us, we have plenty to demand our attention besides squabbling and the cultivation of little sectional jealousies. We are all Canadians, whether by accident of birth we speak French or English, let us do our duty as such in the special sphere of operations in which we happen to be thrown, feeling that while doing our duty by our own district we owe a duty to Canada as a whole, and have a share in the progress and happiness of the whole Dominion. The future of the country depends upon the friendly cooperation of all sections of its widely-spread population, and it is because The Manufacturers' Association is devised with the noble object of securing this very cooperation within one of the most important interests in the country that I take special pride in welcoming you here to-day.

"As I am told that I am to have the privilege of addressing some further remarks to you upon another occasion, I will content myself now with assuring you that you are and that the citizens of Montreal trust that your visit will be productive of much practical benefit and of personal pleasure."

Mr. P. W. Ellis, president of the association, in reply, thanked, on behalf of the members, the Mayor for his kind reception. He said that 300 years ago Montreal was the principal trading post in Canada, and it was still so to-day; it was the gateway of the Dominion. The association was one of great importance; and, no doubt, this convention in Montreal would lead to the forming of plans which would greatly advance the interests of the manufacturers in the Dominion, for none of the members of the association were more enthusiastic than those of Montreal.

Mr. J. D. Rolland, Chairman of the Reception Committee, spoke a few words of welcome, and referred to the growth of manufacturing interests in the city and country.

The delegates then proceeded outside, where cabs and hacks were awaiting them, for a drive through the city and around the mountain. In the vehicle with Mayor Prefontaine were Ald. Sadler, Mr. R. Munro and Mr. P. W. Ellis.

WOOLLEN BRANCH MEETS.

But while the majority of the members were being entertained, a section of the association was already getting down to work. Forty-two members of the woollen branch met in the ladies' ordinary at the Windsor Hotel where they held a private meeting. A plan of operations was outlined after a full discussion of the existing grievances of the woollen industry, and a resolution was framed to be brought before the general meeting. The following officers were elected for the year. They are:

Chairman—Mr. J. B. Henderson, Paris, Ont.

First vice-chairman—Mr. S. T. Willett, Chambly Canton.

Second vice-chairman—Mr. E. T. Dufton, Stratford, Ont.

Secretary—Mr. T. A. Russell

Committee—Messrs. R. R. Stevenson, J. Turnbull, Montreal; J. P. Murray, Toronto; J. Kendry, Peterboro', Ont.; G. Forbes, Hespeler, Ont.; G. Pattinson Preston, Ont.; J. Dick, Toronto; J. F. Morley, M. Boas, St. Hyacinthe, Que.

The first business session of the association was held in the afternoon in the ladies' ordinary of the Windsor, the president, Mr. P. W. Ellis, Toronto, occupying the chair. After expressing pleasure at the large attendance, he asked the members to be terse and concise in their remarks to facilitate the transaction of business. He appointed a committee on resolutions, composed of Messrs. Hees, Roden, Murray, McNaught, Munro, MacMaster, and others, who had resolutions to bring before the meeting.

A letter was read from Vice-President C. C. Ballantyne regretting his enforced absence from the city and his inability to attend the convention. He trusted that the meetings and banquet would be eminently successful, expressed thanks to Messrs. Wm. MacMaster and Frank Paul for their cooperation during the past year and concluded with his warmest wishes for the future.

IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY.

Mr. George E. Drummond then rose to ask if the association would take in consideration the iron and steel and chemical industries. He pointed out how gratifying it was to Canadians to have seen the immense expansion in the iron and steel industry of the past year. Steel has been carried to a higher point than ever and he considered it would be necessary to afford parallel protection to the industry. A committee was later appointed to look into the matter.

REPORT OF THE TARIFF COMMITTEE.

The report of the Tariff Committee was read by Mr. Hees as follows:

Your Tariff Committee begs leave to submit the following report covering the work of the past year, during which time we have held several meetings to discuss tariff matters, brought to our attention by our members:

DRAWBACK FOR EXPORT.

The first was in the form of a resolution from the Executive Committee asking whether the drawback of duty paid on articles entering into goods for export should be allowed when these articles were manufactured in Canada. The matter was carefully discussed by representatives here on both sides. It was finally resolved, however, that the Committee could not support the request asking that the drawback be not allowed on these classes of goods.

WOOLLENS.

The second matter under consideration was the request of the woollen manufacturers to have the duty increased on woollen goods entering into Canada. This matter has been fully placed before the Committee and before the Association in general. We have voiced the sentiments of our members in strongly submitting to the Government the request last year for protection, and instructed our secretary to assist the woollen deputations in every way possible. So far no concession has been made, and we have to commend the matter to the attention of the assembled convention again this year.

IRON TUBING.

The third matter under consideration related to the duty on iron tubing and angle iron for the manufacture of spring beds. A request was made for the admission of it free for this purpose as well as for the manufacture of iron bedsteads. This request was recommended to the Government, and we hope that it will yet be adopted.

OATMEAL.

The fourth matter related to the duty on oatmeal. The oatmeal millers asked that the Association endorse their request for such alteration of the tariff as to prevent the duty on raw material exceeding that on the finished product, as is often the case under the working of the Customs tariff, where the duty on the raw material is on a specific basis, while that on the finished article is on an ad valorem basis.

LUMBER.

A request was made by the lumber manufacturers of British Columbia that the Association endorse their request for a duty of $2 per thousand on lumber. Your committee consisted of representatives of the Ontario lumber interests, and also those of the furniture interests involved, but was unable to do further than recommend to the Government the position of the duty on such lumber as is not manufactured in Canada. We have, therefore, submitted the matter for your attention at this meeting.

BARBITT METAL.

Certain manufacturers of barbitt metal, which at present carries a duty of 10 per cent., while the raw material entering into it carries a duty of 15 per cent., have asked that this duty be increased to 25 per cent. We corresponded with a number of members of the Association interested in this material, but have not yet been able to get strong enough support to present it fairly to the Government.

LEAD.

The question of the duty on lead and lead products was brought to our attention by correspondents during the year. As this is an important question affecting many interests, we have held it over to be considered also to-day.

GOVERNMENT IMPORTATIONS.

One of our members urged that the Association should express itself against the Government importing articles without paying duty. Your committee had not, however, before it sufficient information to enable it to act in this matter, and it was felt that the Government would in all cases give the preference to Canadian products where these were obtainable.

One of our members drew attention to the desire of securing a higher duty on paper boxes entering Canada. We were not able, however, to get any support on this from other paper-box manufacturers, so the matter has been allowed to rest.

BET-ROOT SUGAR MACHINERY.

The announcement of the Government to allow the entrance of machinery for the manufacture of beet-root sugar into Canada free of duty for one year was brought to our attention by some of our members interested. While we felt that this was not the proper manner for the Government to take up the encouragement of an important industry looking to the beet-root sugar manufacture, still we felt that as the concession was granted only for one year with a view to starting the industry in Canada, it should not be strenuously opposed by manufacturers.

OIL.

The question of the tariff on oil was raised by one of the members of the Association that we support the somewhat general petition that had been presented to the Government asking that the duty should be removed. The Tariff Committee, after considering this question, had the matter fully discussed before the Executive of the Association, the result being the passing of a resolution in which the committee of the Association declined to support the request for the removal of duties on oil products.

At this meeting several matters have been brought to our attention, viz., the tariff on the following items:

- (a) Woollen goods.
- (b) Oatmeal.
- (c) Lumber.
- (d) Folding boxes.
- (e) Coal.
- (f) Agricultural implements.
- (g) Flour.
- (h) Shirts and collars.
- (i) White lead and resulting products.
- (j) Spades and shovels.

It is the recommendation of your Tariff Committee that one or two names of persons who may be interested in these be added to the representatives of the particular interests involved, that they report to the committee of the whole at the meeting to-morrow morning and discuss the tariff items referred to and then report to the general meeting of the Association. We commend this policy for your adoption.

There are also a number of other tariff items to which attention has been drawn since this circular has been sent out, and it is for the meeting to decide whether you will have any of these discussed or not. It was the opinion of the Tariff Committee that this could not well be done. If, however, you wish to make provision for recommendation to the general meeting, on tariff items other than those mentioned in the circular, we would recommend that you decide upon it at once.

All of which is submitted, on behalf of the committee for the year.

GEO. H. HEES, Chairman.

Investigations into other tariff matters were also asked for, notably, on granite, on reeds and rattan, for the proper appraising of goods (with considerable applause), and on finished licorice for confection purposes. The following committees were appointed to draft resolutions in regard to the different matters, which resolutions were to come before the general convention for final approval:

REPORT OF RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

The report of the Reception Committee was then read by the chairman, Mr. Thos. Roden, after which it was adopted:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN,—

Your Reception Committee begs leave to report that we have followed in part the suggestions made at our last year's general meeting re. the planning of a series of dinners, associated with discussion of interest and import to the manufacturing industries of Canada.

January 25 a banquet was held after which a lecture was given by Mr. Harvey on the Metric System of Weights, Measures and Currency, associated with general discussion.

In February a lecture was given by Mr. Kennedy on the development of the steel and iron industries in Canada.

On March 22 a lecture was given by the National Cash Register Co., under the auspices of the Association. The meeting was well attended and was the means of suggesting many reforms in our manufacturing establishments.

April 25 a dinner was held, followed by addresses on Chemistry as applied to the Arts and Manufactures, by Professor Lang and Dr. Ellis. An evening of enjoyment and profit was spent, from which influence the college theorist and practical business man were brought into closer sympathy in the solution of the problems of the day.

October 20 a luncheon was tendered to the foreign and Canadian correspondents associated with the Duke of York's visit.

We are pleased to report that all of these meetings were very successful, and we take this opportunity of thanking the officers and members of the Association for their generous sympathy and support in making them so. It will also be gratifying to you to know that in every case but one the receipts exceeded the expenditures, and that, as shown, your committee has a balance to its credit.

We are strongly of opinion that it will be advisable to continue this form of entertainment, and we trust that the same hearty support accorded in the past will be given in the future.

The arrangements for the present convention have been carried on by this committee, through the secretary, Mr. T. A. Russell, working in conjunction with the Montreal branch, reports of which cannot be given until its conclusion.

We regret that it has not been possible to arrange for meetings in the different cities as suggested in last year's report. The membership in most localities not being sufficiently large to warrant the expense, we felt it advisable to await improved conditions.

We take this opportunity of expressing our sincere appreciation of the work of our secretary, Mr. T. A. Russell, in rendering such hearty and invaluable assistance in bringing our efforts to such a successful issue.

Respectfully submitted,
THOS. RODEN.

Some discussion took place upon the advisability of adopting the metric system. Mr. Mason, of Mason & Risch, thought that the association ought to urge the Government to take it up without regard to the action of other countries. "We ought to take an initial step in this important matter, and our own Government's action would be an object lesson to other Governments. Thus the metric system would soon come into general use." Mr. Mason also referred to Mr. Hardy's able address upon the metric system, delivered in Toronto.

INDUSTRY AND MEMBERSHIP.

Mr. James P. Murray, the chairman, read the report of the Industry and Membership Committee, as follows:

Your Industry and Membership Committee begs leave to submit its report of work done during the past year.

In connection with the membership portion of our work, attention was first directed to the possibility of securing an increased representation of members in our Association from the city of Montreal. Through the active cooperation of our first vice-president, Mr. C. C. Ballantyne, arrangements were completed for a meeting to be held jointly of the Montreal members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the members of the Montreal Manufacturers' Association with a view to amalgamating the two. At this meeting, which took place at Montreal, it was resolved that the Montreal Association unite with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and that a local branch be also established in connection therewith for the city of Montreal. From that time our membership in Montreal has rapidly increased, until it numbers at the present time some 125, although even this number should be doubled during the coming Association year.

We have also had formed during the year local branches at Halifax, for the Province of Nova Scotia; Vancouver, for the Province of British Columbia; Winnipeg, for the Province of Manitoba, and one in the city of Toronto. During that time the membership has also grown at a satisfactory rate.

The other matters which we have entered upon and carried out have been the securing of the formation as sections of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Woollen Manufacturers' Section, the Agricultural Implement Manufacturers' Section, the Oatmeal Section and the Piano Section, all being members of the general Association, having a special committee for their own section, and with our secretary as their secretary.

At our last annual meeting we reported with some considerable enthusiasm that our membership had increased to 342. We are able to report to-day that we have 825 members in good standing and 28 applications pending acceptance at the first meeting of our new Executive Committee—certainly a growth that must be satisfying to the members of the Association, for we must recognize that a strong membership is the first requisite for a good association. Unless we have a sufficiently numerous membership we shall lack funds to carry on our work; shall not have the men on our committees that we require, nor will our deliberations receive the attention that they require. The Membership Committee has therefore always most important work to do in connection with the progress of the Association. In addition, however, to the work done by the committee, we have to notice the special efforts put forth by some of our members. What these are, and who deserve the praise, may be seen from the following list of proposals for membership by different members:

NEW MEMBERS PROPOSED BY

Membership Committee, 225; J. O. Thorn, 87; C. C. Ballantyne, 39; J. P. Murray, 25; Wm. Stone, 10; W. K. George, 9; P. W. Ellis, 9; Jas. Davidson, 8; C. H. Riches, 7; F. H. Wright, 6; W. K. McNaught, 6; John McFarlane, 6; Thomas Roden, 4; F. B. Featherstonhaugh, 3; Geo. H. Hees, 3; J. J. McGill, 3; Lang Tanning Co., 3; Geo. Evans, 2; Geo. Booth, 2; R. E. Menzie, 2; J. J. Cassidy, 2; Wm. McMaster, 2; J. F. Ellis, 2; Robt. Munro, 2; N. A. Bent Chair Co., 2; J. D. Rolland, 2; W. E. Harris, 2.

INDUSTRY.

In connection with the Industry Section of the work of your committee, it is not necessary for us to report in any considerable detail. Several of the matters that are referred to in the report of other committees were first brought up in our committee, which was regarded as the pioneer in the work of the Executive Committee, and matters were then referred to the separate proper committees for final report.

We have to note, however, the increased interest that was taken through our efforts in the Metric System. On the recommendation of your committee this subject was made the basis of one evening's discussion at the first monthly dinner held under the auspices of the Reception Committee. Col. Jeffrey Burland was to have introduced the subject, but in his absence it was ably dealt with by Mr. Arthur Harvey, Toronto, Prof. Ellis and Principal Galbraith, of the School of Practical Science, and others. The result was the adoption of a resolution at that meeting recommending to the Executive Committee that it place itself on record as in favor of a conference between representatives of the English-speaking nations with a view to securing a uniform system of weights and measures, etc., on a decimal basis. The result of this discussion has already been made public, and has led to a considerable revival of interest in the subject in Canada.

MUSEUM OF PRODUCTS.

We have been able to arrange at the offices of our Association for a very considerable display of the products of several countries, notably, the West Indies, having received representative exhibits of their products with a view of encouraging trade with that sister colony. In the same way we have also received samples of Karui Gum, and other articles from Australia; some of the products of their own manufacture, and we hope gradually to add to our collection so that it will become one of the valuable assets of the Association.

Under the heading of work of this committee has also been grouped the work attaching to the proper furnishing of our head offices. These are now very adequately supplied with the necessary machinery for an up-to-date mercantile office, and we believe a credit to the Association. We cordially invite any members when in Toronto to visit the offices of the Association and there become acquainted with the different parts of its work.

In conclusion, your committee recommend that, as the work of the Reception Committee and the Industry and Membership were so identical in many respects, it would be well to amalgamate these two, making a committee to be known as "The Reception and Membership Committee," which would be able to adequately look after the work of the Association in these two important particulars.

All of which is submitted on behalf of the Industry and Membership report.

JAMES P. MURRAY, Chairman.
T. A. RUSSELL, Secretary.

REPORT OF PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE.

The secretary then read the report of the Parliamentary Committee, as follows:

Your Parliamentary Committee begs leave to submit herewith its report covering work for the past year. This work falls naturally under two headings: First, those matters of Dominion legislation that received attention; and, second, legislative matters in the Province of Ontario. Any matters affecting the interests of manufacturers in the Province of Quebec were looked after by the local section in Montreal.

The matters that have received the attention of your committee in the field of Dominion legislation may be outlined as follows:

First.—The Alien Labor Bill.—During the last session of Parliament, a Bill was introduced by the Premier amending the Alien Labor Act in several important particulars. Your committee carefully investigated the terms of the Bill proposed, and, while not in sympathy with this class of legislation, decided not to oppose the Act, but to seek for such amendments as would prevent some of the most serious hardships to manufacturers. We, therefore, secured the insertion in the Bill of a clause providing that the Act should not apply in the case of the importation of skilled labor not obtainable in Canada and required for the development of any of our manufacturing industries.

TRADE MARK ACT.

Another Bill was that introduced to amend the Trade Mark and Design Act by making the Union Label rank as a Trade Mark. This Bill had passed the Commons at the previous session of Parliament, and was last year introduced in the Senate. Your committee held special meetings to consider its opposition, and acting with the Montreal branch, sent a representative to Ottawa to oppose this Bill before the Banking and Commerce Committee of the Senate. Despite the support of it there by representatives of all the labor organizations, the efforts of your representative were successful in having the Bill reported on unfavorably by a unanimous vote.

PATENT ACT.

Patent Act.—A Bill was introduced seeking to extend the life of a patent that had not been used or developed by the holder during its natural term. This was considered as injurious to the interests of manufacturers, and on our opposition to it laid before the Minister of Agriculture, the Bill was withdrawn.

The other matters receiving the most careful attention of your committee were the Patent Act and the working of the Patent Office. At the annual meeting a year ago instructions were given to your committee to investigate this subject and place its views before the Government with a view to securing an improvement in the facilities afforded by the Patent Office.

Our work in this department divides itself under two heads: First, recommendations affecting the working of the Patent Office, on which our views were set forth as follows:

"It was resolved that the secretary prepare and forward to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa a resolution dealing with this subject and embodying the following points:

"1st.—That the entire revenue derived from the Patent Office should be expended on the office in order that the work might be as efficiently done as possible.

"2nd.—That the services of an official thoroughly skilled in the work of a modern patent office should be secured for the purpose of directing the examiners in the Canadian Patent Office.

"3rd.—To print copies of patents so that they may be obtained at a reasonable price.

"4th.—To make it incumbent on examiners to take up applications as far as possible in the order of filing.

"5th.—To provide a sufficient number of examiners to expedite the business of the office.

"In presenting this resolution the attention of the Government was also to be directed to the following points:

"In support of suggestion No. 5 it was pointed out that the number of patents applied for during the year ending June 30, 1900, in the United States, was 39,815; that the number of examiners was 200; that, therefore, the number of applications to be considered by each examiner was approximately 200.

"On the other hand, the number of applications that have been received in Canada for the year ending September 30, 1900, was 4,576, and the number of examiners at present employed is seven, making a total of 663 applications to be considered by each examiner. Consequently an examiner in the Canadian Patent Office is required to look into at least three times as many patents as it is considered he is able to do in the United States Patent Office."

In this connection we have to note that during the year a substantial improvement has taken place in the working of the Patent Office; that the number of examiners has been increased, and that other facilities have been provided to expedite the work of the office. Other suggestions, however, covering the printing of patents, etc., have not yet been provided for. We commend our recommendations once more to your support.

The nature and scope of the amendments to the Patent Act proposed could not be better set forth than in the following statement, prepared for the committee by Mr. J. E. Maybee:

The Deputy Commissioner of Patents should not necessarily be the Deputy of the Minister of Agriculture (as now required), as the association has already suggested that a specially qualified person be employed to take charge of the Patent Office, and such a person should bear the rank of Deputy Commissioner of Patents.

Very important changes are suggested in section 7. We advocate amending the section so as to avoid the possibility of having a Canadian patent voided through a use of the invention by another party in some other country or by its description in a printed publication which has not reached Canada.

In this we will follow British precedent.

Of at least equal importance is the change suggested to section 8.

The committee strongly approves the amendment set out in Mr. Fisher's Bill of last session, which struck out that part of the section which limits a Canadian patent to expire on the date of expiration of the first expiring prior foreign patent for the same invention.

Much hardship has been caused Canadian patentees by this proviso, which in 1898 was struck out of the United States statutes. It is felt that a patentee in Canada who tries to protect his invention in foreign countries should not be placed in a worse position than the patentee who leaves his invention absolutely open to the inhabitants of foreign countries and contents himself with only a Canadian patent.

A very radical departure is suggested in regard to patent fees.

Fees are now payable in three instalments of $20 each, $20 payable on filing the application, $20 before the expiration of the first six years of the life of the patent and $20 before the end of 12 years. This arrangement is troublesome to all parties and many have lost their patents through carelessness or inadvertence in failing to pay their renewal fees. It is suggested that the filing fee be made $15, and that a further fee of $15 be made payable after the allowance of the application. The patent when issued is to remain in force for the full term of 18 years without requiring further attention from the patentee in regard to fees, but, subject, of course, to any other requirements of the Act.

The office revenue would not suffer by this, and Acts of Parliament (expensive and troublesome to obtain), would no longer be required to revive forfeited patents.

A complete change is suggested also in regard to the procedure relating to "Interferences," that is in those cases when two or more persons have applied for patents for substantially the same invention and which are pending in the office at the same time. At present the dispute may be settled either by arbitrators or by the Exchequer Court. Arbitration is expensive and uncertain, and it is suggested that interferences be settled by the Patent Office, primarily by an official to be known as the Examiner of Interferences, and, if an appeal is desired, by a Board of Appeal.

This Board of Appeal is to be composed of the Deputy Commissioner and two examiners, and its formation was considered desirable, primarily, as providing a court of appeal from the decision of a primary examiner who may have rejected any or all of the claims of a pending application; the extension of its powers to interference cases naturally followed.

In interference proceedings the commissioner has full power to make all necessary rules and regulations, but the United States rules of procedure are recommended as a guide.

Section 37 on manufacture and importation was left alone, but the secretary is desired to find out, either from Ottawa or England, what is the cause of the delay in Canada becoming a member of the Berne Convention as to industrial property. If the delay is caused by the necessity of changing this section, the committee recommend that circulars should be prepared setting forth any arguments that may be advanced both for and against the changes, and asking the opinion of the members whether, in view of such required changes, Canada should become a member of the Convention.

An important discussion arose over sections 25 and 26, relating to joint ownership of patents. As these sections now stand no intimation is given that an assignee of any undivided interest in a patent, no matter how small, is entitled to work the invention independently of the other owners and to pocket all the proceeds, unless a special agreement to the contrary is entered into. It is suggested that a clause be added to section 26 notifying the public that an assignment of an interest in a patent creates a tenancy-in-common between the joint owners, so that assignors will be warned to have special agreements prepared, when assigning, defining the rights of the joint owners.

It is also deemed advisable that a clause should be added to section 26 providing that assignments must be registered within three months of their date of execution.

In section 39 it is advised that the item relating to reissue fees be changed to read, "On every application for reissue of a patent after surrender the fee shall be $20."

Owing to the loose wording of the present item it has been the practice to charge $4 per year for every unexpired year of the 18-year term, making $72 if a patent were reissued during the first year of its life.

In section 55 a change was made making it an offence to advertise articles as patented which were not so patented, as some manufacturers have sustained injury to their trade by this particular deception.

The words "for the purpose of deceiving the public" were dropped, as it is deemed the act of falsely marking goods as patented should be sufficient proof of wrong intent.

A number of other changes were suggested, but the above are the most important, and for further detailed information the annexed schedule, showing the Act as it stands, and also as we have amended it, or have suggested it should be amended, may be consulted :

Section 5, to read : " There shall be a Deputy Commissioner of Patents, and the Governor-in-Council may, from time to time, appoint such officers and clerks under the Deputy Commissioner as are necessary for the purpose of this Act, and such officers and clerks shall hold office during pleasure."

Section 7, to read : " Any person who has invented any new and useful art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement in any art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement in any art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, which was not used or described in any printed publication, in Canada, by any other person before his invention thereof, and which has not been in public use or on sale, in Canada, with the consent or allowance of the inventor thereof for more than one year previous to his application for patent thereof in Canada, may, on a petition to that effect presented to the commissioner, and on compliance with the other regulations of this Act, obtain a patent granting to such person the exclusive property in such invention."

Section 8.—In line 1: Change " person " for " inventor " ; in line 2, " any other " for " a foreign " ; in line 7, strike out " foreign," and add after " patent " the words " in any other country."

The committee approves of the amendment of this section adopted during the recent session of Parliament, dropping the last clause of the section which reads " and under any circumstances if a foreign patent exists the Canadian patent shall expire at the earliest date on which any foreign patent for the same invention expires."

Section 16.—The first clause to read : " The commissioner on the recommendation of an examiner shall object to grant a petition in any of the following cases."

Section 16 : " Recommendation is made that an additional clause be added to this section provided that the action of the commissioner in granting or refusing a patent shall be subject to revision by any court of competent jurisdiction."

Section 16, part c, to read : " When it appears to him that the invention has already been patented in Canada or elsewhere to another person, unless the commissioner has doubts as to whether the patentee or the applicant is the first inventor."

Section 19 : This whole clause should be struck out, the policy of appointment of arbitrators being condemned.

In its place substitute : " In case of conflicting applications for any patent, the matter shall be referred for decision to a skilled person in the employ of the Patent Office, to be known as the ' Examiner of Interferences.' "

2. " The Examiner of Interferences shall be appointed by the commissioner to hold office during his pleasure."

3. " An appeal may be taken from the decision of the Examiner of Interferences to the Board of Appeal, provided same be entered within six months from the date of the decision of the Examiner of Interferences."

4. " The commissioner may, from time to time, frame such rules as he may deem necessary to govern the procedure before the Examiner of Interferences, the taking of the necessary evidence and the procedure of appeal."

It is deemed desirable that the rules of the United States Patent Office relating to interferences be followed in the main, particularly as to the filing of the preliminary statements of the opposing parties.

Section 22, clause 1 : Strike out all the words after " 18 years " in line 2, beginning " but at the time of the application." The clause is to read : " The term limit for the duration of every patent of invention issued by the Patent Office shall be 18 years."

Section 22 : Clause 2 to be struck out.

Section 22 : Clause 3 to be struck out.

In section 23 : " Whenever any patent is deemed defective or inoperative by reason of insufficient description or specification, or by reason of the patentee claiming more or less than he had a right to claim as new, etc."

Section 23 : That a clause be added to this section, providing that the date for application of reissue of a patent shall be limited to two years.

Section 24, clause 4, to read : " In case of death of the original patentee, or of his having assigned the patent, a like right shall vest in his legal representatives or assigns, any of whom may make disclaimer."

Section 26 : Recommend that the words " and such an assignment shall create a tenancy-in-common between the joint owners of the patent unless a special agreement to the contrary is entered into between the parties " be added after " in writing " in the third line.

Section 26—line 3 : " Any instrument " should be " an instrument." Further, an addition should be made to this section providing that an assignment must be recorded within three months after the date of the execution of the assignment.

Section 29 : Add in line 2, after the word " patentee," " or his legal representatives," so that it would read, " Every person who, without the consent in writing of the patentee or his legal representatives, makes, constructs, etc."

Section 37 : In connection with this section, recommendation is made that the secretary ascertain from the Department in Canada, or, if necessary, in England, what changes in the present Patent Act are necessary if Canada is to become signatory to the Berne Convention ; and then a circular letter should be prepared setting forth briefly both sides of the question, and this should be sent to all members of the association to ascertain their views as to whether Canada should adopt these changes, and become a party to this convention or not ; and, also, that we ask the Department not to make any changes in the Patent Act which may be necessary for adherence to the Berne Convention until the views of the manufacturers on the changes proposed can be ascertained.

Section 39—Item 1, to read as follows : " The full fee for a patent of 18 years shall be $30, $15 of which shall be payable on the filing of the application, and the remaining $15 within six months after the allowance of the patent."

Strike out the next four items of this section, and amend item No. 11 of this section to read : " On every application for reissue of a patent after surrender the fee shall be $20."

Section 43 : Strike out all after the word " Act " in line 3, so that the section will read, " No person shall be exempt from the payment of any fee or charge payable in respect of any services performed for such person under this Act."

Section 46, to read : " Every person, who, before the issue of a patent has purchased, constructed or acquired with the consent or allowance of the inventor any invention for which a patent is afterwards obtained under this Act, etc."

Section 47, to read : " All specifications, draughts, models, disclaimers, judgments, and other papers except caveats and pending applications for patents shall be open to the inspection of the public at the Patent Office under such regulations as are adopted in that behalf."

Section 55—line 17 : Drop the words " For the purpose of deceiving the public," so that this clause will read : " Who advertises or offers for sale as patented any article not patented in Canada is guilty of a misdemeanor."

The following to be added as a section to the Patent Act : " Every applicant for a patent or for the reissue of a patent, any of the claims of which have been finally rejected by the examiner in charge of the application, may, within six months after the date of such rejection, appeal from the decision to a board of appeal composed of the Deputy Commissioner of Patents and two examiners in the employ of the Patent Office to be appointed by him, neither of whom shall be the examiner whose decision is appealed from."

Our recommendations re the amendment of the Act were not taken up by the Minister of Agriculture last year, the reason being given that with the entrance of Canada into the Berne Convention, certain changes might possibly have to be provided for, and that in the meantime the Patent Act should remain as it stood until revision could take place bringing it thoroughly up to date.

TRADE MARKS.

Trade Mark Fees :—Recommendation was also made to the Minister of Agriculture that the present trade mark fees be reduced from $35 for general trade marks, and $25 for specific trade marks, to $7.50 and $5 respectively.

With this was also a couple of recommendations that means be devised to protect illustrations, labels, and novel advertising matter at a slight cost.

The committee also recommend the substitution of the words " Copyright in Canada," in place of the lengthy notification now required, as the long form now in use often considerably mars the appearance of articles which it is intended to protect.

INSOLVENCY LEGISLATION.

At the annual meeting a year ago a strong resolution was adopted placing on record the opinion of the members present there, that we should have a uniform Insolvency Act for the Dominion of Canada. During the year a special sub-committee was appointed to deal with this question and to investigate the special conditions surrounding same. In doing so, the sub-committee reported that they had discovered difficulties in the way of putting into force a Dominion Insolvency Act, that had not been formerly anticipated, from different conditions in different parts of the Dominion.

After consideration of these, however, your committee desires to place on record our thorough appreciation of the advantages to be derived from the securing of a uniform Insolvency Act for Canada. We believe, however, that it is only possible to secure this by the cooperation of the Government in power, through their taking it up as a Government measure. We would urge, therefore, that our Parliamentary Committee for the coming year endeavor to have the Dominion Government bring in a measure to provide for an Act on the lines suggested.

COMPANY LEGISLATION.

Over a year ago at the time when our association was being reorganized, attention was drawn to an Act introduced in the Ontario Legislature to charge a license on all extra Provincial companies doing business in the Province. At that time attention was given by your committee, who understood that it was only intended to apply to underground insurance companies.

The measure was hastily passed through Legislature, and since that time our manufacturers in every Province have found that it applied to many classes of firms and corporations not previously expected.

The Act has become law, and the time for its disallowance by the Dominion Government has passed. The question again comes up in the form of a Bill respecting outside companies of the Legislature of the Northwest Territories. By this Act, the company has to pay a license fee of $150 in order to do business in that territory.

This Act has come into force, and can only be affected now by a disallowance of the Dominion Government. It is for you, as manufacturers, to consider whether or not we should take any steps to endeavor to do away with such legislation, and to prevent its enactment in the future. It simply means that the obtaining of a charter to do business in any one Province, or, in fact, in the Dominion itself, no longer carries with it any guarantee as to what rights are actually involved even in the Dominion of Canada.

LEGISLATIVE MEASURES IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO.

ASSESSMENT COMMISSION

The most important matter receiving the attention of your committee in Ontario legislative measures was the assessment commission appointed to ascertain the views of different bodies as to the most equitable form of assessment.

Your committee after properly formulating its views on the question, corresponded with every member in the Province of Ontario, asking their opinion on the matters under discussion. The result was an expression of opinion from practically all our Ontario members to strengthen our hands in going before the commission.

Acting on the information obtained in this way the committee conferred with the association's solicitor, and prepared a report, which was presented to the commission. Several of our most representative manufacturers were present, and our memorandum was submitted. It has already been printed in Industrial Canada, and is therefore in the hands of our members.

Briefly, the two points strongly urged were, first, that the present system of assessment on personalty was unfair and unjust, and should be abolished; and, second, that if some tax is required to replace it, a business tax based on rental values as determined by assessment would be the most preferable.

We understand that the assessment commission is reporting favorably on the recommendations of The Manufacturers' Association.

FACTORY ACT.

A Bill was introduced to amend the Ontario Factories Act, by requiring the use of the natural drop fire escape. This was successfully opposed.

Another Bill, introduced by Mr. Carpenter, to provide for the use of some special form of fire escape, was also opposed successfully, the committee taking the stand that no one form of fire escape should be required, as conditions vary with different factories.

The Bill introduced by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, to amend the Factories Act, with reference to fire escapes, was discussed, and on advice of your committee an amendment was added, whereby any device for a fire escape might be made satisfactory by order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

The Bill to provide for boiler inspection, introduced by Mr. Carscallen, was considered to be onerous in its working out and was opposed. The Bill was withdrawn.

The Ontario Mining Act.—Your committee was also asked to support the request of certain mining interests of the Province of Ontario, asking for a disallowance of the Ontario Mining Act. We believed, however, that we had not sufficient information on the subject, and decided to take no action in the matter.

In conclusion, your committee would strongly recommend that you consider carefully the four questions we have suggested for your consideration—the incorporation of the association; amendments to the Patent Act, and the working of the Patent Office; the question of Insolvency Legislation, and lastly, the question of extra-Provincial company legislation.

INCORPORATION URGED.

Each of the four subjects recommended for action were discussed. The president explained that the time seemed to have arrived when the association should have a legal standing, and that it should apply for incorporation at the earliest possible date after considering carefully what matters the incorporation should cover. It was decided on the motion of Mr. W. K. McNaught, seconded by Mr. D. W. Karn, that the matter be referred to the Executive, with instruction to take the necessary steps for incorporation.

PATENTS.

Mr. Featherstonhaugh objected to the wording of the report in regard to patents. He thought that while the association should press home its recommendations, it should also give the Minister of Agriculture credit for the improvements he had made.

Mr. J. O. Thorn opposed any such change. He claimed that sufficient credit had been given. Beyond the appointment of more examiners nothing had been done at Ottawa. There was not enough money spent in the Department at Ottawa and the receipts were out of all proportion to the expenditure. It takes 10, 11 or 12 months to get a patent in this country; in the United States similar patents are granted in three months. Printings had not yet been decided upon. He again argued that the Government got all the credit it deserved and that there was plenty of room for improvements.

INSOLVENCY URGED

The question of insolvency legislation was discussed and it was decided that there was still need for a Federal law.

Mr. Robert Munro reminded the association that British Columbia had lately passed a very good Act and that Nova Scotia was considering the same. He thought that, perhaps, the necessity of a Dominion Act would not be needed if all the Provinces adopted suitable legislation.

Mr. J. R. Shaw said he did not think the question of insolvency legislation should be dropped, but that the association ought to pass such a strong resolution as would let the Government see that they would get no rest till an insolvency enactment was granted. He complained that the banks had too much influence on legislation. Mr. Shaw was advised to prepare a resolution and place it before the Resolution Committee.

EXTRA PROVINCIAL TAXATION.

The subject of incorporated companies being taxed when doing business outside of the Province in which their charters have been granted provoked a good deal of discussion. Mr. Russell impressed the seriousness of the matter upon the convention. Mr. Frost contended that the Northwest Territories did not have the power to pass such legislation as has just been enacted, even though Ontario, as a Province, had.

Mr. Robert Meighen contended the Territories were quite within their powers to pass such an Act but thought the association should advise the Territories that they were asking for too many secrets of the extra-Provincial companies about their balance sheets and by-laws.

Mr. Bertram, of Dundas, thought that a Dominion charter should cover all the Provinces.

Mr. F. Braidwood, Westmount, said that over-legislation was the curse of Canada, and the sooner something was done to check it the better, not only for manufacturers but the country at large. It was high time the whole question was taken up by that association.

Messrs. Frost and Meighen were appointed to draw up a resolution in reference to the matter, to be placed before the Resolution Committee; and on the motion of Mr. D. W. Karn, seconded by Mr. J. O. Thorn, the report was adopted.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION COMMITTEE.

Next came the report of the Industrial Exhibition Committee, which was read by Mr. W. K. McNaught:

Gentlemen:—Your representatives to the Toronto Industrial Exhibition have to report a considerable advance during the past year in so far as the interests of the manufacturers generally are concerned.

Owing to the action taken by this association last year, the number of our representatives to the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association was increased from five members to 12. Two of your representatives had the honor to be elected on the board of directors, and one of them to the office of 1st vice-president of the association.

As a consequence of this increased representation, the various manufacturing departments of the Exhibition were practically placed under the supervision and control of the members of this association, with the result that an increased interest was manifested by our manufacturers as evidenced by the largest and best exhibit of manufactured goods ever shown at any Canadian exhibition.

It may be of interest here to note the importance of showing machinery in motion and the processes of manufacture were practical. Several fine exhibits of this kind were made at the recent Exhibition, and in every case they proved to be a valuable advertisement for the manufacturer showing them.

Your representatives would recommend that special awards be given for this class of exhibits, and that attention be called to this in the official prize-list and through the press. A sub-committee has been appointed for the purpose of securing exhibits of this character.

Your representatives are sorry to have to report that the money asked last spring was not voted by the citizens of Toronto, and, as a consequence, the products of our workshops had again to be displayed in buildings entirely unsuited to the needs of exhibitors. Not only were they totally inadequate for the effective display of the exhibits, both as to size and arrangement, but the roofs of nearly all of them were so defective as to positively endanger the safety of many of the exhibits during the severe storms that occurred during the first week of the Exhibition.

The responsibility for this state of affairs rests entirely upon the City Council, which, under the terms of the agreement now in force with the Exhibition Company, are bound to maintain all the buildings in a proper state of repair, and to erect such new ones as may be necessary.

While our manufacturers did all they could to make a good showing of their products, even in spite of defective buildings and other drawbacks, in order to impress the many visitors—including those from the United States and other foreign countries—it can hardly be expected that they will again take the risk of placing valuable goods in buildings so unsafe and unsuitable for exhibition purposes.

Indeed, the consensus of opinion amongst the exhibitors of manufactured goods seemed to be that unless new and up-to-date buildings were at once erected to take the place of those that have done duty for the past 23 years, it would be utterly impossible to secure the attendance of many of our leading manufacturers who have hitherto stood by it, and done their best to make it a success. So far as the manufacturers are concerned the Toronto Industrial Exhibition is now at the parting of the ways, and if it is to continue the erection of new buildings is imperative.

Your representatives feel that they cannot bring this report to a close without congratulating the manufacturers of the Dominion in general, and the members of this association in particular, upon the very great advance which they have effected in the quality of design and finish of their products during the past decade, as evidenced at the Toronto Exhibition. In many lines, notably, carriages, pianos, stoves, machinery and furniture, the display was not only notable in variety and extent, but the quality would fairly challenge comparison with similar goods manufactured in any other country in the world. The bringing together of such goods from the various sections of our Dominion not only has a good effect upon the manufacturers themselves, by enabling them to compare their products with those of their chief competitors, but it does much to impress the public with the fact that Canadian manufactures are equal if not superior to similar goods from foreign countries. To visitors from other countries, these exhibitions offer an opportunity of seeing the resources of Canada in such a shape that they are enabled to carry away some idea of our capabilities. This has oftentimes been the means of opening up trade relations with this country in lines that had never been exported before.

Generally speaking, such exhibitions are valuable national educators and should be upheld and encouraged in every legitimate way by our manufacturers. In this connection your representatives recommend that it would be a step in the right direction if our association had representation in the Ottawa, London and Winnipeg industrial exhibitions and any others deemed of sufficient importance, as well as that at Toronto. Our association should be represented on those organizations by members living in the several cities, and we think it would benefit this association as well as the exhibitions named, if they were thus brought into closer touch with the Canadian manufacturers.

ALL-CANADIAN EXHIBITION.

This report brought home to manufacturers the utility of exhibitions. Mr. J. O. Thorn, said: "The time seems to me to have arrived when we should have an all-Canadian exhibition where we can show the people of this country what high-class goods are made in their own workshops. At present we are importing $110,000,000 worth of goods from the United States, much of which should be bought right here (applause). The people of this country do not know what fine goods and what a great variety of manufactures we make in this country. Let us show them in an all-Canadian exhibition."

SIDE-TRACKED AT PARIS.

Mr. Cockshutt (Brantford), spoke about Canadian exhibitions in foreign countries. He felt that there was much in this connection in which the association might interest itself. "At Paris, for instance, our firm was side-tracked, for we were put out eight miles from the Exhibition proper. Our goods were not properly advertised on this account. I feel that the manufacturers ought to be consulted when such things as division of space come up for decision and you might consider it advisable to appoint a committee to look after our representation at foreign exhibitions. At present some companies who do not try to export get the best places, while those that even go to the expense of sending a special representative are granted the poorest positions. That is my experience and it seems to me that the association ought to take some action in the matter."

SIDESHOWS.

Mr. R. Brown, Toronto, thought that too little attention was given to manufacturers at exhibitions, and too much to sideshows and such things.

Mr. Booth, of Toronto, did not agree with Mr. Brown. "The reason for the diminution in the display of manufactures is that the manufacturers have been too busy making money to make exhibitions. Even where space has been held at Toronto for certain manufacturers they have had to decline to take it at the last moment on account of press of business."

EXHIBITIONS AS EDUCATORS.

Speaking of the educative value of an exhibition, Mr. McNaught said: "I went through the Toronto Exhibition with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and he expressed great surprise at some of the domestic manufactures that he saw. He did not know that such fine goods were made in this country. If the Premier can learn so much from an exhibition, how much more can the rank and file of our population learn? I believe we had a finer exhibit of pianos and furniture at Toronto than they had at Buffalo." He also emphasized the importance of making displays and sending them around to the different shows at Toronto, Ottawa, London, Winnipeg, etc. "Let the men in the same line combine to do this."

EXHIBITIONS AND FURNITURE

Mr. Shaw said his company had made a $6,000 exhibit of furniture and it was sold six times over at Toronto this year. He believed that it is just as important to have a national exhibition as it is to have a national port. An all-Canadian exhibition would be productive of an immense amount of good to the manufacturers, and he called upon the different sections to drop petty jealousies and have one. "Why, the people of this country have no idea of what is manufactured within their own gates. We make mahogany furniture, yet the retailers have to say it is American Grand Rapids furniture to make it sell. We ought to show our people how excellent domestic goods are, and they can be informed in no better way than by an exhibition that will educate them through the eye."

It was also suggested that the manufacturing section of an exhibition ought to receive as many prizes as the agricultural section.

CANADIAN GOODS AT GLASGOW.

Mr. Cummings, lately returned from South Africa, said: "If the gentleman who sent $6,000 worth of furniture to Toronto made $30,000 on the Exhibition, the same display at Glasgow ought to have been worth millions to him. The Canadian agricultural display at Glasgow was first-class, but our manufactures deserved a better exhibit. See that a first-class representation is made at Wolverhampton next year, and I can assure you great results."

The programme of the evening session drew a large gathering, addresses being announced by P. W. Ellis, Jas. Cummings, the Canadian Commissioner to South Africa; Mr. Wm. Whyte, lately returned from Siberia, and C. J. Alexander, a Scotchman, who views Canadian manufactures from a cosmopolitan standpoint. The latter gentleman is a Scotch freetrader by birth, an American protectionist by conviction. The first announcement was a disappointment: Mr. Moxham found it impossible to come.

After the secretary had read letters from Canadian agents at different points, including Mr. Thomas Moffatt, at Cape Town; the Canadian agent at Brussels, Belgium; L. L. Horsford, St. Kitt's, West Indies, Port of Spain, Trinidad and Kingston, Jamaica, Mr. Ellis began his annual address amid loud cheers. He spoke as follows:

PRESIDENT ELLIS' ADDRESS.

In response to the kind invitation of our Montreal members we are assembled here to report respecting the work of the past year, and to formulate the policy for the year we are now entering upon.

The annual meetings of the Association have formerly been held in Toronto, where its officers are located; however, it has been deemed desirable that those important conferences should now be held in different industrial centres, and it is most appropriate that this change of policy should begin with Montreal, for not only is Montreal the most populous city in our Dominion, but also our most important financial and industrial centre. It is the home of many of our largest and most representative manufacturing establishments, and the head of ocean navigation in the east. All Canadians take a pardonable pride in this city, around which cluster so many important events of our early Canadian history.

HISTORICAL PERIOD.

Since we last had the pleasure of meeting in annual session in the city of Toronto, many momentous events have taken place.

The past fifteen months have been especially eventful ones in the history of the world, and of the British Empire, notably: passing the threshold into the twentieth century; the death of our beloved Mother Queen, which has brought the Empire into a closer touch by a greater bond of common sympathy; the accession of a king to the throne of the British Empire, a king of whom we may feel justly proud, for Edward VII. is aptly described as the most popular man in Great Britain to-day; the Boer War, a fight for British liberty, in which the sons of Canada and other parts of the Empire have taken such a creditable part, showing forth better than words their loyal attachment to the British throne; the confederation of Australian Provinces somewhat on the model of our Dominion; the occupation of China by allied troops representing seven different nations, the first occasion that the United States has been represented with European troops to settle an Eastern question; the most important financial and industrial event of the world's history, viz., the formation of the giant Steel Combine in the United States, which in its scope and vast capitalization has been fitly characterized as a challenge to the rest of the world; the tragic and deplorable death of one of the greatest of that country's presidents, President McKinley; the memorable visit to Canada of the Heir Apparent and his popular Consort, their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

But I must not continue to discuss any one of these features that have so marked the political, social and commercial progress during the past year, but must rather devote myself to those matters on which, as President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, I have had exceptional opportunity of receiving information first hand, and I consequently turn to say a few words on the industrial and manufacturing progress of our Dominion.

In so doing, I feel that if there is one doctrine that we should emphasize at our annual gathering, it is the absolute oneness of the interests of all the great producing classes of this country.

We have heard of the evils of stirring up Provincial, racial and other divisions, but is it not even more disastrous to stir up divisions on industrial lines? Can the Canadian farmer be prosperous when the mines are closed, when the fish catch is small, or when the factories are idle? Or, again, who feels the loss of a crop in Manitoba more quickly or more keenly than the manufacturer who has made goods for that market, the half of which he cannot dispose of, and on the other half of which he is unable to realize satisfactory payment? Thus, while there may have been times when certain persons have tried to stir up feeling between the different producing classes of Canada, let us hope that in the light of the past and present experience such policy is forever dead, and it devolves upon this Association, as an integral part of the great producing army of Canada, to assist in the education of the Canadian people as to the intimate relation that exists between the welfare of the farming, mining, fishing and manufacturing classes. We must seek by every possible means to obtain from the Canadian people, on whom our industries depend for their support, an intelligent interest in the great factories that employ our workpeople and populate our towns and cities.

How often do we hear that our manufactures are insignificant as compared with the other great industries of this country? How often do we hear that our exports of manufactured goods amount to only $16,000,000, a paltry 10 per cent. of the exports of the country? How often are we told that our exports require more assistance than those of any other class, and yet are the least important? But I have to-night a new phase of this question to present, when I emphasize the fact that our exports of manufactured goods comprise not merely 10 per cent., but approximately 40 per cent. of the total exports of our country.

We have here an Association, to the membership of which there have been admitted those firms believed to be bona-fide Canadian manufacturing establishments, and I take the export of articles that are made by members of this Association. Thus, are not asbestos, mica and salt manufactured articles? Is not our canned fish a manufactured product? Is not our timber, when sawn into deals, laths, planks, scantlings, box-shooks, barrel staves, etc., an item in the list of manufactured goods?—at least, large factories employing many men, using millions of dollars of machinery, and paying large sums for factory insurance, are involved. Are not our canned meats, bacon, ham, etc., manufactured goods? If not factories what are we to call establishments like that of the Laing Packing and Provision Company, of this city? Are not our flour, oatmeal, etc., manufactured products? If not, how would you class an establishment like The Ogilvie Milling Company, also of this city? Hence, I go through the list of exports, keeping always in mind the difficulty of drawing a hard and fast line between the manufactured article and the raw material. I have not included the output of the mine, when shipped in its crude state, nor of the forest when shipped as logs, poles, etc., nor of our fisheries when exported without further labor than the catching; nor even such products of the farm as butter and cheese, which may, in the broad sense, be regarded as manufactured articles, and are often made in large factories. In short, I include only those articles made in what we commonly regard as factories, using machinery and motive power.

I have no need to stretch the meaning of the term "manufacture," and yet I find that out of a total export of $177,241,115 of all classes of goods last year, the exports of manufactured goods amounted to $67,894,928, or 38.3 per cent. of the whole. Is not this significant? I will endeavor to show now what it means.

By the census of 1901, it is shown that 370,256 hands were employed to produce $476,258,886 worth of manufactured products; that is, one person for every $1,286 worth of goods produced. If this same proportion holds to-day, we have 52,874 people in Canadian factories producing manufactured goods for foreign countries. If, then, as is generally supposed, one person in employment supports four others, we have 211,496 people supported in Canada by our export manufacturers alone. But we always recognize that our export manufacturers are only a small proportion of our total production. What this is will be shown by our census, the returns of which are now in process of preparation. To-night I can only approximate it.

Our export trade in manufactures has increased since 1891 by 106 per cent. If our home production had only increased half this amount then our total output would now be $730,000,000. This illustrates to what a large extent Canadian manufacturers have taken possession of the home market. We may emphasize this condition still further by our knowledge of the imports into South Africa prior to the outbreak of the present war. The imports there to supply some 800,000 whites and 3,000,000 Kaffirs were as large as the imports into Canada to supply the numerous wants of over 5,000,000 highly civilized and prosperous inhabitants. What, then, does it represent if our output of manufactured goods last year amounted to $730,000,000? It means the employment of approximately 575,000, and the support of 2,300,000 people.

Gentlemen, these figures amaze us, and we can only await the announcement of the census returns to verify their correctness. From them it is seen that approximately two-fifths of the people of Canada are supported by our manufacturing industries. What this means, as compared with the export only of raw products, may be gained by a glance at our last census.

The value of the raw materials used by our manufacturers was approximately $256,000,000, the value of the finished product, $476,000,000. In other words, the industries of the country were responsible for retaining $220,000,000 of money within our own borders. Taking the figures of growth that we have already referred to, this would mean for the year in which we have already entered, that the manufacturing industries of Canada have been a net source of wealth to the country of approximately $400,000,000.

IMMIGRATION.

And at this stage I wish to point to a feature connected with the immigration policy of our Government.

The Dominion Government, as well as the various Provincial Administrations, have been giving attention to the possibility of increasing the flow of immigration to our country, and rightly so. But, in so doing, they have pointed out only the value of Canada as an agricultural country, and the expressed opinion of some of the most prominent visitors from Great Britain to Canada during this year has been that we can never expect any great flow of immigration to a country that is represented as purely agricultural. If we ever expect to direct a steady stream of population to Canada from the crowded industrial centres of Great Britain and the Continent of Europe, we must point out that there are wide and varied occupations in which they may find employment, that our industries and our commerce, our mining and fishing also offer varied inducements for varied talents. But I must not dwell longer on this subject.

IMPORTANCE OF MANUFACTURING.

What I have endeavored to emphasize is that the manufacturer in Canada is not a monopolist, robbing the classes whom he employs, or those to whom he sells, but in the great fabric of national greatness that we are weaving, he constitutes a part so important that no one, save the most earnest student of Canadian statistics, can well estimate. In my mind we have a right to expect that our public men, our statesmen, and our press will so far forget party strife in matters that vitally affect the industrial progress of our country, that they will endeavor at all times to support any policy that tends to our commercial advancement.

This may be done in various ways. First, privately, by patronizing, so far as possible, home industries. By this I do not mean any narrow policy of buying only what we make, but the cultivation of national pride and confidence in our own products, and a willingness, other things being equal, to purchase that which is made in our own factories and by our own workpeople. Dictates of self-interest alone should justify this partiality.

ASSISTANCE OF MUNICIPALITIES.

The other method is by the aid of public policy. This is done in two ways. First, by bonus industries by municipalities and towns, and, second, by tariff legislation. I think that there is no more striking testimony to the recognized value of manufacturing establishments to a country than the willingness that appears in almost every town and city in our Dominion to assist by bonuses or the granting of special privileges, the establishment of some industry that will employ workpeople and provide good substantial pay-rolls. In this we cannot too strongly condemn the foolish rivalry of certain towns which prompts them to outbid each other for the establishment of an industry already located in another town. Benefit secured in this is almost always overbalanced by the injury wrought. The policy of creating local well-being at the expense of one's own neighbors is strongly to be deprecated.

TARIFF LEGISLATION.

Still another method of encouraging the development of our industries is the undertaking of it, not as a local question, but as a Dominion and national one through tariff legislation. On this great question I do not propose to say much. I believe that all the thinking people of Canada, the men who have her national progress at heart, breathe easier to-day when the tariff question is not a main feature of party politics. I believe that I voice the sentiments of the Canadian people in saying that in matters that are so sensitive and so nicely balanced as trade, where so much depends on mutual confidence and good faith, the less that trade questions become the dividing line in party politics the better for our country. Were it not that as a people we are jealous of seeing governmental rights transferred from us, we would gladly place such questions in the hands of a strong and impartial commission for administration.

We have to-day what may, I think, be fairly called a moderate tariff, one to which no section of the community with the well-being of the whole at heart, can take exception, for all must admit that in a new country capital will not invest itself in manufacturing unless it has some assurance that it will not be swamped by the manufactured goods of older countries who produce for a larger market. The situation of Canada is striking in this respect, on account of its geographical position, so contiguous to the great manufacturing Republic to the south of us. Under a practically prohibitive tariff, the manufacturing establishments there have reached a stupendous magnitude. We are so close to them that many of their centres are nearer to consuming points in Canada than our own industrial cities of Montreal and Toronto. Our styles in all lines are identical with theirs, and our market is suitable in every respect for any of their surplus production. These, and other conditions, generally make me feel positive in the statement that even the most ardent free trader must feel that we have now moved just as far in the direction of free trade as is possible until the growth of our population provides a home market sufficient to develop our industries to a competitive level.

RECIPROCITY.

This brings me to the much-talked-of question of reciprocity—I mean much talked of in the United States, for I think that the cry fails to find a responsive chord in Canada at the present time. Without endeavoring to stir up the question, I believe the feeling in Canada to-day to be that, if we begin to talk reciprocity, the United States will reciprocity us out of business. Why this feeling? It is because the people of Canada feel that any substantial advantage to them would be contested, while every effort would be directed towards securing a freer access to our market. The people of Canada are not ignorant, they read and study. They see that our imports last year from the United States were $119,306,000, while the exports to them of our products, not including precious metals, were less than $44,000,000. While the United States has large cities that should be a market for our farm produce we find that we imported more than twice as much of their farm produce as they did of ours. Is this satisfactory? No, and gentlemen, I am much mistaken if there is not in Canada to-day a strong feeling in favor of terminating this most unsatisfactory arrangement whereby their goods have an easy access to our market, and ours are practically excluded from theirs. What seems to be the only way open is the adoption of a different kind of reciprocity than that proposed by our friends to the south, viz., a reciprocity tariff, placing ours on a level with theirs. Our farmers see that we purchase some $60,000,000 of manufactured goods, two-thirds of which could be made in Canada. While this vast volume of the product of United States labor is purchased by us, the producer of food in Canada is practically prohibited from selling food products to the United States laborers who make the goods that he purchases. Some are not slow to reason that, were these goods made in Canada our farmers would be called on to supply every kind of food product required for a new Canadian city not less in size and numbers than the present city of Toronto.

The manufacturers do not seek to foment trouble, but I am confident that before we can ever hope to gain from the United States any favorable access to their market, we must first assume, not a defiant or hostile attitude, but a determined, manly, national spirit, and show to them that we propose to guard our own interests first, last and always. This makes me feel that before any reciprocal arrangement is possible, we must adopt a scale of duties against their goods that will have the same effect as theirs has at present on ours, and by this means alone I think it possible to have the United States extend to us the reciprocal arrangement that will give us the benefit our people desire.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

But I must turn now to a country with which our trade relations are more pleasant, Great Britain. The original preferential tariff, subsequently increased to 33½ per cent., was a change in our fiscal policy which was much more likely to affect our manufacturers than any one class, and that they accepted the same without any determined protest speaks volumes for their loyalty and attachment to the British Crown. They understood it as a move intended to improve the feeling of the British people towards Canada, a feeling which it was hoped would show itself in larger purchases of our great output of farm products. While many manufacturers felt strongly that sentiment of this kind influenced business only to a slight extent, and while they pointed to the fact that Great Britain never entertained more friendly feelings to the United States than now, when her tariff is as nearly prohibitive as it is possible to make it, still they made no protest, feeling that if this policy assisted in developing a market for our farmers, and at the same time became the means of eventually obtaining some substantial advantage in the markets of the sister colonies and Great Britain, we would have little to regret. At the same time I am sure it is the opinion of Canadian manufacturers that the duty of the Government is to legislate, first for Canada, and for Great Britain afterwards; in other words, that the preference should give the British manufacturer a substantial advantage over his foreign competitor, but not over the Canadian, and, that when any Canadian industry has suffered, attention should be given promptly and fairly. This is only just to the men who have invested their capital in such particular industries. And I am one of those who believe that we render the greatest service to the Empire to which we belong when we take measures to develop our own strength and resources rather than handicap any section of our own people to give a trade advantage to any section of the British trading community. We strongly commend the policy of stability in tariff legislation, but, at the same time, feel that from time to time attention should be given in a thorough way to this question in order that measures may be taken to meet any new difficulties that may have resulted from changing conditions.

In concluding this reference to tariff matters, it is well to refer to the strong feeling that I believe prevails among the manufacturers of Canada in favor of obtaining, if possible, some reciprocal trade arrangement between our country and the other sister colonies, as well as Great Britain herself. While we recognize the difficulty attending the bringing about of such an important matter, and the diplomatic rules that have to be observed, we would strongly urge our Government to keep this matter ever in mind, and to take every fair opportunity to press forward towards its accomplishment.

GENERAL TRADE CONDITIONS.

As President of this important Association, it is a pleasure to note the gratifying increase in the exports from our country. Last year our total exports amounted to $177,241,115, the highest ever reached at any time in the history of Canada. Our exports for the three months of July, August and September, just closed, amounted to $50,134,195 and from these I am pleased to note a satisfactory increase in the export of manufactured goods above those of the corresponding period of last year. This growing export trade strongly confirms me in the view that the unprecedented activity in all lines of manufacture and business generally has been sound and healthy and that so far we have no reason to anticipate any speedy relapse or depression. Our bank returns also indicate the same feature. In the month of September, just closed, for which the banking returns have been issued, we show several new records in banking statistics for Canada. In that month the total net circulation amounted to $56,000,000, which is within $11,000,000 of the total circulating power of our Canadian Banks.

ADDITION OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

As manufacturers, too, we have noted with considerable satisfaction the renewed interest in the question of confederating Newfoundland with the Dominion of Canada. While many of us are not in a position to go into all the political aspects of this question, we would, as producers, gladly hail the incorporation of the Island of Newfoundland as a part of the Dominion bringing it under our tariff laws, and opening to us a market which is at present very largely supplied by the United States.

The Association's influence has been largely instrumental in creating a greater interest in industrial life in our universities.

It is technical and commercial education which has placed Germany in the position of a dangerous rival to Great Britain, and there is need for energetic action to face the keen and growing competition of industrial countries, such as Germany and the United States, countries which have given attention to practical, as well as theoretical education.

One proof that our people are eager for a more scientific knowledge of their special trades is that there are 25,000 Canadians receiving instruction by mail through the United States National Correspondence Schools. This indicates that our artisans feel the need of a more practical education.

Capable, well-trained men are as important in business as in professional life. The great majority of students in the past have gone into the so-called learned professions, but, if I can read the tendency of the times aright, a much greater proportion will enter commercial life in the future. Why should not the student, if he chooses, instead of confining himself to theories and economic conditions of days long past, devote himself to the study and solving of the great vital problems of our own time and country? Modern conditions are such that men must be trained to handle large matters, and select the rank and file to attend to smaller details. They must be able to organize, arrange the division of labor, grasp and understand opportunities, and nowhere should the liberal and broadening tendencies of our industrial life be better assisted than in the colleges of our Dominion.

The field of industry will never be fully occupied, but will always offer rewards to the right kind of ability.

It is true our country presents great natural advantages, but, without the inventive skill and its intelligent application, backed up by enterprise and energy, we shall fall in the scale of nations, for the survival of the fittest is a law which never changes.

SKILLED ACCOUNTING.

I wish to emphasize the importance to our manufacturers of having skilled accountants. In our offices we are accustomed to obtain the best help available to keep our accounts, regulate our credits, and attend to our banking: though often—too often—this help is not as skilled and as highly trained as it should be: but, in the factory, where we deal with materials, time, machinery, waste and wear and tear, all representing money, the same regard for skilled help as a rule is not observed, and indeed the services of skilled accountants, capable of following all these items accurately, and of formulating reliable cost accounts, are difficult to obtain. In these days of keen competition it is highly important that the manufacturer should know, to the fraction of a cent, the cost of his goods.

TRADE AND NAVIGATION RETURNS.

At the same time we have given close attention to the securing of reliable information for our members upon the progress of trade in which they are interested. Through representations made to the Government by our Association, it was decided to issue a monthly trade and navigation report, classifying the exports and imports under some 1,400 headings. These reports are issued shortly after the close of each month, and are a credit to the Department of Customs by whom they are issued. I commend this blue book to the study of every member, in order that he may inform himself properly as to what extent his foreign competitors are taking possession of the Canadian market, and at the same time I desire to praise the Government for their prompt action in this matter.

We also hope, in the offices of our own Association, to give special care to the working out of such statistical information as may be of practical advantage to our members.

CHEMICAL INDUSTRY.

In the same line I would point to the success that has recently attended our efforts in the formation of a Canadian section of the Society of Chemical Industry. This important society, with headquarters in Great Britain, publishes a journal full of most valuable information for every class of manufacture into which industrial chemistry enters. The formation of a Canadian section, whose membership is composed both of practical manufacturers and of the teaching chemists of our country, will afford many opportunities of discussing questions that should greatly affect the cost of production in many important lines of Canadian goods, and the utilization of various classes of waste material.

LABOR QUESTION.

Another important topic on which I might be expected to say a few words is the relation of our Association and our members to the Labor Question and the Labor Unions of Canada. At the outset let me say that our Association has never had any connection with labor questions as such, that we have no organization for industrial warfare, and that in the past our relations with labor organizations have been most cordial. We must deplore, however, the occasional strikes that have occurred during the past year, and we believe it to be important that all possible provisions should be made to prevent these ruinous contests, which injure employers and employees and entail heavy loss on the general public as well. The practical question of improving this situation is a most difficult one. We hear much to-day of compulsory arbitration and its operations in New Zealand. While this matter has never been discussed at any of our meetings, I am sure that the members of our Association would view with alarm any hasty experimental legislation along these lines. The great difficulty attending the securing of impartial arbitrators, who are also competent to judge of the merits of questions at issue, and the still more serious difficulty of enforcing decisions in a country like Canada, so contiguous to the manufacturing republic to the South, should cause hesitation. There are very conflicting opinions expressed as to the working of this system in New Zealand, and it is well to note that even a successful operation in that country would not guarantee any success here. New Zealand is a country at least a week's sail from any neighbor. It is entirely self-contained, and its problems are mixed up in no way with any other country. Here in Canada, however, the case is entirely different. We are so close to the United States, and our questions are so interwoven with theirs, that the adoption of any similar policy here might have serious effects. I feel, therefore, that it would be little short of an industrial misfortune if any aggressive legislative policy were adopted by our Government, while the success would be, to say the least, highly speculative.

There are one or two features in connection with Trade Unionism, however, that we must deplore to-day. One is the policy of some international trade unions, which have declared industrial strife in Canada at the incentive of organizations whose headquarters are situated in the United States, and whose interests are entirely opposed to the furtherance of the industrial progress of Canada. The other is the growing tendency of certain unions to claim privileges relating to the government of businesses which practically mean the handing over of the management of those who have the responsibility to those who have not. It will ever be the aim of this Association to assist in the promotion of the very best feeling between master and man, and to encourage among our members, as much as possible, a policy of liberal treatment of their work-people, but the labor question is at present no part of our work. Should any occasion arise, however, that might check Canadian industrial development we could not stand aloof.

TRANSPORTATION.

But to turn to a new subject. There is no matter of more vital interest to our manufacturers to-day than the question of transportation, and we commend to the earnest attention of the Government the careful consideration of the best means of extending our transportation facilities. As yet only a very slight proportion of the produce of the farm, the forest, the mine, and the factory find their way to consuming markets abroad through Canadian channels. We commend to the attention of the Government the encouragement of Canadian shipping from Canadian ports, and with it also the encouragement of Canadian shipbuilding. There is no industry that requires the product of so many different classes as shipbuilding, and any aggressive policy in this direction should commend itself at once to the attention of the whole Canadian people.

MEMBERSHIP AND INFLUENCE.

But I must now say a few words about the Association over which I have had the honor of presiding during the past year.

We started the past year with a membership of 342, and I am pleased to announce to-day that we enter the new year with a membership of over 825. This increasing membership is widening the influence of our Association, which is continuing to attract members by the vigorous and aggressive manner in which it applies itself to all matters affecting manufacturers. We may now fairly claim that we represent the widest expression of industrial public opinion.

The serious consideration that has been given to the suggestions of this Association by our legislators will give added strength and influence. Our increased membership supplies us with the funds necessary to continue the work with energy, to employ a competent staff, whose entire time is devoted to the interest of our members, and to provide roomy and well-equipped general offices. I must here testify from personal observation to the large amount of time devoted, and valuable work accomplished by the Executive and other committees of our Association, whose voluntary service speaks volumes for their public spirit, interest in and attachment to the Association. The reports of the various committees, which will be placed before you, will review at some length the work undertaken, and what has been accomplished.

GENERAL OBJECT OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The general object of the Association, first and foremost, is to serve our country faithfully and loyally, and, so far as is consistent with this, to help each other in the promotion of our manufacturing industries, and according to By-Laws 1 and 2:

1. To secure by all legitimate means the aid of both public opinion and Government policy in favor of home industries and the promotion of Canadian manufacturing enterprises.

2. To enable those engaged in all branches of Canadian manufacturing enterprises to act in concert, as a united body, whenever action in behalf of any particular industry or the whole body becomes necessary.

It is also our purpose to bring into harmony the views of our manufacturers from all parts of the Dominion. We must meet together in a spirit of mutual concession that we may aim in obtaining the objects of the Association with oneness of purpose. In all our transactions, we know no party; the Association is absolutely non-political and non-partisan, devoting all its energies to advancing the industrial interests of the Dominion.

ORGANIZATION.

Our Association is now thoroughly organized. We have the Central Executive Committee, on which are representatives of every section of the Dominion, and we have as well local and Provincial branches organized to take up questions of local and municipal interest. We also have various committees who give careful attention to the working out of those matters which relate to the important subjects allotted to them. The Association has nothing to do with prices or combinations to affect prices, but aims only at acting together to show the direction of Canadian industrial opinion, and to advance the manufacturing interests of our country.

PARLIAMENTARY COMMITTEE.

Our Parliamentary Committee also has important work before it. Our large financial, transportation and other cooperative interests are represented at Ottawa by able agents well qualified to place before our representatives the views of those important interests. The manufacturers of Canada should also be represented by one capable of imparting reliable information to the members of Parliament, that they may deal with questions affecting the industrial interests of Canada, and be fully acquainted with our side of the question, which has not been altogether the case heretofore.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE COMMITTEE.

Our Committee on Commercial Intelligence was organized for the purpose of investigating special questions relating to the interests of manufacturers, the development of our export trade, and other important matters.

EXPORT TRADE AND TRADE INDEX.

I would refer also to the important work undertaken by the Association in connection with export trade. Last year we issued The Canadian Trade Index, which is a classified directory of the membership of our Association, published in English, French and Spanish. 15,000 copies of this work have been distributed, advertising our members and their products to one another, and also to buyers outside of Canada. We cannot well conceive the vast amount of good this will do, for already hundreds of inquiries have poured into the office as a result, and many firms have reported new trade connections obtained through this medium.

We have appointed correspondents in various foreign countries to post us on trade conditions there. We have advertised in foreign journals that we will furnish any information with reference to Canadian trade, and every foreign mail brings inquiries for different classes of goods. These are at once communicated to our members by special bulletins, and afterwards published in Industrial Canada.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

At the office of the Association there is kept on file as complete lists of foreign tariffs, freight charges, etc., as possible, for the information of our members. We have obtained exhibits from some foreign countries showing the products that can be exported to Canada, and also the class of manufactured goods that they purchase. We have arranged to obtain reliable confidential reports on the standing of foreign firms at the minimum of cost. As a result of this work, I am able to report that over forty firms have arranged for the representation of goods outside of Canada through the direct efforts of the Association.

DEATH OF MEMBERS.

In closing, I must refer to the breaches that have been caused in our membership through death during the past year. These have been not a few, and we have from time to time chronicled the death of members in almost every Province of the Dominion. I note to-day the especially sad circumstances attending the death of one of our esteemed members, who was to have taken an active part in this annual meeting. I refer to Mr. Walter E. H. Massey, President of the Massey-Harris Company in Toronto, one of our best members, and Vice-Chairman of the Agricultural Implement Section of this Association. In Mr. Massey, Canada has lost one of the most enterprising of her sons.

Mr. Ellis sat down midst the prolonged cheers from the attentive audience.

In reply to a vote of thanks, Mr. Ellis said: "I wish every manufacturer in Canada would esteem it his highest ambition to be president of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and that he would get every brother manufacturer to become a member of the association. You have guarding your association sincere, thoughtful men; your money is well spent. I feel sure the interest we have in one another will bind all our hearts. This is the proudest day I have passed."

SOUTH-AFRICAN TRADE.

Mr. James Cummings then gave an address on the "South-African Trade." He had been sent out to see why Canadian trade was so slack in that country, and he spent four months looking over the field. After describing the topographical, zoological and other features of the country, he said that the white population did not work, and the dark did not want to work. For 20 years the loyal man's position there was bad. The Dutch sneered at him, and though he stood by his flag it will be long before South Africa becomes much from an agricultural standpoint. But it will be one of the greatest buying countries in the world, as there were between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000 souls, and the working classes were not to be depended upon. The work of the Canadian soldiers had paved the way for Canadian goods. After describing the four points in that country, the speaker referred to its products, which, he said, were principally ostrich feathers, wool, hair, and copper. Johannesburg will soon be a much larger city than Montreal, and will consume twice as much goods as that city. Canada will be able to send agricultural implements, carriages, boots and shoes, canned goods, bacon, and cheese. Now, these products went by way of New York and London. What was needed was a direct line from Canada there. There was also a big demand for Canadian lumber and furniture. Timber should be sent there in a finished condition. The speaker emphasized that goods should not be sent on "spec." or sent extravagantly. A dozen good live Canadians should be sent there, too, to push Canadian goods. Only finished goods should be sent. The speaker concluded by saying that he did not believe in reciprocity, which would only lead to the Canadians being hewers of wood and drawers of water for the Americans.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Cummings for his interesting address.

CHANCES IN ASIATIC RUSSIA.

Mr. William White, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who recently made a visit there in the interest of his company, followed. Mr. White's interesting and very specific paper formed part of the report which he made to the president of the road on his return. In Mr. White's absence the paper was read by Mr. T. A. Russell, the secretary of the association.

Mr. White's paper stated that the meat products are shipped to Western Russia, France and Germany. The stock consists chiefly of horses and cattle. Caravan routes run into all the stations on the railway from small settlements in the north and south. The whole of this western region, or rather the whole of Siberia, right through to Vladivostock, is watered by large rivers. The good lands will accommodate many millions of people yet to come.

TARIFF AGAINST UNITED STATES.

During Mr. White's visit a tariff war was on between the United States and Russia, and the trade done by the former in axes, electrical apparatus and other lines was diverted to England and other countries. Implements are admitted free. After the tariff war is over there will be a large increase in imports from the United States, chiefly of implements, portable engines, etc. The ordinary Russian tariff is a heavy one. The duties on woollen goods are absolutely prohibitory, while those on flour, cottons, sheet iron, glassware, woodenware, etc., are very high. The policy of Russia is to encourage home industry. At the same time when Eastern Siberia begins to be peopled and the mines to be worked, the demand for foreign goods will be considerable, because the Russians of Western Russia are backward in manufacturing, and the cost of carrying goods by rail to Siberia will necessarily be very great.

Mr. White was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

FROM A BRITISH VIEW.

After a vote of thanks had been unanimously passed for this address, Mr. C. J. Alexander gave a brief address on "Canadian Manufactures from a British View." The speaker said that for 40 years he had been a merchant and a manufacturer in Scotland, and had been president of the South of Scotland Chamber of Commerce. Free trade was the general sentiment of the associated chambers of Great Britain and Ireland, and he still believed it to be for the best interests of Great Britain. He came here as a free trader before his eyes were opened by the X-rays of practical demonstration. He was now convinced that a tariff that does really protect is absolutely necessary. Under the reduced Wilson tariff all domestic industries suffered. Foreign importations increased and domestic manufactures were displaced, whilst under the Dingley tariff foreign importations were checked and correspondingly domestic manufactures took their place. The object of protection is not to increase prices, but, by getting our own home market, to reduce them. The development of our home industries is by far the most potent factor in giving us an increase of population. We should see our home industries are kept effectually protected, and that what now goes to the foreigner is kept in our own midst, so as to encourage skilled labor to come to our shores. The speaker went on to say that it made his heart sore to find our young men, well educated and well trained, going over to build up the States instead of remaining here. Prosperous industries afford an opening for the vigorous sons of our farmers, and he knew of no class who would benefit more by thriving industries than the farmers themselves. Of imported woollens, he would ask: Does your farmer get any market or demand for his wool? Not one ounce. Whereas by having woollens manufactured here he can increase his flocks and find a home demand to his hand. Referring to the preferential tariff, the speaker said that England stands pre-eminent the world over in the manufacture of woollens and in conceding this preference it has been granted to our greatest competitor, for which we cannot point to one particle of reciprocal advantage. Of course, there is the sentiment of loyalty, but Canadian interests are not to be sacrificed to those of the Mother Country, and the speaker did not think Great Britain wished such to be done.

A vote of thanks was accorded the speaker, and it was voted and carried that his address be printed in the organ of the association.

The chairman then called on the audience to sing "God Save the King," and the convention adjourned till the following morning.

Wednesday was a decidedly busy day; in fact, the proceedings developed into a race against time. President Ellis and Secretary Russell worked hard and won out.

RESOLUTIONS REGARDING THE TARIFF.

The morning meeting was devoted to a discussion of the proposed resolutions, and was private. The result was the passing of resolutions pertaining to various trade commodities, from woollens to laths. Other resolutions were considered and passed, but not finally, and will go forward to the Tariff Committee in order that any other interests not yet represented shall have an opportunity to consider them.

The resolution on woollens passed finally, and was as follows: "The request of the Woollen Manufacturers' Committee is that you endorse their request to the Government for a net tariff after the reduction of the preferential tariff of not less than 30 per cent., or its equivalent, upon all classes of finished woollen, worsted, and knitted goods and carpets, and of 20 per cent., or its equivalent, on all classes of woollen and worsted yarns."

The committee on folding boxes urged that the present duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem be changed to a specific duty of 6 cents per pound.

The committee on shirts, collars, cuffs and blouses recommended the ad valorem duty to be at the same rate as paid on their raw material, plus a specific duty of 24 cents per dozen on collars; 48 cents on cuffs; $1 on shirts, and $1 on blouses. The specific duties which are strongly recommended being the only protection.

The committee on lumber urged the following tariffs on sawn lumber or timber:—"White pine, red (Norway) pine, hemlock, tamarac, spruce, Douglas fir, cedar, $2 per 1,000 feet.

"Shingles, 30 cents per 1,000.

"Laths, 20 cents per 1,000."

The committee on oatmeal urged upon the Government the necessity of changing the duty on oatmeal from an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. to a specific of 60 cents per 100 pounds. And that a duty of six cents per pound be charged upon lithograph covers on all package goods.

The Agricultural Implement Section Committee requested the association to strongly urge the Government to increase the duties on all agricultural implements.

The report of the committee on valuation states that the subject was so important that it did not think it possible in the short time at its disposal to make a full report. It believed that there are several subjects in this connection which deserve the best attention of the association, viz.: "The necessity of the Government's adopting better methods of obtaining information regarding the prices ruling in foreign markets by means of a service similar to that of the United States consular service; also, that there is a great necessity of using our influence to induce the Government to put a check to the present large importation of so-called job or imperfect goods and overplus foreign production at less than standard values. This is a growing evil, and we believe that in no case should such goods enter at a lower value. We also believe that there is room for improvement in the unification of values at different ports of entry, and would like the association to consider this matter as well.

The committee whose reports regarding tariff were not finally passed upon were those on licorice, bleaching powder, granite (finished), iron and steel, and on reed and rattan furniture, and baby carriages.

REPORT OF THE COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE COMMITTEE.

The afternoon session opened half an hour late, with the report of the Commercial Intelligence Committee.

With your indulgence your Commercial Intelligence Committee offers the following brief report of its work during the year. The varied topics discussed by the committee only admit of the most general classification. We will refer first to those bearing on domestic affairs, and then to others more directly concerned with what we may term our "foreign relations," i.e., with export trade.

First, then, with regard to domestic subjects:

(1) Insurance for Registered Mail Matter.—We recommend to the Government that the English system of postal insurance be introduced into Canada. The representative of the Postmaster-General discussed the matter fully with us and informed us that the Government was already considering the partial introduction of the English system. In England the maximum insurance is much higher, viz., $600. If the present experiment is successful, however, as there is no reason to doubt but that it will, the limit of insurance will be raised to that observed in England.

(2) Fire Insurance.—The heavy increases in fire insurance rates in Canada have drawn protest from many of our members, and the matter was referred to this committee for attention. A sub-committee is now engaged in collecting information. We regret that we are unable to present the result of their deliberations to-day. Whatever it will be, however, will be at the disposal of our members through the columns of Industrial Canada.

(3) Information on the Standing of Foreign Firms.—In order better to answer the many inquiries coming to our office for information on the standing of foreign firms with which trade is to be opened, the following plan has been adopted after careful consideration: We have selected two of the most reputable mercantile houses abroad to furnish us the required confidential reports at a moderate charge. These reports are then furnished to members of the Association at a minimum rate. Once the reports are in our possession they are available for other members than those at whose instance they were originally secured at half the original cost. This arrangement has been of much assistance to many of our members who have been doing an export trade, and will, we are sure, be taken advantage of by others as occasion arises.

(4) Better Import Returns.—Your committee found it necessary to ask the Government for more speedy and better classified returns, particularly of imports. Up to this time unrevised import statistics with a very inadequate classification appeared every three months. The Government recognized the importance of your committee's suggestion, and by centralizing much of the routine work of statistical tabulation was able to realize great improvement at Ottawa.

The Customs Department now issues a monthly statement of imports and exports, fully classified as in the annual tables of Trade and Navigation. We commend this monthly publication to any of our members who are not yet acquainted with it. It is practically our only means of following closely the course of trade.

(5) The Census.—Your committee had specially under its purview the industrial census. In its conference and correspondence with Mr. Blue, the Census Commissioner, many changes in the schedules were suggested and adopted. One of the most important suggestions also adopted was for the appointment of specially qualified enumerators for the census of manufacturers. The cooperation of the Association was also pledged the census officials in the work of harvesting the information sought for. Your committee also urged that the actual as well as the legal population of the country should be taken. The Government responded by preparing to this end a special schedule. What the result of this new schedule has been is not yet made public. The opinion is further held by your committee that the time has arrived for this country to place its census work upon a more satisfactory basis than at present.

(6) Mr. Larke Should Re-visit Canada.—Your committee drew the Government's attention to the fact that Mr. Larke, the Canadian Commercial Agent at Sydney, Australia, has not revisited his fatherland since his departure for Australia seven years ago, and represented that opportunity should be given him to return and inform himself carefully as to the industrial conditions here. We ask you endorsement of this practical request in order that the matter may be brought again to the attention of the Government.

(7) Canada's Representation at the Inauguration of the Australian Commonwealth.—Your Committee passed a resolution urging that Canada be represented at this ceremony by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, or if not by him, by some other member of the Cabinet. The resolution was presented to Sir Wilfrid by a special deputation to Ottawa. We trust that the worthy representation of the Postmaster-General at this function will be evidenced in future trade negotiations between Canada and Australia.

(8) Information for the Visiting Journalists.—The visit to Canada of their Royal Highnesses and the distinguished journalists accompanying them was considered an opportune time by the Executive of the Association to supply the latter gentlemen with information on the industrial resources of Canada. Your committee accordingly prepared a handsome pamphlet of 23 pages, which was presented to the visiting journalists along with copies of the Dominion Year Book and the Immigration literature published by the Dominion Government. The pamphlet was also sent to all the daily newspapers of the United Kingdom, and to many of the journals of the sister colonies of South Africa and Australia.

(9) A Canadian Consular System.—Repeatedly during the past year your committee has had brought to its attention important questions bearing on the export trade of Canada. Time and again the inestimable value of that trade to the country has been impressed on it and on the Executive, as has the wisdom of any policy tending to assist its development. At the same time it has been forced upon our attention that our shippers are handicapped in various ways through lack of organized commercial communication. There is no use closing our eyes to this fact. In the first place, Canada is not so well known in the world's markets as are her competitors. In the second place, we have no machinery for the securing of reliable and up-to-date information as to the needs of foreign countries such as is supplied bounteously to industrial interests in other lands. How these difficulties are to be met has been the problem before your committee, and to-day we submit to your recommendation, which we trust you will take into your serious consideration as the most important single subject coming before the present convention. Its significance for the country at large cannot well be overstated.

At the outset let us be clear as to our position. We do not believe in relying too much on Government support or Government interference in trade matters. At the same time we feel that in a work of this particular kind success can be secured only through active Government cooperation. The practice of the whole world recognizes the correctness of this attitude, and our own Government does not fail altogether in this respect. The Dominion already expends some $18,000 on large commercial agencies abroad. It also provides for the distribution of information and the answering of certain inquiries through our Immigration Agencies, such reports being then printed and circulated in the monthly trade and commerce blue books. We do not underestimate these efforts but rather wish to bear tribute to the assistance they have already rendered our exporters. But much remains to be done. For example—some of our commercial agents only receive a trifling fee of $250 per year, and consequently have most of their time and interest taken up with private business, which may, and too often does, conflict with their impartial representation of Canadian interests.

In the second place, it is notorious that our present system of trade agents is inadequate and disappointing. In London, the heart of the Empire, we have been making use of the High Commissioner's office, though this office is organized for political, rather than for commercial ends.

The Canadian Section of the Imperial Institute has also been of some service, but it is far removed from the business part of the city and is accordingly out of touch with actual business.

Further, as already pointed out, our representative in Australia has not been enabled to return and post himself on Canadian affairs during the past seven years and is not provided with adequate allowance for travel, etc. Our representative in South Africa has also no allowance for travelling expenses and no salary, his total revenue being allowance for office rent. At home, reports on trade and commerce, such as exist, are not issued until some eight weeks after the close of the month to which they refer. While we recognize then that work is begun in the right direction, still we feel that active steps should be taken to make it efficient.

We believe, in short, that the time has now arrived when Canada should be adequately represented in foreign countries, by permanent foreign offices, imitating in some respects, though not in its entirety, what is recognized as the most complete consular system in the world, that of the United States.

We recommend that the annual meeting endorse this decision, and that it press upon the Government the necessity of taking into its immediate consideration the establishment of a Canadian consular system. The term "Canadian consul" we believe more suitable for foreign use than the present term in vogue "commercial agent."

The consular offices we suggest should be established at the following places, which we name in order of their importance, subject to revision:

London, England; Sydney, Australia; Cape Town, South Africa; Yokohama, Japan; Kingston, Jamaica; Paris, France; Hamburg, Germany; Rio Janeiro, Brazil; Calcutta, India, and Shanghai, China.

The distribution of our representatives in this manner would practically cover the world. For example our consul at Hamburg could keep more or less in touch with Holland and the Scandinavian States, Austro-Hungary and Russia, while our consul at Kingston, Jamaica, would have an eye, not only to the British West Indies, but also to Central America and the North Coast of South America, which includes nearly all the South-American Republics.

We have carefully estimated the cost of such a policy, and believe that it could be carried out in its entirety, for some time to come at least, at a total cost of not exceeding $75,000, from which we may deduct $15,000 or $18,000 already expended on our commercial agencies.

In making the recommendation, we commend to your attention certain pertinent points relating to the establishment of this system.

(1) That the posts should be graded according to their importance commercially, and consuls paid accordingly.

(2) That consuls chosen should be appointed for their seeming fitness for the position regardless of party affiliations.

(3) That consuls should be prohibited from entering into commercial or business pursuits, or enterprises of any kind whatsoever.

(4) That it shall be the duty of the consuls to provide weekly trade letters to the Home Government concerning such items of trade and commerce as may be of interest concerning conditions in any or all of the countries which may come within their jurisdiction.

(5) That these letters and reports be embodied in the monthly reports, but that same shall be sent out as received weekly in the form of advance sheets, to such as may request them, freely, and without charge.

(6) That the Home Office be so reorganized as to insure the proper and effective working of this system.

(7) That all consuls shall be loyal native-born Canadians, who will have the interest of their country at heart, and will work hard for the advancement of her interests among the nations of the world.

S. M. WICKETT, Chairman.

T. A. RUSSELL, Secretary.

Mr. Hees, in a neat speech, laid great stress on the need of a consular service.

REPORT OF RAILWAY AND TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE.

The secretary then read the report of the Railway and Transportation Committee, in the absence of Mr. Campbell:

Your Railway and Transportation Committee begs leave to submit its report regarding the work of the past year.

It was the subject of regret to all members of our Committee that the chairman you elected a year ago, Mr. John M. Taylor, of the Dominion Radiator Company, was compelled to resign owing to absence from Canada for some months. The present chairman succeeded him in the month of May.

The matters brought to the attention of your committee during the year have been many, some of which have been dealt with successfully.

We have striven, as far as was in our power, to avoid making the committee a mere grievance section to assist in the presentation of every minor complaint to the railway companies, and have sought as much as possible to advance in a broad way the transportation interests of your members by dealing with those matters of most striking importance.

The work may be briefly referred to as follows:

CLASSIFICATION.

Many of our members have communicated their special grievances to the Association. Your committee gave these its utmost care, and selecting some of the most striking instances presented, asked for and secured an appointment with the Canadian Freight Classification Committee for discussing the changes desired.

Without going into detail your committee asked:

(a) That a lower minimum carload weight be placed on pianos and organs from that of 20,000 lb. previously prevailing. This really amounted to more than cost of shipment by open freight. As a result, the minimum weight was reduced to 14,000 lb., with second-class rating.

(b) For a carload rate on bicycles, always before shipped as open freight. This was granted, and a satisfactory carload minimum provided.

(c) A reduction of the minimum carload weight on woodenware, which, at the present time, is fully 25 per cent. above the capacity of the cars provided.

(d) That the classification of cased whisky be made the same as bulk.

These two last requests have not yet been acceded to.

CLAIMS.

At the same time the committee took special pains to dwell upon the slow and unsatisfactory method of dealing with claims. Communications were sent to the railway companies, and replies received that the matter would receive their attention. Since then, however, we have had no intimation that it received any notice. Consequently, this point was strongly referred to in our report to the Government Railway Commissioner, Mr. S. J. McLean.

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF RATES.

Reference has often been made to the fact that changes in rates and classifications are often put into force without any notice from the railway companies to those who may be seriously affected and who might wish to oppose the changes.

Your committee, on investigation of this point, brought out the fact that all changes in rates, classification, etc., must be submitted to the Governor-General-in-Council for ratification before they were legal. The Hon. the Minister of Railways in Canada, was therefore asked that all proposed changes in rates and classifications be submitted to your committee before final ratification. The Minister graciously acceded to your committee's request, and we believe that we have gained a point of considerable importance in regard to fixing rates and regulations. During our experience, since the granting of this request 11 months ago, only one proposition has been submitted that had reference to an obscure piece of railway in British Columbia in which your members had comparatively slight interest. Since that time, no further matters have been brought to your committee's notice.

We strongly commend this general meeting to instruct the new committee to ascertain from the Department of Railways and Canals if it has kept its promise to the committee or whether it be the case that railway companies arbitrarily change rates, etc., without submitting the same to the Government as required by law.

NEW YORK CHARGES.

Some of our members pointed out that they had been subjected to vexatious and unnecessary delays and exorbitant expenses in their shipments via New York to seaboard. Your committee took up the matter with the offending parties, and is happy to report that substantial improvement has been noted in the manner in which Canadian freight has been handled by these agencies since that time.

CROW'S NEST RAILWAY.

Your committee was asked to support the application of the Crow's Nest Railway Co. for charter to the United States boundary. It felt that it had no special information on this subject, and declined to express itself.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

A resolution asked that preferential tariff be applied only to goods entering Canada through Canadian ports. Your committee felt that a question of this kind should only receive attention at a large and representative meeting, and did not pass any resolution affecting the same.

SUBSIDY TO FRANCO-CANADIAN LINE OF STEAMSHIPS.

Similarly we were asked to express our opinion as to the advisability of the Government granting a subsidy to a line of steamships operating from Canada to France. As the Government had already acted with the facts before it, we did not feel called on to express any opinion.

LOCAL GRIEVANCES.

Special correspondence was laid before your committee by representative manufacturers in Windsor and Walkerville, Ont., complaining of distributive rates to these points, as compared with Detroit rates. The facts bearing upon this, as presented to your committee, were submitted to the Railway Commissioner, when in the city of Toronto.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONER.

One of the most important phases of your committee's work was the preparation of a statement of special grievances of shippers in order to lay the same before the Railway Commissioner appointed by the Government. Your committee, in the preparation of its report, dealt as far as possible only with transportation matters as affecting the Dominion, leaving any special local questions to be dealt with by local organizations, boards of trade, etc. The chief points to be emphasized were:

(a) Our opposition to the granting to competitive manufacturers situated in Great Britain and the Eastern States of better rates than given to Canadian manufacturers from important shipping points like Montreal and Toronto.

(b) Also certain injuries respecting classification.

(c) The unjust operation of several local rates, as compared with through charges.

(d) The injustice of charging higher rates to Western Ontario shippers to the seaboard than is charged to United States shippers from Detroit and Chicago when their freight passes over the same lines.

(e) Finally, the unsatisfactory manner of dealing with claims.

The report was presented to the Commissioner in the presence of representatives of the railway companies and was thoroughly threshed out.

OTTAWA FIRE.

The question of the relation of shippers who lost property in the Ottawa fire a year ago was carefully considered with a view not only to this one particular instance, but others of a like nature.

Your committee gave the matter careful attention and secured legal advice regarding the points involved, the result of the investigation being that the law as it stands at present provides that when any damage occurs in transit, which cannot be said to have arisen from any negligence or omission of the company or its servants, the company may, by the use of apt language, contract itself out of liability, and this is done in the special contract under which shippers send their goods. Consequently, as the law stands at the present time, your committee finds that shippers cannot collect damages for loss unless the same can be shown to be the result of negligence of the company or its employees. But two things then remain to be done if shippers desire to be relieved of all risk is the safeguarding of goods in transit.

First,—Individually insure goods so shipped in such a way as to cover all losses that may be possible.

Second,—To induce the railway company to extend its present insurance policy, which protects it against losses which are the result of negligence of its own employees to cover all loss of any kind in transit. Whether this is possible of accomplishment or not is for you to judge to-day. Either the railway company would have to be approached with a view to having it assume this responsibility or the Government of the Dominion of Canada would have to be asked to pass legislation covering the question of the liability of railway companies for all losses in transit save that due to the negligence of the shippers themselves.

The committee leaves this open for your discussion to-day.

LOSSES IN OCEAN TRANSIT.

The attention of your committee has been directed by certain members to heavy losses involved in ocean shipping through rough handling of the goods consigned. We have not been able to investigate fully how far this complaint is general and is justified. It is a matter on which we require further information. In the meantime, we recommend all shippers suffering loss in this way to insure under the "All Risk Clause," whereby they are absolutely guarded against losses of any kind, and it is left for the insurance company to discuss with the steamship line whether the loss was one for which they were responsible or not.

STEAMSHIP SERVICE TO SOUTH AFRICA AND AUSTRALIA.

At several times during the year we were asked to pass upon the advisability of the Government assisting in the establishment of a direct line of steamships that would operate from Eastern Canadian ports to South Africa and Australia. We hesitated to deal with an important matter of this kind involving public policy until an opportunity was presented to test the feeling of our members. We have now, however, investigated the subject, and considered the total volume of freight now moving through United States channels to those colonies, and we now recommend for your consideration the adoption of the following resolution which covers the point at issue:

Whereas, the manufacturers and exporters of Canada now carry on a steadily growing business with our two sister colonies of Australia and South Africa, much of which is shipped via United States ports, with the consequent bonding, storage and transfer charges;

And, whereas, this trade would be largely augmented under conditions affording more direct, simple and economical transportation;

And, whereas, both colonies could be served by one line of steamships;

Be it resolved, that in the opinion of this Association, the time has now arrived when the Government of the Dominion of Canada should assist by subsidy a line of steamships that would operate from the ports of Eastern Canada to South Africa and Australia;

And, be it further resolved, that the Government be at the same time asked to retain such control over the freight rates as may be necessary to prevent the manipulation of freight charges over such a line by any shipping ring.

RE EXPORT SHIPMENTS.

Your committee has during the past year carefully considered the possibility of improving and cheapening the facilities at the disposal of Canadian manufacturers who do an export trade. As a great deal of this is now done through New York, where vexatious delays and costly storage charges are often involved, your committee has considered that by collective action we could greatly improve the facilities at the disposal of our manufacturers. We have already communicated with many of the largest and most reliable shipping firms in New York, with the result that we now recommend that arrangements be made with one of these firms to be afterwards determined by your committee. That these arrangements entitle our manufacturers to the best contract rates available through the firm with which we are connected; that they give every attention to the prompt despatch of our shipments; that the charges be fixed and agreed upon, and that in return the Association recommend all its members who have not satisfactory connections to use the firm decided upon. This would give each member the advantage of the contract rates of any of the large firms, and would at the same time strengthen our position, inasmuch as the Association could transfer its arrangement if satisfactory accommodation was not provided. We recommend this policy and suggest that the committee next year take immediate steps to put it in operation by selecting a suitable firm.

RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Your committee also recommends that this Association do now place itself on record as in favor of the appointment by the Dominion Government of a permanent railway commission with stipulation that sufficient provision be made to secure the best men available, to provide sufficient remuneration and to furnish a sufficiently numerous and competent staff. Also with the further condition that full and sufficient power be placed in the hands of the committee to enable it to deal authoritatively with important railway grievances when these are submitted.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM IN GENERAL.

In conclusion we desire to impress upon our members the importance of the transportation question. What we need most in this country is cheap transportation, and if we can adopt any system by which the products of our manufacturers as well as the farmers can be transported at a lower rate we will confer upon them a great advantage.

In this connection your committee desires to express its approval of the course of the Government in improving the terminal facilities of the port of Montreal, as well as improving the entrance to the Welland Canal at Port Colborne.

When these improvements are completed we believe the cost of transporting the products of Canadian farms and Canadian manufactures to the seaboard will be considerably reduced, and at the same time a very much larger volume will go down to the sea via our own Canadian route—thus building up our own seaports and at the same time greatly stimulating the shipbuilding in Canada.

Your committee submits this as its report.

MR. ROWLEY'S POINTED REMARKS.

Mr. Rowley (E. B. Eddy Co.) "I would like to draw attention to this Ottawa fire section. It strikes me that the suggestions should be insisted upon. We had 60 carloads of goods destroyed in that fire, and have got no return. The ground the railway companies take is that the fire was the act of God, or the Devil or somebody."

Mr. McNaught recommended that the Government be asked to amend the Railway Act to govern such cases. The Government ought to dictate railway insurance policies just as they do ordinary fire insurance policies. He made a motion to this effect, which was seconded by Mr. Birge and carried.

SOUTH-AFRICAN SERVICE.

Then ensued a very interesting and profitable discussion on our foreign steamship service which culminated in two resolutions, one to ask the Government to subsidize a direct line of steamships to South Africa and Australia, and the other instructing the Transportation Committee to enter into negotiations with a New York exporting house to handle the goods of the members of the Association at that point, see that the best freight rates are obtained and that the goods are shipped promptly.

Mr. J. O. Thorn pointed out that those who had been doing business with South Africa via New York are acquainted with the vexatious delays experienced at the American port. "Canadian shipments are frequently allowed to lie on the wharf for want of space, which is reserved to American goods. It's high time we had a service of our own, and I'm in favor of asking the Government to subsidize one." He also complained of the C.P.R. service from Vancouver to Japan. Goods are often left on the Vancouver wharf for a month at a time. The service should be much faster.

Mr. Saunders, of Goderich, said he gained time by shipping to Australia via the C.P.R. He could also get better rates over the C.P.R. from Goderich to Vancouver than from New York to Australia. The C.P.R. never failed him. "We should not build up those exporters in New York."

Mr. Bertram said he was going to South Africa next month with $30,000 worth of goods. Part of this went by New York, and he had to pay a freight rate of $70 a car from Montreal to New York. He thought the suggestion of a direct line quite timely.

Mr. Russell explained how the Executive had investigated the amount of Canadian freight that went to South Africa and Australia via New York, and had determined that there was plenty of traffic for a direct line. The Canadian steamship companies think the same thing.

Mr. Munro said he found it cheaper to ship from Montreal to South Africa via London, Eng., than via New York.

Mr. Russell reported how Canadian shipments to countries all over the world were delayed in New York, and he suggested that the Association enter into a contract with a New York exporting house to look after Canadian freight that goes through that port to South America, India, and, until we get our direct line, to South Africa and Australia. The committee were instructed to pursue the matter.

THE LABOR GAZETTE.

The report of the committee on The Labor Gazette was next read and adopted. It was as follows:

Last year the Executive decided to subscribe to The Labor Gazette, to the extent of supplying a copy for the year to each member of the Association. When the question of renewal came up, the Executive, having regard to numerous complaints on the part of members as to the management and influence of The Gazette, refused to renew its subscription, and referred the whole matter to a special committee for report to this annual meeting. Your committee, therefore, begs leave to report its conclusions as follows:

1st. It finds decided room for objection to the definition of labor implied in the general character of The Gazette. Labor, we venture to believe, conceived in its proper sense, is not limited to the employe, but embraces the whole field of industrial and commercial life. Industrial interests are essentially one; and an imperfect, narrow definition of labor is calculated to mitigate against the recognition of this community of interests which is at the basis of the relations between an employer and employe.

2nd. The committee finds that the system under which local information is secured for The Gazette is not such as to guarantee to the country at large the most reliable and serviceable reports. Numerous objections have been raised by members in this respect against incomplete and biased information.

3rd. The committee is of the opinion that a monthly issue of The Gazette, as at present, is calculated to encourage the publication of much ephemeral stuff, and to militate against attention being given to the issue of matter of more permanent value. Our opinion in this regard may, perhaps, be made clearer by citing by way of comparison the well-edited and extremely useful Washington Labor Bulletin, which appears quarterly. A quarterly issue of our own Labor Gazette, we firmly believe, would be in the best interests of all classes of labor.

REPORTS OF OFFICIALS.

The report of Mr. Booth, the treasurer, showed that there were over $500 to the credit of the Association.

The secretary's report stated that the membership of the Association was now 850. With regard to the offices of the Association, they had a splendid library of current literature; some 80 publications are regularly received, and are on file; the Association was endeavoring to accumulate a considerable library of Government and other publications, and directories and other material daily in demand by manufacturers. The Association had arranged with the Canadian Government agents abroad to direct inquiries to Canada. The work of furnishing information to and corresponding with foreign traders has the constant attention of one person, who devotes his whole time to this work in the office. Referring to the Canadian Trade Index, the report stated that it yielded a net balance of $500 to the credit of the Association. Some 10,000 copies have been distributed outside of Canada. Regarding Industrial Canada, this periodical is now four times as large as it was 16 months ago. Its aim is to convey to the members as full and accurate information about all that transpires in the various meetings possible. The report then went on to eulogize the men who worked on the various committees during the year. In conclusion, the report states that the secretary had special opportunities of coming in contact with every phase of Canadian manufacturing activity.

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA.

Resolutions were the next order of business. It was moved by Mr. McNaught and carried:

Whereas, the union of the Australian colonies into a great Federal Commonwealth has brought that country under the operation of a common tariff; and

Whereas, this confederation will necessitate the adjustment of the tariff relations which have hitherto existed between this country and the various colonies of Australia; and

Whereas, the peculiar conditions which at present obtain throughout the Empire generally render the time particularly opportune for the negotiations of preferential trade relations amongst the great British self-governing colonies; therefore be it

Resolved, that, in the opinion of this Association, the Government of Canada should at once take steps to secure reciprocal preferential trade between this country and the Australian Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, that this Association place itself on record as being heartily in favor of reciprocal preferential trade between Canada and every part of the British Empire, with which arrangements can be effected to their mutual benefit and by means of which each would receive substantial advantage as a result of its national relationship.

OCEAN STEAMER SERVICE.

Moved by Mr. J. T. Murray :

Whereas, the present ocean steamship service being most inadequate for carrying the freight of Canadian industries from Canadian ports to its destination across the sea; and

Whereas, the Governments of Canada have expended very large sums of money, given away extensive tracts of land, and granted great privileges in the building of railways and canals, necessary to bring freight to tide-water; and

Whereas, Canadian ports are suffering for want of a satisfactory ocean freight-carrying service; be it

Resolved, that the Canadian Government be memorialized to give such encouragement, whether by bonus on tonnage or otherwise, to the building in Canada of ocean steamships, as shall warrant capital entering into this industry Referred to Railway and Transportation Committee.

PATENT OFFICE AFFAIRS.

Moved by Mr. F. B. Fetherstonhaugh and carried :

Whereas, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has been informed that the Minister of Agriculture contemplates improvement in the Patent Office and amendments to the patent law. Therefore be it

Resolved, that this Association while conveying to the Honorable the Minister of Agriculture its appreciation of what he has already done, also submit the request that this Association be consulted on all proposed legislation to amend the Patent, Trade Mark and Design and Copyright Acts, before submission of such measures to Parliament.

TRADE AND NAVIGATION.

Moved by Mr. T. G. Mason, that it is highly desirable if not imperative that all matters relating to trade and navigation should be under the control of and be regulated by the Dominion Government of Canada alone; and that Provincial, municipal or other governing bodies should not have power to impose taxes, fines or other imposts, whereby the free interchange of commodities throughout the Dominion shall be in any way restricted.

Moved by Mr. J. K. Shaw, that this Association views with regret the continued delay of our legislators at Ottawa in earnestly grappling with the vital question of bankruptcy legislation in Canada, and hereby reiterates its demand for such, and requests that the Government deal with the matter as a Government measure at the next session of Parliament. Carried.

Moved by Mr. McNaught, that the thanks of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association are due and are tendered to Mr. Geo. Booth for his long and faithful services as treasurer of the organization; that he be elected a life member, and that $200 be appropriated for the purchase of a testimonial to be presented to him. Carried.

Amendments to the constitution was the next business and all were carried with the exception of the one relating to "Fees."

The choice of the next place of meeting was left to the Executive Committee, with a suggestion that it be east of Montreal, preferably Quebec, Halifax, or St. John, N.B.

NEW PRESIDENT TAKES THE HELM.

Retiring President Ellis then introduced President-elect R. Munro, who was greeted with rounds of cheers. The new president in assuming office thanked the members in a graceful little speech for their kind reception, and averred that no man was more solicitous for the benefit of the Association than himself.

No matter throughout the convention provoked greater enthusiasm than did the little speech of ex-President Ellis, who, at this stage, took occasion to refer to the work done for the Association by the secretary, Mr. T. A. Russell. Never was there a more able or more conscientious secretary, and the manner in which he had carried out his work, and his labors during the convention, was a topic of eulogy among the members. He deserved the trip to the West Indies, which the Association was presenting him with, after he had done the work of several men in a most able and thorough manner. Several members also spoke enthusiastically about the high merit of the secretary, who responded with a modest speech which was warmly received. He was then sung a jolly good fellow.

THE BANQUET.

A Superb Menu, and Important Speeches.

The banquet was a most brilliant affair and a pronounced success. The Windsor dining-room was very appropriately decorated with flags, banners, and electric illuminations. Over 400 people sat down, and it would have been interesting to know just what income was represented there. The menu was superb, and the speeches were full of importance. The banquet was a complimentary affair to the visiting delegates, given by Montreal's commercial men. Hon. J. D. Rolland, chairman of the Montreal branch of the Association, presided, having on his immediate right, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and on his immediate left, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal. Others seated at the table of honor were: Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance; Hon. Wm. Paterson, Minister of Customs; Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works; R. L. Borden, M.P.; Robt. Munro, P. W. Ellis, His Worship Mayor Prefontaine, Hon. Senator Mackay, United States Consul-General Bittinger, F. D. Monk, M.P., Principal Peterson, of McGill University; George Hague, Hon. H. T. Duffy, Henry Miles, president of the Board of Trade; L. E. Geoffrion, president of the Chambre de Commerce; A. C. Flummerfelt, Jas. Cooper, W. K. McNaught, W. K. George, Geo. Booth, Jas. P. Murray, J. C. Thorn, J. Bain, James Crathern, A. Campbell, John Bertram, D. W. Karn, B. Rosamond, D. W. Robb, C. J. Osman, Prof. H. T. Bovey, S. M. Wickett, J. J. McGill, W. Roach, T. A. Russell.

LETTERS OF REGRET.

The toast of "The King" was drunk with splendid enthusiasm, and then letters of regret at inability to attend were read from the Premier of Quebec, Hon. S. N. Parent, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. Wm. Mulock, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Mr. Blair, Hon. Mr. Fisher, A. E. Ames, president of the Toronto Board of Trade; the presidents of the Halifax, Winnipeg, and Vancouver Boards of Trade; Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, and others. The president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade announced that Manitoba would this year produce the greatest crop on unfertilized soil that the world had ever seen.

CANADA AND THE EMPIRE.

The toast of "Canada and the Empire" was proposed by Mr. P. W. Ellis, of Toronto, the retiring president of the Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Ellis, in the course of his speech, alluded to a remark as to the possibilities of Canada, made in an address to the Toronto Board of Trade, by Mr. F. H. Clergue, in which he had stated that the mineral and chemical wealth of New Ontario was equal to that of the State of Montana, in the United States, and that of the Province of British Columbia, in the Dominion of Canada. Mr. Ellis also quoted Mr. F. W. Thompson's statement that the day would come when the wealth of the Manitoba wheat fields would equal the spring crop of the United States. Mr. Ellis counselled the people to take full opportunity of the great resources of the country. He saw no reason why Canada should not make like progress with the United States, if every opportunity was grasped by Canadian citizens. The ex-president was loudly cheered on resuming his seat.

The "Maple Leaf Forever" should have been sung just here, but something had gone wrong with the orchestra, so Mr. W. H. Evans jumped upon a chair and whistled the tune through his fingers, concluding amid loud applause.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier on rising to reply was heartily greeted. After the prolonged applause had subsided he spoke as follows: "Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—It is not my good fortune to be a manufacturer, I am but a simple and very humble consumer. But it has been my good fortune for the last twenty-five years to see a great deal of the development of the manufacturing industries of Canada. For, during twenty-five years and more it has been my privilege to be a member of the House of Commons of Canada. Twenty-five years is a long period in the life of a man; it is simply a dot in the life of a nation. But twenty-five years, whether it be in an individual's life, or in national life, is sure to develop a good many changes. I have seen the development in the relations between Canada and the Empire, I have seen with still greater interest the development of Canadian life. I have seen the ups and downs of politics. I have seen the surging rise and fall of party differences. I have served under Mr. Alexander Mackenzie, I have fought against Sir John A. Macdonald, and I believe I have felt; in fact, I am sure I have felt, as you have all felt, the loss of these two great men—one my chief leader, the other my chief opponent—both my personal friends. (Cheers.)

NATIONAL INDUSTRIES.

"But in these many changes and vicissitudes, there is one thing which has remained constant and unaltered; it is the devotion, if I may use the term, and I do use it advisedly—the devotion which all classes represented in the Canadian Parliament have ever bestowed and shown to the development of the industries of Canada. There has been more time consumed on the part of the Parliament of Canada in the discussion of the industries of Canada than perhaps all other questions put together. (Hear, hear.)

"I do not remember the time, or the year when, on the floor of that Parliament—the interests which concern you gentlemen—the manufacturers, have not engaged our attention and our deliberations. That these questions should be debated, that they should be discussed, that they should be scanned—is nothing but natural, and not too much time can be devoted to such a topic as that one. When once they have been debated and crystallized into legislation, you will agree with me that legislation should not be lightly disturbed. Tariffs are not permanent in a country like Canada susceptible to great development, everything changes, everything progresses, and the tariff, of course, must move with the times, but, at the same time, I have felt within myself, and you must have felt yourselves, that stability in tariff is one of the securities to manufacturing industries. (Prolonged cheers.)

"Of course I do not pretend that the tariff which has been framed by my friend, Mr. Fielding, the Minister of Finance, is absolutely perfect, but I am disposed to think a great deal of it. Still, I know perfection is not of this world. There are spots on the sun, as we know, as we are told, do not prevent the majestic orb to progress through the sky in all its beauty, and so it is with the tariff which exists at the present time, though perhaps—I do not know, you know better than I do because you have to deal with it more than I do—it may be that there are blemishes in it; but whether there are blemishes in it or not, I suppose on the whole the manufacturers are pretty well satisfied. (Several voices: "No, no. Laughter.")

TARIFF MAY BE IMPROVED.

"That only shows that there is room for improvement. (Cheers.) That only shows that there are some spots in the sun or in the tariff, but it does not prevent the orb from shedding its beneficence upon Canada. What is engaging all the manufacturers, I assume, is the development of the markets. The home market was supposed to be the best of all. Unfortunately the home market has not developed as we had reason to expect; the last census has been a disappointment to all of us. But even in the face of the last census, for my part, my heart is filled with hope. It has been my privilege within the last few weeks to cross and recross the continent from Quebec to Victoria and from Victoria to Halifax, and then it has been my privilege to see some of the immense wealth that we have in the Northwest Territories, to see the broad plains covered with stacks and stooks, and to see the sulky plough and the threshing machine at work at the same time and to see the immense possibilities we have in that distant part of our domain. (Cheers.)

MOVEMENT OF POPULATION.

"There is a new movement which I have seen in that direction. For the last 60 years or so the movement of the population has been from north to south. Now a change has taken place, and a movement of population is now from south to north. For a great many years, the United States has received the best of our bone and sinew. Now, we are going to receive the best bone and sinew of the American cities. (Hear, hear.)

"For a great many years, our young men have emigrated to the United States, now the young men of the United States are emigrating by shoals to the virgin soil of the Northwest Territory, and they will be well received. They will not be treated like the Outlanders, deprived of political rights. On the contrary we will be happy to receive them, and share with them what we have and allow them to take possession of our soil, and to make them free citizens, and enable them to feel that British institutions are infinitely superior, even to the much-vaunted institutions of the American republic. (Hear, hear.)

"In connection with this, there is another feature which is now taking place. I remember, and you remember also, that since the abolition of the reciprocity treaty in 1866, we have sent delegation after delegation to Washington to obtain reciprocity.

RECIPROCITY DELEGATIONS.

"We are not sending any more delegations. (Loud and continued applause.) But I rather expect, and I would not be surprised if the thing were to take place even within a few years—I say—I rather expect that there will be delegations coming from Washington to Ottawa for reciprocity. (Cheering.) Having learned the lesson from our friends to the south how to receive such a delegation, we shall receive them in the proper way — (cheers) — with every possible politeness. (Laughter.)

"But, gentlemen, there is something else than the Northwest Territories. We have also a new Ontario—in new Ontario is untold wealth—mineral wealth, agricultural wealth, wealth of every kind. There is not only a new Ontario, there is also a new Quebec. North of the Laurentian range, there is a new Province of Quebec, equal at least to the one we know and love so well. There is also, if I may say so, a new Maritime Provinces. There is on the shores of the Atlantic Ocean, at Sydney, the development of an industry which will at some time astonish the world. (Cheers.)

"Three years ago, I was in the city of Washington, and it was my privilege there to meet the great manufacturer and philanthropist, Mr. Andrew Carnegie. Talking of many topics which interest manufacturers and also interest public men, he went on to say these words: 'The trade of Great Britain in iron is a thing of the past. We will capture the trade of England on every point in competition.' I said: 'Mr. Carnegie, you know these things better than I do. It is quite possible that you may capture the trade of England in iron, but let me tell you this, when you have captured the trade of England in iron, we Canadians will capture the trade from you.'

CAPTURE THE WORLD'S IRON TRADE.

"And it is my expectation that at some time—not very distant—the works at Sydney will, indeed, not only compete with England—not only compete with the English—but capture the iron trade of the whole world. And in so saying, I do not think I am too sanguine at all. There is also the British market, and this is by far the most important to us Canadians. It would not do for me to enter into any political matter—to enter into any controversial matter; but, at all events, I am sure I am speaking the sentiment of every one here when I say that in my humble opinion, at all events, the life and security of the British Empire rests upon mutuality—the trade between all the component parts of it. The life of the British Empire depends upon the exchange of commodities sent from the other parts of that great institution. If we can suppose a condition of things—and it is not a hard supposition to make—it is possible for us to suppose it—if we can suppose there will be mutuality and freedom of exchange between the three hundred millions or four hundred millions who compose the British Empire, we shall have seen the greatest commercial development the world has ever yet seen. (Cheers.)

"The British Empire was not founded so much on conquest as it was founded upon colonization and trade, and it is in following the lines of trade that it shall attain its best development. The British Empire was founded upon the laws of equality and justice; and though at this time it is rent in some part by a war, let us hope that this war will be soon concluded, and that henceforth the laws of justice shall prevail throughout the whole length and breadth of the British Empire—those laws of justice, of equality and of equal rights in which England has been the foremost champion of the modern world."

The cheering re-echoed again and again as the Premier resumed his seat.

LORD STRATHCONA.

Toast-Master Rolland said: "I will now call upon Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal to make a few remarks in connection with the toast."

As the noble lord arose a perfect storm of applause broke forth. Every man in the audience was on his feet in an instant, and the large dining-hall resounded to singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and "Three cheers and a tiger" were given with right good-will.

Lord Strathcona addressed the gathering as follows: "Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—I do assure you I deem it a very great privilege to be with you here this evening, at such a gathering as this of the manufacturing interests of Canada, not of Montreal alone, nor of Montreal and Toronto—but coming, as you gentlemen do, from British Columbia, all the way to Great Britain. (Hear, hear). It is a very excellent omen, and presage of what are to be the relations between the manufacturers of all parts of the Dominion. It has been said, and it has been felt, not so very long ago, that there was a slight feeling of jealousy as between commercial men of Montreal and those of Toronto. We are all conscious of that having taken place, but we have here a surety, an object lesson, in seeing you here to-night, and an assurance that nothing could be more friendly than the relations which exist among you. (Cheers.)

"I am here, like the right honorable gentleman, the Premier, not a member of the manufacturing body, but unlike him, I am not one of the crowd, because we all know that he is, and happily has been a Cabinet maker (laughter and cheers), so that at any rate, he may certainly be looked upon as an honorary member. I think it applies well, it speaks well for the true heartedness, for the loyalty, and for the devotion of the manufacturers of Canada, that not one word was heard as against that preferential tariff with the Old Country.

(Hear, hear; cheers.) We might have been expected to be the first to find fault with it. It is indeed a happy thing to find that self-interest—for some of you must have felt that they would have had a somewhat better chance without that preferential tariff—but it is a happy thing for us, and a happy thing for the Dominion as a whole, that we conceded these personal feelings of personal interest—to a large extent—and that we conceded to the general good, not of the Dominion alone, but of the whole Empire.

INTER-IMPERIAL PROGRESS.

"Progress, and a very great progress has been made within the last few years in transportation throughout the Empire. While we have here the toast of the 'Empire,' I do not think we are going very much out of the Dominion in our remarks of this evening, but it has certainly been greatly to the benefit of manufacturing interests, to the commerce, and to the general weal of the country, that transportation has been made as good as it is. (Hear, hear.) We have an instance, sir, and within the last month; the far-off district of Edmonton, where they were not very happy, I believe, in some parts, in their wheat harvest, but where they had a very great abundance of oats, and where they could find no market for oats, it has been found for them in South Africa, for supplies for the war, and, I believe, at a price which will pay them very well indeed. I think that our Minister of Agriculture deserves well from the country for having made it possible for these settlers there to profit by this trade of sending their oats to South Africa.

MARKET FOR HAY.

"We have also, within this month, I am speaking only of one month, I think there have been orders from South Africa, for some 20,000 tons of hay altogether. This alone, with the cost of transportation, will come up to, perhaps $1,000,000 or £200,000 sterling. Surely all that is in the right way, and with that energy and that determination which the people of Canada will give to strengthen and improve their position, I have no doubt but that the market will soon be open to them, so that they will not apply to other countries—so that they will not depend upon other countries. (Cheers.)

"The right honorable gentleman has told you that happily now emigration is not going on, or migration is not from Canada to the United States, but that it comes from the United States to us (hear, hear), and we have the assurance that those people who come to us from the Western States into the great Northwest of Canada are even already amongst the best and most loyal subjects of the King, and that they will be so as of old. (Cheers.)

FAST LINE SERVICE.

"There is one thing which I may be permitted to say, speaking of the influx of people from the United States, which we are so glad to have. It is that I hope that we will soon also have a great many people coming—and those of the wealthy classes—coming by the high road through Canada on to Great Britain and to Europe—that we shall have such a service here that it will not be said by those in the Old Country that you must go through the United States to go to Canada, but that you will hear each and all of them, or a very great number, indeed, of them saying: 'We are going to New York and to the other towns of the United States through Canada, as the fastest, best, and safest route.' (Cheers.)

"But I will not detain you, gentlemen. We have all listened with the very greatest pleasure to the remarks of the Premier. I here find myself in a very happy position indeed. I am one of three with the privilege of responding to the toast. You have here the Premier at the head of the Government, you have the chief of the Opposition—ardent politicians both, but friends always (cheers), and I in the middle, not knowing politics. While not knowing party politics, I trust that I am not altogether indifferent to the best interests, or the weal of the country. I thank you, gentlemen, and I thank you very much for listening to me."

MR. R. L. BORDEN.

After the cheering had subsided, the toast-master, Mr. Rolland, called upon Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the Opposition.

Mr. Borden was very heartily received, and spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen, I was very glad indeed to hear from the gentleman who proposed the toast that it is intended that the next meeting of this Association shall take place in the city in which I have the honor to reside—Halifax—and I can assure you that if you do come to Halifax, Halifax will at least give you as warm a welcome as is in her power, and, that, from the experience of those who have been there in the past, is, perhaps, as warm a welcome as can be given in any city in Canada. Now, I have not the honor to claim, as Lord Strathcona has claimed for my right honorable friend, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that I am a manufacturer, on the theory that I am a Cabinet maker. (Cheers.)

"That is an honor which is reserved for years to come. I may claim in conjunction with my right honorable friend, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that we are both manufacturers in a sense—we are manufacturers of law, and, though there may be now and then some differences of opinion between us, and among you, as to the quality of the finished product, still we do the best we can under the circumstances. (Laughter.) Our methods are not always those, perhaps, which would commend themselves to you manufacturers, but they are methods which have come down to us from the past; they are methods which, on the whole, both in this country and in every English-speaking country, give fair results

"It is a great pleasure to me to be here to-night and see such a representative gathering as I see before me. I believe that your Manufacturers' Association has not, up to the present time, taken very deep root in the Maritime Provinces. I know that my own Province is ably represented here to-night by two gentlemen whom I have had the pleasure of meeting, but not very numerously represented. I trust if you do meet next year in Halifax that a great deal of interest will be aroused in the Province in regard to the objects of the Association, and that you may on future occasions have more numerous representation from the little Province by the sea. (Cheers.)

RESOURCES OF CANADA.

"Now, with respect to what has been so well and so ably and so eloquently said by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and also by Lord Strathcona with regard to the extent of the resources of Canada, I wish to agree in what they have said, and particularly to say that to a man coming, as I do, from the Maritime Provinces, there can be no greater object lesson than a trip across the continent. A man living in Halifax goes through to the Province of Ontario, across the fertile plains which have been spoken of. He goes the ocean distance which separates Halifax from the Motherland and finds himself still in Canada, and sees the spreading thousand miles towards the setting sun. He crosses the Rocky Mountains and enters British Columbia, and comes to the Pacific, where the West looks out upon the East, and still he is in Canada, and there is nothing that impresses upon one the greatness of the future possibilities of this country more than to take a journey like that from one side of the continent to the other, from one great ocean to the other. (Cheers.)

"I still believe that in this Canada of ours the manufacturing interests of the country, the best—or, at least, equal with those of any other in the country—claim the attention of those in public life. (Hear, hear; cheers.)

FUTURE OF MANUFACTURES.

"We have inexhaustible quantities of coal in my own Province, and in other parts of this country. We have great quantities of iron, we have raw material of various kinds in abundance, and surely if the manufacturing industries of the United States have prospered as they have, if we are of the same race and stock as they are, there is no reason why, in the future, our manufacturing industries cannot be placed on an equally high plane with those of the United States, which they are even now showing to the whole world. (Cheers.) Cherishing, encouraging and protecting the industries of Canada, we are not only true to the interests of Canada herself, but we are true to the interests of the whole Empire. We are trustees in this Empire, or at least a portion of it which is called Canada, and which has been entrusted to us, and we are responsible for its advancement and development, and we would be false to ourselves, nay, we would be false to the whole Empire, if we did not avail ourselves properly of those opportunities which are afforded to us. (Cheers.)

PROTECTING OUR OWN INTERESTS.

"And I also say that I see no reason why we cannot say with the utmost loyalty and the utmost devotion to the Mother Country, and to all parts of the Empire—I do not see that the depression of an industry in Canada, to the possible gain of an industry of a similar kind in the Mother Country is necessarily of any advantage to the Empire.

"Upon us in Canada is imposed a duty, as I have said, of developing our own industries, of seeing that they have fair play. And if we do that work in Canada, if we carry out that project in Canada, I think we can carry it out with the utmost sense of loyalty and devotion to the Empire, which any country or Commonwealth of the British dominions can fairly lay claim to. (Cheers.)

"Now, I do not disguise from myself, when I say that there may be Imperial interests which may, for the time being, and should, for the time being, overshadow the interests of some trade community either in Canada or in any other of the self-governing dependencies of the Empire, but I say in respect to matters of that kind that the trust which has been extended to the great colonies in the past must be left to be dealt with in the future."

Mr. Borden went on to speak of the probable future of Canada and her ultimate place in the British Empire, concluding amid prolonged applause.

OUR MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

Mr. Robert Munro, the newly-elected president, was warmly greeted upon his rising to propose "Our Manufacturing Industries." He said:

"It is no ordinary honor to my esteemed predecessor, Mr. Ellis, to be able to say as he did last evening, that during the year of his presidency the number of manufacturers embraced within our Association, rose from 342 to 825, and that there are 28 more applications on the waiting list to be considered at next Executive. In addition to these there are some hundreds more who will doubtless be on the waiting list ere long. These with their operatives and families, with the addition of such as are otherwise dependent on them, estimated to represent an aggregate of over 2,000,000 of our people, are those we think of when we submit the toast of 'Our Manufacturing Industries.'

"Nor is this all, for in wishing prosperity to our manufacturing industries, we do in no way turn our back on our agricultural, our mining, or other industries.

"When, for example, we urge the extension of the harbor of Montreal, we do no violence to Quebec, Halifax or St. John, we know that our growth assures theirs, and so in like manner as our manufacturers extend we demand material from our mines, forests, and other channels, and we also furnish to our agriculturists their nearest and best market.

SUCCESS TO OUR PEOPLE.

"In asking success to our industries, therefore, we are asking success to our people generally, as well as growth and development to our country. The growing strength of this Association is as I said, most honoring to Mr. Ellis, and those associated with him, as evidencing their lively and persistent interest in the affairs of the Association; but beyond all the labors of the Executive the figures manifest a living impelling energy pulsating in the manufacturing concerns of the country.

"I do not know whether any of the honorable members of the Government who have shown their kindly interest by being present with us, will admit us to a preliminary private view of the figures to which we are looking forward with much solicitude (I refer to the manufacturing census), but we are quite sure that these figures (always provided, the manufacturers have uniformly cooperated with the Government in procuring them), will exhibit a percentage of progress in the last decade to be met with in no other country in the world.

VALUE OF A SMALL FACTORY.

"The value to the country of our great factories is, I think, better measured by the smaller. When one comes to know intimately the value to a little town of what may be a very unpretentious factory, which pours its fortnightly blessing of well-earned wages on the little community; I say, when we note this intimately, we begin to realize the gain to the larger centres afforded by such establishments as they possess. A gain not to be measured simply by the amount of the fortnightly contribution, but by the fact that it is perennial, an ever-returning blessing. Turning from the operative to the manufacturer. Who is he?

He is a man who has Faith in himself,

Faith in his methods or processes,

Faith in his products,

Faith in his country,

And who, generally speaking, backs his faith by every dollar he owns.

A BUSINESS UNION PURELY.

"We are not, therefore, surprised to learn that the membership of this Association represents a capital of $200,000,000. This estimate I have from our secretary, who tells me it is within the mark.

"Now, in banding together, we have (as mentioned by our late president), nothing to do with making or maintaining prices, and if we have nothing to do with prices, neither have we to do with politics. We are not a political association in any manner of way—we are a purely business organization. Our essential bond of union is that we are directly interested in manufactures, and our object in uniting is to extend and develop that which has proved of the greatest material advantage to the country.

"In the prosecution of our work, tariff matters force themselves upon us and are discussed by men of all shades of all political opinion. Now, I wish to make clear that as an association we do not engage to endorse the views of any and every member. We do invite our members to avail themselves of our help in every reasonable way, but all fiscal matters are dealt with by our Tariff Committee, not on the representations of any section, but after united discussion among themselves of members interested in every phase of the question

TARIFF REPRESENTATIONS.

"The weakness of trade representations made to the Government is that they represent only one side of the question, whereas we had ample illustration this morning of the more moderate and more practicable conclusions arrived at as a result of the discussion of very complex questions by all the parties interested in their different phases.

"The result of such discussion is invariably a compromise, adjusting as far as possible the interests of each.

"The union of the various branches of industry places at the disposal of our Tariff Committee and Executive Council such facilities for determining the essential needs of the various industries that the endorsement of the council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association cannot fail to weigh heavily with the public, and, in the light of the enormous interests involved, will not be lightly set aside by our Government, so long as we strive faithfully and loyally to learn the true bearing of these questions which are of the greatest interest to the entire community.

FUTURE OF MANUFACTURING.

"Speaking for those whom you have to-day chosen to lead in the great work of the Association, I venture to say that we feel most keenly the responsibility attaching to the faithful discharge of our duty to the membership and the industrial community, but we are cheered by the knowledge that behind us there is so vast a store of material, that the possibilities of our Dominion as a manufacturing country are so tremendous that we go forward to our duties full of confidence and hope.

"And while those vast stores of material are at our disposal, so do we long to see more and more labor employed in the manufacture, the transportation, and the exportation, too, of the products of such material, and so long do we desire all Dominion manufacturers to band together under the banner of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to devise measures for removing hindrances, for raising the standard of excellence, and generally for the greater material advantage of the country, of which we are all so proud.

"I have the honor to couple with this toast the names of Honorable Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and the Honorable Mr. Paterson, Minister of Customs, to both of whom our Executive and members are ever indebted for a patient hearing of the troubles that perplex the manufacturer."

HON. W. S. FIELDING.

Hon. W. S. Fielding was very heartily applauded as he rose to respond to the toast.

He spoke as follows :

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen,—I thank you most sincerely for the very kind manner in which my name was associated with this toast. This important toast was ably presented and was very cordially received, and I do think I have some difficulty in knowing exactly how I am to associate myself with the toast. Perhaps more difficulty than some of the gentlemen who preceded me. I have had a little experience in Cabinet making, but it was in a very small sphere, a little Province down east, and, therefore, I have not even the excuse of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who has been a Cabinet maker, nor of my friend, Mr. Borden, who expects to be a Cabinet maker at some distant date.

"I believe the interests of the Manufacturers' Association are and ought to be seriously considered by the members of the Cabinet, and that we ought to do all that we can for the manufacturing interests of the Dominion of Canada. I want to thank you very sincerely, Mr. Chairman and members of the Association, not for the opportunity of making a speech—I could gladly pass that over to some of my colleagues, who like it better than I do—but I want to thank you for the opportunity that has been given me to meet so many of the industrial life of the Dominion of Canada. I think I shall hold as the most valuable experience in my public life the fact that my official capacity has given me an opportunity time and again frequently of meeting the men who in one capacity are controlling the capital, the skill and the labor which make up the great industrial army of Canada. I am afraid that our acquaintance has not always been mutually agreeable. I am afraid that even in this room to-night there may be one or two people who may have come to Ottawa and submitted something to the Minister of Finance which was not acted upon." After telling a story of a good deacon who had a wicked partner who was to blame for all that went wrong, he said : "Well, I think in this business, as between members of Parliament, Ministers and their colleagues, there must be a wicked partner to blame, and that is why they have a Minister of Finance. (Laughter.) I have no doubt there are many members of Parliament who could play the role of the good deacon. They will say we would like to do it for you, but the Minister of Finance stands in the way.

"Well, I want to say to my friends whom I have that such pleasing associations as we have here I would like to continue, and would like to treat you as nicely as I can.

TARIFF DIFFICULTIES.

"In relation to the great manufacturing industries, I will say that this is not a question of tariff, but it is a question that must be one of compromise between extremes. There are extreme views upon commercial difficulties which would lead to difficulties. There are men, there may be some here to-night, whose views on commercial questions would lead them to place the tariff so high that serious trouble would come because you would arouse such hostility to the great consuming mass of the country that there would be no chance of that stability of tariff which we desire and which my honored chief spoke of to-night as being of so much importance. Then there are other men who would carry their theories of political economy to such a point that they would discourage industry, and interfere with legitimate interests, with—I might almost say—vested rights. We stand for the happy medium between these extremes.

TARIFF LARGELY OUT OF POLITICS.

"A friend whom I met here to-night, an honored member of your Association, said: 'I want the tariff to be out of politics.' So do I; nay, more, I venture to say, and I hope I can say it without going beyond the line which no man should pass beyond at this non-political union, but I hope I can say that the tariff is largely out of politics to-day—(hear, hear)—and that if you will take the trouble to read the discussions at Ottawa you will come to the conclusion that there is not much difference of opinion between the two great political parties in Canada upon this great question. Both parties have had to yield up something, and, as a result, we have to-day a tariff policy which may not be perfect, but which, in the main, is helping out the prosperity of this Dominion, and I am glad to be able to say that in helping out the prosperity of the Dominion generally, it is helping out the manufacturing interests. My friend said to me to-night that he would like to have the results of the manufacturing industry as disclosed in the census. Well, this will all come, but I want to tell him that it is not new, for the books of the quarter of last year, when they are published, will show the prosperous business of your home market, and how you have had exports of manufactures to the wide world to a larger extent than any previous year in the history of Canada, and without advertising the exports of Canadian manufactures to the Canadian markets. (Hear, hear.)

"Surely, sir, that's something of which you may be proud. I venture to hope that as the years roll on the tariff will, to a large degree, be kept out of politics. I know how difficult it is to keep it out. I know how difficult it is to allude to the matter here to-night without passing beyond the ground which one should occupy. I believe it would be a mistaken policy for you to attempt to establish a tariff policy in this country which would antagonize the great consuming masses of the country. If I should turn over the business of making a tariff to a committee so intelligent and so able as the Tariff Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association I should find you differed largely among yourselves; you would have almost—(No, no, no). No; well then, my friend told me what was not the case. He gave me erroneous reports, for I may tell you that he said you had almost as many differences as we have in Parliament; but, even if you were able to agree, if you should agree on a common policy, then you should remember that there are several millions of this country not represented at the convention, and it would be a difficult thing to get them to agree to a common policy on the particular goods in which you are interested, and so, I say, not only in the interests of the country generally, but also in the interests of the manufacturing industries themselves, to avoid these extremes which are sure to cause trouble, and to avoid keeping the tariff out of trouble for many years to come.

THE WOOLLEN INDUSTRY.

A Voice—"What about the woollen industry?" (Cheers.)

Mr. Fielding—"I do not think, Mr. Chairman, it would be wise, upon an occasion like this, that I should attempt to discuss that particular industry. (Hear, hear; cheers.)

"I have a theory on this tariff question. It is not new; it is older than I am. It is not my particular theory, but it is a good theory, and I think with the best assistance of a good Government it would be of great benefit to Canada. It is to fill up the vacant lands in the Northwest. Give us land, not empty, but filled with prosperous and patriotic farmers, and this is the best policy for encouraging the manufacturing industries of this country. (Hear, hear.) I hope and trust, sir, that that policy, which all parties in Canada are committed to to-day, will be carried out, and that we shall find that in the building up of the manufacturing industries we are building up also our common country. (Cheers.)

THE VISIT TO HALIFAX.

"I want to say how pleased I was to hear the suggestion of my friend Mr. Ellis to-night, that you were going to move down by the sea. This Association met a year ago in Toronto, and this year they meet in the great city of Montreal, and next year they are going to move down east to make a visit to Halifax. There is a story told of a little railroad down east, about four miles long, of which the president went to Mr. Van Horne—he was not Sir William Van Horne then—and asked for an exchange of courtesies that meant an exchange of passes. Mr. Van Horne went to look for the railway on the map, but the man said: 'Don't look for my railroad on the map; it is not there. It is not as long as yours, but it is just as wide.' So I want to say to you, that the city of Halifax is not as big as the city of Montreal, but you will find that the heart of Halifax is warm, and Haligonian hospitality is as broad and generous as that of Montreal, and what stronger compliment can I pay it?

BUY HOME-MADE GOODS.

"I have one thought further to add, and I will close. You may differ as regards the policy of Governments in relation to manufacturers in Canada. You may have a difference of opinion as to this, and I want to say to-night that I do not believe the people of Canada have done their duty by the private purchase of the Canadian-manufactured article. It is a misfortune that we should still hang on to the old idea that a thing must be better if we will only bring it from a distance. There is the old saying, 'Distant hills are green,' and 'Distance lends enchantment to the view.' I know how prone people in Canada are to buy foreign goods, not because they are any better, but because that seems to be the right thing—to buy goods that are imported.

"Our Gracious Queen, on the occasion of the coronation, has expressed the opinion that the people of England should honor the coronation by dressing in the products of English mills and English factories. Let us take that hint to heart of the people of England. No matter what Governments may be, they are sometimes better, sometimes worse, let us show that we are loyal citizens, loyal to the factories of the country, by purchasing Canadian goods in this coronation year, and that we are voicing the feeling of every loyal and patriotic Canadian." (Prolonged cheering.)

HON. WILLIAM PATERSON.

Hon. William Paterson, who was also cordially greeted when he rose to reply, said that he felt somewhat at home among manufacturers. He had been in the manufacturing business in a small way, until he had been called upon by the head of the Government, to take charge of the Department closely connected with the manufacturing interests. He would have preferred to remain a manufacturer, but he now had charge of those institutions in every city and town where obliging officials waited to receive the willing and anxious tribute of the citizens of this country. While he could say nothing as yet of the results shown by the industrial census, he advised all live manufacturers and business men to consult the statistics sent out monthly by the Customs Department showing the exports and imports. The statistical information thus secured was distributed in a manner more prompt and efficient than in any other country on the globe. (Cheers.) These statistics of manufactured goods, however, did not include all manufactured goods or the products of factories. The ham and cured-meat business, while it came under the class of cattle and their products, certainly required factories for the curing of the meat. Again, butter and cheese went as dairy products, in a separate class, whereas they were really manufactured products. The Minister spoke of the increase in the exports and imports of the country and pointed out that, comparing the trade of 20 years ago, for a term of five years, for instance from 1882 to 1886, inclusively, it would be found that during the three months, ending October 1, of this year, the exports were greater than in any full year of the five above mentioned. He was most sanguine in his expectations for the continued prosperity of the country, and the development of our manufacturing and other industries. Canada was a great country, with illimitable possibilities and he believed that we were called upon to surpass the United States before many years. Let us be engaged in whatever way we may, whatever our differences of opinion, we should try to work with the end of building up this beloved Canada of ours, and making it the greatest manufacturing and agricultural country on the globe." (Cheers.)

CANADIAN COMMERCE.

The toast of "Canadian Commerce" was next proposed by Mr. Henry Miles, president of the Board of Trade. He coupled with it the name of Hon. Mr. Tarte.

Mr. Miles began by announcing that, owing to the unavoidable absence of Hon. Senator Drummond, who was to have proposed the toast, he was asked to take his place at the last moment. Mr. Miles proceeded to speak of the wants and requirements of the "Commerce of Canada."

HON. MR. TARTE.

Hon. Mr. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, in rising to respond to the toast, was given a hearty round of cheers. He said:

"How can any one help loving Canada? The country is supplied with all the raw material necessary for the building up of a nation. (Cheers.)

"Canada for Canadians!" That is the main doctrine of my political creed. Let us be Canadians in all questions. Let us be Canadians in the transportation question. We have encouraged a policy for the iron and lead industry. Cannot it be possible to devise a policy to make a port for Canadians? Only 10,000,000 out of the 40,000,000 bushels of grain grown in Canada this year will be exported by a Canadian route. This is not right. We have not done our duty in the past. I am responsible for what the Conservative party did in the past, and I am responsible for what I am doing now.

"We have neglected our harbors in the past. We have neglected the port of Montreal. We are doing better now, but it is a difficult job to please everyone.

THE ELEVATOR PROMISED.

"You'll have that elevator, which may God bless—(laughter)—as long as it only stands on its legs. (Loud cheers and laughter.) They call me the 'enfant terrible' of my party, and I suppose I am.

"The United States takes us by the throat every time in trade matters. I cannot see why our Canadian Customs should not be as self-protecting as theirs. (Cheers.)

"I care not about words nor theories. The first principle is to defend ourselves. Do not think that I belong to a Government which thinks alike. You have no idea what a Cabinet meeting is. They fight like blazes sometimes. (Loud laughter.) I have been brought up in a protectionist school and I have not renounced my faith. (Cheers.)

"The Finance Minister thinks I spend too much money, but let us have confidence in ourselves.

"It may be at election times we make fools of ourselves, but that don't last."

The Honorable Minister concluded with an appeal to the manufacturers for faith in Canada and in the gradual development of the country into a great nation.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P., proposed the toast of "Technical Education." In speaking to the toast, he took occasion to say that all true industrial progress was closely identified with technical education. This branch had been neglected in the past, but, through the munificence of Sir W. C. Macdonald, a very great advance was now apparent. Sir William was a manufacturer, and his generous gift in the cause of technical education has done much to advance the industrial development of the Dominion. Technical education should be encouraged so as to give help and encouragement to the men who, as manufacturers, had invested so largely in the industries of the country. In the matter of technical education, he and his colleagues would do all possible in Parliament, and Canadians to-day should be ready for every emergency.

UNIVERSITY PRINCIPALS' REPLY.

The toast was responded to by Principal Loudon, of Toronto University, and Principal Peterson, of McGill. Principal Loudon remarked on the slow growth of interest in technical education. Even in Germany, where such an advance along this line had been made, the beginnings had been insignificant.

Principal Peterson, in representing McGill, was glad to be among those whose prosperity had brought them together. Regarding technical education, much was being done in Montreal, thanks mainly to private enterprise. Much might be said on such a big subject, but, so far as McGill was concerned, it resembled somewhat ancient Rome, which history taught the Emperor Augustus had found to be built of brick, and he had left it marble; while Sir W. Macdonald had found it McGill—well, McGill had left it Macdonald.

SISTER ORGANIZATIONS.

The toast of "Sister Organizations" was proposed by Mr. C. Birge, of Hamilton. In doing so he thanked the city of Montreal and her citizens for their hearty reception, and dwelt upon the necessity of national pride. Mr. L. E. Geoffrion, President of the Chamber de Commerce, responded in a neat speech. He said that the French Board of Trade was delighted when it was learned that the manufacturers had decided to meet in Montreal. He invited the visitors to have a look around Quebec and search out opportunities for investing capital of which they are many.

Mr. Kemp, M.P., fittingly proposed the toast of the "City of Montreal." "It gives me great pleasure to propose this toast, coming as I do from Toronto, a rival city. But I look upon Toronto and Montreal as two great national cities. Manufacturers are local but their industries are national. If the whole country prospers then Montreal and Toronto prosper. I have been asked not to forget to express the gratification of the visitors for Montreal's grand reception, and particularly for this banquet." He emphasized the importance of spending money on Montreal's harbor. He coupled with this toast the name of Mayor Prefontaine, who was happy in his reply and invited the manufacturers to come again.

The banquet closed with the hurling aloft in a horizontal position several of the dignified visitors, including Messrs. R. L. Borden, and Hon. Messrs. Paterson and Fielding. Sir Wilfrid Laurier escaped.

FINISHING TOUCHES TO THE CONVENTION.

Although the meetings of the Association were over, the Executive lost no opportunity to immediately start on another year's work and on Thursday morning a conference was held with the members of the Government in the city.

Among the Ministers in attendance were the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and Hon. William Paterson, Minister of Customs, showing considerable interest in the somewhat lengthy discussions. The Minister of Finance showed much interest in the woollen question, and the resolution passed the previous day upon the subject.

Messrs. Paterson and Fielding discussed at length with prominent members of the committee the present condition of trade in iron and steel, and the change asked for in the tariff on oatmeal.

It is understood that the resolution with regard to the increase in the tariff on woollens will be further considered by the Government, and that when next it comes before members of the Cabinet it will be accompanied by certain trade schedules asked for by the Finance Minister and the Minister of Customs.

By the smiling faces of the members of the committee, after the conclusion of the conference, it seemed as though the manufacturers thought that the Ministers were coming over to their way of thinking on the subject.

Ex-President Ellis, in an interview after the conclusion of the conference, said:

"We have had a most satisfactory interview with the members of the Government at present in this city. In fact, I don't think our Association ever had a more pleasant conference with Ministers of the Crown. They showed the keenest interest in the matters under discussion, and seemed to thoroughly appreciate the situation. Some of the bigger subjects, such as the increase demanded on woollens, were not exhaustively discussed, owing to the impossibility of completely covering the ground in the time at our disposal. We are well satisfied, however, with the conference."

In the afternoon many members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association visited McGill University. They also paid a visit, on special invitation, to the new Elder, Dempster & Co. steamship Lake Simcoe, then in port. Many of the manufacturing establishments were also thrown open for inspection.

TEA-SEED OIL AND OIL-CAKE.

MANY attempts have been made by tea-planters to create a market for tea-seed and the fixed oil obtainable from it. Thus, in 1885 the seed was put upon the London market under the name of "taune" as an oilseed, but although the material excited considerable interest, the prices obtainable were not sufficient to cover the cost of importation. These products have, at the instance of the Indian Tea Association, recently been examined by Mr. H. H. Mann, B.Sc., and his report is published in the September number of The Indian Agriculturist. The seed had previously been examined by Mr. D. Hooper, who found that it contained 22.9 per cent. of a fixed oil, 9 per cent. of saponin, 8.5 per cent. of albuminoids, and 3.3 per cent. of mineral matter.

The fixed oil can be obtained by crushing the seed between hot rollers to the extent of about 26 per cent., but a better oil in smaller quantity is obtained by cold pressure. Produced in this manner it is a clear, light yellow, non-drying oil, possessing a more or less acrid taste. It is in common use among the Chinese for cooking purposes, and it might also be used in the tea districts of India in this way. It produces a soap of good quality which is hard and white, and this appears to be the most satisfactory use to which it could be applied. The saponin which was obtained from the seed by Mr. Hooper is a white amorphous substance, acrid in taste and leaving a tingling sensation in the throat. It is somewhat poisonous, and since it is entirely retained in the residue after the expression of the oil it is obvious that the oil-cake cannot be used as a cattle food.

It only remains, therefore, to consider the value of the cake as a manure. In this respect it is distinctly inferior to most oil-cakes in content of nitrogen and phosphorus, as the following table shows:

|                    | Nitrogen(per cent.) | Phosphoricacid (percent.) |
|--------------------|-------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Mustard cake ..... | 4 to 5                  | 2 to 3                            |
| Linseed cake ..... | 4 to 5.5                | 1.5 to 3                          |
| Castor cake .....  | 5.5 to 6.5              | 2 to 3                            |
| Cotton cake .....  | 3.5 to 4.5              | 3 to 4                            |
| Tea-seed cake..... | 1.92                    | .58                               |

It will be seen that, as a manure, the cake produced by pressing tea-seed is of a very inferior character, and would hardly pay for carriage over very long distances, although it is quite good enough to use locally. Mr. Hooper has suggested, apparently because the cake is supposed to contain saponin, that a decoction of it might be used to spray plants for the destruction of insect pests, and this method of utilizing the cake, Mr. Mann thinks, might well be tried, although there are at present no data available with regard to the utility of saponin-containing plants for such a purpose.

It might be remarked, in conclusion, that three small samples of tea-seed oil were received in the Scientific Department of the Imperial Institute for examination some time ago, but the amount sent was too small to admit of a careful examination of the oil and the determination of its properties, and, so far, larger quantities have not been submitted.

CANADIAN EGGS AT GLASGOW.

Attached is letter received by Jas. Hillman, clerk in Geo. R. Whitton's store at Rodney, the result of writing his address on an egg when making a shipment of eggs:

2 Globe, Craigie Road, Riccarton, Kilmarnock, Ayrshire.

J. R. HILLMAN,—SIR,—When turning over a case of Canadian eggs I found one pencilled with a written request to the effect that when the said eggs had been broken I had to write to the writer. Your egg was dated September 5, and broken by me on October 23 and was quite fresh, after being seven weeks in case; in fact, all in the case were quite fresh and no complaints about them. Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience regarding your egg trade, etc. We are selling country eggs at present bought from farmers who deal in our shop at 2s. and 2s. 2d. per doz., and Irish eggs 1s. 2d. upwards, and Canadian 1s. and 1s. 2d., and Danish 1s. I paid a visit to the Canadian section of the exhibition in Glasgow, and I think it one of the finest represented by any of the countries there. I have heard a good deal and read a good deal about Canada, but never have visited it. I would like very much if you would let me know something about the grocery and provision trade out there. Trusting to hear from you at your earliest convenience. I am,

Yours truly,

ROBERT HALL.

ESTATE OF THE LATE W. H. GILLARD.

The late W. H. Gillard, of Hamilton, left an estate valued at $91,000, of which $82,000 is personalty. Application for probate of the will has been made by the following executors: Mrs. Gillard, James Gillard, Wm. Marshall, F. C. Bruce, M.P., and S. F. Lazier, K.C.

The property has all been bequeathed to the widow and family, and directions for the carrying on of the wholesale grocery business of W. H. Gillard & Co. are in the will. The probate of the will will be begun in a few days.

EXPORTS OF BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The total shipments of cheese from Canada for the first nine months of 1901, amounted to 1,744,360 boxes, while for the same period last year they were 1,980,484 boxes. This is a decrease of 236,122 boxes. For the first nine months of this year the butter shipments total 374,572 boxes, which is an increase over last year of 126,047 boxes. The decrease in the exports of cheese represents about 188,913,600 lb. of milk, while the increase in the exports of butter is equal to 180,693,800 lb. of milk.

Among the exports from Canada to the United States last week were 26,747 lb. of "Salada" Ceylon tea.

TRADING STAMPS IN OTTAWA.

A largely attended meeting of the members of the Retail Grocers' Association of Ottawa, held Monday, it was unanimously decided to take steps to do away with the present system of trading stamps. The by-law that was recently passed by the Toronto City Council, prohibiting the use of trading stamps, was read, and the grocers were in favor of a similar by-law being passed by the local council. The latter will be waited on at an early date by a deputation from the association, and will be asked to pass a measure that will put the trading-stamp practice out of business.

A clause was added to the constitution allowing the privileges of the association to other business men as associate members. Those who they propose to secure as associate members are principally wholesale and retail fruiterers, bakers, flour dealers and wholesale grocers. It is proposed that this clause will enable the association to form a kind of business men's club. The association rooms in the Fruit Exchange building will be fitted up for this purpose. The rooms will be open every night so that business men may gather in them for social intercourse and for the informal discussion of business affairs. It is hoped that as a result good feeling will be promoted and needed reforms will be gradually brought about. Of course, the Retail Grocers' Association will preserve its individuality and will hold its regular meetings as heretofore.

The meeting was held in Mr. G. W. Hunt's private office, which he has kindly placed at the disposal of the association until its rooms are finished.

FIRE IN TOBACCO FACTORY.

Fifteen thousand dollars' worth of plug and cut tobacco and unmanufactured stock, was either destroyed or hopelessly damaged by a fire that broke out shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Dominion Tobacco Company's establishment, 80-94 Papineau avenue, Montreal. One hundred and fifty men and women will be temporarily out of employment. The loss it is announced by Messrs. Goldstein, proprietors of the concern, is fully covered by insurance. It is estimated that all hands will be at work again in less than 10 or 15 days.

The Carthage Butter and Cheese Factory in the Township of Mornington, Perth county, Ont., has been purchased by J. T. Morrison, who had previously been in charge of the Spring Creek Factory, north of Woodstock, for four years.

POSITION OF TEA MARKET IN U.S.

[From New York Journal of Commerce.]

THE following statement has been handed us for publication by a well-known representative of the tea trade. The statistics are official, except those for current season, which are estimated, and have the endorsement of several leading members of the trade :

"The present strong condition of the tea market after a depression extending over two years is due to causes which are easily traced and which will repay careful study.

"When the duty on tea was imposed, in June, 1898, all branches of the trade were carrying stocks and there were many million pounds of duty-free tea distributed throughout the country. During the last three years these stocks have gradually been depleted, and now, outside of bonded warehouses, the country is quite bare of supplies. This is not only a matter of common knowledge but is shown in the regular increase and growing steadiness of the withdrawals, which must now closely approximate to actual consumption, for all branches of the trade have been buying from hand-to-mouth for a long time and duty is only paid when tea is actually required for immediate use.

"Usually when the market is high here teas are shipped in from London, but this season on account of short crops in India and Ceylon prices in London are above New York values, so that source of supply will not be available.

"The following are the figures for the United States for the last three seasons and estimate for the current season from the most recent reliable sources. All are made up from the 1st of June to the 30th of May for each season :

|                                                                                            | Season1898-1899. |

| Deficit imports, lb.....                                                                   | 16,000,000           |
| (Average withdrawals, $7\frac{1}{2}$ million lb. per month—the rate of the first quarter.) |                      |

"The periodical agitation for removal of the duty has heretofore been reflected by temporary decrease in withdrawals, but in the future this cannot be the case, as with hand-to-mouth buying over a long period the trade does not carry enough stock to tide it over and admit of lighter buying. There are no reserves and therefore lighter buying is not now feasible.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES, 1902.

THE undersigned will receive tenders up to noon on MONDAY, 25TH INST., for supplies of butchers' meat, creamery butter, flour, oatmeal, potatoes, cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1902, viz. :—

At the Asylums for the insane in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg and Orillia; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto; the Reformatory for Boys, Penetanguishene; the Institution for Deaf and Dumb, Belleville, and the Blind at Branford.

Exception—Tenders are not required for the supply of meat to the asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent. of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Honorable the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfillment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish such security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

HEAVY RUSH FOR SPICES.

S. H. Ewing & Sons, Montreal, say they have not experienced such a rush for spices and coffees in years; it has been utterly impossible to cope with the inordinate amount of business that has been coming into their hands. They are now working their mills night and day, and the trade may rest assured that their wants will be filled with all possible despatch.

NEW CANNING CO.'S OUTPUT.

The Owen Sound Canning Co., Limited, have for the first time put their goods on the market. They have nicely labeled cans, the background being of blue and the lettering in white and gold, with a picture in the centre of a corn-cob, apples, tomatoes, or whatever the contents of the tin may contain, and the words: "Georgian Bay Corn (or whatever the contents may be) is noted for freshness and superior flavor."

POTATOES AND ONIONS WANTED.

There seems to be a good demand for good potatoes, R. W. Hannah, Toronto Board of Trade, is taking all the good potatoes which are offered. If you have anything choice, quote him the lowest price delivered at Toronto in car lots. He is also open to buy a carload of good "Yellow Danver" onions, in barrels preferred.

CLASSIFICATION OF GROCERIES.

Lieut.-Col. Davidson, of Toronto, and Mr. H. C. Beckett, of Hamilton, representing the wholesale grocers of Ontario, were in Montreal on November 12, conferring with Mr. G. M. Bosworth, freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, regarding freight classification of groceries.

Why Don't You Call It "ROYAL RED ROSE" Hereafter ?

This is the suggestion offered by a bright advertising man when writing me a few days ago, concerning the fact that RED ROSE TEA was used by the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York.

The name doesn't matter—it's good tea people want—that is why so many people use it, and why it was selected for the use of the Royal Party.

COARSE GRAINS AND CEREALS HIGH.

THE market for coarse grains has been rapidly advancing for some weeks, and the end is seemingly not yet. Stocks in all hands have been reduced very low, and Montreal grain exporters and wholesale houses have found it exceedingly difficult this week to secure supplies to fill consumptive wants. The short crop of corn, coupled with the heavy demand for oats for South Africa, has affected all cereals.

Oats have advanced 3 to 4c. during the past week and are selling in Montreal in round lots at 47½ to 48c. per bushel for No. 2. In sympathy with the firmer feeling in oats, has been a further advance in oatmeal. Western millers are now quoting on a basis of $4.90 f.o.b. Montreal, and while transactions have occurred at lower figures, wholesale houses are selling at $5.10 to $5.15 per bbl. in small lots. Corn is also firmer, and paper reports are to the effect that farmers west of Chicago look for an advance to $1 per bush. This is, of course, an extreme view, but, nevertheless, the market is tending upward. Cornmeal goes with it, and, although the demand is quiet just now, the Montreal quotation in round lots is $1.85 to $1.90 per bag and $3.70 to $3.75 per bbl.

Although peas are quoted nominally at 81c. afloat, grocers who want boiling peas are called upon to pay $1.10 to $1.15, round lots selling at 98 to 99c. The difficulty of getting clean peas free from bugs is increasing every year until now it seems to be absolutely impossible to get the clear first-class article. There have been northern sections of Ontario that provided bugless peas, but even this district is now seriously affected. Split peas are worth $2.10 to $2.12½ per bag in round lots and $4.30 in bbls.

All feeds are likewise scarce and higher. Ontario bran in carlots is worth $17.50 to $18.00 and shorts are advanced to $20.00. Moullies likewise show rises, and in a jobbing way are quoted at $20.50 to $26 50, about $1 higher than two weeks ago.

OUR CHEESE WILL BE WANTED.

ON Wednesday one of the shrewdest of our Canadian exporters cabled his house here: "Cheese will be wanted and is good property."

This will be gratifying news to Montreal exporters who are holding large stocks of cheese costing around 10c. Our informant has been on the market for some weeks, and should be in a position to make a reliable and impartial judgment. Upon what considerations he bases his decision we do not know, but it is altogether probable that he finds English stocks rather short.

There is no doubt the English cheese importer has contracted a chronic "scare," and has refused to lay in a fall stock as he generally does, leaving the goods here upon the Canadians' hands. But the consumption must go on at present prices and the cheese must be wanted, if not as soon, then later. Buyers on the other side have overestimated Montreal stocks, which do not run over 400,000 boxes. The fall production has been light, and as our total shipments for the season are 355,667 boxes behind those of last year, when prices were much higher, there are to be no stocks go begging when the demand comes, as it inevitably must.

AN OBJECT LESSON FOR BUSINESS MEN.

ONE thing about the recent elections in New York that is most significant is the fact that public opinion has been aroused.

Communities that are neither hot nor cold in regard to the matters of public administration can no more have good government than can a stream whose source is foul furnish pure water. New York may not be as corrupt as some of the opponents of Tammany maintain it is, but that it is corrupt, and that to an alarming extent, is true beyond all question. Had public opinion been active instead of passive such a condition of affairs as now exists in New York would not have been possible.

Tammany has become a despot, but it is a despot by the votes of the people. In these days when every man has a vote the people themselves have no one to blame but themselves if they are governed by corrupt or incapable men. The recent event in New York has proved this. It was not that a new class of citizens was brought in to turn Tammany out. It was the old citizens who had been aroused that did it.

And in the work of cleaning out the Augean stalls none took a more active part in the work than the business men of New York. Seth Low, the man who led the forces of reform, is a successful business man, and we may look for his administration to be a businesslike one.

The experience of the business men in New York should be an incentive to the business men in Canada. In no city or town in this country are affairs probably so corruptly administered as in New York, but we know that in many of them incapacity at least abounds. And it is an effect of which apathy is the cause.

Six or seven weeks hence the electors in the different municipalities in Ontario will be called upon to elect their councillors or aldermen, and it is to be hoped the business men will arouse themselves and select men of integrity and of businesslike ability.

A CLASSIFICATION THAT DOES NOT CLASSIFY.

IN his annual address at Montreal last week, President Ellis gave some attention to the classification of the exports of manufactured products in The Trade and Navigation Returns. Under the classification in those Returns the total exports of manufactured products were $16,012,502, or about 10 per cent. of the total export trade of the country. Referring to this, Mr. Ellis said: "I emphasize the fact that our exports of manufactured goods comprise not merely 10 per cent., but approximately 40 per cent. of the total."

It is evident to everyone who has taken the trouble to analyze the statistics appertaining to manufactured products that the present classification in The Trade and Navigation Returns by no means gives justice to the export trade in that particular branch of industry. The articles which come under the official classification of "manufactures" are as follows:

|                                         |                                                      |
|-----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|
| Agricultural implements.                | Hardware.                                            |
| Books, pamphlets, maps, etc.            | Manufactures of iron and steel.                      |
| Biscuits and bread.                     | Jewellers' sweepings.                                |
| Bricks.                                 | Junk.                                                |
| Buttons.                                | Lamps and lanterns.                                  |
| Candles.                                | Leather.                                             |
| Carriages.                              | Boots and shoes.                                     |
| Carriages, parts of.                    | Harness and saddlery.                                |
| Carts.                                  | Lime.                                                |
| Wagons.                                 | Liquors of various kinds.                            |
| Bicycles.                               | Molasses.                                            |
| Bicycle parts.                          | Musical instruments.                                 |
| Other vehicles.                         | Oakum.                                               |
| Charcoal.                               | Oilcake.                                             |
| Cement.                                 | Oil.                                                 |
| Cinders.                                | Photographs.                                         |
| Clay, manufactures of.                  | Plumbago.                                            |
| Clothing and wearing apparel.           | Rags.                                                |
| Coke.                                   | Sails.                                               |
| Cordage, rope and twine.                | Ships sold to other countries.                       |
| Cotton fabrics.                         | Soap.                                                |
| Cottons, other.                         | Starch.                                              |
| Cotton waste.                           | Stone, ornamental and building.                      |
| Drugs, chemicals and medicine.          | Sugar.                                               |
| Dye stuffs.                             | Sugarhouse syrup.                                    |
| Electrotypes.                           | Tar.                                                 |
| Extract of hemlock bark.                | Manufactures of tin.                                 |
| Explosives and fulminates of all kinds. | Tobaccoes, Cigars and cigarettes.                    |

| Fertilizers.                            | Vinegar.                                             |
| Fur manufactures.                       | Wall paper.                                          |
| Glass and glassware.                    | Barrels.                                             |
| Grindstones, manufactured.              | Household furniture.                                 |
| Gypsum or plaster, ground.              | Doors, sashes and blinds.                            |
| Hats and caps.                          | Matches and match splints.                           |
| Household effects.                      | Mouldings, trimmings and other house furnishings.    |
| Ice.                                    | Pails, tubs, churns and other hollow and woodenware. |
| India rubber manufactures.              | Spool wood and spools.                               |
| Stoves.                                 | Wood pulp.                                           |
| Castings.                               | Woollens.                                            |
| Pig iron.                               |                                                      |
| Machinery and machines.                 |                                                      |
| Scrap iron or steel.                    |                                                      |

Anyone who carefully glances over the above list will readily conclude that there are articles of merchandise which do not appear there that are more properly manufactured products than some of those that are thus classified. In The Statistical Year Book, issued under the authority of the Department of Agriculture, the list of articles included under the classification of "manufactures" is much more comprehensive. For example, ashes, treenails, staves, headings, shingles, box shooks and sawn lumber of all kinds are classified under "manufactures," while in The Trade and Navigation Returns they are defined as "products of the forest." This naturally causes a great difference (and one calculated to perplex those not familiar with the method employed in the compilation of the statistics in the two books) in the figures in The Trade and Navigation Returns and those in The Statistical Year Book. For example, in The Statistical Year Book of 1890, the exports of manufactured products for that year were given as $39 397,277, while in The Trade and Navigation Returns the figures were $14 224,287, a difference of 178 per cent. in the returns issued by two different Departments under the same Government! To put it mildly, such a difference is ridiculous.

The fact of the matter is that the whole system of classification should be reorganized, for there are articles now found under nearly every other classification that, strictly speaking, are manufactured products. Take, for example, canned fish. It is now under the fishery classification. Then there are canned vegetables, canned fruits, and cheese, all of which are under the "agricultural products," while canned meats, bacon and hams are to be found under "animals and their products."

As we have already pointed out, the exports of manufactures during the last fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, were $16,012,502. Now, take the articles we have just enumerated, in addition to others, but which, while strictly speaking are manufactured products, are at present under different classifications, and we find that the value of each exported during the fiscal year 1901 was as follows:

|                                       | Value.       |
|---------------------------------------|--------------|
| Canned lobster .....                  | $ 2,283,930 |
| " salmon .....                        | 2,889,480    |
| " mackerel .....                      | 240          |
| " herring .....                       | 818          |
| Butter .....                          | 3,295,528    |
| Cheese .....                          | 20,696,951   |
| Lard .....                            | 58,602       |
| Bacon .....                           | 11,493,868   |
| Hams .....                            | 284,578      |
| Canned meats .....                    | 479,959      |
| Flour .....                           | 1,111,130    |
| Quatmeal .....                        | 467,807      |
| Vegetables, canned or preserved ..... | 43,489       |
| Fruits, canned or preserved .....     | 130,202      |
| Total .....                           | $43,176,582 |

Here is a total of $43,176,582, which, added to the $16,012,502, credited in the official returns as "manufactures," gives an aggregate of $59,189,084. And then we have not taken into consideration ashes, tree nails, staves, headings, shingles, box shooks and sawn lumber, which are accounted manufactured products in the Statistical Year Book.

"Manufacture," according to Webster, "is the process of reducing raw materials to a form suitable for use by the hand, by art, or machinery." In the above table we have placed nothing that will not bear that definition, for everything therein is the product of a factory. And a factory is defined by Webster as a "place where workmen are engaged fabricating goods, wares, or utensils."

Mr. Ellis has done good service in pointing out the inequalities in the present classification of manufactures. It would be infinitely better were there no such classification than that which now does duty for it should be continued. It is to be hoped the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will press the matter upon the authorities at Ottawa until an improvement in the classification is secured.

THE PRICE OF TAPNET FIGS.

IF the business in tapnet figs is continued during the whole season as it is at present, the results are not likely to be satisfactory to the wholesale trade.

The trouble is in regard to price, some of the houses quoting as low as 2¼c. per lb., a figure which dissipates all possibility of a profit. The importations this season are much larger than usual, and although the demand has been good, it is possible that some of those who are quoting the low figures are doing so through fear of the ability of the market to absorb the supply. It is possible, however, that some are doing so through a failure to recognize the actual cost of their goods. Some of the shipments which have come to hand this season for instance have shown a shrinkage of 10 per cent. in weight, a figure sufficient to wipe out the profit unless this loss is taken into account when figuring out the cost.

Whatever may be the cause, however, tapnet figs are being sold at a pretty low figure.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

OREGON PRUNE CROP PROSPECTS.

UNDER date of October 30, Henry A. Townsend, Salem, Ore., writes as follows on the State prune output: "The crop of 1901 will not exceed that of 1898, the only one with which it may be compared to any considerable extent, certainly not nearly so much as three years of age added to the trees and orchards newly come to bearing would have promised. Less than 25,000,000 is now indicated as the total of the Pacific Northwest's production. This is also the statement of the railroad men who know what is moving and to be moved.

"Oregon prunes will be better packed this year than ever, as some eight or ten large well-equipped packing plants are in operation, besides a large number of small houses with only grading machines, and a few appliances for boxing the fruit. All the large houses will process the fruit and present it in a very attractive fashion. In 1900 only a few plants put up processed fruit, but its superiority to untreated fruit is so apparent that a short time will probably see most of the fruit packed in this way, as it keeps better and appears more pleasing to the eye.

"If Oregon prune-growers would add some intelligent methods of advertising the produce and finding new markets to place it in, perhaps the demand would soon absorb the supply as to improve prices. One of the factors to this end will be the lessening of the acreage, as at present prices the owners of considerable orchards will give up the fight and cut down the trees. It is also probable that the annual death rate of trees exceeds the number replanted and new acreage. Perhaps there is some hope for the future of the industry, but with occasional years of no crop, sometimes two in succession, and with an average price like that of the present year, the prospect is not flattering for much profit."

CALIFORNIAN ORANGES RIPENING SLOWLY.

The new crop of oranges, Californian advices state, is ripening much slower than expected, notwithstanding the cool nights following the rain, and there will be few carloads shipped before the 20th. Reports from Porterville also state that the oranges there are not coloring up as rapidly as was anticipated, and that there will probably be few cars shipped from that place before November 9. Prices have not yet been generally named, and it is rather doubtful at just what figures the market will open, but Southern shippers are figuring on the market opening at $2.25 for fancy Riverside Redlands navels, $2 for outside points and $1.50 for fancy seedlings. A good firm market at these prices is expected up to the last of November, when there may be a cut of 15 to 25c. per box. The market opened last year at $2.50 per box.

CONDENSED MILK FIRMER IN THE UNITED STATES.

Commenting on the recent advance in condensed milk in the United States, a leading dealer spoke as follows to a representative of the N.Y. Journal of Commerce: "The advance for the most part is due chiefly to natural causes, namely, the usual shortage of supplies of fresh milk in all sections of the country at this season of the year. In the West, however, the drought cut down the summer pasturage and shortened the supply of milk both for local butter-making and condensing purposes. The little improvement noted of late in the supply has been called upon to make up the shortage in both butter and cheese, with the result that there has been a somewhat greater shortage in supplies for condensing. The higher cost of tin and tinplate has also been a considerable factor in the advances that have been made."

THE COLOMBO TEA MARKET.

Odell & Co., Colombo, Ceylon, in their report of October 5, say: About 26,459 packages have been offered since our last, of which 19,567 packages passed the hammer at an average of 37 cents. The market remains firm for good to fine brokens and low leaf teas, while medium Orange Pekoes and Pekoes are a little easier. Dusts have not been in such good demand and prices have somewhat declined. The quality has fallen off slightly. Shipments for September to the United Kingdom were 6,000,000 lb., and we estimate shipments for October at 8,000,000 lb. The Chamber of Commerce quote shipments from January 1 to September 30, 1901:

|                              | lb. in 1901 | lb. in 1900 |
|------------------------------|-------------|-------------|
| London .....                 | 77,675,383  | 84,375,947  |

THE BRITISH APPLE MARKET.

"Market strong with an upward tendency" is the latest report cabled by Woodall & Co., from Liverpool, regarding the Liverpool apple market. Recently 7,300 barrels of apples have been sold there.

Greenings bringing 18s. 6d. to 23s.; Baldwins, 18s. 6d. to 24s. 6d.; spies, 16s. to 21s. 6d.; russets, 17s. 6d. to 23s. 6d.; Kings, 20s. 6d. to 27s.; seconds, 3s. less. It is cabled from London that the Loyalist is landing apples which are in much better condition than previous cargo.

TRADE WITH TRINIDAD.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has received a report from Mr. Edgar Tripp, Canadian Agent for Trinidad and Tobago, under date of Port of Prince, October 29th, Mr. Tripp speaks of the great boon the regular call of the Canadian steamers has proved to Trinidad's small dependency, Tobago, which is now placed for the first time in its history in steam communication without transshipment for supplies with customers in the Dominion. The trade is not very large at present, but it is growing, and Canada being the first in the field so far as the northern continent is concerned, should reap whatever advantage may be ultimately gained from that fact. Mr. Tripp noticed in a report from Mr. Larke, the Canadian Agent for Australia, that printing paper from the Dominion was selling to advantage there. There is also, Mr. Tripp states, a market for the same material in Trinidad, which might be tried. In 1900 £8,011 was imported, of which £2,749 came from the United Kingdom and £2,623 from France. Mr. Tripp thinks there is also an opening for Canadian live stock if the trade was vigorously pushed. Imports from Canada for the quarter ending Sept. 30th were in almost every item much in advance of those for the corresponding three months in 1900. Butter, cheese, fish, flour, timber and manufactures all showed in the improvement. Among other receipts were 824 gallons of wine in wood. A great deal of light wine is drunk in the island, and there is no reason why Canada should not share in the trade, which is now held principally by France and Spain.

WILL CHARGE STORAGE.

British Columbian salmon dealers, canners and brokers have had a habit which was very embarrassing to the railway companies, of allowing their goods to be in the wharf sheds and railway storehouses for some time before shipment. As a result the railway companies operating from the Pacific Coast have taken joint action in this matter and hereafter will charge storage at the rate of twenty-five cents per ton per month for all salmon lying in their storehouses or wharf sheds.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, November 14, 1901.

GROCERIES.

A FAIRLY good trade is being done in wholesale groceries generally. The arrival of dried fruits ex the second direct steamer, Bellona, has caused quite a little activity around the different warehouses. The feature of trade is a reduction of 10c. in the price of white sugars by the Montreal refineries. No change was made by the Arcadia refinery, which, for the previous week or ten days, had quoted 15c. below the price of the Montreal refineries. Very little business is being done in sugar. In canned goods, there has been no material change in the situation. Prices, as a rule, are steady, but only a moderate business is being done. The coffee market has continued excited, but not much business is being done on account of the high prices that are ruling. Syrups and molasses are in moderate request. Business is fair in spices, and the same is to be said of rice and tapioca. The tea market rules firm, but business is rather light. A slight advance has taken place in currants in Greece, and further appreciation is to be noted in Valencia raisins, according to cable advices from Spain. Very little business is being done in Valencia raisins. Tapnet and natural figs are in good demand, but some complaints are heard this week in regard to the cutting of prices. Business, so far, in dates is quiet. A little business is being done in almonds and filberts, the new crop of which is now on the local market.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in canned goods is much about the same as it was a week ago. The demand for canned tomatoes, peas and corn is still just moderate, and prices rule steady. Quite a business is being done in jams, jellies and marmalades. Owing to the high price of apples the demand seems to be rather better for jams, jellies and marmalades than is usual at this time of the year. There is a small sorting-up demand for peaches, raspberries and strawberries. The movement in salmon continues good, and prices are steady and unchanged, Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30 and Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for 5-case lots and over and $1.45 for less quantities. Cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality. Pink salmon, 95 to $1 a doz.

COFFEE.

The coffee market during the past week has continued to tend upwards in spite of the heavy receipts. At the time of writing, however, a rather easier feeling has developed, due to cable advices reporting rain in Brazil. On the local market there is very little business being done, on account of the high prices that are ruling in sympathy with the outside market. Prices locally are rather firmer. We quote Rio coffee as follows: No. 7, 8c.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for both syrups and molasses continues fair for this time of the year.

See pages 55 and 56 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

Advices from New Orleans report moderate arrivals of new crop molasses, and it is expected that within a few days the crops will be moving freely. Ruling prices for syrups, locally, are 30 to 35c. per gallon; New Orleans molasses, 25 to 28c.; Barbados, 36 to 39c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There has been no change in the situation since last week, the demand still being only fair. We quote: B rice, 3¼ to 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; Tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c. per lb.

SUGAR.

On Monday the price of refined sugar was reduced 10c. per 100 lb. in the United States. The Montreal refineries in sympathy with this decline marked their figures down 10c. on all grades of white sugars. The Acadia refinery made no change as its prices were already 15c. below the output of the latter refineries. The price of granulated in Montreal is now on the basis of $4.10. The reduction has had no effect on the demand, which is still light. In London the raw market, at the time of writing, is firm and ¾d. dearer on beet sugar, with cane dull and unchanged. The meltings of sugar in the United States last week were 30,000 tons, 3,786 tons in excess of the receipts. The total stock of sugar in the four United States ports at the end of last week was 176,613 tons, against 180,399 tons the same week a year ago. The demand for refined sugar in the United States is dull, being only of a hand-to-mouth character.

CANDIED PEELS.

There is a little business being done, and prices are unchanged. We quote: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c. per lb.

TEAS.

The position of the tea market continues satisfactory. Mail advices from London, under date of November 1, say that the tendency of the market for Indian teas continues in an upward direction. Teas for price were still attracting the most attention, although other grades participated in the competition noticeable through the auction. The advices state, in regard to Ceylon tea, that the better tone noticed during the two previous weeks had been further emphasized, teas for price being about ¼d. dearer. A cable advice received in Toronto this week indicates that the tendency on the London market is still upward. It appears that no teas of Ceylon growth are obtainable in London under 6¼d. On the local market there is a little doing and stocks are getting pretty well cleaned up in Indian and Ceylon descriptions. Advices from Japan indicate that teas there are still firm and that prices quoted a week or two ago would not now be entertained.

NUTS.

New season's almonds and filberts, ex ss. Bellona, are on this market, and some business is being done. The ruling prices are as follows: Filberts, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½c.; Formegetta almonds, 10½c. These prices, it will be noted, are cheaper than last year. Shipments of walnuts from all countries have been subject to delays on account of the wet weather, and the advices say that the quality and color have suffered considerably. Grenoble walnuts were shipped from Havre on November 8 ex ss. Verdande.

SPICES.

Advices to hand from Jamaica state that the crop of pimento is about one-third shorter than last year, and prices are from 5 to 6s. higher than they were a month or two ago. On the local market a fair trade is being done in seasonable lines of spices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Cables received this week from Patras indicate a firmer market there, and one cable reports an advance of 6d. Currants ex ss. Bellona, the second direct boat, are now in the hands of the wholesale trade here, and our quotations are slightly lower in consequence. The demand is fair. We quote: Filiatras,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Patras,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 7c.; Vostizzas,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The position of the Valencia raisin market continues strong in Spain. A cable received on Saturday last quoted an advance of 1s 6d. On Wednesday another cable reported as follows: "Market is now rapidly advancing and the indications are that there will be a still further advance." Quotations now being received from Spain are 4 to 5s. higher than they were a month ago. Local wholesalers are quoting as follows for present delivery: Fine off-stalk,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  to 6c.; selected,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. For later delivery ruling quotations are: Fine off stalk, 5 to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.; selected,  $5\frac{3}{4}$  to  $6\frac{1}{4}$ c. according to brand.

FIGS—The local market is somewhat demoralized in tapnet figs. This is due to the large importations and the evident desire of the trade to unload as soon as possible, although some hold that some of the houses are really making quotations before they have ascertained the actual cost of their goods, as on some of the shipments there have been rather heavy shrinkages in weights. The ruling price to the retail trade in tapnet figs is 3c., although some houses are quoting as low as  $2\frac{3}{4}$ c., which is about the cost price of the goods. Naturals are quoted at  $3\frac{3}{4}$ c. The demand for both tapnet and natural figs is brisk, and more so than is usual.

PRUNES—The demand for prunes continues good, and better than is usual at this time of the year. The price of prunes in California is holding fairly steady in spite of the fact that the association no longer exists. Owing to the high price and scarcity of green fruits a heavy trade is expected this season in prunes. We quote new Californian prunes as follows: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{4}$ c.; 80-90's,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 7c.; 70-80's,  $6\frac{3}{4}$  to  $7\frac{1}{4}$ c.; 60-70's,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; 40-50's,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  to 10c. French, 100's,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 4c.

DATES—The demand for dates is not yet good. New dates are quoted as follows: Hallowees,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{3}{4}$ c.; Sairs,  $4\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Business in this line is still of a limited nature on account of the high prices ruling. We quote in 25-lb. boxes as follows:

Apricots, 13 to 16c.; peaches, 11 to 13c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

Apples are quieter than they were last week. Choice lots are wanted, as the greater majority of those on the market are of inferior quality. The prices are unchanged at $4.50, and they seem to have reached their limit. The season for quinces and Canadian grapes is about over and pears will soon be a thing of the past, as few are being received. Cranberries are selling well and the prices remain firm, both for Canadian and United States products. Malaga grapes are plentiful. Californian lemons are being received in large quantities and the quality has never been better. Pineapples are very scarce. There is a shipment due here at the end of the week, when prices will probably be from 23 to 25c. each in cases. We quote: Apples, $2.50 to $4.50 per bbl.; pears, 30 to 40c. per basket; Canadian grapes, 30 to 35c. per 10 lb. basket; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Malaga grapes $6 to $7; Jamaica oranges, $5 per bbl., or $3.50 to $4 per box; Cape Cod cranberries, $8 to $8.75 per bbl., and $2.75 to $3 per case; Ontario cranberries, $5 to $7 per bbl. Pineapples will probably sell at 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

More lettuce is wanted and in some cases is sold for as high as 50c. per doz. bunches. Watercress, mint and parsley are 5 to 10c. per bunch higher. Cauliflowers are in good demand, but they are becoming hard to get and the price for them is higher in tone. Celery for choice lots brings the topmost prices. Hubbard squashes and citrons are scarce. We quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15 to 20c. per peck; lettuce, 40 to 50c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 25 to 30c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 40 to 60c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c. cabbage, 25 to 40c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 50 to 70c. per bag; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 10 to 20c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 10 to 15c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market is in good healthy condition. The receipts are light, but there has been no change in prices. Dealers receive as much as 19c. and 20c. per doz. for good new laid eggs. Fresh gathered sell at from 17c. to 18c. Cold stored, 16c. to 17c.

BEANS—The season for this article has not fully started yet. The market is quiet and prices remain unchanged. Choice hand-picked pea beans are worth $1.70 to $1.75, and unpicked, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY—The market is featureless, the demand being about equal to the supply. There is no change in prices. We quote: Clover, 10c.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—The market in this line is steady. The demand is improving as the season is just opening up. Evaporated apples are selling at 90c. in car lots and  $9\frac{1}{2}$  to 10c. for cases. Dried apples are worth 6c.

POTATOES—There is a steady demand for potatoes. The supply is good, but there seems to be a great deal of inferior quality on the market. In car lots, on the track, potatoes are worth 50c. per bag, and sell from 60 to 65c. per bag for good stock.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The amount of butter received has been large, but choice pound prints are wanted. Good butter is in brisk demand, but the second-grade butter is hard to move. The quality of the receipts of the tub butter has improved. The market is rather weak for butter and prices for choice rolls is lowered, the top price for this article now being 16c. per lb. Most of the tubs that are now coming in sell at 12c. per lb. and are suitable for bakers only. Extra choice prints of dairy butter bring as high as 18c.; choice rolls, from 15 to 16c. per lb.; choice butter in tubs, 14 to 15c.; medium tubs vary from 12 to 14c. Creamery prints are in good demand, and sell at 20c.; creamery solids, 19 to  $19\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CHEESE—The cheese market is quiet. There is a good supply and the English consumers seem to have reached their limit of cheese consumption. Hence the market here is well supplied. There is a steady demand at  $9\frac{1}{4}$  to  $9\frac{3}{4}$ c.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—The supply of dressed poultry during the past week has been poor, notwithstanding the favorable weather. Turkeys are now bringing as high as  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c. Prices in other lines are steady. We quote as follows: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6c. per lb.; turkeys, 9 to  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c.

LIVE POULTRY—The receipts of live poultry this week have greatly fallen off, owing to the wet weather and the proximity of Christmas. A large quantity of extra fine fowl is expected next week for a shipment to Great Britain for the Christmas market. Fat chickens of 2 lb. weight are in greater demand as broilers than those of heavier weight, both in the American and British markets. The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, not less than two lb. each, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 3c. per lb. These prices are for live GAME—Larger quantities of game have been received this week than last. Teal and butterballs are 5c. lower in lots. Otherwise the price is unchanged. The demand is very good this week. We quote as follows: Teal and butterballs, 20 to 25c.; bluebills, 40 to 50c.; pintails and redheads, 50 to 60c.; black ducks, 75 to 85c. per brace; canvas-back and mallards, $1.

FISH.

There is a good demand for both fresh and prepared fish this week. Oysters are selling well. Digby herring are more in demand and a large shipment has been received of this season's catch. The price of this article has lowered 15c. per bundle. Finnan haddie is quiet. We quote: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscos, 75c. to $1; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112 lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitch cod, $5 to $5.25; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—No change in prices. Standards sell at $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Owing to the high prices in Chicago Manitoba hard is now selling at 84c., grinding in transit, or 82c. Toronto and West; which is an advance of 1c. over last week. Buyers have advanced the price for red and white to 72c. for extra good samples. Goose wheat is 2c.; oats, 3c., and rye, 2c. higher. Receipts of wheat at the local market here are light. We quote: White and red wheat, 64 to 72c. goose, 66 to 66½c.; oats, new, 43 to 44½c.; rye, 55c.; barley, 50 to 59½c.; peas, 70 to 71½c.

FLOUR—There is a good demand in this line. Manitoba bakers' and Ontario patents have advanced 5c. Straight roller is from 10 to 25c. lower. Hungarian patents are unchanged. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.50 to $3.60; Hungarian patents, $4; Manitoba bakers', $3.75; straight roller, $3.00 to $3.15 per bag in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand from the Lower Provinces for oatmeal and rolled oats is steadily improving and prices for oatmeal have advanced 65c. in carlots; standard and rolled oats are 25c. higher. Some oatmeal and rolled oats have been exported to Great Britain where the prices are high. Oatmeal in carlots on track here, $5.25; standard and rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.75; in bbls., 15c. more; broken lots are 25c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.30 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.50; pot barley, $4.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

The market is steady and the movement is normal in hides, skins and wool. A better quality of sheepskins are coming in. Deerskins are very few in number, and the receipts so far have been very light. Prices in all lines are unchanged.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼ to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 60 to 65c.; deerskins, 12½c. per lb.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 8c.

SEEDS.

The offerings in red clover continue large. The offerings in alsike still continue moderate. There is very little offering in timothy. We quote as follows: Red clover, $4.50 to $4.80 per bush. for good, choice quality at outside points. Alsike brings from $6 to $7.25 for extra choice seed, but the poorer qualities are quoted lower. Timothy remains at $2 to $2.25.

MARKET NOTES.

All white sugars are 10c. lower.

Currants are cabled 6d. dearer.

Quinces are no longer on the market.

Dealers are complaining that venison is not being received in such large quantities as it was last year.

The quality of 1-lb. prints of butter is a cause of complaint and good prints are very much desired.

The season for Canadian grapes is about over, as only a small quantity have been received this week.

The quality of the lemons that have recently been received from California has never been better.

A large shipment of live poultry is to be made to Great Britain next week for the Christmas market there.

Dealers expect that there will be a great demand for prunes this year, owing to the failure of the Canadian fruit crop.

The receipts of game still continue too large, although, on the other hand, the receipts of dressed poultry have fallen off.

A cargo of oatmeal and rolled oats has been shipped to Great Britain, where the prices for this line have slightly improved.

Valencia raisins advanced 1s. 6d. in Denia on Saturday, and a cable received since then reports the market firm and advancing.

From latest reports the crop of oranges and lemons has been good all over the world, and dealers expect that prices will be low this winter.

Poultry dealers prefer 2-lb. chickens to those of larger weight, as there is a greater demand in both the British and United States markets for them than for those heavier.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, November 14, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE arrival of the Bellona has led to a good deal of shipping out of the wholesale grocery establishments this week. Although retailers have secured most of their fruit stocks off the Escalona, yet many waited for the Bellona shipments. This last vessel also brought Tarragona almonds, filberts, currants in 1-lb. packages, and wines from Cadiz and Tarragona, all of which are being placed in retailers' hands this week. Fruits are in a particularly healthy condition; no one has overstocked this year, and, indeed, wholesalers are beginning to find that they are understocked. Tapnet figs are decidedly scarce this week and most houses have cleared the boards of these goods. Prunes are in fair request, and Malaga raisins, and have sold exceedingly well. Even new peels are now in light supply. Seeded raisins seem to be the only active Californian raisin. Indeed, muscatels are not being offered. Valencia raisins are the slowest line in the fruit market, yet they are having a fair sale. The feature of the week has been another decline of 10c. in granulated sugar; yellows remain unchanged. There has been quite a lot of Acadian sugar sold here within the past two weeks. Teas remain very firm on all grades and the low grades are now much higher in all hands. The only interesting feature in canned goods is an advance in blueberries which are now worth 95c. Lard and pork are lower. Skinless dressed cod and green cod are both higher. The spice mills say they have not been so busy in years. Cereals and coarse grains are scarcer and higher.

SUGAR.

On Tuesday the local refiners followed in New York's wake and reduced the price of all white sugars by 10c. per 100 lb. Yellows remain unchanged. Prices are now $4.10 for granulated and $3.35 to $4.10 for yellows per 100 lb. As yet the Acadian refinery has not altered its quotations. There has been a large quantity of Acadian sugar sold during the past two weeks. Every indication would point to a continued low era in sugar owing to the increase in the production of both beet and cane. It is expected that the United States will, in a few years, be entirely independent of European supply. This week there has been a firmer feeling in sugar, London advancing to 7s. 3½d., but there seems to be no hope of any great reaction from the present low figures.

TEAS.

Teas continue to show that strength that has characterized the market during the past few weeks. Indeed, a real scarcity has developed within the past few days and there are buyers on the street looking for samples. One dealer expressed himself thus: "For some time we have cried 'wolf, wolf,' and no wolf has come; but from all appearances we are soon to see that stringency that we have been predicting for a long time. Stocks in the city are abnormally light in almost every line of tea; that I am fully aware of. Country dealers have an exceedingly light supply and I expect to see the better demand which has sprung up for tea continue for some time to come. The United States are also strong buyers in our market. Last year when we looked for an active trade in tea we did not reckon on the large stocks of old tea that were being held; these have all been cleared out now and I feel that the market must be strong for months to come. No consignments of Ceylon tea are coming forward from London or Ceylon and we can safely argue that blacks will continue to hold their present values."

Young Hyson points and gunpowders remain quite firm and sifted Hysons are fully 3c. higher than last year. Pealeas that sold last year at 17½c. are now worth 18½ to 19c. Japan has no more teas to offer. Nearly all the Japans and greens that are still to come forward have been sold in advance.

SYRUPS.

Syrups continue to be shipped in large quantities at unchanged prices. We quote: 3¼c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.50 in 38½-lb., and $1.10 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

There is a fair movement reported in molasses, but as yet the total amount of business in this line is not great. The price is still 28 and 29c.

CANNED GOODS.

Some weeks ago we reported a scarcity of blueberries and mentioned that one leading house was sold out. This same firm has replenished its stock this week but has raised its price from 87½ to 95c. to $1. Otherwise, prices are without change. Tomatoes are moving slowly at 85 to 87½c. for new western goods. New corn is worth 80c. and peas, 80 to 85c., but we understand that there are houses offering last year's corn and peas as low as 75 to 77½c.

Canned salmon is now pretty well all delivered and consequently the country demand is rather slow. The price is unchanged at $5 to $5.60 for Fraser river sockeye and $1.80 to $5 for Rivers Inlet. Gallon apples remain very high, old goods being worth $2.50 to $2.75. But few transactions have occurred in new goods. Kipperd herring is strong and there are dealers 5c. higher this week than last.

SPICES.

The feature of the market is the strength shown by ginger. Prices have been so low that production has fallen off and it is even said that Africa will have to import some this year. Jamaica ginger is, of course, much lower than it was a year and a half ago, but Cochiti, rice ginger and Japan are all about 2c. higher in primary markets than they were two months ago. Cochiti has slightly appreciated on this market. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochiti, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochiti, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 22 to 25c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market remains quite firm and decidedly active. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

One Minute of Your Time and a post card will put you in communication with us, if you want a quotation on advertising space large or small.

So many houses are using THE GROCER with good results that we give a few extracts from recent letters received :

"We find that our advertisement in THE GROCER pays us very well, and if everything in the future is as satisfactory as it is at present we will not be without it."

"We have had very good returns from our ads. in your paper, a good many of our orders reading, 'We have seen your goods advertised in THE CANADIAN GROCER.'"

"Have had splendid results from what advertising we have done with you."

MONTREAL and TORONTO.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

No change has taken place this week. The demand is fair and the market healthy. We quote in combine district : B rice in bags, \$3.10; in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bags, \$3.15; in quarter bags, \$3.20; in pockets, \$3.25. In 10-bag lots, an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, \$3 in bags; \$3.05 in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bags; \$3.10 in  $\frac{1}{4}$  bags; and \$3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., and tapioca, 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 3 $\frac{7}{8}$ c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The Valencia raisin market is steady and unchanged at 16s. 6d. to 17s. for fine off-stalk. Locally, the demand is not active, in comparison with that for other fruits. Finest off-stalk is worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; selected, 6 to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. and layers, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.

CURRENTS — Stocks are already getting rather low and inquiries in regard to more importations are being received by the brokers. The Bellona unloaded a small shipment this week. Prices are held firmly. Finest Filiatras are worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in half cases; 1-lb. cartons, 8c. and finest Vostizzas, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 8c.

PEELS — Importations have been light and stocks are now quite light. Lemon is worth 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10c.; orange, 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. and citron, 14c.

There has been a very active demand for Oregon prunes, but Californian prunes are enjoying only a fair sale. The market is quite firm. Californians are worth 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 60-70's, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 70-80's, 6c. for 80-90's, 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS — There has been a very active demand for Malaga raisins; in fact, repeat orders are being cable. We quote: London layers, $1.50; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.00 to $2.10; 1's, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.10 to $3.15; 1's, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $1.50 to $1.60; 1's, $1.30 to $1.40.

SULTANA RAISINS — Good, sound Sultana raisins are worth 9 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

DATES — The last auction sale in New York showed a slight reduction in values. Hallowees are selling there at 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. and 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for Sairs. Here, Hallowees are worth 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

FIGS — There has been a good trade doing in figs, particularly Comadre figs. This week there are hardly any to be found in the trade. The general quotation is 3 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.

NUTS

Grenoble walnuts, filberts and almonds are all in stock this week and are being distributed. Grenoble walnuts are worth 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for immediate delivery, 10c. for December; shelled walnuts, 16c.; Tarra-gona almonds, 10c.; shelled, 22 to 23c.; filberts, 8 to 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in bales; pecans, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c.; peanuts, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

GREEN FRUITS.

Trade is quiet. Florida oranges are now in stock and also Malaga lemons. Barrel onions are 25c. higher. We quote: Jamaica oranges, \$4.75 to \$5 per bbl.; Florida oranges, \$4.25; Verdilli lemons, 300's, \$1.50 to \$5.50; 360's, \$2.50 to \$2.75 per box; Malaga lemons, 3 chests, \$6.50 to \$7.00; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Canadian apples, \$3.00 to \$5.00 per bbl.; Californian plums, \$2.00 per box; limes, \$1.50 per box; cocoanuts, \$3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, \$1.75 to \$2.25, and eight hands, \$1.00 to \$1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 60c.; Spanish onions, 90 to 95c.; sweet potatoes, \$2.50 to \$3.50; Malaga grapes, \$5.50 to \$7 per keg; cranberries, \$6.50 to \$7.75 per bbl.; barrel onions, \$2.75; new dates, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.

FISH.

Codfish is higher again this week. A dealer who tried to get some in Quebec this week found that there were no available supplies there. Prices are 25 to 50c. higher this week. Dressed skinless cod is also advanced about 25c. per 100-lb. case. We quote as follows: Haddies, 15 and 30-lb. boxes, 6c. per lb.; Yarmouth bloaters, 60 in a box, \$1 per box; Yarmouth bloaters, 100 in a box, \$1 per box; smoked herrings, medium, 13c. per box; single haddock, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; Marshall's canned, kippered and with tomato sauce, \$1.45 per doz.; also Canadian kippered, etc., 95c. per doz.; No. 1 green haddock, \$4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 green codfish, \$5.75 per bbl.; No. 2 green codfish, \$1.75 per bbl.; No. 1 dressed or skinless cod, 100-lb. case, \$1.75 to \$1.85; dried cod fish, per 112 lb., 85; Ivory brand boneless codfish in 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 20-lb. boxes, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 40-lb. boxes, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; No. 2 mackerel, \$12 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, \$5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$11.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$6.25 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 B. C. salmon, \$11 per bbl.; No. 1 B. C. salmon, \$6 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, \$5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, \$3 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, \$6.75 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, \$1 per keg; Holland or Dutch herrings, 75c. per keg; large salted eels, \$12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, \$1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, \$1.50 per gal.; canned Canadian  $\frac{1}{2}$  sardines, per 100, \$3.75; canned U. S. little neck clams, \$1.50 per doz.; canned U. S. Kensetts Cove oysters, \$1.25 per doz.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, \$6 per bbl.; little neck clams, \$4; 1-lb. lobsters, flat cans, \$9.50 to \$10;  $\frac{1}{2}$ -lb. lobsters, flat cans, \$10 to \$10.50.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR — The market is firm in sympathy with the late advance in the price of wheat. Spring patents are worth $3.95 to $1.10; winter patents, $3.65 to $3.95; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40; strong bakers', $3.60 to $3.80.

GRAIN — We quote: Manitoba, No. 1, hard, 77 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 78c. afloat November; peas, 51c.; rye, 56 to 56 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 2 barley, 53 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 54c.; oats, 46 to 46 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; buckwheat, 56 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 57c.; corn, 63 to 64c.

OATMEAL — The market is firm and values are gradually stiffening in sympathy with the advance in the price of oats. Some of the leading western millers refuse to take less than $1.90 per carload here. Sales have occurred at $4.70, however. Wholesalers ask $5.10 to $5.20 in wood and $2.50 to $2.55 in bags.

POT BARLEY — Pot barley in earlots is worth $2 in bags and $1.20 in barrels.

FEED — The market is firm and supplies are scarce. We quote: Bran, $17 to $17.50 in earlots. Shorts are scarce and worth $19 to $20 in earlots. Mouillie, $20 to $26.50.

BALED HAY — There is a continued demand for export and the market keeps firm. No. 1 timothy is worth $9.50 to $10. No. 2, $8 to $9; clover mixture, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The market for fresh eggs keeps very firm. Dealers are selling new laid at 21c. and pickled at 16c. Fresh western sell as they arrive at 18c.

HONEY — There is a fair demand for choice white clover honey in comb which is worth 13 to 14c. to the trade. Extracted is quoted at 9½c.

POTATOES — The market is easier on account of heavier receipts. Early Rose and Hebrons are worth 65c. per bag while less desirable lots have sold at 59 to 60c. in carlots.

BEANS — Beans are somewhat weaker and wholesalers are offering white beans at $1.55 to $1.65 per bushel.

ASHES — The market is firm under a good demand. First pots, $4.35 to $1.10. Second pots are nominal at $4.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE — There have been no signs of any activity in the market since our last report, buyers on the other side being under the impression that stocks here are very heavy. But we believe that a mistake is being made and that some day there will be a bull movement as soon as the available supplies are truly estimated. Finest western is worth 9½c. and finest eastern, 8¾c.

BUTTER — Last week's decline has been followed by further reductions. October creamery is worth 21½c., dealers paying 20c. Western creamery is worth 19½ to 20½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Green cod is up to $6.

Sisal rope is ½c. higher.

Bluestone is now worth 5½ to 6½c.

New evaporated apples are worth 10 to 10½c.

Spanish loose muscatels, just in, are worth 7¼ to 7½c.

Rolled oats are higher, wholesalers asking $5.10 to $5.20 in wood.

Comadre figs are scarce and about 10,000 tapnets have been sold in this city.

Lard is 1c. per lb. lower; now worth $2.25 per pail. Some brands of compound are also lower.

Coal oil has declined ½c. this week, "Silver Star" now being worth 15½c. and "Standard Acme, 18½c.

A NEW COMPANY.

The Canadian branch of E. W. Gillett's business, with headquarters in Toronto, is shortly to be incorporated and a portion of the stock placed with the grocery trade. The attention of merchants is directed to the advertisement on page 34a of this issue. As our readers know, there is no more reliable business concern in business in Canada than the one generally known as the Royal Yeast Company. All goods for the Canadian and European markets are manufactured in their fine, up-to-date factory in Toronto.

FIRE AT PUGWASH, N.S.

Pugwash, N.S., was visited by a disastrous fire which almost wiped it out on Sunday evening last, November 10. The amount of the loss totals nearly $50,000, with insurance for about one-third of that amount. The fire was discovered in Elliott's block. Amongst those burned out we regret to note the general stores of Elliott & Co., $7,000 to $8,000; Alex. Hollas, about $5,000, and that of W. P. Stevens with a loss of probably $400. Also Alex. McAuley and Wm. McLeod, butchers, had their properties destroyed, the former losing about $150, and the latter $1,500.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Robert McKay, manager of the Blue Ribbon Tea Co., Toronto, has returned from an extensive tour in Colorado and Southern California.

R. H. Smith, Hampton, N.B., intends laying in a heavy stock as soon as the addition to his general store is completed.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., November 11, 1901.

THE winter port business has commenced. The city, and particularly the Canadian Pacific Railway, have made every effort to make it the largest and most successful season we have yet had. The terminal facilities have been much increased. The number of sailings so far arranged for are large. We note with appreciation that the mistake of having horses shipped to Africa via Portland has been rectified and that they will go via St. John. We trust that Ontario importers will see that all their goods are ordered via St. John. The shipments of hay to Africa via St. John continue, there being one or more steamers continuously loading.

OILS—In burning oil there is no change in price; shipments continue large. Canadian oil is not pushed to the same extent as when there was a separate company. Paint oils are very firm and stocks are not large. There is a fair demand. Turpentine is higher. There is quite a steady sale here for benzine. In lubricating oils, while there is limited business, prices remain quite firm. In cod oil the season of receipts is about over. Prices continue quite high. Seal oil is also high. In candles there is no change and sales are light.

SALT—In Liverpool coarse salt prices are still quite high and stock held here is small. With the freer receipts expected, prices are likely to be lower. The demand is also quiet at this season. In Canadian salt prices are unchanged. A fairly active business is being done. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 58 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS—New goods continue to arrive, but with this week all fall shipments will likely have been received. The market has been short of pork and beans, but supplies are to hand. Prices of vegetables are unchanged and continue close to cost. In tomatoes this would seem to be the only point where prices have not been advanced. Gallon apples are very firmly held at the advance. Our dealers hold quite full stocks. Peaches are quite a good stock and a profit is expected. Other fruit, except strawberries, are light sellers here. In meats, sale is now small. Fish are firmly held. Salmon are not a large stock. Domestic sardines are in good supply. Prices are firm. The pack is not large compared with demand. Haddies and kippered herring are both short. Clams are increasing in favor.

GREEN FRUITS—Apples are a large part of the green-fruit business at present; they are very firm for choice winter stock. Some nice apples are shown. Bishop pippins, which are favorites here, are nice this season. In oranges, Jamaicas are still the supply. Boxes and barrels are both offered; prices are unchanged. Lemons sell freely and are easy in price. In grapes, the season for Ontarios is about done. Malaga grapes sell quite freely. Quinces are done. Cranberries are still quite low and sell freely. Good Nova Scotian berries are offered. The season for sweet potatoes is about over. Bananas may be said to sell only in a retail way.

DRIED FRUITS—There is a large business. Peels are to hand during the past week. Citron is well above last year's prices. Lemon and orange, though higher, do not show the same difference. New dates were also received last week. Prices this year are low. There is a fair sale. Figs have a steady sale at even figures. Direct shipment of Californian prunes is shortly expected. Prices, particularly of small sizes, are firm. There is little or no sale for other than the 25-lb. box. Importations of raisins are lighter than usual. Prices are easy. There are more Malaga loose than last year. Layers are not so freely bought. There is but a light supply of evaporated apples. Prices are so high sales are affected. Dried apples are higher. Prunes are firm at full figures. Nuts are now free sellers; except Brazils, which are high this season, prices are below last year.

DAIRY PRODUCE—While there is a rather better supply of butter, for good stock full figures are asked, the market being rather firmer. Eggs are higher and move freely. For strictly fresh eggs the price is high. Cheese is unchanged in price and the market is somewhat dull.

SUGAR—There is a large sale. Prices show no change from the lower figures quoted last week. Dealers take more interest in this branch of their business, as they are now sure of at least a small profit.

MOLASSES—The market at present is rather dull. Prices are unchanged. There is, however, quite a little moving in a small way. Nearly all is Porto Rico molasses.

FISH—In dry cod prices are rather higher. While there have been quite free receipts, sales are large, and stocks are rather light. In pickled herring receipts have been quite free, but the market was quite bare and this is the season of sale. There are very few pickled fish offered except bay herring. Finnan haddies are rather lower. Receipts are quite large. Regular shipments are now going west. Smoked herring keep low. Kippered are unchanged. Dry pollock are firmer. Stocks are light. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.65 to $3.75; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 5 to 5½c.; smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.15 to $2.25 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — In flour, market is firmer. The rather higher prices in Ontarios have created quite an improved sale. Feed is scarce and the high price affects the sale. Oats are high. The P. E. I. shippers are offering very little stock. Oatmeal is again quoted higher. Buyers are unsettled. Beans are rather firmer. Cornmeal is quoted a little higher. Peas are very scarce. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $1.60 to $1.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $1.95 to $5.00; cornmeal, $3.60 to $3.10; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 19 to 50c.; handpicked beans, $1.75 to $1.80; prime, $1.60 to $1.70; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $1.60 to $1.75; barley, $1.25 to $1.30; hay, $12 to $14.

There were for the first nine months of 1900 a total of 1,002 failures in Canada, with assets amounting to $3,017,784, and liabilities of $7,441,667, while for the same period this year the total number of failures was 1,041, with assets amounting to $4,160,670, and liabilities amounting to $9,346,495; the total number of failures for the first nine months of this year exceeding the number for the same period of last year by 39, and the liabilities exceeded those of the same period last year by $1,934,828.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

AT the last meeting of The Baking Powder Association of Canada, held in Toronto on November 8, a beautiful illuminated address was presented to Mr. Wm. Dobie, of the E. W. Gillett Co., who formerly acted as secretary of the association. Following is copy of the address:—

To William Dobie, Esq.,

SIR, — The members of The Baking Powder Association of Canada wish you to know how greatly they appreciate the eminent services you have been able to render them as their Secretary.

Attacked by a powerful corporation, whose purpose was to destroy our business, we were in need of a leader, skillful as well as courageous, and securing you, were fortunate in securing one under whose wise generalship we were able to defeat our great enemy and to avert the threatened destruction.

Your management of the first deputation to Ottawa, and the practical way in which the matter was there, under you, presented to the Government, stamped you as a leader of men.

The excellent work you did at the great convention in Chicago, the comprehensive report of its proceedings which you presented upon your return, whereby we learned that our brother manufacturers in the United States were waging a successful war against our common foe, gave us fresh courage to continue the fight.

Your personal acquaintance and influence with the heads of the various concerns from which we purchase supplies materially assisted in obtaining the financial aid we required for the contest.

The extensive correspondence you conducted, not only with the active members of the association, but with others who, though equally interested, refused to take an active part or to join our ranks, kept us fully acquainted with the progress of events and merit our warmest praise.

We also recognize that no member of our association was as well qualified as yourself to command the attention of the Honorable the Minister of Inland Revenue; that to the tact, earnestness and courage with which you presented this complicated matter to him is due the satisfactory solution of the baking-powder problem.

We therefore ask you to accept this expression of our gratitude for the work you have done, for the industry, skill, courage and courtesy you have shown, and for the satisfactory results which under your guidance have been obtained.

Signed on behalf of The Baking Powder Association of Canada.

WM GORMAN,

President.

R. M. FULLERTON,

Vice-President.

Mr. Dobie, who was taken by surprise, fittingly acknowledged the kindness of his confreres.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, November 11, 1901.

SATURDAY week was one of the most charming days on record, and enthusiastic wheelmen and women cherished the idea that on the first Sunday in November, 1901, they would make record wheeling trips in the country as a wind up for the season. But alas for their plans! When Winnipeg awoke November 2, it was to find the ground wrapped in a comfortable mantle of the beautiful. Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday were very cold, but by Wednesday the weather again moderated, and as the snow was very dry, the threshing has not been interfered with. The fall of snow and the colder weather proved a great stimulus to trade in many lines, and the volume of business for the week is large. Collections are improving, and the amount of paper promptly met on November 4 was gratifying, and even somewhat surprising. Few changes in price have occurred during the week, and markets are, in most cases, very firm.

WHEAT—The amount of wheat moved this week has been enormous. The market has been considerably more active, and prices have advanced about 2c. per bushel all round. Demand is heavy, and prices are unchanged in all grades. We quote: Lake of the Woods Five Roses, $2; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX, $1.25; Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $2; Glenora patent, $1.85; Alberta, $1.65; Manitoba, $1.45; Imperial XXXX, $1.25.

CEREALS—The price of rolled oats has again advanced 10c. per sack in sympathy with the advance in oats. Quotations are at present: Rolled oats in 80 lb. sacks, $2.40; 40 lb. sacks, $1.22½; 20-lb. sacks, 62½c.; 10 lb. sacks, $2.80; granulated and standard, $2.90 per 98 lb.; rolled wheat, $2.25 per 80 lb.; pot barley, $2.25, and pearl barley, $3.30. Prices in these are likely to advance in a few days. Split peas and cornmeal are in limited demand and without change in price.

SUGARS—The decline of last week has been maintained and present quotations are: Standard granulated, $4.90; extra ground, in bbl., $5.40, in boxes $5.65; powdered, in bbl., $5.25, in boxes, $5.50; Paris lump, in bbl., $5.50; in ½-bbl., $5.60, in boxes of 100 lb. $5.50, in boxes of 50 lb. $5.60; yellows, $4.90.

COFFEE—Market is firm and high, although latest market reports show a decline of ¾c. from the highest point touched during the week. Nos. 5 and 6 Rios are 9 to 9½c.; No. 6, 9½ to 10c. Mochas are, if anything, a shade easier. Strictly fancy Aden Mocha, 25c.; fancy interior Java, 32½c.

CANNED GOODS—A very good trade is being done in all lines. After strictly comparing quotations from various houses, the following is submitted as a fairly accurate list of present prices: Fruits—Strawberries, heavy syrup, $3.25; preserved, $3.60; raspberries, preserved, $3.25; syrup, $2.95; blackberries, $2.75; gooseberries, 2's, $2.90; 2's, preserved, $3.60; peaches, yellow, 2-lb. tins, $4; 3-lb. tins, $6; pears, 2-lb. tins, $3.50; 3-lb. tins, $4.50; apples, 3-lb. tins, canned, $2.50; 3-lb. tins, preserved, $3.65; gallon, canned, $1.60. Californian canned fruit in 2½-lb. tins—Plums, green gage, $4.25; Lombard, $4.20; damson, $4.20; egg, $4.20; peaches, $4.75; pears, $4.95; apricots, $4.75; cherries, white, $5.50. Canned vegetables—Tomatoes, Boulter's, this season's pack, $2.20; other brands, $1.90; corn, 2-lb. tins, $1.90; peas, 2-lb. tins, $1.95; beans, 2 lb. tins, $1.85; pumpkin, in 3-lb. tins, $2.10.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—This market shows no material change. The quality of currants arriving is very fine. Prices in this line are holding firm at last week's price of 7½c. Muscatel raisins are a fine sample at 7 to 8c., according to the number of crowns. Valencia, fine off stalk, $2.05 to $2.10; do layers, $2.30 to $2.35; dates, 7½c. Apricots are very firm at 12½ to 13½c., according to quality; peaches, unpeeled, 10½c.; do, peeled, 10c. Evaporated apples are offering freely at 11c.

GREEN FRUITS—Everything now is down to a winter basis, and fruit houses present a very cleared up appearance to what they did three weeks ago, when the rush of grapes was on. Prices are without change in almost all lines. Snow apples are practically cleared up for this season. Good winter apples of almost any variety sell at $5.50; American red apples, $5; Malaga grapes, $8 per keg; Cape Cod cranberries, $9 per bbl.; sweet potatoes, $5.50.

CHEESE—Jobbers' selling price on this market is 10 to 10½c. with very fair demand.

BUTTER—The feature of this week's market is the demand for creamery bricks at 22c.

NOTES.

F. J. C. Cox, secretary of the Northwest Commercial Travellers' Association, has been appointed secretary-treasurer for the Manitoba Building Society.

R. J. Smardon, of the Columbia Packing Co., Vancouver, B.C., was in the city this week and has been very successful in arranging for large shipments of coho, qualla, halibut and sea trout put up according to a certain method. The fish is frozen solid, and is then dipped in a solution which gives it a complete coating of ice. Each fish is wrapped in paper and packed in a case.

DIVIDEND OF ACADIA REFINERY.

The balance sheet of the Acadia Sugar Refinery Company, Limited, for the year ending September 30, 1901, has been submitted by the directors. The report says: "The directors have pleasure in informing the shareholders that, after providing for depreciation and writing off the balance for new plant at Richmond and Woodside Refineries, the net profit, including $9,228.02 brought forward from last year, was $127,749.66."

On June 1, 1901, an interim dividend amounting to $40,880, being 3 per cent. on the preference shares, was paid.

The directors recommend to the shareholders that a further dividend of 6 per cent. on the preference shares be paid on December 20, which will amount to $81,760, and that the balance of $5,109.68 be carried forward.

THE EARLY-CLOSING QUESTION IN TORONTO.

Pros and Cons Discussed Before the City Council.

FORTY or fifty of the Toronto retail grocers waited on the City Council Monday, November 11, with a petition and a plea that the early-closing by-law about to be submitted would be duly considered and adopted. Those opposed to the measure were there also, though not so numerous. As the by-law passed some time ago was ineffective, a new one has been drafted, which is to come before the council in a few days. It was for this reason that the deputations waited on the council.

The opponents of the measure were given the floor first.

John G. Rogers, provision dealer, had interviewed 46 grocers and provision dealers and found that 36 out of the whole 46 were opposed to early closing. So far as he could see public opinion was entirely against the measure.

W. H. Black thought that a grocery store was not properly defined in the by-law, as a poultry dealer was not a grocer, nor was a fruit dealer defined as such. Since grocers kept all these articles sold by them, it would not be fair to close a grocery store and let all the others remain open. He wanted the bill given a six-months' hoist, and expressed himself as willing to conform to the by-law if a petition having 50 per cent. majority of the grocers were gotten up in the meantime.

D. J. Kelly argued in favor of early closing. The by-law had before been thrown out on a technicality and had not been given a fair trial. Now it was amended, and the Ontario Legislature had enacted so that a test case might be brought to the higher courts. He was there to ask that the by-law be put in operation and the results tested. A number on both sides did not understand the law. There was no doubt that if it were given a fair trial it would be satisfactory to all concerned.

J. S. Bond stated his satisfaction with the law as it stood before. In his opinion the magistrate in making a conviction of imprisonment and hard labor had gone beyond the by-law. If one grocer closed early, they should all close at the same time. If the by-law could only be put in force for a year, they all would be in favor of early closing by that time, so beneficial would be its results, and, if it should prove unsatisfactory by that time, he, for one, would be willing to have it repealed.

B. Panter, president of the Retail Grocers' Association, said the agitation in favor of early closing had been going on for two or three years. He had made a canvass, and was surprised to find that the vast majority of grocers were in favor of early closing. The council had passed the former by-law without considering the petition he had gotten up before, and he did not see that it was necessary to get up another one now, they having a petition already. The former law was all right, only it had been thrown out on a technicality. Only by early closing could their children and clerks enjoy the advantages of the Technical and other schools. Working from 7 a.m. till 11 p.m. was slavish work and ought not to be. He concluded by asking those in favor of the by-law to stand up, which they did to the number of forty or fifty.

After some opposition, Nicholas Murphy, K.C., was allowed the floor. He said that he appeared on behalf of a widow, who would have to close her store altogether if the by-law was enforced. Such were the hard times and the competition with the departmental stores, that only by remaining open at night were some of the dealers enabled to live. As most of the grocers were only working in their own stores, to to pass such a by law compelling them to close at a stated time would be a violation of their rights. Were they merely going to close to satisfy the grievances of a few clerks?

No action in the matter was taken by the council.

A MEETING OF THE PROS.

The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held a special meeting last Thursday night to make final arrangements for the early-closing by-law, which was to come before the city council on the following Monday. The meeting being called on such short notice, the usual quarters at St. George's Hall were unattainable, so the meeting was held at the store of F. S. Roberts, 290 Yonge St. There were fourteen or fifteen present, which was a very good attendance for a special meeting called upon such short notice. President B. Panter occupied the chair.

The office of secretary being vacant, on account of the departure of D. O. McKinnon, the late secretary, from the city, the first proceedings were to elect a successor. The lot fell upon Edward Hawes, a former occupant of the office.

The secretary read a letter from F. S. Mearns, solicitor of the association, stating that the city solicitor had made an amendment to the early closing law so that convictions could be secured, that the Ontario Government had made an amendment to the statute so that the present by-law under discussion might be adopted by the city and enforced. He pointed out that those against the early-closing by-law were holding a mass meeting that same night to appoint a deputation to be first in waiting on the council at 3 p. m. Monday, to protest against the by-law.

The secretary submitted a circular which it was proposed to have printed and sent out to the grocers and butchers, stating the reasons why they were asking for the passing of the by-law and calling upon their supporters to rally around them in full force on Monday next.

It was decided that 500 of these circulars should be printed and sent out before Monday, the day which was to decide whether all their efforts were to be crowned with success or to be stared in the face by disaster.

After some discussion, a committee, consisting of Messrs. Marmion, Panter, A. R. Williamson, Mrs. Dart, D. J. Kelly and J. Good, was appointed to head the deputation and present their case as strongly as time and circumstances would permit to the city council.

A MEETING OF THE CONS.

Those opposed to the early-closing by-law submitted by the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto, are organized under the name of the City Grocers and Butchers' Protective Association. On the same night that the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association met, the members of this opposing organization assembled to the number of forty or fifty in Richmond Hall.

Resolutions were passed in which the members pledged themselves to work only for those aldermen who will refuse to sanction the early-closing enactment. The principal of freedom of trade was also commended in another resolution.

It was stated that a petition was being gotten up against early closing.

THE "OZO" CO., LIMITED.

The "Ozo" Company, Montreal, is doing a flourishing business in teas these days. They have had the prestige of a long career as tea-blenders in London, Eng., and Canada, and the merchants throughout the country who are catering to a fastidious public have learned to place implicit confidence in this firm's judgment. They are ready to supply every class of want. They are always on the alert to advance the standard of their teas, and are prepared to give the fullest values. Tea blending, in particular, is a strong point with the "Ozo" Company.

MONTREAL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE LIQUOR FLASK QUESTION.

ON the first occasion of his occupancy of the presidential chair, Ald. Turner was greeted with a bumper house. There must have been nearly 50 grocers out to the Montreal Retail Grocers' meeting on Thursday night, November 8.

Among those present were: Secretary J. Dixon, Treasurer Bigaouette, O. A. Bigaouette, Alph. Lefaine, Joseph Pape, G. Boisvert, J. B. Deschamps, O. Champagne, N. Lapointe, M. de Repentigny, A. Dionne, J. B. Diau, H. Poirier, C. E. E. Authier, J. E. Manning, Berthiaume, G. B. Beauchamps, M. Perras, A. D. Paquette, F. Bigaouette, A. Bigaouette, J. O. Leveque, N. Chartrand, P. Daoust, A. Laniel, M. Courtois and Vallieres.

Messrs. Beauchamps and Lariviere were received into membership on motion of Ex-president Lapointe, seconded by Mr. Vallieres.

The only subject up for discussion was the question of grocers selling liquors in flasks. A few days previous all the licensed grocers of the city had received notice from the Quebec Government to the effect that it was illegal for grocers to sell liquors in flasks holding less than a pint and that this point in the law would be enforced as it had not been before. Hitherto, the grocers have been protected in the sale of small flasks by a tacit understanding with the authorities. It appears now that the approval has been withdrawn for some occult reason.

Messrs. Lapointe, Authier, de Repentigny, Champagne, Leveque and Poirier discussed in turn the methods that should be adopted to impress upon the Government the un wisdom of its course. The association feels that all will be righted at the next session of the Legislature; meanwhile, it is felt that the law should not be enforced.

Mr. de Repentigny ventured the suggestion that the association should pledge itself to defend any member who should be prosecuted for selling flasks.

Mr. Poirier came forward with a good suggestion. He recommended that the grocers go about their plans quietly and systematically. He thought it would be a good idea to present to the Government a petition signed by the customers of the grocery stores in the city advising the Government of the convenience it is to them to be able to purchase small flasks of liquors for medicinal purposes without going to a hotel for such. Mr. J. Authier followed in the same strain, and the two addresses convinced the audience.

Mr. J. Leveque then proposed, seconded by Mr. H. Poirier, that the secretary be instructed to send out a circular letter to all the licensed grocers in the city asking them to have their customers sign such a petition and return the same to him by November 19. The petition will be drawn up by the association's lawyer.

The wholesalers will also be requested to lend their assistance, and a committee was appointed to call upon the wholesalers to decide upon a plan of campaign. A special meeting of the association will probably be held on the evening of November 19 to discuss the matter further.

MR. J. ROBINSON IS PRESIDENT.

THE Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association held a meeting on November 9, in its rooms in the Toronto Bank Building, Montreal. It was well attended, for the main business on hand was the nomination of officers. Mr. Thomas L. Paton, president, occupied the chair, and in a few opening remarks said that the association was in a most prosperous condition. The gross receipts during the year amounted to about $46,000, and the expenditures to $32,000, leaving a balance of $14,000 to the association's credit, the largest for years.

The nomination of officers was next in order. There was only one candidate for president, Mr. James Robinson, who was elected by acclamation. In a neat little speech, Mr. Robinson, who is one of the most popular men in the association, said that it had been his pleasure to be connected with the association for several years, and in thanking the members for the compliment paid him, he assured them he would do his utmost to further the association's ends.

Nominations for vice president—Messrs. F. Birks, G. A. Harris and G. A. Mann.

For treasurer—Mr. J. S. N. Dougall (re-elected by acclamation).

For directors (five to be elected)—Messrs. E. F. Dautre, W. E. Dickson, A. Gall, R. C. Wilkins, R. G. Plaw, J. A. Thompson, F. T. Pilon, W. B. Matthews, W. H. Evans and A. Fournier.

Messrs. Riddell and Common were appointed scrutineers, and it was decided to close the poll at 5 o'clock, December 13.

The annual dinner was next considered, and it was decided to leave the selection of its date and place to a committee composed of Messrs. E. F. Dautre, J. Mann, L. O. Demers, M. Murdock, J. Croil, W. B. Giles, D. A. Lefebvre, G. Harris, C. A. Sullivan, W. J. Egan, W. H. Evans, J.

Robinson, J. S. N. Dougall, A. Fournier, W. Poulliot and R. C. Wilkins.

Mr. Max Murdock gave notice of motion to be made at the annual meeting, to be held December 14, to adopt a new constitution and by-laws, which differ from the old ones only in that the age of membership is reduced from 50 years to 45 years, and the time for making an assessment is changed from 60 days to "within the current year."

Mr. Dougall, of the benevolent committee, reported the expenditure of only $15 during the year.

Mr. G. A. Mann, of the hotel and grievance committee, reported the closing up of one hotel in Ontario for not being up to the required standard, and the suspension of three members for violation of rules. The committee was issuing a small supplement to the hotel guide, which will be a complete and up to date book.

Mr. Murdock, of the room committee, then made his report.

Mr. W. P. Beauchamp made a complaint on behalf of several travellers who suffered considerable inconvenience and loss of time through the discontinuance of a certain daily train on the Central Vermont road to Granby. The matter was referred to the grievance committee.

FLOUR MILL BONUSES IN N.B.

Deputy-Commissioner Peters has thoroughly inspected two new roller process flour mills, one in Gloucester and the other in York County, N.B., recently erected, and the Provincial Government, on the recommendation of the Hon. Mr. Farris, in its session at Fredericton, has voted the usual cash bonus. W. H. Clark, in York County, will get $1,000 bonus as he has erected a 50-barrel mill, while Thomas Riordon, of Grand Aise, Gloucester Co., will receive a bonus of $750, as his mill, though modern and up to date, has a capacity of only 35 barrels daily.

A POSSIBLE COMPROMISE.

Burnham & Holdsworth, grocers, Digby, N.S., recently made an assignment to John Daley, with liabilities amounting $9,395.72, and assets only totalling $4,990.50. At a meeting of their creditors on October 3 and 4, an offer of compromise was received from the firm of 15c. on the dollar cash, or 20c. on the dollar, to be paid in three, six or nine months' time, unsecured. After a discussion, the meeting adjourned to give the assignee time to communicate with outside creditors. The cash offer will probably be accepted.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—The Rush Out of Liptons—Miscellaneous Notes.

THE RUSH OUT OF LIPTONS.

THE course of the quotation of Liptons shares has not of late been very encouraging to the shareholders, and the declaration of an interim dividend at a reduced rate has not had the effect of calming their fears. Whatever the general body of the shareholders may think of the position, however, it is pretty clear that their distinguished fellow-shareholders who were members of the company at the start have decided that the most prudent policy is to sell the shares.

The following comparisons, without further comment, may be left to tell their own story :

IT MAKES THE BUTCHER TIRED.

The life of a retail butcher is a most exciting and wearying one. Nobody satisfied with their meat ; as if it mattered in a world of change ! Everybody complaining of too much bone or too little fat ; nobody wishing tough chops or cutlets, but always seeking after fine joints, when it's against reason and nature that all joints should be juicy and all cutlets tender ; always complaining if livers are not sent with every fowl, always asking you to remember the trimmin's, always wanting their beef well 'ung, and then if you 'ang it a minute too long it's left on your 'ands !

If people would think more of the great 'ereafter and less about their own little stomachs, it would be a deal better for them ; yes, a deal better, and make it much more comfortable for the butchers.—From the Diary of a Goose Girl, in Scribner's.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Western hogs are being offered in large quantities ; $7 is offered, but $7.15 is asked. During last week the receipts of dressed hogs have been light, and there seems to be a scarcity throughout the country. The price is the same as last week, being $7.50 to $7.75 per 100 lb. Beef is arriving in large quantities, and there is a good market for it. The season for venison has just opened, but the receipts so far have been lighter than last year. Venison carcasses bring from $6 to $8 per 100 lb.; saddles, $8 to $10 per 100 lb.; beef carcasses, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6 to $7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5 to $5.50 per 100 lb. Veal is in good demand, and brings 7½ to 8½c. per lb.; lambs are steady at 5 to 5½c. Live hogs are down another 12½c.; for selects the price now is $5.50 and lights $5.25 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

Owing to the fresh pork season being in full swing, cured meats are not so much in demand. Canadian mess pork is steady. Long clear bacon is down ¼c. Smoked breakfast bacon, rolls and backs are down 1c. per lb. Hams are easier. Lard is ¼c. per lb. lower also. We quote : Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11½c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $19.50; shorts, $20 to $21; lard, in tierces, 10¾c. per lb., tubs, 11c., and pails, 11¼c.

MONTREAL.

The market for all hog products is appreciably weaker. Pure lard is down about 1c. per lb., pails are now selling at $2.25. Hams are also lower. We quote : Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00; Chicago clear pork, $22.50 for heavy and $22.00 for medium ; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.25 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), $2.01 for 1 to 24 pails ; $2.04 for 25 to 49 pails ; $2.01 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, $1.72½ per pail; Cottolene, 11½c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10¾c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

While pork is rather easier, many feel prices must turn upward again, as the supply is said to be short. Beef is unchanged. Pure lard is also quoted rather lower, but, though buyers are holding off and fear a further decline, it is felt that at least a little later prices will again advance.

FOR PRESERVING EGGS.

N. HANIKA, M.D., Munich, Bav., gives the following in The Land-wirtschaftlichen Wochenblatt für das Königreich Bayern: "The eggs to be preserved, which should be as fresh as possible, must be examined closely, by tapping and otherwise, to guard against cracks and breaks in the shell. They are then laid in water of about 95 degrees F. (25 degrees C.), for about 15 minutes, or until they are well warmed throughout. Every particle of dirt should be removed from the shells by wiping with a sponge wet with warm water. The eggs are then put, in suitable quantities, in a sieve, net, or loosely-woven basket, held for five seconds in boiling water and removed thence, as quickly as possible, into cold water. Lay the eggs, still wet, on a clean linen cloth, and let dry off spontaneously by exposure to the atmosphere. Under no circumstances should they be dried off with a cloth or towel. As soon as they are quite dry pack them in a box with either ground peat, sifted wood ashes, wheat, chaff, woodwool, or wheat bran, the packing material to be made thoroughly dry by heating before using. The hands of the packer should be well scrubbed, before going at the job, with soap and hot water, a brush being used to make sure of cleanliness. The boxes should be stored in a cool, dry place, out of the reach of frost. Eggs thus preserved in June and July were found to be absolutely and perfectly fresh the next February and March, no deterioration in taste, odor, or general appearance being detectable.

The philosophy of the process is simple and easily understood: The five-second dip in boiling water was sufficient, not merely to kill the microbes in the shell substance and between it and the inner skin, but to cause the coagulation of a thin but all-sufficient layer of albumen lying next the skin, and thus form an impossible barrier to the exit of water and entrance of air, with its microbes of decay. The important points to be rigidly observed are, in the first place, to use only freshly-laid, sound eggs; to free the shells thoroughly of all dirt and filth; to hold the eggs five seconds, no less and but little if any longer, in the boiling water, and, finally, to have both the eggs and the packing material thoroughly dry. Eggs with very thin and porous shells, plunged in the boiling water for six or seven seconds, when opened show considerable loss of albuminous matter inside the skin; while of those dipped for only three or four seconds, 11 per cent. show insufficient coagulation, besides incomplete destruction of decay germs.

THE LAWTON REFRIGERATING PROCESS.

ANYONE who has walked over a field in the twilight will have observed that the daisies close their petals for the night—in a certain sense they go to sleep. Mr. Lawton, following out this idea that plant life goes to sleep at night and wakes with the daylight, found by placing fruit in air-tight vessels that it absorbed less oxygen by night than by day. If, therefore, fruit could be prevented from absorbing oxygen, it would, to all intents and purposes, go to sleep, the process of maturing would be checked, and the fruit would remain in the same stage of ripeness when it woke up as it had been when it closed its stomata (or mouths), finding no oxygen to inhale, and went to sleep; for these stomata breathe air like a human being, absorbing oxygen and exhaling carbonic acid. The oxygen thus inhaled combines with the sugar or carbon contained in the fruit, and causes self-combustion, or loss of substance, and decay. To obviate this waste, the atmosphere supplied to the fruit by the Lawton process is deprived of most of its oxygen—not of all, for some must remain to sustain life, and this causes the stomata to partially close, so that the further ripening of the fruit is suspended.

The importance which is claimed for this process, and which has been justified by the experiment of keeping ripe fruit of several varieties in a deoxidized chamber for three weeks, after which the sealed chamber was opened in the presence of experts, and the fruit found to be in the same condition as it was when it was put away, lies in the fact that fruit can now be shipped from distant countries in a ripe state, and bananas from Jamaica or grapes from Australia can be placed on the table in England in the same state that they would be in their place of origin.

Under the Lawton process the fruit is placed in an air-tight storage room of any suitable dimensions. The atmospheric air is then driven out and replaced by sterilized atmosphere, which is inexpensively and readily produced and maintained in the following way:—By means of any ordinary blower or fan, air is forced through a stove containing red-hot coke, whereby the oxygen is consumed, and the germs or animalcules which all air contains are destroyed. The gases thus produced then pass through a simple process of filtration, and are cooled before entering the chamber by passing over refrigerating coils.

It will be seen, therefore, that the advantages claimed are several. Not only can ripe fruit be imported but on arrival it can, if necessary, be stored in similar deoxidized chambers at home till it is required: and so the most delicate tropical fruit should be obtainable in this country at reasonable prices, and fresh fruit obtainable all the year round.

Experiments are being made with the process, as our readers are probably aware, by The Royal Mail Steamship Co., and the first shipment arrived in this country at the end of September. The vessel left Kingston on September 12, the trial shipment of bananas consisting of about 3,000 bunches, not bought in the open market, but provided from the plantations of The United Fruit Company. The bananas were shipped "full," that is, more nearly mature than usual. There was also a quantity of oranges and pineapples in nearly ripe condition. The fruit on arrival was quite fit for immediate use, and in excellent condition. Owing, however, to various causes, and in some degree to the heavy weather encountered, the Lawton patents have not, upon the first trip, had a fair trial. The process will have three more trials in the Para, after which, if the present defects are remedied and everything is satisfactory, the patents will be adopted by the Royal Mail Steamship Company for regular use in the importation of fruit from the West Indies.

The first shipment was, it appears, made rather hurriedly, and Mr. Lawton had no time to test the machinery before the vessel started. Rough weather was encountered, and a leakage took place in the pipes for conveying the sterilized air. In spite of this, however, most of the fruit was delivered in a very satisfactory state and distributed by Messrs. Brinkworth & Sons, of Southampton. This firm wrote to Mr. Lawton that "the bananas imported were shipped full fine big fruit, and just on the point of beginning to turn yellow, and had such quality been shipped under ordinary conditions, the whole consignment would undoubtedly have been in a state of complete rot long before it reached these shores."

Messrs. Brinkworth further remark that under ordinary conditions, bananas are packed with alloways in various directions in order to permit of proper and adequate circulation of air, in which way probably about 25 per cent. of the available space is wasted. In this consignment the bunches were all packed close together, from floor to ceiling, throughout the hold, and consequently the whole of the available space was completely filled up with bananas. Not only in this way was a considerable saving in space effected, but this method of stowage affords eloquent testimony as to the wonderful effect of the process. Notwithstanding these exceptional and most trying conditions, there were no rotten or unsaleable bananas; indeed, it was found on being landed that a large proportion of this consignment of about 3,000 bunches, although yellow, were firm and not over-ripe. These remarkable results were obtained in a voyage extending over no less than 16 days.

The second trial shipment is due at Southampton at the beginning of next month, and its arrival will be looked for eagerly by all who have the interests of the West-Indian fruit trade at heart.—Our Western Empire, London.

THE FLORIDA ORANGE SEASON.

A PRESS despatch from Jacksonville, Fla., says: "The Florida orange season has started under most favorable auspices. The movement of the fruit began in earnest about 10 days ago and has steadily increased. Up to this time there has been more or less greenness and immaturity in most of the fruit shipped, but from now on ripe and luscious oranges will find their way into the markets north and west.

"The outlook this season is for one of the most profitable crops for many years. The seasons for the past few years since the big freeze have been fairly satisfactory as to prices, while the fruiting of the trees has fully realized all that the most hopeful grower could wish. More trees are in bearing this year than ever before since the freeze in 1885, and it is predicted that their product will prove finer in every way. The transportation companies are looking forward to a considerably increased business as compared with last year. Indeed, the greater volume is already 'in sight,' and will be forthcoming if no disaster befalls the crop, and there is not now the slightest reason for apprehending anything of the sort. As usual, the Florida oranges are leading the markets even now in the matter of prices. The supply has never yet approached the limit of demand, and it is safe to say that for many years to come this country will gladly absorb all the oranges that Florida can supply.

"For some time after the big freeze the growers were so discouraged that few had the courage to start anew, but new groves were set out, old ones were renovated and cleared out, and in five years afterward the first crop was marketed. The 'frost line'—that famous but elusive spot, north of which it was unsafe to plant orange trees—has been moved farther south, and now the bulk of the fruit is raised in counties south of Orange County, in the central southern portion of the State, on the east coast and in the west and southwestern counties. The crop this season promises to be fully 1,250,000 to 1,300,000 boxes, according to the best informed railroad agents, who have made this a study. The new groves are bearing well and the trees are looking thrifty. The prices so far have averaged $1 to $1.25 a box on the tree, the growers, as a rule, selling this way this year in preference to shipping themselves. Possibly over a fourth of the crop was purchased during the summer, as commission men had agents throughout the State from August until October looking over the fruit prospects and bargaining for the fruit.

"Next season, if nothing happens and the groves continue to do as well, the output ought to be fully 1,800,000 boxes."

A THIRTY DAYS' EXCURSION TO THE BRITISH WEST INDIES.

PICKFORD & BLACK have arranged a very delightful 30-day excursion to the British West Indies which should attract a considerable passenger travel this winter. The voyage extends as far as Barbados, where passengers will land and have five days' rest before returning. On the way out they will call at Bermuda and St. Lucia, and, on the homeward trip, St. Lucia, Montserrat, Antigua, Dominica, Nevis, St. Kitts and Bermuda will be visited. For the person who can only afford to be away 30 days, this voyage offers delightful possibilities. It gives almost three weeks in tropical seas where the water is usually as smooth as a millpond. It allows a stay of five days on land at the great winter resort of the south, the Marine Hotel, Barbados, capable of accommodating 300 or 400 guests daily. It gives one an opportunity of studying the habits and industrial conditions of the people. It reveals an entirely new world to those who dwell in the temperate north, and affords a pleasant relief to the business man who is anxious to escape from worry and secure a few weeks' rest. The total cost of the round trip, including passage, stateroom, meals and hotel at Barbados, is only $112.50. Full information as to sailing dates may be obtained by writing Pickford & Black, Halifax, or R. M. Melville, Toronto.

EXPORTS OF MALAGA RAISINS TO THE UNITED STATES.

The United States consul at Malaga, Spain, under date of October 10 reports:

"Although there is an unusually large raisin crop in the famous Malaga district this year (probably 1,300,000 boxes), it is not likely that exportation to the United States will be much in excess of that of recent years.

"In view of the heavy crop, prices are low, and, but for our duty of 2c. per lb., it is almost certain that Malaga would send from 500,000 to 750,000 boxes to the United States. As it is, she will probably not send more than from 75,000 to 90,000 boxes.

"In this connection, it is almost startling to note how Malaga's raisin trade with the United States has declined. The following table tells the story:

RAISINS EXPORTED FROM MALAGA TO THE UNITED STATES

| 1888 ..... | 104,000             |            |                     |

"The remarkable falling off above shown is due, first, to the development of California as a raisin-growing State; second, to the United States tariff duty of 2c. per lb.

"So cheaply and abundantly are raisins produced here that Malaga exporters would undoubtedly be able to undersell the Californian growers in the United States, but for the duty."

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch.

Your idea may be that all starch is starch and that your customers won't detect even a slight difference in quality. You may think that because there is a cent or two extra profit on "Mushroom" brands (that come and go), you can retain the confidence of your trade—it doesn't pay to trifle with the confidence that a customer has in you and your goods.

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch is as staple as flour. In the name there is the fame of nearly half a century. In the making there is the skill of long experience combined with honesty of purpose and unequalled manufacturing facilities. Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch represents the highest type of perfection there is or can be in starch. Kegs of 100-lbs.—handsome enamelled horse-shoe tins holding 6-lbs.—handsome 1-lb. packages that give a touch of life and color and "go" to a grocer's shelves.

A Safety Buoy

For your guidance, should be the experience of others. Bright business fellows usually regard these signals--THEY PROFIT BY THEM. Merchants doing business in the old way--by use of pass books, will assure you that their losses are no inconsiderable sum, that in the rush and hurry of selling many items are omitted, and very often throughout the year such losses are occasioned that the results measurably affect the profits. Perhaps this very leak may have occasioned the shrinkage in YOUR profits last year.

With Allison's Coupon Books mistakes are impossible. There are never any losses through failure to charge goods--THEY EFFECTUALLY BLOCK THE LEAKS. Easy to use, and like this:

IF A MAN WANTS CREDIT

For $10, give him a $10 ALLISON COUPON BOOK, charge him with $10 and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for 10 cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon--that's all, and so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. No Pass Book. No Writing. No Time Lost. No Kicking. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? Let us send you a free sample.

Fry's Cocoa and Chocolate.

No Cocoa or Chocolate made anywhere, by anybody, is made more absolutely on honor than "Fry's." They have the largest factory in the world, employing thousands of people. Their product has taken gold and diamond medals and awards without number. No flavorings whatever are used, neither do any injurious drugs or chemicals enter into the making of this world-famous brand.

The Chocolate, whether for eating or drinking, is rich and nourishing—nourishing because so pure. The Chocolate Confections, in quarter, half and one pound wooden boxes are delicious and of full weight always. The Concentrated Cocoa is the very essence of all that is good in the finest Cocoa Bean. Its great purity makes it the most economical, because a little of it goes as far as double the same amount of any other.

The Pure Quill

These November days bring the thought of Buckwheat Cakes to the front again, and when you think of them you call to mind the kind you used to enjoy so much. They had a Buckwheat flavor which you have failed to discover in the many so-called Buckwheat Cakes offered to-day. So you have just about concluded that pure Buckwheat was a myth, and in its place had come some sort of mixture, made by goodness knows what formula, except it was very shy of Buckwheat. Now, your customers are just like yourself, they too, are looking for some of the real old-fashioned stuff. You can give your customers a treat by getting

The Commercial Development of Canada.

An address by E. C. CLOUSTON before the Canadian Bankers' Association at Montreal.

CUSTOM lays upon your President the task of addressing you in annual meeting upon the events of the year which more nearly concern us as bankers. I shall take advantage of this opportunity to touch lightly upon one or two topics.

In the first place, I desire to draw your attention to the fact that though we were incorporated as "The Canadian Bankers' Association," by Act of Parliament in 1890, we actually obtained full authority from the Treasury Board to exercise the powers conferred upon us only in May last, and our first statements in connection with the circulation were issued in June, so that we can hardly be said to be in full working order yet. We are, however, making progress and gradually gathering the threads together, so that in a short time we shall employ the authority and discharge the duties entrusted to us in their entirety. As time goes on we can appreciate more fully the great responsibility placed upon us as an association, and I know it will be our endeavor to justify the action of Parliament by rendering at all times a satisfactory account of our stewardship. I may add that the policy of conferring upon our association large powers of supervision in the administration of the Bank Act is regarded by high financial authorities in Great Britain as calculated to contribute powerfully to the stability of the banks and to the protection of the public.

RETURNS SHOW INCREASES

Since our meeting a year ago, the figures of the bank returns show steady increase, and without going into details, I may mention that the circulation has expanded during that period about $5,600,000; public deposits have risen nearly $40,000,000; and the banks have some $14,000,000 more of loans employed in the business of the country. Our present condition, indeed, may be contemplated with satisfaction, and with reference to the future, I can only give expression to the hope that our prosperity may continue for some time to come.

With regard to the general business of Canada, the great commercial prosperity which began in 1897 remains undiminished, all the outward and visible signs of active and profitable business having increased during the 12 months. Our foreign trade amounted to $377,725,600 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, or $5,000,000 more than in the preceding year, and no less than $146,000,000 in excess of the foreign trade of 1896. That is to say, in the brief space of five years the money value of our imports and exports has been enhanced by 63 per cent. An analysis of these figures brings out many gratifying points.

EXPORTS EXCEEDED IMPORTS.

For example, the foreign and domestic exports have contributed more largely to the increase than have the imports, and for the past seven years our aggregate exports have exceeded our imports. Without opening up that much debated and many-sided question, the balance of trade, it is obvious that a debtor country is relatively accumulating wealth when exports exceed imports, and, in this connection it is significant that while from 1886 to 1891 the domestic exports of Canada were less than the imports by $127,726,000 from 1896 to 1901 the imports only exceeded the domestic exports by $6,000,000, or a betterment in the balance of trade of upwards of $120,000,000. Home trade has likewise greatly prospered. Manufacturing concerns, with few exceptions, have been busily employed; railway traffics have been the largest in the history of the country; labor continues scarce, and the rate of wages relatively high; mercantile failures are few in number, and not formidable in extent. In a word, the good times are still with us.

THE DECENNIAL CENSUS.

We have taken this year the decennial census, and the result has been received with a good deal of disappointment. It will not be disputed that the one signal failure of the Confederation accomplished in 1867 has been our inability to attract population as rapidly as was expected. National sentiment has become strong, the pride and prejudice of provincialism have disappeared, large and substantial progress has been made, and a high average of comfort is enjoyed by the people. These things we have accomplished, and without discussing the causes of our slow progression in population I desire to point out that too much importance may be given to this phase of our national life, and that there are bright sides to the picture pleasant to survey. What, after all, Canada needs is quality rather than quantity. Mere numbers do not necessarily insure stability, strength or prosperity. Infinitely preferable is it that we possess a law-abiding people, imbued with a high sense of national pride, thrifty in habit, resolute in purpose to maintain the integrity of their country, rather than to encourage a large immigration of alien races beyond our ability to assimilate. Our efforts ought to be directed chiefly to the retention of our native born, and the attraction to Canada of the better class of emigrants from Great Britain, Northern Europe and the United States. Then, if our growth is slow, it will at least be upon a firm and sure foundation.

FIGURES TELL THE STORY.

How thrifty a community Canada has become, let the following figures tell: Placing the population this year at 5,400,000, as indicated by the later census returns, I find the foreign trade per head to have been $71.50 in the fiscal year 1901, as against $45, in 1891, $47 in 1881, and $49 in 1871. The deposits of the people in the joint stock, Government, and savings banks have risen in steady progression from $19 per head in 1871, to $27 in 1881, $40 in 1891, and $74 in 1901—most striking evidence of the practical prosperity of the people. The amount of money employed in the daily business of Canada, excluding subsidiary coinage, is now $11 per head; whereas 20 years ago it did not exceed $7.70 per head. These examples of thrift, enterprise and commercial activity might be multiplied by reference to railway earnings, to industrial development, to the production of farm, forest, fisheries and mines, to postal and insurance statistics; in short, to all these standards by which the material condition of a country is measured. The foreign trade of the Dominion per head of population is exceeded by few countries, and with our valuable stores of iron, coal, and timber, and great extent of virgin agricultural lands, there would seem to be no valid reason why this trade should not continue to expand.

CARRIER SERVICE PROBLEM.

A good deal of attention is being given to the transportation facilities of the country, with a view to not only cheapening the cost of carriage to the Canadian people, but of attracting to our routes a considerable portion of the commerce of the American northwestern States. The subject is not new. For 30 years or more it has been a theme of discussion, and I regret to say the accomplishment is as yet far short of the expectation. In railway projection we have shown courage and enterprise, generously aiding private capital with public funds, and the policy has been richly recompensed. As much, however, I fear cannot be said of our aids to ocean commerce, and when we treat of foreign trade, the water carriage is as important a factor as land carriage. A link remains to be supplied in the chain of inter-Imperial communication, in the form of a fast steamship service to Great Britain. It ought to be our motto that the best is not too good for Canada. More than 40 years ago, namely, in 1860, the Legislature of the old Province of Canada deemed efficient steamship communication with Great Britain of sufficient importance to justify a grant of $8,000 per trip, or $400,000 yearly, in aid of a weekly service, a charge upon the public revenue immeasurably greater in proportion than would be to-day the sum necessary to secure to us as speedy a service as anywhere exists.

FAST STEAMSHIP LINES.

The concomitant and subsidiary advantages of a fast steamship line between Canada and Great Britain, reducing the voyage from Europe to America to the lowest possible limit would be, I am satisfied, very great, and the faith and pluck which may give us such a service will not long wait vindication in material results of the highest benefit to the Dominion. A recent letter in one of our daily papers from one of the highest authorities in the country on fast ocean transportation throws great light on the subject, and I would recommend all who are interested in the future of Canada to give careful attention to it.

One word more, and I have done. A quarter of a century ago the paid-up capital stock of banks in Canada was $66,800,000; to-day it is $67,480,000, or practically the same amount. In the interval the "rest," or reserve of profits has risen by more than 50 per cent., and now stands at $36,900,000. We have, therefore, been able to conduct an immensely increased domestic and foreign trade upon a stationary bank capital stock, a result due to the excellence of our banking system, and affording convincing evidence of the adaptability of that system to the requirements of a young and growing country.

ALBERTA OATS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

Professor Robertson has placed the order from the War Office for 500,000 bushels of oats for shipment to South Africa in Alberta. The price contracted for is 27c. f. o. b. at all railway stations between Edmonton and Calgary, and a guarantee is given that the farmer is to receive not less than 24 cents per bushel for oats up to the standard required.

This purchase of the War Office affords a market to the farmers of Alberta which they never otherwise would have had, and as the crop is large and has been harvested in good condition, they will be able to turn it to some account.

The oats will be collected in Calgary and Edmonton and then shipped to South Africa from St. John, N.B., after being cleaned at Montreal. It is expected that the entire shipment will be away from Canada by January 10 at the latest.

At a meeting of those interested in the the establishment of a butter and cheese factory held recently at Clarksburg, Ont., steps were taken to ascertain the number of persons willing to give cream towards it. There is no butter or cheese factory in that vicinity at present.

THE SICILIAN LEMON CROP.

THE United States Consul at Catania reports: "Conditions and prospects of the lemon crop in this consular district are good, the quality of fruit is excellent, and size of crop normal—about 1,600,000 boxes; the only complaint is on account of the lateness of ripening, caused by the long drought, gathering been delayed much longer than usual.

"As shipments have not commenced, no estimate of prices can be given. Unless they rule higher in New York than last year, the probability is that no shipments will be made to the United States from Catania, the value of lemons shipped since January 1 being only $825.09. The present freight per box to New York is 1s. 2d. (28.3c.)

EUROPEAN BEET SUGAR ESTIMATES.

The estimates of Europe's beet-sugar production for the current year differ from 6,331,841 tons, which is the estimate of the International Association, to 6,540,000, which is the estimate of the Centralblatt of the German sugar industry. Herr Licht's estimate is 6,430,000 tons, while that of Giesecker is 6,315,000. The International Association's estimate represents an increase of 262,841 tons upon last year's production, Giesecker's 246,000, Licht's 361,000, and the Centralblatt's 471,000 tons. The four estimates for Germany, Austria, France and Russia, as compared with the production of these countries last year, are as follows (in 1,000 tons):

|--------------|----------------|--------|-----------------------|------------|--------------------|
| Germany ..   | 2,125          | 2,070  | 2,070                 | 2,060      | 1,979              |
| Austria .... | 1,225          | 1,220  | 1,220                 | 1,225      | 1,094              |
| France.....  | 1,190          | 1,150  | 1,030                 | 1,100      | 1,170              |
| Russia ....  | 1,000          | 1,050  | 1,010                 | 1,050      | 920                |

The International Association says the average yield of sugar from beets hitherto worked up this season has been 13.43 per cent., against 14.12 for last season.

SCOTCH HERRINGS.

Statistics compiled by the Scotch Fishery Board show that "during the midsummer herring fishing on the east coast of Scotland, including the most northeastern county of England and the Orkney and Shetland Islands, a fishing which lasts barely 16 weeks, some 930,000,000 herrings were landed. Of the total catch, some 1,020,000 bbls. have been cured for export, and, therefore, it may be assumed that one-third has been kept for home consumption, the other two thirds going to the Continent and America. Of the quantity that goes abroad, each man, woman and child on the Continent could have one as a taster, and then come for a second helping. Presuming they were satisfied with one each, there would be one left for everybody in the United States, and then there would be some 250,000,000 herrings to spare—a quantity about sufficient to invite the entire population of the British colonies to the breakfast," says The London Express. "And if the 930,000,000 herrings were placed head to tail in a line they would cover the diameter of the earth at the equator 11 times."

James P. Gallivin, grocer, Kingston, Ont., is dead.

Wm. E. Baker, of J. B. Taylor & Co., grocers, Welland, Ont., is dead.

John T. Vanvleit, of J. T. Vanvleit & Son, grocers, Lacolle, Que., is dead.

Chas. Trepanier, of Trepanier & Co., general merchants, Louiseville, Que., is dead.

ANOTHER BEET-SUGAR FACTORY.

A member of a firm that owns several beet-sugar factories in the United States was in Peterboro', Ont., recently, seeking a suitable location for a sugar factory there, providing that the farmers can raise beets with the necessary percentage of sugar, and limestone of suitable quality exists in the neighborhood in sufficient quantities.

The company want 30 acres of land, tax exemption for a number of years, suitable sidings, and a guarantee that during the first year the farmers in that vicinity would place at least 3,000 acres of beets under cultivation. They would also want local capitalists to furnish at least one-seventh of the capital, they supplying the remainder. In turn they would erect suitable buildings, and employ 180 men, divided into night and day shifts. Their factory would consume 4,500 tons of limestone and 9,000 tons of coal in one year, and would use 2,500,000 gallons of water.

THE WALLACEBURG SUGAR FACTORY

The beet-sugar factory which is being built for The Wallaceburg Sugar Company, Wallaceburg, Ont., by The Kilby Manufacturing Company, Cleveland, Ohio, a concern that has built many of the most successful beet-sugar manufactories in Michigan, is to have a slicing capacity of 500 tons of beets daily, and is to cost, when completed, which is to be about August 15, 1902, over $600,000. The main building is to be a four-storey stone and iron structure, 250 feet long, adjoining which is a two-storey brick and iron warehouse, 200 feet in length. Besides these two buildings there will be a lime-kiln, a large power house, and a machine shop. Power to run the machinery will be furnished by a big Corliss engine, which will be supplied with steam from a number of boilers, of 2,000 horse power. The smokestack will be 135 feet high.

In connection with this manufactory a new feature will be ten beet sheds, each 400 feet long, with a total storage capacity of from 150,000 to 180,000 tons of beets. These sheds will alone cost the company $25,000. The railway company have already laid tracks through the grounds, and the sheds will be built alongside of these switches, so that it will be convenient to unload the beets from the cars.

THE ADVERTISING ARENA

CHRISTMAS ADVERTISING.

It is fortunate for some business men that Christmas trade makes things hum, otherwise the average of the year's sales would be very discouraging, indeed. But is it not a "little bit" unfair to wait for the three weeks around Christmastide that the average of the year's business make a good showing? Do you find the most successful business men "waiting for Christmas trade to swell their sales?" No; the live up-to-date merchant

WAITS FOR NOTHING.

He gets business every month, every week, every day. He leads. His wares are always before the people. People appreciate his store news, and have come to regard the announcements of reliable merchants a part of their visit to the store. People are always buying. That merchant who is most enterprising, who always avails himself of a

PROPER AMOUNT OF ADVERTISING

is the man who gets the trade. "But, what is a proper amount?" you ask. I think any business man who hesitates to invest at least 5 per cent. of his year's turnover is very short-sighted, and indifferent to his highest interests. Why is it that Mr. Brown does so much more business than Mr. Jones? Simply because Mr. Brown tells the people through a well-written advertisement that he wants their patronage—that he appreciates it; and because the people, on the other hand, appreciate his store's intelligence. Most men and women will tell you that when they see some they want, or see an inducive price mentioned, they have a special interest in going to that store. Very few men or women who go out shopping ever think of dropping into a store that does not advertise. That is just why people pass your door and go to another's door. This is a fast age. People value their time more to-day by 50 per cent. than they did 10 years ago, and will not lose time running from store to store to see where the best bargains are to be obtained. They simply scan their local merchants' store news and go direct to the store whose advertisements are best written. By that, I mean most convincing, and whose advertisement has said something about what is a part and parcel of the most saleable goods for each particular season of the year.

There is absolutely no use advertising summer suits in winter weather—or in advertising fur goods in summer. People buy as they need, and he is the most up-to-date and successful merchant who makes his public announcements suited to each month or week during the year.

THE PLEASURE OF GOOD BUSINESS

at Christmas time should be an example for the merchant who wants better business, or a more steady business at all seasons of the year. If you would do your whole duty to those who patronize you, you will constantly study the markets for new goods and think of the wants of the community; then hustle to acquaint them with the fact and have them ready to buy as soon as you are ready to sell. Don't buy too heavy.

ACCUMULATED STOCKS

are a loss, and unless you are a shrewd advertiser it's dollars to doughnuts your stock is accumulating on goods that are in less demand, with the result that the same old goods and the same old styles are always staring customers in the face till at last disgusted they drift away to a more up-to-date merchant who understands advertising. His advertisements are invitations, and people like to be invited to look at stocks before they buy. Dispositions are so various that only those who have studied human nature can equip themselves for successful business.

DO NOT PROCRASTINATE.

Mr. Merchant, if you would enjoy a full measure of success—do not wait till it is too late to take advantage of changes in conditions and inclinations—get into line at once. Advertising always pays in the long run—advertising makes business all round—it makes profit for the advertiser; bigger sales, and consequently more profit to the wholesale merchant, who, in competition, is shrewd enough to know that he must also keep his wares before the great mass of enterprising merchants by patronizing the columns of the best trade papers.

Yours, for increased business,

MY AD-WRITER.

A FABLE ON THE COST OF ADVERTISING.

Many of my experiences with dealers are no doubt the same as those my fellow salesmen are continually running up against in their respective territories. I run across a dealer once in awhile who can't get it through his head how in the world The Sherwin-Williams Co. can do so much advertising—so much more than all their competitors—without making the consumer pay for it.

I sometimes find it an easy matter to set this dealer thinking right by telling him "The Fable of the Man Who Had a Good Thing and Spent Money to Push It," which runs as follows:

There was once a man who owned an apple orchard. It yielded him one thousand dollars a year. His neighbor owned one just like it. One day the man began to think. He decided to spend some money and straightway paid out one hundred dollars cultivating his orchard.

His neighbor laughed at him and said, "Who pays for all this? You will have to add ten per cent. when you sell the apples to cover the cost." He continued to cultivate and said nothing.

That year he got twelve hundred dollars for his apples. Did he have to charge more money for them? Not he. He sold more apples—that was all—and gave better and larger apples—in fact they were full measure apples. This led to an increased demand and by-and-bye he had to buy out his neighbor on account of his growing business and because the people were rushing to buy his kind of apples. His neighbor gave up trying to compete.

But the man who was doing all the business continued the same policy of spending money to cultivate the soil—in other words of spending money to get business. Very soon he had all the good business there was and covered the earth with his brand of apples.

Moral—Good advertising pays for itself.—S. W. Smith in The Chamblee.

JOBBER'S ADVERTISING.

Advertising is as essential to the jobber as to anyone else. Or, to say the least, if not absolutely essential, it's as beneficial, which, as far as the reason for doing it is concerned, amounts to about the same thing. For no firm whose business can be increased by publicity ought to ignore advertising. It isn't business wisdom to ignore it.

The jobber, wholesaler, or whatever else you call the middleman, who refuses to advertise, or doesn't do it, for any reason whatsoever, is giving his competitors a better chance to pull trade. He who uses publicity is bound to build up his trade. It follows as naturally as that the sun follows the night and makes day, and that the night follows the day again, in turn. Advertise—let folks know what you have to sell, no matter whether you're retailer, jobber, maker, commission man, or what not, and folks will deal with you as a consequence.

Whether a jobber advertises or doesn't advertise, if he is well located he will do business. In course of years, if his goods, prices, and service are such as to invite continuous trading, his business will grow. Can't help growing, for as fast as other retailers find out his resources and advantages they will be attracted thereto. The trouble with this process lies in the fact that it's necessarily a slow one at best. It doesn't grow fast enough to suit modern ideas, and some other power must be added to make the increase quicker.—American Grocer.

INDEPENDENT SELF-RELiance.

The advertiser who prepares what he believes in his innermost soul is a good ad., should have the courage of his conviction and give it a chance to do the work he believes it capable of doing.

There's many a good, strong advertisement gone into the waste basket through ill advice, from one having a reputation for perfect judgment on such things, but which would have proven a hit had the writer of the ad. used his own judgment instead.

It is said of Conan Doyle, when a boy, that his teacher took him into his room alone, as he was about to leave the school, and said to him: "Doyle, I have known you now for seven years, and as I know you thoroughly, I am going to say something you will remember in after life. Doyle you will never come to any good."

The world knows how wrong that teacher's judgment was.

And we should see more good advertising if men of ability were strong enough to stand up in their boots and follow their own instincts in regard to what is and what is not fit, among their own writings, to go into print. There is, of course, such a thing as over confidence; yet the judgment of self should be equal to the "next man's," and often is better.

All this under proper conditions, of course.—Clifton S. Wady.

You Would Enjoy a Trip to the West Indies . . .

more than any other trip you have ever made, because everything the eye dwells upon is so different from the surroundings at home. ## TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

CANNED GOODS IN ENGLAND.

THE demand for all descriptions of canned goods has been on a limited scale during the past few days, although in one or two instances firmer markets have to be reported. As was anticipated, the catch of sardines on the French Coast during the last 14 days of October did not improve, and the season is now practically over. Some of the packers of the best brands have advanced their quotations, especially in the larger-sized tins, and it is expected that during the next few months we shall see a further improvement in values, as the pack generally has been the smallest for some years, and stocks on the spot of French goods are lighter than usual. Although fishing on the Portuguese Coast is carried on all the year round, weather permitting, the fish packed between October and April is usually of inferior quality—hence the advantage of ignoring brands when buying and of holding a good stock while the summer-packed fish is to be obtained. There is a good inquiry for tomatoes for forward delivery, and valuations are firm. As American-packed goods cannot be bought under 4s. 6d. c.i.f., attention should largely be turned to Italian peeled, which can be obtained at a low figure. The stock of gallon apples is being quickly absorbed on the spot, but little business has been done for the new pack, as it is difficult to get buyers to interest themselves on account of the high prices that are asked.—Produce Markets' Review.

THE SITUATION IN CURRANTS.

The market for currants continues to be fairly active and steady, and duty-paid clearances have been on a scale of importance, exceptional even for the month of October. In spite of the large business, the retail trade shows no sign of having been guilty of overbuying, the frequent repetition of orders rather indicating that their stocks continue to be distributed with greater rapidity than usual. This is not difficult to understand, when it is considered that the effects of last season's campaign were to leave every branch of the trade short of currants before this year's crop commenced to arrive. Another and very important effect of the past season has been to create among importers a great desire to clear off stocks as fast as they come to market. Thus, circumstances have combined to give the present season a distinct character, the principal features being a very heavy trade and very reasonable prices. Whether the somewhat exceptional desire of holders to realize can be entirely ascribed to the nervous feeling alluded to is perhaps open to some little doubt. The present reputed statistical position would certainly seem to indicate a firmer course, and the question somewhat naturally arises whether the better informed among the importers may not have some intimation that the yield of the crop of 1901 is larger than has yet been stated. Be that as it may, several things are certain—stocks everywhere out of Greece are small; universal trade in the article is large; really desirable parcels showing any special character are easily sold, and, so far as the United Kingdom is concerned, no large stock can be accumulated in time to cause any important depression before the whole of the Christmas trade must necessarily be finished and done with.—Produce Markets' Review.

UNSETTLED COCOANUT MARKET

The cocoanut market continues in an unsettled condition, and the course of the same is being watched carefully by the trade. A decline of from $2 to $1 per 1,000 is noted for the week, and to-day a dealer stated that present quotations for large lots could be shaded on nearly all descriptions. The easiness is due largely to liberal offerings, fruit in sight, exclusive of recent arrivals, numbering about 1,050,000 cocoanuts. The brig Venturer, now out 43 days, has, it is stated, 400,000 cocoanuts; the schooner Florida is noted for the way here from San Blas with 250,000 cocoanuts, and the Abby Bkwoer is reported on the way from San Andres with 400,000 cocoanuts. A report is current also that the Olinda will bring about 5,000 bags from Baracoa.—New York Journal of Commerce, November 18.

CURRANTS HIGHER IN NEW YORK.

The delay in the arrival of the Guild hall with further supplies of currants increased the strength already noted in spot, and an advance of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. was chronicled to-day, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. being paid for 100 barrels of fine Amalias for nearly interior account. A further inquiry is also noted for several small lots at 6c., but sellers are strong on the 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. basis for spot goods pending the arrival of the vessel now overdue, but expected hourly. Nothing is now offered to arrive under 6c. out of the Guildhall's cargo, and it is stated that excepting a few small lots the cargo is either sold out of first hands or concentrated into few hands. Temporarily pending the arrival of the vessel the market is strong at 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for fine Amalias, with stocks in the hands of local cleaners light. Buying is for actual requirements. In cleaned currants, the demand is active and sellers' views are strong within the quoted range.—Journal of Commerce.

GLUCOSE PRICES ADVANCED.

Another advance has occurred in the price of glucose in the United States, so that the quotations are now $1.78 per hundred pounds for the lowest grade in Chicago and $1.81 in New York. On this basis it is asserted that there is a profit of 15 per cent. to the manufacturer at the prevailing price of corn.

CALIFORNIAN ORANGE SITUATION.

In connection with the new crop of Californian oranges, The Fruit World, says: "The feature of the situation is the delayed ripening of the new crop. Last year at this time a number of carloads were already under way, with plenty in sight for shipment. From Southern California no carlot shipments of strictly new crop have been made at this date (November 9), and no prospects of immediate shipments. The warm nights prevailing have delayed the coloring of the fruit. There is not the usual eagerness displayed for getting off early oranges on account of the quantity of Florida, Mexican and Porto Rico oranges. Occasional cars of off-bloom oranges continue moving in mixed cars with some slightly-colored new crop. Reports from the Redlands-Highlands district state that some oranges are fairly well colored, and if there was the usual demand for them they would move. As has been stated before, there is an unusually large number of split oranges, especially in the Redlands-Highlands district; these color up and make it appear as though all fruit on the tree were well colored. The f.o.b. price at which the Southern Californian oranges will open is indefinite, most shippers talking $2.25 per box."

SEASON'S SALMON PACK IN THE U.S.

A press despatch from San Francisco, says: "The aggregate salmon pack will come up to 4,800,000 cases. There is no business now passing. Some outside canners are shading prices 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per dozen."

LONDON TEA TRADE FOR OCTOBER.

McMeekin & Co. report the London tea market for October as follows:

Indian.—The offerings at London public auctions were 205,000 packages, against 259,000 packages in the same month of 1900. Some few inferior old season's teas were included, but the quality generally was of a useful character. There were few high-class Darjeelings, and in Assams there was a falling-off as compared with earlier arrivals, but Dooars, Cachars and Sylhets showed distinct improvement. The market opened with a continuance of the firm prices of September and a slight advance on same was recorded, but the excessive offerings in the second week of the month caused a sharp fall which affected all grades. The smaller auctions and the excellent value offering tended to give confidence later, and there was a gradual recovery in prices with a marked advance in the value of the lower grades.

The average of public sale prices for the month was 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb., as against 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. for the corresponding month of last year.

The imports were 24,515,000 lb., and the deliveries 13,865,000 lb., leaving in stock on October 31 55,315,000 lb.

Ceylon.—The offerings at London public auctions were 94,000 packages, against 106,000 packages in the same month of 1900. The quality continued to be of a fairly desirable character, and the moderate offerings were readily taken by buyers. The market was more steady than that for Indian teas. It fell somewhat in sympathy, but recovered more quickly, and shows at the close a more general improvement in the level of prices.

The average of public sale prices for the month was 8d. per lb., against 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per lb. for the corresponding month of last year.

The imports were 6,242,000 lb. and the deliveries 9,698,000 lb., leaving in stock on October 31 21,152,000 lb.

The shipments from Colombo to London are now on an increasing scale, the total for October being 2,250,000 lb. in excess of the quantity for that month last year.

Harrison's & Crasfield's tea-market report under date of London, November 6, says:

The tea market during October has steadily advanced for the lower grades of all descriptions. The quality of the arrivals has continued to be satisfactory, whilst the knowledge that the market was not likely to be swamped by excessive supplies has imparted confidence to operators holding stock; and as the indications at present point towards a continuance of shortened supplies for the remainder of this season, it is probable that the market will remain strong for some time; especially for all the lower grades. The payments of duty in London in the last four months show an increase on last year of about 3,000,000 lb. of tea, bringing up the total since January 1 last to 195,500,000 lb., against 190,500,000 lb. at the same date last year, which indicates an increasing home consumption, and leads to the conclusion that the accumulation of duty-paid stock has now been all worked off. The foreign demand has also increased, exports for the first nine months of this year showed 16 per cent. increase on last year; and, if these two facts are taken together with the shortened supplies, the very considerable advance in price of all the lower grades of tea during the last two months is no doubt accounted for.

A GROCERS' SECTION.

At a meeting last Thursday evening a number of the retail grocers of Toronto organized themselves as a section of the Retail Merchants' Association, with the following officers:

President—F. C. Higgins, 804 Yonge street.
1st Vice-President—John Wrigley, 167 Richmond street west.
2nd Vice-President—A. W. Johnson, 815 King street west.
Treasurer—R. Passmore, 144 Dundas street.
Secretary—E. McAuliffe, 108 Queen street west.

G. M. Trowern, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, who was present, addressed the meeting, congratulating the members upon having completed their organization.

MOTIVE OF THE ORGANIZATION.

F. C. Higgins, the president of the new organization, when questioned by THE CANADIAN GROCER as to why the organization had been formed when there was already the Retail Grocers' Association in existence, said:

"We joined the Retail Merchants' Association because we believe that in union there is strength. They are a more comprehensive body, embracing all lines of trade, and we could, in any agitation or in petitioning the Legislature, bring more influence to bear.

"A number of grocers had previously belonged to this association, and we were only organizing ourselves into a section of the larger organization, which will give us greater influence in the councils of the merchants.

"In any matter that we undertake, we shall be able to bring more influence to bear. For instance, in the trading-stamp fight, the Retail Grocers' Association had to bear the whole brunt of the battle, but, if we should undertake a reform like this, we should be supported by all the other branches of trade."

"Will the influence of this organization be only confined to Toronto?"

"The Retail Merchants' Association takes in the whole of Canada, and we expect branches to be formed in all the other centres. Our action must not be considered," he continued, "as in opposition to the Retail Grocers' Association. We want to cooperate with them and be of assistance in reconciling the whole grocery trade of Toronto. We would much like to see the retail grocers unite with us, and, if there is any matter of business in which we can work jointly together, we will be pleased to do so.

"Then, another advantage of our organizing thus is that our expenses will not be so great," he added, "especially in the collection of accounts, and we could make a much larger 'dead-beat' list."

TO VISIT THE WEST INDIES.

Canadian manufacturers seem to be taking more interest in the possibilities of trade with the British West Indies. Pickford & Black have just been advised that the president and secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will sail for Barbadoes, Trinidad and Demerara, on a voyage of inquiry. They will probably go on the ss. Orinoco, which sails from Halifax on December 2 and will be due to return about the middle of January.

A voyage to the tropics during the winter months is a delightful way to spend a few weeks, if one has the leisure, and the Orinoco, of the Pickford & Black Line, is a splendid ship to go on.

TO INCREASE EXPORTS TO SOUTH AFRICA.

INTEREST in the South African War and the part Canada has taken in it may be declining, but the interest in South-African trade and the share we are getting of it is decidedly on the increase. Our exports to that country have grown to such a volume, and the outlook for an increase of trade is so favorable that the manufacturers in convention in Montreal pledged their ability to keep up a subsidized line of steamers plying between a Canadian and South-African ports.

The points that Mr. Cumming emphasized in his speech should not be forgotten either by the Government, which is being importuned, or by our manufacturers, who should be seriously concerned. South Africa, in peace, promises to be one of the greatest consuming countries in the world, both of agricultural and manufactured products. It is essentially a mining country, and its inhabitants are not steady or scientific agriculturists, nor are its workmen skilled in any manufacture. Consequently, it must import many of its cereals and nearly all its hams, bacon, cheese and manufactured articles. It is a country with features entirely dissimilar from our own and a country with which trade ought to be mutually profitable. Should the war stop now, Mr. Cumming reckons that South Africa would be exporting £150,000,000 of gold in five years. It is a rich country, but only in certain lines. What it wants, we can supply.

Of course, we have already done considerable trade with South-African ports, but as yet Canadian South-African trade is not established on a proper basis—as if we meant business. True, we have sent out many tons of hay, some cargoes of oats, a large amount of clothing and boots, and our exporters, farmers and manufacturers have reaped their reward. But this trade is not permanent; it holds out no hope for the future. It would discontinue to-morrow if the war was brought to a close. What we want is a permanent outlet for our goods, one that will be open in peace as in war. We have many lines that will sell after the war is over, and these ought to be introduced now. Our exporting firms should work up a connection with South-African importing houses.

We are not blind to the fact that many connections have already been established. Canadian goods are being exported in large quantities, but we are not taking the place we are entitled to occupy in the South-African trade returns. As Mr. Cumming says, as we have pointed out on several occasions, and as the Manufacturers' Association has repeatedly urged, what we want is a direct line of steamships that will visit Australian ports. At present, the bulk of our goods is carried through American ports, but on this account they have been neglected, it being known that Canadian goods, after being placed in the hold of an American vessel, have been taken out to wait for the next vessel to make room for United States products. Not only is the cost of transportation heavy, but the delays are oftentimes very grievous. Working under such disadvantages, the wonder is that our Canadian firms have been able to do a South African or Australian business at all. What we want is a direct steamship and mail connection from our Atlantic ports with these two sister colonies, whereby trade will become more satisfactory. We will then grow to have a more practical knowledge of each other's requirements, which will go a long way to prepare for that Imperial preferential tariff towards which people would have us believe we are tending.

It should be borne in mind by our manufacturers that South Africa wants only finished goods. It does not want lumber cut merely into deals; it wants it dressed and ready to nail together into a house. There is no skilled labor there. The people there do not want leather; they want ready-to-wear boots. And so we might go down the list. At present, we are sending a by no means small quantity of raw material to the United States and England, where it is being finished and reshipped at a neat little profit.

Mr. Moffatt, the Canadian representative in South Africa, has suggested that a dozen Canadian manufacturers club together and send a hustling representative out there. Travellers' expenses are very high, but by a cooperative movement this heavy expense could be distributed. There is certainly plenty of room for action. Ten years ago, the United States began to trade with South Africa; last year, $19,000,000 worth of goods were sent over from their ports.

BUSINESS MEN'S COSTLY BATHS.

A business man, while taking a bath in New York the other day, was robbed of $15, and a contemporary remarks that his bath cost him $15.

Although there can hardly be said to be a parallel, we are reminded by this incident of the action of a Toronto auctioneer whose bath cost him a great deal more than $15.

During the early days of the real estate boom in Winnipeg he amassed a great deal of money, and one day, to celebrate a particularly good transaction, he ordered champagne to be emptied into his bath sufficient for an ablution.

To-day he would probably be glad of sufficient champagne to slake his thirst, for when the boom burst his wealth disappeared.

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES RECIPROCITY MOVEMENT.

THE question of reciprocity with Canada and other countries has for some months been the subject of a good deal of consideration in the United States, but not since the famous speech of President McKinley, on the day preceding his assassination, has it been brought more prominently before the public than during the past two weeks. This is due (1) to the influential deputation representing the manufacturers and merchants of Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Buffalo and Pittsburg, which, on November 13, waited on President Roosevelt, asking him to advise the establishment of reciprocal trade with Canada, and (2) the reciprocity convention which is meeting this week in Washington at the call of the Manufacturers' Association of the United States.

These particular incidents show that the question of reciprocity has assumed a phase unique in the history of the United States. Hitherto the movement for reciprocity has been from without, not from within. Born of their astonishing industrial development, the vastness of their country and the variety of its resources, they gathered wrong conceptions of their economical position among the nations of the world. But, while their sense of the industrial importance of their country has not diminished, they are awakening to the fact that studied exclusiveness is incompatible with commercial principles. There are indications on the commercial horizon that its continuance might produce unpleasant results. The day before he was shot the late Mr. McKinley declared: "The period of exclusiveness is past. Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times; measures of retaliation are not." And, if it is as we are told, that the Presidents of the United States do not run ahead of public opinion, we must conclude that the voice of Mr. McKinley was the voice of the people.

But realizing that "the period of exclusiveness is past" and that "reciprocity treaties are more in harmony with the spirit of the times," is very well as far as it goes. It must, however, go farther if treaties are to become a fact. A reciprocity treaty is a give-and-take affair. And we in Canada do not believe that the United States have yet got that far in their new-found faith. Their idea of reciprocity is akin to that of the wolf who made overtures to the lamb.

Our belief is not based on a mere supposition. We have not forgotten that the reciprocal plank in the national platform of the Republican party is to the effect that the market of the United States shall be opened on favorable terms to what the country does not produce on condition that the products of the United States are allowed free entry into the other country that is party to the bargain. They are willing to take, but they are not willing to give.

Under such a formula Canada will never even discuss reciprocity, much less become a party to a treaty. And that is the explanation of the quiet unconcern that obtains in this country at the moment in regard to the question. It is not that we are not open to the consideration of a treaty that would be fair to both parties. Most people who look at the subject from a business standpoint believe that a treaty that was reciprocal in fact as well as in name would be a good thing for both countries. And they would scarcely be businesslike if they did not believe so. A de facto reciprocity treaty would mean the removal or the diminishing of at least some of the obstacles to the development of trade which now exist on both sides of the boundary line. But, since the opening of the convention at Washington it is evident, as the correspondent of one of the Toronto daily papers in attendance remarks, that most of the manufacturers in the United States are "shivering behind a 50 per cent. tariff," afraid of the very subject which they were called together to discuss.

While, however, reciprocity between Canada and the United States is not probable in the near future, we believe that those on both sides of the boundary line who are in favor of it will finally become sufficiently strong to bring it about.

CANNED GOODS PACKERS CONFER.

THE Canadian Packers' Association met in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday last. Among those present were: Messrs. H. I. Mathews (president), W. A. Ferguson, Wellington Boulter, D. Marshall, W. P. Innes, Robert James, F. R. Lalor, D. Morgan, W. Miller, Fred Miller, F. W. Hepburn, Smith, Leitch, James Dolan, Flynn, Louis Schenck.

A great deal of the time of the meetings was devoted to executive work. The packers expressed themselves as being well pleased with the treatment they had received from the syndicate, and while it was felt that the agreement, as it at present existed, could not be continued for another season, they concurred in the opinion that some scheme should be worked out whereby the market would be steadier next season.

It was estimated by some of the members present that the profit of the syndicate this season would be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The full complement of corn was estimated to be packed, but tomatoes and peas were short. The pack of tomatoes by the members of the association was held to be only 95,000, about one-third less than that of last year.

WOODENWARE 7½ PER CENT. DEARER.

An advance of 7½ per cent. on the old list has taken place all round in the price of woodenware. The advance in iron and in other raw materials going into the manufacture of woodenware, is the cause of the appreciation in prices. Hoop iron it is almost impossible to get, the effects of the strike in the United States of the iron and steel workers still being seriously felt.

WILL THE TEA TAX BE REPEALED?

EVER since the duty of 10c. per lb. was put upon tea some three years ago for war-revenue purposes by the United States Congress there has been more or less opposition to it. As the reason for this duty became less the opposition to it increased in strength. And this, a few days ago, crystallized into an organization in New York to be known as the Tea Duty Repeal Association. Its supporters include prominent wholesale grocers, jobbers and tea importers of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Iowa, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, California and Colorado. G. Waldo Smith, the well-known New York wholesaler, is president, and Alfred P. Sloan is chairman.

As a revenue-producer, the Government of the United States can scarcely require to perpetuate the duty, for the enormous surplus of $600,000,000 is lying in the Treasury. That it is a burden on the tea trade there is no doubt. On a tea which costs 10c. per lb. the tax is 100 per cent., while the average on all the imports is about 75 to 80 per cent. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, the imports of tea into the United States were 89,806,453 lb., the value of which was $11,017,876. The amount collected in duty was $9,980,645, or more than three-fourths the value of the tea.

Aside altogether from the intention of the tax as a revenue-producer, there were a number of people engaged in the tea trade who anticipated that one of its results would be a curtailment in the use of low grade tea, it being contended that, as the duty was relatively lower on the high grade than on the lower grade, consumers would gradually be induced to turn their attention to the better descriptions. This is something every tea dealer would like to see brought about, for the better the grade of tea sold the larger, as a rule, is the merchant's profit. But the tax in the United States has not brought about any such results.

"The duty," says a letter issued by the Repeal Association, "has injured our tea departments in every conceivable way. It has reduced profits and cut down the sale of fine tea, so that business is tending almost exclusively toward the lower grades."

While it is possible that the duty may not have been as great an influence in bringing about the consumption of the lower grades of tea as the members of the Repeal Association think it has (for it must be remembered that tea dealers in the United States, as in other countries, have concentrated altogether too much effort in pushing low-priced goods), one cannot be blind to the fact that the tax has not stimulated the consumption of the better grades of tea.

It is this phase of the experience of the United States that probably interests Canadian tea dealers most, for there are a good many in this country who have for some years advocated a duty on tea in order that consumers might be induced to take the better grades.

THE TROUBLES OF THE SHIPPERS.

THE close of navigation and the advent of winter freight rates have brought more than their usual quota of trouble this year to Montreal wholesale houses. Every fall jobbers are inundated with orders to ship by last boat or just before the imposition of winter freights. So far has this habit gone with the retailers that it is now absolutely impossible to comply with the requests of even a small majority of them. One wholesaler told us this week that it would have required eight or ten last boats from Montreal to take his shipments alone, so he was compelled to override the retailers' directions and ship just as the goods were ready.

But although the wholesalers foresee the impossibility of sending everybody's fall stocks out by the last boats, they are not able to relieve the pressure entirely. This year there has not been sufficient space for the shipments and, what has been more troublesome, is that there has been an insufficient cartage service. Montreal streets are bad at their best, but covered as they have been with slush during the past two weeks, they have allowed only halt loads. It has been absolutely impossible to get goods to the wharf or station or even to make prompt city delivery. The consequence is that many retailers will not get their goods as they require them.

To this problem there is only one solution; country merchants must come early and avoid the rush. They must not allow their desire to avoid small interest and insurance charges to swell their transportation expenses or delay the arrival of new goods till late in the season. Wholesalers have great trouble in convincing retailers that everybody cannot be supplied at once, but if nothing else will teach them, experience must. There have been several very forceful lessons taught to country merchants this week who persist in postponing their orders till the last day in ordering their goods to go by the last boat or summer freight train.

MERRITT BROS.' STOCK.

The stock of Merritt Bros. & Co., wholesale grocers, St. John, N.B., who failed a short time ago, has been sold by auction by Sheriff Ritchie. All the notes, several shares in a barquentine, schooner, steamer, several companies, gold mining stock, stock of teas and general merchandise brought altogether $12,788. The stock of teas, the value of which was listed at $4,334, brought $2,800, and the general merchandise, including wagons, office furniture, etc., valued at $11,460, was knocked down for $7,100.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

The Clinton, Ont., correspondent of The Seaforth Sun writes: "Mr. George E. Rathwell, who for some months has conducted a grocery in the Searle Block, has disposed of the business, and will be engaged for some time getting his accounts straightened up. He was doing very nicely for a beginner, but has something else in view. We trust success may attend his efforts in whatever line he may embark. His successor is Mr. T. M. Davis, of Mitchell, who has been engaged in a similar business and understands how a first-class grocery should be conducted. He intends making a number of changes in the store, and, a week hence, will be in a position to make an announcement to the grocery-consuming public."

The collection of canned fruit which won the silver medal at the Pan-American will be removed from Buffalo to St. Catharines and offered for sale by the Ontario Department of Agriculture by whom it was exhibited.

WHAT DID WE TELL YOU

two years ago about

"SALADA"

Ceylon Green Tea?

We stated then, on this page, and have stated often since, that Japan Teas would disappear from Canada and the United States, and that their place would be taken by Ceylon Green Teas.

Two years ago we were laughed at. To day every wholesale firm in Ontario and Quebec are carrying them in stock ; and the most conservative firms who laughed at our predictions now acknowledge them to be correct.

If you handle Japan Teas in your district it will pay you, we assure you, to give your very closest attention to "SALADA" Ceylon GREEN Tea. Japan Tea is a sinking ship. Do not stand by it.

Samples of "Salada" Ceylon Green, Black or Mixed, for the asking.

Address, "SALADA," Toronto or Montreal.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, November 21, 1901.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS is being well maintained. There is no great rush in any one line but there is a steady and fair movement in merchandise. Sugars, are meeting with a fair demand this week and the outside markets are a little firmer. Acadia granulated is down another 10c., making it 15c. below the price of the Montreal refined article. Canned goods of all kinds are only in fair request, but prices continue to rule firmer, particularly on tomatoes. A strong market continues to rule on coffee, but the demand, locally, is light. Very little is being done in either syrups or molasses. Only a moderate business is to be noted in teas, but the outside markets rule firm. Business is fairly good in currants and prunes, but in other lines of dried fruits there is not much being done.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned vegetables are in much about the same position as they were a week ago. A steady business in small lots is being done and a firm feeling still obtains in regard to prices. The Packers' Association held a meeting in Toronto this week, but no business of much importance appears to have been transacted. The ruling price of tomatoes is 82½ to 85c.; corn and peas, 80c. upward. Fruits are attracting but little attention. Gallon apples are gradually advancing and quotations are as high as $2.65. Three's rule at 85 to 90c. The demand for canned salmon is not as brisk as it was, but there is still a fair business being done. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30 and Fraser river sockeye, $1.42½ for 5-case lots and over and $1.45 for less quantities. Cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality. Pink salmon 95c. to $1 a dozen.

COFFEE.

There has been some liquidation in New York, which has caused a decline in prices, but a steadier tone has since developed. Cable advices regarding the Santos crop show a considerable difference in the estimates, some calculating 6,000,000 bags and others 4,500,000. The latter figure is endorsed by the Santos comisarios. Locally trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote Rio coffee as follows: No. 7, 8c., No. 6, 8½c., No. 5, 8¾c., No. 4, 9c., No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business does not show much improvement, the movement still being light in both syrups and molasses. Mail advices from New Orleans report that receipts of molasses there are rather large, but that prices, notwithstanding, are firm. Ruling prices for syrups, locally, are 30 to 35c. per gallon; New Orleans molasses, 25 to 28c.; Barbados, 36 to 39c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Business keeps steady in both lines. Rice continues steady. We quote: B rice, 3¼ to 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; Tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c. per lb.

SUGAR.

The raw-sugar markets closed dull and easier last week, but at the time of writing prices are firmer, the latest cables reporting an advance of ¾d. in beet sugar, and of 3d. in cane sugars. Locally, the demand for refined sugar is a little better than it was, but the turnover is still light. The feature of the local market is a decline of 10c. in the price of Acadia granulated, thus again putting the quotation 15c. per 100 lb. below the figure ruling for the product of the Montreal refineries. Quotations are now as follows f.o.b. Montreal, for granulated:

See pages 35 and 36 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

Montreal refined, $4.10; Acadia, $3.95. The meltings in the United States last week were again in excess of the receipts, being 30,000 tons against 26,895 tons for the latter. The stocks in the four United States ports at the close of the week were 173,508 tons against 53,099 tons the same week last year.

CANDIED PEELS.

Business cannot yet be said to be active. We quote: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c. per lb.

TEAS.

Advices from London, Eng., under date of November 8, say that a heavy auction of Indian tea resulted in a drop of fully ¼d. per lb., with a general slackness in the bidding. The market was also disappointing in regard to Ceylon teas at the auction, a decline of ¼ to ¾d. being frequently noticeable. The unsatisfactory turn the market took is attributed to the failure of the sellers to support the Regulating Committee. The disturbance caused by the fog also appears to have had some influence. Since then, however, the market has again assumed a firmer tone. Fewer teas from now on are likely to come forward, better shipping facilities having enabled teas to be brought forward from the market of production earlier in the season in larger quantities than usual. A cable received on Tuesday from Calcutta reported an advance of 1d. per lb. Locally, the demand for tea is not brisk and buyers and sellers are apart in their views as to price.

China green teas continue scarce and high and almost unobtainable. The shortage in the exports this season is about 2,750,000 lb., the quantity last year being 14,750,000 lb. against 12,000,000 lb. this year. There is a little movement locally in Ceylon green teas, and business is gradually although slowly improving.

NUTS.

Wholesalers report that business is beginning to pick up in this line, although the volume is not yet large. The ruling prices are: Filberts, 9 to 9½c.; Tarragona almonds, 11½c.; Formegetta almonds, 10½c. Grenoble walnuts are slightly lower in the primary market and this has induced local wholesalers to place some sorting-up orders.

SPICES.

The feature of the spice market is the strength of the price of ginger which is quite pronounced. Cable advices report a firm market for pepper. Business, locally, is fair.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS — There has been no material change in the situation. Locally there is still a free movement to be reported. Ruling prices, according to quality, are: Filiatras, 5 to 5½c. per lb. for uncleaned and 5½ to 6½c. for cleaned; Patras, 6 to 6½c. for uncleaned and 6½ to 7½c. for cleaned; Vostizzas, 8c. for uncleaned and 8½c. for cleaned. A good portion of the cargo of the ss. Guildhall, overdue at New York, is destined for Canada, according to advices from that city.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The tone of the local market is strong in sympathy with the conditions ruling outside, and 6½c. seems to be the ruling price for selected for any delivery. The ruling price for fine off-stalk on spot is 5½c. per lb.

FIGS — The demand for tapnets continues fairly good at 2¾ to 3c., and for naturals at 3¾c. per lb.

PRUNES — The demand for prunes continues good. In anticipation of a good season's trade local houses have laid in pretty large stocks of Californian prunes. We quote Californian prunes as follows: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6½c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6½c. to 7½c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8½ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

MALAGA RAISINS — The wholesale houses are now supplied with new fruit, but there is practically nothing doing yet. Ruling prices are: Black baskets, $2.25 "Empire Clusters," $2.60; "Dehesa Clusters," $3.10; "Excelsior Clusters," $4.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.10; "Extra Dessert Clusters," $3.35; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $5.

DATES — Very little doing. New dates are quoted as follows: Hallowees, 4½ to 4¾c.; Sairs, 4¼ to 4½c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS
—Only a small movement. We quote in 25-lb. boxes as follows: Apricots, 13 to 16c.; peaches, 11 to 13c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

The prices of apples remain firm, but no advance has taken place. Latest reports from Liverpool say that apples are selling well there, and good markets are looked for until December 18. Dealers here are advised to ship their stuff forward as fast as possible. Pears are nearly done, and those that are selling, in some cases, bring as high as 60c. per basket. Jamaica oranges are more plentiful and are 25c. lower. The season for Canadian cranberries is about over, and they have been a very scarce article on the market these last few days. Pineapples are not plentiful, and will not be so until the new crop comes in. We quote: Apples, $2.50 to $4.50 per bbl.; pears, 40 to 60c. per basket; Canadian grapes, 30 to 35c. per 10 lb. basket; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Malaga grapes $6 to $7; Jamaica oranges, $4 75 to $5 per bbl., or $3.50 to $4 per box; Cape Cod cranberries, $8 to $8 75 per bbl., and $2.75 to $3 per case; Ontario cranberries, $5 to $7 per bbl. Pineapples sell at 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

Cauliflowers are not so plentiful as they were and the price for them remains firm. Lettuce is more plentiful and sells well. Watercress, mint, and parsley, are 5c. per bunch lower this week owing to the arrival of a large quantity. Citrons are hard to get; so are Hubbard squashes. Potatoes are scarce and are 10c. per bag higher. Dealers say that this is owing to the farmers bringing in grain almost entirely and neglecting the potato market. In other respects, the market remains unchanged. We quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15 to 20c. per peck; lettuce, 40 to 50c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 40 to 60c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c. cabbage, 25 to 40c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 65 to 75c. per bag; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 10 to 20c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 10 to 15c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The quantity of eggs arriving is fairly good for this time of year. Strictly new-laid eggs are very hard to obtain and command the highest prices, some being sold at from 21 to 22c. per doz. Eggs are firm in tone, and, as some Chicago dealers have secured a corner on the egg market there, we may expect high prices here. Fresh gathered are worth from 18 to 20c.; cold stored, 17 to 18c.; and limed, in most cases, 17c. per doz.

BEANS—There is a quiet but steady movement in beans, the demand being fair and the supply plentiful. Choice handpicked beans bring $1.70 to $1.75; prime, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY—Is moving steadily if slowly. There is a good supply. Prices are the same as before. We quote: Clover, 10c.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—Demand for dried apples is steady and slowly increasing. Prices are steady. There is a good supply on hand. Evaporated apples are selling at 9c. in car lots and 9½ to 10c. for cases. Dried apples are worth 5½ to 6c.

POTATOES—Demand has improved, and good potatoes have advanced 5c. on the track. Dealers complain about the inferior quality of this article that is coming in. In car lots, on the track, potatoes are worth 55c. per bag, and sell from 60 to 70c. per bag for good stock.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Larger arrivals of butter are reported than last week, but the quality is not much improved, the majority of the large rolls coming in selling at 15 to 16c. Large rolls are in better demand, but 1-lb. prints of an improved quality are desired. Choice 1-lb. prints sell at from 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 15 to 16c.; tubs, best, at from 14 to 15c., and medium from 12 to 13½c. per lb. Creamery prints are selling well at 20c.; creamery solids, 19 to 19½c. per lb.

CHEESE—The cheese market is quiet. Most of the cheese factories have closed down for the season, but there is a great quantity in storage. The prices here are weak, but the movement is steady, the local demand being good on account of the low prices. Prices of cheese are unchanged at from 9¼ to 9¾c. per lb.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—The supply is good this week in the dressed poultry line. Thanksgiving Day being close at hand, lots of turkeys are coming in and sell at better prices than last week. The price of turkeys is now 10c. per lb. in most cases. Geese have also advanced ½c. per lb., and are in good demand with moderate receipts. We quote as follows: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; turkeys, 9½ to 10c.

LIVE POULTRY—This has been a record week for live poultry dealers, as the receipts have been so large that it has been difficult to handle all the arrivals. A large shipment is being made up for the British market, the date of departure being about December 18. There is a great quantity of hens on the market, and dealers have lowered the price ½c. per lb. The proximity of Christmas helps to make things busy in this line. The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 2½c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

GAME—In game, the supply is greater this week than ever, and the demand is steady. Prices are the same as they were last week. We quote: Teal and butterballs, 20 to 25c.; bluebills, 40 to 50c.; pintails and redheads, 50 to 60c.; black ducks, 75 to 85c. per brace; canvas-back and mallards, $1.

FISH.

Fresh fish are selling well, and oysters are booming; large receipts and big sales in the latter line being reported this week. Last week the catch of finnan haddie was short, and dealers are looking out for higher prices; they already have advanced 1c. Flitch cod are few and hard to get, and the price has advanced 25c. per cwt. In other lines the prices are unchanged. Digby herring are selling well. We quote: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscos, 75c. to $1; finnan haddie, 7½ to 8c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitch cod, $5.50; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—Standards sell at $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—This week lighter arrivals of Manitoba hard wheat are reported, and there has not been so much going for export. Prices remain at 84c. grinding in transit, or 82c. Toronto and west. In the local market, red and white wheat, barley and peas are not being received in great quantities. Large deliveries of oats are reported, and two loads sold at 47½c. Red and white wheat are 1c. higher, oats 3½ to 4c., rye 3c., barley ½c., and peas 5c. Goose

1c. per lb. and the fish dealers expect a still further rise.

A pronounced firmness is still the feature of the ginger market.

Valencia raisins are held slightly firmer by the local wholesalers.

Potatoes are scarcer, and have advanced 5c. per bag on the track.

The receipts of live poultry were exceptionally heavy last week.

Acadia granulated sugar has again been reduced to a point 15c. below the price of Montreal granulated.

Dealers are expecting high prices for their eggs, as the Chicago egg market is being cornered by several astute United States dealers.

Good markets are looked for in apples in Great Britain until December 18, and dealers there are advising shippers to rush their stuff forward as fast as possible.

The receipts of venison here have improved since last Wednesday, but, owing to the large quantities being bought by the lumber camps, they are not equal to those of last year.

To Liverpool, London and Glasgow, 14,743 bbls. of apples from Boston and 5,844 from Montreal were shipped last week, as compared with 38,723 and 18,088 bbls., respectively, for the same period last week.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, November 21, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesalers have had their troubles this week, particularly some of them who attempted to send all the goods asked for by the last boats. A limited cartage service has also militated against prompt shipments. Everybody has certainly been busy. The markets do not show any great change. Sugar remains about steady, with Acadian 15c. below Montreal granulated; the foreign raw market is firmer. Teas remain firm and on this market first hands are short of supplies. Canned goods show no change and wholesalers continue to complain of small profits. Fruits are moving out of stock steadily and some lines are scarce. Tapnet figs are wanted and Valencia raisins are now in light supply. The express shipments of Grenoble walnuts have all been cleared out of wholesalers' hands and there will be no more obtainable till the first week in December at least. Prunes have been actively inquired for and dealers are complaining that they cannot renew stocks immediately. Sultana raisins are 1s. higher in the primary market which makes them 4 to 5s. above the lowest point touched; the market is firm. Probably the feature this week is an advance of 7½ per cent. in the price of woodenware. Pork has been very scarce and almost unobtainable.

SUGAR.

The 10 cent cut of the Montreal refiners was immediately followed by a similar reduction in the price of Acadian sugar which is still 15c. below the local refiners' price. Montreal granulated is worth $4.10 and $3.35 to $4.05 for yellows. The sugar market is now lower than it ever has been under the present tariff. Advices from foreign markets say that the quantities of raw beet now being marketed are heavy, but after the bulk has been sold the rest will probably be held back for higher prices; probably this accounts for the firmer market we have now, as the London quotation is to-day over 2s. above the lowest point touched. The local demand for sugar is not heavy.

TEAS.

The latest mail advice from Shanghai says that shipments of greens from that port are, to date, 9,170,342 lb. against 12,705,371 lb. to the same date last year, and of Congous, 10,560,371 lb against 18,916,569 to the same date last year. In Congous a fair business has been done during October, but the market closed quiet with tea men rather anxious to sell. Pingsueys have again advanced and the market is fully three taels per picul higher than a month previous. Tea men are not eager to sell even at present high rates. In country teas a stronger market is also reported; stocks are small.

The latest Yokohama circular dated October 31 says that during October prices advanced 1 yen per picul and the market closed firm. Arrivals have been light and the unsold stock is now estimated at 5,500 piculs, consisting mostly of teas grading below fine, unattractive both in cup and leaf. From Yokohama and Kobe exports to date have been 32,261,630 lb. against 33,117,133 lb to same date last year, and 36,751,886 lb. the year previous.

Locally, the tea market is quiet but firm, with few supplies visible. Wholesalers report a fair demand for new Japans running from 19 to 22c., and for black Ceylons.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups has been quite brisk at unchanged prices. We quote as follows: 3¼c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.50 in 38½-lb., and $1.10 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

The demand has not expanded very materially as yet although there have been a few shipments made this week. The price remains unchanged at 2s and 29c.

CANNED GOODS.

In spite of the upward turn that vegetables took some weeks ago, wholesale merchants continue to lament over the unwholesome condition of the market. It seems that packers have gone out to the retail trade and taken orders at very low figures and handed these contracts over to the jobber to be filled at little or no profit, a procedure that only depresses values. Even less than carload lots have been sold at carload prices. Naturally the wholesaler resents such intrusion and depressing of prices. Tomatoes are selling at $5 to $7.4c. for new western goods; corn at 80c. and peas, 80 to 95c. Fruits are at present rather slow. Gallon apples are worth $2.65 to $2.75. Jams, jellies and marmalade are in good request.

SPICES.

The latest New York report says that trade has been even better during the past week and the markets both on spot and for shipment are very much firmer in black peppers, white peppers, gingers and pimento. Nutmegs are quiet. The pimento crop is over now and is considerably below the average; it is reckoned that the article must advance. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 22 to 25c.

COFFEE.

The market is steady and the demand normal. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The markets in rice and tapiocas are firm and the demand is good. We quote in combine district: B rice in bags, $3.10; in half bags, $3.15; in quarter bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots, an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 12c. per lb. and tapioca, 3¼ to 3½c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS — The primary market shows an advance of 6d. this week, making fine Filiatras worth about 16s. f.o.b. Montreal. The market here is steady but irregular with the finest Filiatras quoted at 5½c. in half cases; 1-lb. cartons, 8c. and finest Vostizzas, 7½ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The market is steady at all points with a fair distributing trade passing. Importations have been so moderate this year that inquiries are already coming into brokers for more goods. There are many different brands on the market but the best are worth 52c. for finest off-stalk; 62c. for selected, and 67 to 7c. for layers.

PEELS — The best English peels are worth 10 to 10½c. for lemon; 10½ to 10¾c. for orange, and 11½ to 11¾c. for citron.

PRUNES — Sales of prunes have been quite large and wholesalers are now sorry that their first orders were not heavier. The market is firm. Californians are worth 8½c. for 10-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7½c. for 60-70's, 7¼c. for 70-80's, 6c. for 80-90's, 6¼c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS — A good trade is passing in Malaga raisins at previous quotations. We quote: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; 1's, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $1.50 to $1.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

SULTANA RAISINS — The market is about 1s. higher this week which makes it 4 to 5s. above the lowest point that has been touched. The local market is steady at 9 to 10½c.

DATES — Hallowee dates are selling at 1½c. in fair quantities.

FIGS — Tapnet figs are in short supply on this market and are now selling at $1 per tapnet. Wholesalers should be careful to understand in quoting a price in these goods to bear in mind that a

NUTS.

Grenoble walnuts are sold out on spot and as the market is bare there will be none obtainable, either of new or old, till the first week in December. Last year's shelled walnuts are reduced and are now worth 16½ to 17½c. Grenoble walnuts are quoted nominally 10½c. for immediate delivery, 10c. for December; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; Tarra-gona almonds, 10c.; shelled, 22 to 23c.; filberts, 8 to 8½c. in bales; pecans, 13½ to 14c.; peanuts, 6½ to 7½c.

GREEN FRUITS.

There is a fair trade passing in Florida oranges, but apples are rather quiet. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, $1.75 to $5.00 per bbl.; Florida oranges, $1.25; Verdill lemons, 300's, $1.50 to $5.50; 360's, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Malaga lemons, half chests, $6.50 to $7.00; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Californian plums, $2.00 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; coconuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.75 to $2.25, and eight hands, $1.00 to $1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 60c.; Spanish onions, 90 to 95c.; sweet potatoes, $2.50 to $3.50; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $6.50 to $7.75 per bbl.; barrel onions, $2.75; new dates, 4½c. per lb.; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.

FISH.

Green cod is advancing, being quoted 50c. higher this week. Supplies are very short and small lots have sold close to $7.00 this week. We quote: Haddies, mouth bloaters, 60 in a box, $1 per box; Yarmouth bloaters, 100 in a box, $1 per box; smoked herrings, medium, 13c. per box; single haddock, 3½c. per lb.; Marshall's canned, kippered and with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; also Canadian kippered, etc., 95c. per doz.; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 green codfish, $5.75 per bbl.; No. 2 green codfish, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 dressed or skinless cod, 100-lb. case, $4.75 to $4.85; dried cod fish, per 112 lb., $5; Ivory brand boneless codfish in 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 20-lb. boxes, 5½c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 40-lb. boxes, 4½c. per lb.; No. 2 mackerel, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $11.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6.25 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B. C. salmon, $11 per bbl.; No. 1 B. C. salmon, $6 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, $3 per ½ bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, $6.75 per ½ bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, $1 per keg; Holland or Dutch herrings, 75c. per keg; large salted eels, $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; canned Canadian ½ sardines, per 100, $3.75; canned U. S. little neck clams, $1.50 per doz.; canned U. S. Kensetts Cove oysters, $1.25 per doz.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; little neck clams, $4; 1-lb. lobsters, flat cans, $9.50 to $10; ½-lb. lobsters, flat cans, $10 to $10.50.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR — The flour market ruled firm during the early part of the week, but there has been a slightly easier feeling towards the close on account of a bearish tendency in wheat. Spring patents are worth $1 to $1.10; winter patents, $3.75 to $3.95; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50; strong bakers', $3.75 to $4.

GRAIN — We quote: Manitoba, No. 1, hard, 78½ to 79c. aloft November; peas, $2 to $2½c.; rye, 56 to 56½c.; No. 2 barley, 51½ to 55c.; oats, 49 to 50c.; buckwheat, 56 to 56½c.; corn, 64½ to 65c.

OATMEAL — The firmer feeling we reported last week has been fully maintained and carlots are now worth fully $4.90. Wholesalers ask $5.10 to $5.20 in wood and $2.50 to $2.55 in bags.

FEED — Supplies of Ontario bran have been very short and carlots are worth up to $18 in bulk. Shorts are difficult to secure except at very high prices, $19.50 to $20 now ruling. There is still a good export demand.

BALED HAY — The export demand is active and prevents accumulations, causing prices to remain firm, with the tendency upward. We quote: No. 1 timothy, at $9.50 to $10; No. 2 timothy, $8.50 to $9; clover mixture, $8; clover, $7.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The market is very firm at a further advance this week, sales having been made of cold storage goods at 22 to 23c. Late fall receipts are quoted at 28c. Pickled eggs are worth 16c. The English market is very strong and exporters find it impossible to fill wants. The market is tending upward.

HONEY — There is a good demand for choice white honey which continues scarce. Dealers are paying 11 to 11½c. and selling at 13 to 14c. White extracted is worth 9½ to 10c.

POTATOES — Choice Early Rose and Hebrons are worth 63 to 65c. on track per carload.

ONIONS — The market is firmer and higher under light offerings. Sales of Canadian red onions have been made at $2.50 per bbl., holders asking $2.75.

BEANS — The market is steady and we quote carlots at $1.50 and broken lots at $1.55 to $1.60.

ASHES — The market is firm, first pots, $1.35 to $1.40. Second pots nominal at $1.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

CHEESE — If the market does not take a better turn the prospects are decidedly gloomy. The finest westerns have sold this week at 9c., which shows further reduction. Eastern goods have sold below 8½c.

BUTTER — The market is easier and lower, sales of finest Eastern Townships creamery having been made at 20 to 20½c. The regular price now is 20c., or even lower. Western dairy is worth 11½ to 17½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Shelled walnuts are a trifle lower.
Green cod is now worth $6.50 to $7.
Grenoble walnuts are not procurable.
Sultana raisins are 1s. higher this week.
Woodenware has advanced  $7\frac{1}{2}$  per cent.
Pork is very scarce on the Montreal market.
Acadian sugar is still 15c. below Montreal granulated.

Eggs are about 1c. per dozen higher and butter about  $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. lower than last week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER

St. John, N.B., November 18, 1901.

BUSINESS has been particularly active. The river business is over, navigation closing, at least as far as the steamers are concerned, this week. We may say there has as yet been no cold weather or snow. It is doubtful if we ever had as fine a fall. There is a general feeling that our retail grocery trade in the city cut prices too fine. This has been particularly noticed this fall in basket grapes. They often make less profit than the wholesale dealer. Canned goods is another line that is cut. This, no doubt, accounts for some being so hard up all the time. In markets there are some few changes, but none very marked. Cream of tartar is quoted low for import. Ginger is high and very firm.

OIL. — In burning oil shipments continue large. Prices are unchanged. Paint oils are quite firm, and sale is limited. Linseed oils, while quoted lower than a short time ago, are firm. Turpentine is rather higher. In lubricating oils business is small, several reasons tending to rather light business. Prices are unchanged. Seal oil is firm at the rather higher figures. Cod oil also is held at the high price which has ruled for some time. Wax and candles are unchanged.

SALT. — In Liverpool coarse salt for the past week the market has been bare. No price is quoted in a wholesale way. A cargo from Boston to relieve the situation has been some days overdue. In Liverpool fine business is small. Canadian salt is but a fair sale. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 56 to 58c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags,

$2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS. — New goods continue to arrive. Except salmon, stocks are all in. In vegetables prices are unchanged. The market is well supplied. In fruits some of the peaches offered are particularly nice goods this year. It is difficult, if not impossible, to get any extra price. Gallon apples show a range in price, but they move slowly at full figures. Blueberries are scarce. Salmon are hardly as firm. Stocks are not large. Meats are a small sale. Domestic sardines are quoted rather lower. Supplies are quite large. In other domestic fish prices are very firm. Stocks are short. Herring in tomato sauce have quite a sale.

GREEN FRUITS. — Apples are high. The crop in Nova Scotia was large and quality particularly good. The growers have made big money. In the local market there is quite a range in price, much poor stocks, that will not do for export, being offered. Gravenstein and Bishop pippins are particularly fine. Oranges have a fair sale and the market is well supplied. Lemons are rather easier, but there is a fair sale. Cranberries are rather firmer, and the native stock is well cleaned up. In grapes, while Ontario stock is still offered, Malagas are now free sellers. Prices are quite low. A few sweet potatoes are still offered.

DRIED FRUITS. — New Californian prunes are here. Prices this year are quite low; small sizes which sell very largely here, are reported very scarce. Other prunes are not being imported. Prunes are sold earlier than formerly. Californian loose and seeded raisins are shortly expected. In Valencia raisins prices are low. Stocks this year are not large. There is quite a few Malaga loose offered and a fair quantity of layer goods. Dates, via New York, are freely offered. Prices are low. In peels, good stocks are held. Prices this year are quite high. Currants are reported rather firmer; cleaned stock has the market. Figs are free sellers at even figures. Evaporated apples are held firm at the high prices. Sales are much lighter than usual. Dried are higher here than west. Onions are held very firm at full figures.

PRODUCE. — Eggs are higher and for fancy stock fancy prices are asked. For held eggs, while price is much lower, the tendency is upward. Butter is more plentiful and the demand is more quiet, so that prices are rather easier. Cheese is rather dull.

SUGAR. — Prices are rather lower. 15c. difference in the price of granulated is made between bags and barrels. Barrels are preferred. The standard is sold only in barrels. Only two grades of yellow are offered. Sales have been quite large.

MOLASSES. — There has been a fairly large sale the past few weeks. Prices are unchanged, continuing to rule low. Porto Rico has the chief sale. Stock is held in a few hands, but it is quite ample. Barbados is not active. American goods have little sale. There is quite a little syrup in tins offered.

FISH. — There is little new. In dry cod, while there is no change nor are lower prices expected, there is a fair stock held and sales are less active. Pollock are very quiet; there are but few here. Price is unchanged. Smoked herring continue low. Pickled are held at full figures. Bay herring are about the only grade offered. The season of most active demand is about over. In kippered herring supplies are short. Finnan haddies are moving freely. Western sales are large. We quote as follows: Haddies,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c.; smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; fresh haddock and cod,  $2\frac{1}{2}$ c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, \$1.50 to \$1.60 per 100 lb.; kippered herring, \$2.15 to \$2.25 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; Canso herring, \$3.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, \$1 per box; Shelburne, \$2.50 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; dry cod, \$3.50 to \$3.60.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL. — In flour, Ontarios are rather higher. Supplies have been short. Millers say they cannot get cars. Manitoba is unchanged. Oatmeal and oats are high, and very firm. Cornmeal is firm at the high price. Sales are not as large. Feed is very scarce. Hay is unchanged. A very large part of that for export is from the West. In beans, new goods are offered. Prices rather lower. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $1.40 to $1.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $1; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $5.10 to $5.20; cornmeal, $2.90 to $3.00; middlings, $2.20 to $2.30; oats, 52 to 53c.; handpicked beans, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $1.50 to $1.55; barley, $4.20 to $4.25; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Mr. L. G. Crosby went to New York this week.

James Patterson has shipped a number of cars of pickled herring west.

"The Grocer" had a call this week from Mr. A. I. Teed, of St. Stephen.

"Imperial" maple syrup and "Tea Rose Drops" are two new lines being offered by the wholesale grocers here.

A. L. Goodwin has received the first car of Californian prunes of the season. The only straight car for one buyer to come here.

Mr. N. D. Hooper, representing The Sunlight Soap Co., reports a largely increased sale for their "Lifebuoy" and disinfectant soap.

"The Canadian Grocer" regrets an error in stating that Baird & Peters had been appointed agents for New Brunswick for Christie's biscuits. They share the agency with A. F. Randolph & Sons, Fredericton. The latter, for some 10 years, have represented The Christie, Brown Co., Limited, in York, Sunbury, Carleton, Northumberland and Victoria counties, about one-half the Province.

NEW YORK TEA MARKET.

Statistically, the position of tea was a decidedly favorable one and was reflected in a firm tone to the market. Advances from the East report primal markets practically closed, and all indications point to a short supply for the present season. Offerings of greens were decidedly limited owing to available supplies in first hands, and prices ruled strong. Blacks also were firmly held and were receiving rather more attention in a large way. In addition to sales previously reported during the week sales were made of 1,800 packages Formosa. The line business it was reported was beginning to show to some extent the agitation now going on for repeal of the present import duty of 10c. per pound on tea.—Journal of Commerce.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, November 18, 1901.

BUSINESS has been good all week. The crisp, cool weather and bright sunshine seem to have had an inspiring effect on trade. Collections have greatly improved, and altogether the outlook is most promising. Present indications are that business will be good throughout the entire winter.

FLOUR—Mills are finding difficulty in keeping abreast of the demand. No change in price has occurred. We quote: Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $2; Glenora patent, $1.85; Alberta, $1.65; Manitoba, $1.45; Imperial XXXX, $1.25; Lake of the Woods Milling Co.'s Five Roses, $2; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX $1.25.

CEREALS—Rolled oats are remarkably firm, and the demand is heavy. There has been no change in price, but the advance of last week has been fully sustained. We quote: 80 lb. sacks, $2.40; 40-lb. sacks, $1.22½; 20 lb. sacks, 62½c; 10 8 lb. sacks, $2.80; granulated and standard are in good demand at $2.90; split peas, $2.50 to $2.60; cornmeal, $1.70 to $1.80; pot barley, $2.20 to $2.30; pearl barley, $3 30; rolled wheat, $2 25; beans, $1.95 to $2.

SUGAR—All granulated sugars show a further decline of 10c. per cwt., and are cheaper now than they have been for a long time. Present quotations are: Granulated, $4.80; extra ground, in bbls., $5.30; extra ground, in boxes, $5.55; powdered, in bbls., $5.15; powdered, in boxes, $5.40; Paris lump, in bbls., $5.40; Paris lump, in ½-bbls., $5.50; Paris lump, in boxes of 100 lb., $5.40; Paris lump, in boxes of 50 lb., $5.50. Yellows are unchanged at $4.15.

SYRUPS—Moderate demand, and no decline in prices. Extra bright, 3 to 3½c.; medium, per lb., 2¾ to 3c.; molasses, per gal., 35 to 38c.; Porto Rico, 45 to 46c.; Barbadoes, 55 to 57½c.

COFFEE—Market is very firm and though not actually advanced here, brokers are instructed to accept no orders except at the advanced market. This means 10½ to 10¾c. for No 5 Rio.

DRIED FRUITS—With the arrival of later shipments, Denia raisins have declined slightly on this market, and layers are now quoted at $1.90 to $2.00; layers, $2.15 to $2.25. Currants are unchanged from last week's price of 7 to 7¼c., with advance of 1c. per lb. if cleaned.

GREEN FRUITS—The first car of naivel oranges has arrived and shows excellent quality, although not quite so well colored as they will be later in the season. Price is $4, $5 and $6 per case, according to size. Cranberries have advanced probably owing to the near approach of Thanksgiving, and are $9 50 per barrel. Apples are unchanged in price, but genuinely fancy stock is very scarce, and there is every prospect of an early advance. Present prices range at from $4.75 to $5.50 according to variety.

FISH—Haddies are still arriving by express, and the price is high, being 12½c., but, with the increasing cold weather, freight shipments will be in very shortly. There is a scarcity of Labrador herring at the present time, and prices are firm at $4; mackerel, $1 80 per kit; oysters, $2 and $2.25 per gal.

BUTTER—Creamery butter in bricks, 24 to 25c.; in packages, 21 to 22c.; dairy butter, in small tubs and crocks, 17c.; fresh dairy separator bricks, 18 to 19c.

CHEESE—Growing scarce in this market, and prices are firm at 10½ to 11c.

EGGS—Supplies are short; unsatisfactory Ontario eggs are the chief source of supply. Limed eggs, 20c.; fresh gathered, 22c.

TWO MORE STOREYS ON "SALADA."

Some few years ago, "Salada" Tea Co. purchased and remodelled their new and commodious premises at 32 Yonge street, Toronto, making them the best equipped and most elegantly fitted tea house on the continent. It was then thought that the facilities possessed would be amply sufficient to serve all demands for some years to come, but so great has become the growth and expansion of "Salada" Ceylon tea that it has been found imperatively necessary to still further enlarge and improve, also to add two storeys, which will certainly not only greatly facilitate the conduct of the "Salada" business, but largely add to the appearance of an already imposing structure.

ENLARGING THEIR FACTORY.

During the past year the demand for the products of The Canada Biscuit and Confectionery Co., Limited, King street west, Toronto, has so increased as to render their present premises too small for them to fulfil all their orders, and lately, they have had, on this account, to call in two of their travellers who were operating east of Ottawa, pending an enlargement of their factory. This fall they have commenced to enlarge their premises. The new addition, which is to be built of brick and stone, is five-storeys high, 50 x 100 feet, and will give them an additional floor space of 25,000 square feet, where there is to be installed a complete cold storage equipment. Besides this they are putting in a large quantity of new machinery which will enable them to double their output. This new part, which is to be heated by hot water and lighted by gas throughout, will be entirely devoted to the confectionery part of their business.

It will be the middle of January before they will be fully installed in their new extension, when they will greatly increase their staff, making ready to respond to the growing wants of their numerous patrons.

"QUALITY TALKS."

We want to ask a simple question :

Why do Retail Grocers buy imported Pork and Beans and pay two prices ???

Somebody is to blame—WHO IS IT ? ? ? ? ?*We Hold the Secret.

We believe that our quality and flavor is superior to any other Canadian Brand and equal to the imported. Our plain Boston Baked Beans and Pork and Beans in Tomato Sauce will retail over your counter at following prices :

|                |   |   |   |     |

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

THE value of a good article is in evidence in the large sale that T. A. Lytle & Co. report for their mince meats. This is the mince meat season, as our readers know, and they will not go astray in keeping well stocked with this line.

The "Salada" Tea Co. has received a letter from The North Bay Supply Co., Limited, stating that the Ceylon green tea it had bought was meeting with splendid success, and that 500 lb. more would be required in a few days.

John Sloan & Co. report that they are selling new dates cheap.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, are in receipt of a shipment of "Hamburger" brand currants.

John Sloan & Co. have a good supply of olives for their Christmas trade.

Evaporated apples, 50 lb. boxes, top laid, choice quality, are in stock with W. H. Gillard & Co. at a close price.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report the arrival of their new season's "Anchor" Japan teas, which are of finer quality than ever.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report an active demand for the fresh water herring, trout and whitefish which they are offering for shipment from Midland.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have this year an exceptionally fine lot of table fruit, nuts, etc., to offer their friends.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, are in receipt of shipments of their "Diamond D" and "Falcon" brands of candied peels.

Shuttleworth & Harris, Brantford, manufacturers of "Bow Park" pickles, last week shipped a car and a half of their products to Vancouver.

CAPT. ADAMS BUYS A STOCK.

Capt. James Adams, so well known to the grocery trade in Ontario and the West, has bought a large grocery stock in Port Hope, and took it over a few days ago. The Captain has a large connection in the Northwest and British Columbia. At the time of writing, we have not yet been definitely informed whether it is his intention to fill in his time between trips to the Northwest or to devote the whole of his time to his business in Port Hope. From what we can gather, however, he will, for the present at least, not sever his connection with the trade in the Northwest and British Columbia.

A LETTER OF APPRECIATION.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—Permit me to express to you, on behalf of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, my thanks for your very full and complete account of the proceedings of the recent annual meeting of the association held in the city of Montreal. The reports were very full and correct, and should assist much in making the aims and objects of the Manufacturers' Association more thoroughly known throughout Canada.

T. A. RUSSELL,
Secretary.

Toronto, November 18.

SALMON FOR GREAT BRITAIN.

The British ship Charles Cotesworth is the fifth ship to leave Victoria, B.C., with this season's catch of salmon. The cargo amounted in all to 44,491 cases of salmon, valued at $236,120. Six more vessels are yet to go within a fortnight to the Fraser river for salmon.

BEET-SUGAR FACTORY BONUSED.

At Berlin, Ont., a by-law granting a bonus of $25,000 to The Ontario Sugar Refining Co., Limited, toward the erection of a beet-sugar factory there was carried on November 16. On November 26 the Township of Waterloo will vote on a by-law to grant a bonus of $20,000 towards the same purpose. That the Berlin by-law passed is due to the energy of the board of trade of that town, and although the result in the township is doubtful, yet the Berlin Board of Trade is confident the by-law will pass.

TAX ON JAMAICA ORANGES.

A press despatch from Jamaica says: "The Government intends to levy a tax of 1c. on each package of oranges exported. The shipment of immature fruit will shortly be prohibited by law."

Subscribers wanting goods or special quotations on anything anywhere in Canada at any time, can get them by mail or wire by corresponding with THE CANADIAN GROCER, Toronto or Montreal.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets — High - Priced Stock — Miscellaneous Notes.

HIGH-PRICED STOCK.

THE record-breaking prices recently obtained for a herd of shorthorn cattle in Dexter Park amphitheatre caused stockyard men to declare that Chicago provides the best market in the world for pure bred cattle. The herd put on sale is said to have been the finest ever imported. In it were several animals formerly owned by Queen Victoria. The cattle were imported by W. D. Flatt, of Hamilton, Ont. Lord Banff, of the Royal herd, was sold to George E. Ward, of Hawarden, Iowa, for $5,100. Cicely, of the same herd, went to J. G. Robbins & Sons, of Horace, Ind., for $5,000, and 44 other animals brought an average of $1,139 each. These prices are said to have been the highest paid in this country for a shorthorn bull, cow or herd in a quarter of a century. Choice Goods, the champion bull of England, was sold to Robbins & Sons on private terms. The price is said to have been the highest ever paid for a shorthorn in America. Choice Goods will be exhibited at the coming live stock show.—National Provisioner.

PAPER SAUSAGE CASINGS.

Something is always rooting something else out. The pig skin is to take a fall out of the kid skin for gloves and bottle stopper covers. Now, some fellow has invented a paper sausage casing which is to take the place of animal intestines for stuffing sausages and bolognas. The intruder is made in Germany, and a shipment of these new "envelopes" has been received in New York by a large firm which handles them. It is claimed for the new paper casings that they are cheaper and cleaner than intestines, and not liable to fermentation. Whether they will stand the reaction of moisture and other conditions of a sausage holder is not known.—National Provisioner.

A HUMOROUS WINDOW DISPLAY.

Everyone admires good window displays, but sometimes such displays become humorous because of their suggestiveness. One of our representatives noticed a window display in a butcher shop at 1911 Third avenue last week. At one side of the window was a large dish of nice-looking fresh sausages. On the other side was a similar dish. Between them was a life-sized bisque figure of a dachshund dog. There was no placard to give a hint as to what relation the dog held to the sausages, but the words, "We make both ends meet," occurred to him. The dog should be removed, and the figure of a young pig substituted. Nothing should be done by butchers to encourage the dog sausage joke.—Butchers' Advocate, New York.

MISSED HER CHANCE.

A lady butcher in Indianapolis has the misfortune to have a husband of spasmodic temperament. He bellowed like a bull the other day, grabbed a cleaver and threatened to cut her to pieces. She defied him, and he became lamb-like. That was the moment at which she should have done some slaughtering.—Butchers' Advocate, New York.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

MONTREAL.

The chief feature of the provision market is the scarcity of pork. For some days during the past week it was literally impossible to get a carload. "Boar's Head" compound lard has been reduced  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. this week. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, \$22.00; Chicago clear pork, \$23.25 for heavy and \$22.75 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, \$22.00 to \$22.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, \$2.25 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), \$2.00 for 1 to 24 pails; \$1.98 for 25 to 49 pails; \$1.97 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, \$1.72  $\frac{1}{2}$  per pail; Cottolene, 11  $\frac{1}{8}$ c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10  $\frac{7}{8}$ c. for 60 lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

TORONTO.

Western hogs are easier, and sell at \$6.90 to \$7 per 100 lb. in carlots. Dressed hogs are coming in in larger quantities, the greater portion being on the heavy side. Light hogs for shops are mostly in demand. They are 10c. easier, and now sell at \$7.40 to \$7.60 per 100 lb. Venison is arriving in larger quantities, but prices are firmer. Beef is in good demand and the supply is good. Veal is not selling so well. We quote: Venison carcasses bring from \$6 to \$8 per 100 lb.; saddles, \$8 to \$10 per 100 lb.; beef carcasses, \$5.50 to \$6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, \$6 to \$7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, \$5 to \$5.50 per 100 lb. Veal, 7  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 8  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; lambs are steady at 5 to 5  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Live hogs remain unchanged; for selects the price is \$5.50 and lights \$5.25 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring \$4.75 to \$5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at \$4 to \$4.50.

Cured meats are in brisker demand now that the weather is colder. The lower prices of last week are maintained. There is a good movement in lard, and no surplus stock is accumulating. Canadian heavy mess pork is 50c. lower. We quote: Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; medium hams, 13  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; large hams, 12  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 13  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, \$19.50; short cut, \$20 to \$21; lard, in tierces, 10  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., tubs, 11c., and pails, 11  $\frac{1}{4}$ c.

WINNIPEG

The market for cured meats shows good demand, with slightly lower prices in some lines. Smoked hams, 14c.; picnic hams, 8  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; shoulders, 10  $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; breakfast bellies, 14  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; spiced rolls, 11  $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; dry salt, long clear, 12  $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; backs, 12  $\frac{1}{4}$ c.

The market in lard is somewhat easier, and certain lines show a decline, 20-lb. pails having dropped from $2.75 to $2.40; 50-lb. pails remain at $7; tins, 3 and 5 lb., 60 lb. to case, $8; compound lard, $2.20 per 20-lb. pail.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Pork is steady at the rather lower prices. Sales are not large. In pure lard the price is rather easier, and dealers are inclined to delay buying to see which way the market will turn.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN TRADE.

The following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London :

1. A London firm who are in a position to sell large quantities of Canadian hay will be glad to hear from parties open to ship for the English market.

2. Inquiry is made for the addresses of Canadian asbestos works where asbestos yarn and cloth is spun.

3. A Liverpool house is desirous of obtaining a good agency for Canadian produce.

4. The makers of lifting machinery, chain pulley blocks, hoists, cranes, girder work, etc., are making inquiry respecting the opening for a trade for these goods in Canada.

5. A firm of trunkmakers wish to correspond with Canadian exporters of wooden slats in various lengths from 28 to 42 inches.

6. A dealer in County Longford, Ireland, asks to be placed in communication with exporters in Canada of flour, furniture, bedding, boots, shoes and hardware.

Inquiries received at the Canadian section of the Imperial Institute :

7. A Lancashire company asks to be placed in touch with Canadian producers of pig iron who are in a position to fill export orders.

8. A London firm possessing a good connection among the wholesale trade is prepared to take up the sale of Canadian pharmaceutical lines suitable for this market.

[The names of the firms making the above inquiries, can be obtained on application to the editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER.]

TOBACCO CROP GOOD IN ESSEX.

This year the crop of tobacco in Essex County, Ont., is good. A Granby factory has made a contract with a firm for 200,000 lb. of leaf tobacco at 8c. per lb. In Essex County one grower had 14,000 lb., two others 10,000 lb. each, and another 8,000 lb. of this product.

MARKET FOR MAPLE SUGAR IN EUROPE.

THE Treasury Department of the United States Government a short time ago requested their consular officers in Austria-Hungary, France and Germany to obtain whatever information they could relative to the market for maple sugar and syrup in those countries. From these reports it appears that the most promising opening for these articles is afforded by Austria-Hungary, but even there the prospects might be very much brighter.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

There is a vague possibility of creating a market for American maple sugar and syrup in Austria-Hungary, although these products are practically unknown there. It is thought a light brown sugar known as muscovado, and used by liquor merchants to improve the flavor and hasten the fermentation of their wines, could be replaced by maple sugar. A number of leading confectionery manufacturers in Vienna also find that it is well adapted for the manufacture of chocolates and chocolate icings, and they express themselves as being willing to adopt it, providing they can have it at a lower price than the sugar which is at present used, the latter costing $16.24 for 220 lb. As sugar is high in Austria, it might be possible to use maple sugar there as a sugar substitute.

As a delicate exotic confection, maple sugar would certainly find a market there, in the opinion of the consul. There is no doubt that, if the formidable obstacle of expense in duty and in advertising could be overcome, this palatable, healthful food adjunct, so widely esteemed in America, could be permanently taken up in that part of the world, as has been the maize, which at one time was considered in Europe only fit for fodder.

The duty on syrup is 30 crowns ($6.09), and its entry into that monarchy is attended by a great deal of formality, a chemical analysis being required. Two samples, each weighing about 1 pound, are taken of the syrup, and one of these is sent for examination to the Imperial Royal Agricultural Trial Station, in Vienna. Pancakes, for which maple syrup is traditionally adapted, are a food almost unknown there, and hence a sale for this purpose is confined to those who may have used and relished the syrup in America.

FRANCE.

The prospects for a market for maple sugar and syrup in France are not very encouraging, as the French people do not consume the same amount of sweet stuffs as is done in the United States, nor have they been brought up to the habit of eating much sugared food. Treacle and molasses, although obtainable as articles of food, are rarely bought by the average French family. Then maple sugar is almost unknown in the home, and it would take great energy to bring it before the public so as to insure a constant demand. The tariff on sugar and syrup is high, the duty on maple syrup being 2.50 francs (48.25c.) per gallon.

The maple sugar and maple syrup at present imported into France are purchased for the most part by Americans residing in Paris, and it is quite insignificant in quantity, not being more than perhaps $200 worth per annum.

GERMANY.

Consul General Mason, of Berlin, says that he has consulted a number of grocers in Germany, and that none whom he has consulted believe that any large demand for maple sugar or syrup could be built up in that country, because Germans do not eat hot biscuits nor any other form of warm bread. As buckwheat cakes are eaten then only by Americans, the conditions which make maple sugar a popular luxury in the United States do not exist in Germany and cannot be created. Experiment has shown that few things are more difficult than to change the food of a people as fixed in their ideas as the Germans.

Maple sugar and syrup are subject to an import duty of 40 marks per 100 kilograms (equal to 4½c. per lb.). Adding this to first cost and expenses of importation, they become when brought there an expensive luxury.

At present there are only a few merchants in Germany handling maple sugar and syrup, and under most favorable conditions there has only been a very small quantity of either product ever sold. From all information obtainable, it is seriously doubted whether any important outlet for these articles could be found or developed in that country, especially at the present time, when owing to the general prostration of industrial and financial interests, meagre harvests, low wages, and scarcity of labor, all classes of German subjects are constrained to reduce to a minimum their expenditures for food and other necessities of life.

BACK FROM THE COAST.

Mr. Trudel, the western representative of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie, Montreal, has just returned from his regular fall trip to the Coast. He reports having been very successful with his orders, particularly in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. British Columbia is rather quiet, as the majority of the mines are not working. When the labor question is settled he looks for a revival of good business throughout that district.

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA

BLACK

The merit of the Black Teas has established them high in popular estimation. They are drunk wherever the English language is spoken. They follow the flag and drive out less meritorious growths.

OR

But some consumers are wedded to light drawing kinds, with pale liquor and without the full body and richness of the black kinds.

GREEN

The Green Teas of Ceylon and India are made expressly for this trade. In Make, Quality and Price they challenge comparison with other growths.

They are grown, prepared and packed with the same skill by the British Planters who have revolutionized the black tea trade.

They have caught on in Canada and are no longer in the experimental stage. Try them.

A PEEP INTO A CEYLON TEA HOUSE.

ON the invitation of Tarrant, Henderson & Co.—a firm well and favorably known in Ceylon for enterprise, and who probably have one of the largest Colombo commission-buying agencies for all parts of the world—we visited this morning their Nilwatte Tea Factory, situated in Colpetty, which most of our readers will, no doubt, recollect was bought from the late firm of J. P. Green & Co., and is known as the "Temple Trees" property. This property covers over six acres of land, and the factory occupies nearly three acres of it.

We were shown over by Mr. Henderson. On the left, when entering the gate, is a large warehouse capable of holding some hundreds of tons of tea, which is frequently full; and in this store is warehoused all tea awaiting shipment. Other two large warehouses, or godowns as they are called in Ceylon, were full of sundry goods, from tin-tacks to bales of cloth, their business being an import as well as an export one.

The tea-packing factory which we went chiefly to see, is a large building, 300 feet long, and contains all the latest and most improved machinery for tea-packing work. The firm must have invested a large amount of capital in making the factory as complete as it is. In fact, we may say that not a machine is missing that is required for the purposes of their work, and from the packets turned out we should think that in the direction of packet business, so far as neatness and finish are concerned, it would be difficult to improve on their work.

Mr. Henderson, on being asked where the innumerable labels came from, replied that some came out from England, but that the bulk of them were printed in our own printing office, and, we may venture to say that when we saw the finished work, we could not help the gratified feeling that we had contributed in no small degree to the end arrived at by the firm—the best and only the best work. The piles of finished packets with their brightly-colored labels and their special names formed a most attractive sight, in which the "Taj" and the "Avinca" were especially prominent.

The whole of the machinery is driven by a powerful gas engine, supplied and kept by the Colombo Gas and Water Co., which, Mr. Henderson remarked, was never sick nor sorry, and that this motive power gave him less trouble than the whole of the rest of his establishment.

We will not enumerate the many details we should like to. Suffice it is to say that our representative was much pleased with this visit to Tarrant, Henderson & Co.'s "bee-hive," probably the best equipped packing establishment of its particular kind in the Island, and we wish the firm all success in its efforts to find new outlets for our overflowing supplies of tea.—Ceylon Observer.

A NATURAL FIG.

Watt, Scott & Goodacre, Montreal, made a small importation of a new variety of fruit this fall that bids fair to develop into a line of importance. It is the washed natural fig, a plump, square fruit of extra quality that excels as a desert. It is packed in Lokoum style in 50 lb. boxes, and comes in three qualities, one, two and three-crown, the prices running from about 5½ to 7½c. laid down here. This year their shipment amounted to only 300 boxes, but the test proved that it would be a popular fruit with the high-class trade, and next year's importations will, in all probability, be much larger.

IT WAS USED ON THE ROYAL TRAIN.

James McIntosh, sole agent in Canada for "H & H," has received the following from J. A. Sheffield, superintendant of the sleeping, dining and parlor cars of the C.P.R.: "I have much pleasure in saying 'H & H' has fulfilled fully all that is claimed for it. Further, its cleansing qualities (so far as I am able to determine) in no way impairs its usefulness by imparting a gummy substance to the fibre or nap of material cleaned (when properly used), but material comes out in its natural state, fresh and elastic. Cars of the Royal train, interior, upholstery, carpets, etc., were cleaned with 'H & H' to my entire satisfaction."

THE BRITISH LUMBER TRADE.

Farnworth & Jardine, Liverpool, Eng., in their wood circular of November 1, say: "The arrivals from British North America during the past month have been 27,695 tons register, against 42,062 tons register during the corresponding month last year, and the aggregate tonnage to this date from all places, during the years 1899, 1900 and 1901, has been 464,546, 502,906 and 402,840 tons, respectively. The business of the past month has been quiet, but of a steady character. The arrivals, generally, have been moderate, the deliveries fair and stocks all around are not too large. Values of some of the leading articles show improvement, and in spruce deals a sharp advance has been established."

A BUSINESS EDUCATION.

Deserve success and you shall win it. Young men who are dissatisfied with their present occupations ought to bear this in mind and make their work serve as a stepping to something higher. Clerks who are working all day long may fit themselves for a better position by studying in the evenings, thus making good use of their spare time, for every hour is precious. For those desiring success no better way is offered than for them to attend the evening classes of some business college. The Dominion Business College and school of shorthand and typewriting, in the Confederation Life Building, Richmond street, Toronto, whose advertisement appears on another page of this journal, affords an excellent opportunity for those desiring advancement to grasp.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000.

Offices Throughout the Civilized World.

Executive Offices: Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York City, U.S.A.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence Invited.

Cultivating WEEDS

wouldn't be considered very profitable by the farmers, yet thousands of merchants are cultivating the weeds of business by continuing the Old Style Pass book—errors every day. Forgotten charges. Hundreds of little things make a big aggregate amount. Adopt the modern ALLISON COUPON SYSTEM and throw away your time-wasting devices. Look here—

If a Man Wants Credit

for $10, give him a $10 Allison Coupon Book, charge him with $10, and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for ten cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all. And so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. NO PASS BOOK. NO WRITING. NO TIME LOST. NO KICKING. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? # TEA AND ITS HISTORY. ✱

PARTICULAR REFERENCE TO THE JAPAN DESCRIPTION.

BY T. MIZUTANY.

THE very origin of tea in the world's history is not known, but it is said that China first cultivated the plant from a wild to a regular plantation in the middle of the fourth century of the Christian era. It became known among the Europeans in the middle of the seventeenth century through the Dutch, who were the only nationality in close touch with the Chinese at that time. China teas were transplanted to India, where the Government protected the cultivation with great care. Experimental plantations were started by the Government on the hills of Assam, and at different points on the southern slopes of the Himalayas, while a certain portion of land was granted to the first private tea company in India in 1839. It is only since 1851 that tea planting in India has made a remarkable success. It is said that The East India Company, who wished to make a present to the King of England in the seventeenth century, had to buy a small quantity of tea at a very high price—about $15 per pound.

Since the beginning of 1890 the cultivation of tea in Ceylon has made such wonderful progress that they now supply nearly one-third of teas consumed in England.

The leading tea-producing countries at the present time are China, India, Japan and Ceylon. The total consumption of tea at present in the world amounts to nearly 500,000,000 pounds, Australia and England being the most consuming nations, the Canadians, Americans and Russians next to them. The domestic consumption in China and Japan is not known, but the quantity is said to be far more per head than in the United States and probably very near to that of the English.

A SHORT HISTORY OF JAPAN TEA.

The origin of tea-drinking in Japan is traced back as far as 1,200 years. It was first introduced from China, by a priest who studied the Chinese classics for a good many years in China, and brought back with him some seed of tea plants on his return to Japan. It is said that tea cultivation was very much encouraged by the emperors in mediaeval history in Japan. The private cultivation has been also undertaken by different companies and individuals who pushed the trade upon the public that has resulted in general consumption among all classes of people at the present age. In fact, tea has been the most important beverage in Japan for more than 700 years.

Some 700 years ago a landlord in the middle part of the Empire chose three localities for tea cultivation. Uji, Daigo and Togano were selected as the most suitable soils for the plantations. Since the contemporary Shogun himself was a great lover of tea, most of the noblemen and provincial chiefs were interested in its cultivation and encouraged their subjects to promote tea-raising and drinking.

Tea-drinking in Japan has made such remarkable progress that it has produced a peculiar custom called a Ceremonial Tea, which is widely known throughout the world. Shuko, an enlightened priest, is said to have originated this tea ceremony. After many generations Rikyu Sen, also a priest, improved the forms of ceremony which were admired throughout the country, and are still considered the best now existing in Japan. Let me describe a little of the tea ceremony, as it may interest you to know about it. The tea party is held in the corner of a room shut off by a beautiful folding silk screen and fronting a picturesque garden. The party generally consists of six persons, including the host, the room being the size of four-and-a-half mats, allowing about four feet square for one person. The first rule of the ceremony is the cleanliness. The host himself has to welcome his guests, since no servant is allowed in the room. The tea room is decorated with a hanging picture on the wall. The picture generally represents the best art of Japan, only the celebrated ones being selected for such occasions. After the formal greetings are exchanged the host lights the charcoal in the brazier on which a regular iron kettle is placed. When the necessary utensils are arranged in right order the boiling water is poured into a beautiful antique cup containing powdered tea already made. The host stirs up the powdered tea with a particular kind of utensil and makes it ready to serve. The guests have to drink it out in three mouthfuls and a half, turning the cup in proper manner meanwhile. The regular tea cakes are served with it. There are two kinds of ceremonial teas, viz., the strong and the weak. In serving the strong teas one and the same cup is handed around to each guest in turn, the last person finishing the cup. Generally after the strong tea the weak is served.

Even at the present time the old-fashioned ceremonial tea is observed among nobilities and higher class of people in Japan. It is a general custom among these people to educate their daughters first with the tea ceremony, floral art and music being next to it. It is said that it requires at least three years to complete only a branch of the ceremonial tea. It is considered an advanced art higher and more sublime than any other lessons for ladies.

Tea drinking after all became so common that everybody, from the rich to the poor, takes the tea as an indispensably daily beverage and the custom has so far developed that whenever any visitor comes tea should first be served.

Since Japanese ports were opened to the foreign trade some 50 years ago tea has been exported in a large quantity with rapid progress which encouraged the plantation to such an extent that nearly the whole Island of Japan is planted with tea shrubs. The most desirable districts are located in the middle portion of the country, such as Schizuoka, Miye, Yamashiro, etc.

Tea forms a principal item of Japanese export trade to America. America now consumes about ninety millions of teas every year, the Japans and Oolongs constituting from 60 to 65 per cent. of the total importation, the rest being mostly supplied by Chinese.

Formosa is another important island for the production of tea. The Oolongs so familiar to the American public are principally imported from Formosa.

CULTIVATION OF THE JAPAN TEA

Tea is one of the hardest of all tropical plants, although severe frosts check its growth and diminish its yield. The plant is, therefore, suited for a wide range of climate, but the best climate for it is that which is warm, moist, and equable throughout the year. These conditions are best obtained on the slopes of the mountains, within the tropics, or in subtropical regions, and in such situations tea is chiefly grown up to an elevation which varies with the latitude. The soil best suited to the tea plant is virgin forest soil, a light, rich, friable loam containing a good supply of vegetable mold or humus, or of organic substance or some other form. Japan is peculiarly suited for tea plantations, since the country is so hilly and mountainous that it furnished most desirable climate and soil as above mentioned.

As to cultivation, the seeds are first moistened and dried again until they begin to sprout when they are lightly covered with earth. As soon as the plants have grown four or five inches in height they are transplanted to the regular plantation where they are arranged in rows at a distance of about three feet apart. Different from China or India, in Japan we manure the plants twice a year, spring and winter. The plant is allowed to grow from three to four feet in height and is trimmed down every year in order to retain its natural aroma and strength in the smallest space. The blossom is white, consisting of five round-shaped petals and blooms in the winter, but is not very much seen in the plantation, as they pick off the blossom for fear of weakening the real richness of the tea. In Japan the first crop of leaves is gathered from the plant at the end of three years, but care is taken not to exhaust the plant by stripping it too closely. The leaves are picked three or four times a year, according to the age of the plant and the climate of the plantation. The first crop, which generally begins at the last week of April, is the most in quantity and the best in quality. In the season, nearly all the country boys and girls are employed in the picking. The cultivation of the ceremonial tea plant and the dew drops, "Gyokuro," is somewhat different from the ordinary ones. These plants are covered with matting or heavy straw in winter time to avoid the injuries of frost and snow. When the spring comes the shelters are all taken away and the plant is exposed to the sun, which makes it sprout at once. The young tender leaves only are picked and sent to the firing establishment. It is said that some of the very best of ceremonial teas are made of the leaves of the very old plant, sometimes 700 or 800 years of age. Hence the tea plant is considered as one of the strongest shrubs.

PREPARATION OF JAPAN TEA.

The leaves gathered as above mentioned are first sifted with a large sieve, and after the dead leaves, straws, etc., are sifted out, they are sent to the steaming room, where the water is boiling in a large iron pan upon which it is placed with a bamboo-meshed tray containing about a half pound of the pickled leaf and then covered with a wooden lid to prevent the steam from escaping. After a short time the steam begins to escape from the top and then it is ready for stirring up the leaves inside. The operation of steaming and stirring is repeated again and again until the leaves become perfectly tender and delicate, when they are placed on the table beside the pan and cooled off again. The process is the most important part of the preparation, since the steaming has such an influence on the color and flavor of tea that no inexperienced hands can do it. As soon as the leaf gets cool it is carried in flat baskets to the firing place. In this room there are bin-like furnaces built of bamboo and mud, each being 6 x 3 feet, and 3 feet high. In each of these furnaces about 40 pounds of charcoal is fired from the previous night and kept under ashes. Over the fireplace a certain kind of thick paper, 7 x 4 feet, is spread, and the steamed leaf, about two pounds at a time, is spread and dried upon the paper. When it is dried a little it is roughly rolled and then sent to another warm furnace, where it is further twisted in various methods until the leaf is perfectly dry and brittle. The Japan tea is generally classified into three kinds, basket, uncolored, and regulars. These names are not known among the natives except the direct exporters, who use them as they were first named by English and American importers.

The export teas require a little more work, viz., the refinement. They are refined with an intense heat in the baskets or iron pans by machinery, so that they can stand any climate in foreign countries. After the necessary process the dust is sifted and the leaves are ready for packing. The packing is done in the most careful manner, perfectly free from moisture or absorption of any smell, and thus they are shipped over all the world. —The Retailers' Journal.

ADJUSTABLE TABLE FOR THE STORE.

AT this particular season the merchants of various cities and towns are arranging plans and changes in their stores and fittings in preparation of Christmas and the holiday trade. Our readers will admit that it is absolutely necessary to display goods to the best possible advantage, so as to secure quick sales; a lot of business in every line of trade is crowded into a few weeks for novelties and presents. From recent conversations with leading merchants it is the general opinion that if visitors do not see the article required before them in walking through a store, or in a front window, they do not take the trouble to ask if it is kept in stock.

A most suitable device for the proper display of nearly all classes of merchandise is the adjustable display stands or tables. You can move them about your store, from place to place, doing away with the long, old-fashioned counters which occupy the whole length and width of the store, leaving only a small passageway on each side, and obstructing nearly all the light in daytime and spoiling the effect of illumination at night.

The advantages in using the adjustable display stand is that you can place it in six positions, and no matter what angle it is placed at there is no danger, as the automatic self-locking device will hold it in position. If your store should be crowded or a special sale on you can fold them up and set back out of the way, thus giving a clear floor space, which is a decided advantage in a busy store. You do not require to remove the goods to alter the position, as each shelf remains on a level while you change the stand. As far as weight is concerned they will hold half a ton without danger of breaking or sagging down, and are fitted with castors or rollers which allow of a free and easy movement on the floor. There are over 12,000 in use from Newfoundland to Vancouver. Different sizes, styles and wood finishings are made to match as nearly as possible present fittings in use.

A very handsome illustrated booklet showing the stands with different displays of goods, which will assist you in decorating your store or window, is sent free on application to the manufacturers, Boeckh Bros. & Company, Toronto, who will be pleased to furnish any information required.

THE INDIAN TEA CROP.

The following circular is circulated under date of October 12, 1901, by the committee of the Indian Tea Association :

"I am directed by the general committee of the Indian Tea Association to intimate that the following figures have been supplied by Calcutta agency houses showing the quantity of tea manufactured on September 30, 1901, as compared with the quantity manufactured on September 30, 1900. #### SUBSTITUTE FOR A CLOCK.

"William H." (Tyersal) has discovered what he terms a "pleasing substitute for a clock." He had occasion to call at a farmhouse for tea the other day, and he ordered boiled eggs, underdone. The farmer's wife sang, "Rock of Ages" whilst tending the boiling of the eggs.

"I greatly enjoyed that bit of singing," said my correspondent afterwards to the old lady. "But why did you sing only one verse?"

"Well, you see, sir," she said, "when I wants the eggs soft I only sing one verse; when I wants 'em hard I sings two verses. I ain't got no clock, but the 'Rock of Ages' serves me beautiful for egg-boiling."

power will be supplied by The Keewatin Power Co., which will also supply electricity to Winnipeg, Man.

Watt & Gordon, wholesale grocers, 1260 St. Lawrence street, Montreal, were visited by burglars on November 19, who attempted to blow up the safe by drilling a hole in the top, but as their efforts were unsuccessful, they decamped with $3 which they found in a drawer.

Alphonse Desjardins, a grocer of Montreal, left his horse and rig standing outside while he went into a store to transact some business. During his absence they disappeared. After searching high and low for his missing property, he reported the matter to the Montreal police, but as yet no trace has been found.

At Owen Sound, Ont., the last carload of machinery for Chandler & Co.'s corn mill has arrived, and is being installed. In a few days the mill will be started, as The Wm. Kennedy & Sons Co., Limited, will cut the main drive-shaft so that the corn-mill machinery can be operated independently of the elevator's plant.

James Stewart, who has had charge of the transporting business of the Canada Atlantic Railway, at Coteau, Que., is in Kingston, Ont. During this year some 13,000,000 bushels of grain were handled by his railway and by the Kingston and Montreal Forwarding Co.

PHYSICIANS AND CANNED GOODS.

ALL physicians are not fools—God help the human race if they were—but many fools are physicians. If proof of the truth contained in this statement is desired, The Canner will recite one or two of the suggestions found in the replies of medical men to the inquiries of the Canadian Inland Revenue Department, which, on account of the frequency which newspapers attribute illness to the use of canned goods, made a report on this subject, the report being based on the opinions of the large number of physicians submitting their views and recommendations. Among the suggestions were the following:

Vessels of glass or earthenware should be used instead of tins or cans.

The sale of canned goods should be prohibited after a certain lapse of time from the date of their manufacture. The periods suggested varied from six months to two years.

There were also the usual all-wise observations concerning the inspection of canneries, keeping canned goods in cold storage, keeping them out of the sunlight, and stamping on the cans the date of filling, but the suggestions that glass or earthenware be used instead of tin, and that the sale of canned good six months old be prohibited, take the bun. It is really amusing to think of the opinions of the impracticable medics. And it is difficult to avoid the suspicion that, having found canned goods unproductive of patients, the dear doctors would send the industry to the bow-wows if they could. It would go there in a jiffy if their suggestions were to be carried out. That glass is more expensive and is liable to loss on account of its being so easily broken, settles the question of its displacing tin to any calculable extent, while the use of earthenware is too ridiculous to be given a moment's thought. The physician who would prohibit the sale of canned goods six months old must have a head like a gourd. Such ignorance, hardly excusable in a layman, is unpardonable in a graduated doctor of medicine. The baldest diploma-mill in the world would be ashamed of such an ass.

Adolphe Segault, a farmer at L'Ange Gardien, Que., is charged by Treffe La Marche, cheese factory owner of the same place, with violating Act 53, Victoria 42, re milk, butter and cheese, by supplying adulterated milk to his factory. Several experts gave their evidence at the trial before Judge St. Julien.

J. D. Irving, Buctouche, N.B., has just completed a new roller mill which has been equipped with the most modern machinery. Its eight sets of rollers can grind 60 bushels per hour, and it has a capacity of 75 barrels of wheat, 75 barrels of buckwheat, and 150 barrels of corn per diem. The feed and chop department is also most up to date.

A CANADIAN TRAVELLER IN ENGLAND.

MR. WM. H. EVANS, of The Canada Paint Co., Montreal, who is a candidate for a director of The Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association, has had some unique experiences. When on a tour in England visiting the cathedral cities he halted at St. Albans, Hertfordshire, to see the venerable abbey there. Harpenden races were in full blast and St. Alban's, close by, was, towards evening, literally packed with a hilarious, good humored but hungry crowd and Mr. Evans sought in vain for a quiet retreat where he could have a grilled mutton chop and a glass of "bitter." At the various refreshment places the only items offering were Melton-Mowbray pies and Banbury buns, with gingerbread ad lib. This fare would scarcely suit a Canadian whose appetite had been whetted by sight-seeing, and Mr. Evans meandered to that old stagecoach house, "Peacock Inn," where innumerable four-in-hands, brakes, hansoms, growlers, coster carts, and every conceivable thing on wheels, ancient or modern, were drawn up, the occupants loudly calling for refreshments, liquid and otherwise.

Said the ubiquitous "Boots" at the Inn, "Dining room full, sir!; coffee room packed like 'errings, no chawnee for a chop or even 'am and eggs!'"

The weary traveller pulled in his belt almost three notches and was about to turn away, when he espied, through a partially closed door, a cosy room with only a quartet of genial-looking gents sitting within its sacred precincts. The first thought was, perhaps they are representatives of Royalty or, mayhap, some of the gentlemen from the country families, or, perchance, privileged reporters (who generally get the best), but an open order book at which one gentleman was industriously scribbling told him, intuitively, it was the commercial room, that sanctum sanctorum, where peace and calmness reigned and no outsiders were allowed.

Calling one of the gentlemen, Mr. Evans handed him his card and showed the certificate of The Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association, of Montreal. Open sesame! This was the passe-partout. Introductions followed—dinner was about to be served, and a jolly good time was spent by "the intelligence department of commerce," as travellers have been dubbed. The Englishmen could not do enough for their impromptu Canadian visitor and it was late, or rather early, when the Montrealer reached the Midland Grand Hotel, St. Pancras, London, where his waiting friends had become so uneasy that they were about to send out a "still" alarm to search the cloisters, catacombs, and crypt of St. Alban's Abbey.

John Murphy & Co., grocers, corner Metcalfe and St. Catherine streets, Montreal, have purchased a building on the east side of their present premises, and are going to enlarge their business.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, November 25, 1901.

THE chief item of interest to-day is the discussion of the Privy Council's judgment on the Manitoba Liquor Act. The expressions of opinion are extremely varied, and probably the greatest guessing is being done on what action the present Government will take. It is within their power to pass an Order-in-Council within the next 30 days bringing the Act in force at the end of the present license year, or on May 1. The Government has not been heard from in the matter so far.

CEREALS.—The rolled-oat situation has intensified during the week; prices have advanced and the demand is heavy; large shipments of Manitoba rolled oats are going east. Rolled oats, 80-lb. sacks, $2.45 to $2.50, and smaller sizes in proportion; granulated and standard, $3 to $3.05; rolled wheat, $2.30. Cornmeal has again advanced and is now quoted at $2. Split peas, barley, and pearl barley are without change. Beans have again weakened and are now $1.90.

RICE.—Quotation for Japan are expected within the next few days. Other lines are in nominal demand and without change.

COFFEE.—Since the recent jump coffees eased again a little, but reports from first hands would indicate still higher prices. Big firms in the United States are buying large stocks on their own account so it would seem safe to assume that coffee is bound to go higher. Green Rios, Nos. 5 and 6, are still quoted at 10½c.

NUTS.—From latest reports it would appear that Tarragona almonds are in short supply at the present time, but more liberal shipments are expected very shortly. New filberts are in and quoted at 11c. New Grenoble walnuts are due to arrive in 10 days. Pecans and Brazils are without change.

DRIED FRUITS.—Nothing new to report in this market; demand fair and prices firm. New Eleme figs are in and showing excellent quality. The price is slightly under that of last year. Present quotations are 12 to 18c., according to size. New dates are offering very freely, Hallowee at 5½c. and Sairs at 5c.

CANNED GOODS.—The demand is good and prices remain without change as follows: Fruits—Strawberries, heavy syrup, $3.25; preserved, $3.60; raspberries, preserved, $3.25; syrup, $2.95; blackberries, $2.75; gooseberries, 2's, $2.90; 2's, preserved, $3.60; peaches, yellow, 2-lb. tins, $4; 3-lb. tins, $6; pears, 2-lb. tins, $3.50; 3-lb. tins, $4.50; apples, 3-lb. tins, canned, $2.50; 3-lb. tins, preserved, $3.65; gallon, canned, $1.60. Californian canned fruit in 2½-lb. tins—Plums, green gage, $4.25; Lombard, $4.20; damson, $4.20; egg, $4.20; peaches, $4.75; pears, $4.95; apriots, $4.75; cherries, white, $5.50. Canned vegetables—Tomatoes, Boulter's, this season's pack, $2.20; other brands, $1.90; corn, 2-lb. tins, $1.90; peas, 2-lb. tins, $1.95; beans, 2-lb. tins, $1.85; pumpkin, in 3-lb. tins, $2.10.

FISH.—Finnan haddies are to hand and sell at 10c.

WOODENWARE.—The dealers have been notified that all woodenware has advanced 7½ per cent., but new price lists have not yet been received.

SUGARS.—No change in prices since last week's decline. Granulated, $4.80; yellows, $4.15. Other grades in proportion as given last week.

GREEN FRUITS.—Navel oranges, $5 to $6; Mexicans, $4 to $5; Japanese oranges, $1.25. (These latter arrived by express from the Coast.) Apples continue in very heavy demand and prices are firm. Good Spies will not be sold under $6 while other varieties run down the gamut to $4.75, which is the very lowest price quoted for any kind of an apple. Washington apples, Ben Davis, $2 per box; Winter Nellis pears, Washington's, $3, and British Columbian's, $2.50; cranberries, $9.50. These are the Jersey berries and are a very fine sample.

POULTRY.—The supply for Thanksgiving is fair and one shipment of Smith's Falls turkeys has already arrived. Prices are firm and the demand good.

BUTTER.—The situation has not improved since last writing. Winnipeg has not been so bare of good table butter for years, and there is no present relief in sight.

CHEESE.—The demand is good and jobbers are selling at 10½ to 11c. There will be some Ontario cheese brought in before the season is over, as already several houses are unable to fill orders.

EGGS.—Manitoba hens have apparently gone out of business, for the demand, even at the high prices now quoted for new laid (35c. per doz.), brings little or no response.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT'S DEPARTMENT.

AT the regular meeting of the MacKenzie Liberal Club on Monday night, Mr. J. D. Allan, during the course of an address on "Citizenship," took occasion to urge reorganization of the Department of Trade and Commerce, and Mr. George Anderson, in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Allan, endorsed what the latter had said in regard to that question.

This criticism of the Department of Trade and Commerce is significant in a double sense. In the first place, it was made in a political organization which supports the Government of which Sir Richard Cartwright, the Minister of Trade and Commerce, is a member. But what is perhaps still more significant is that the gentleman who offered the criticism is not only one of the leading business men in Toronto, but that he was a Liberal candidate in the western riding of that city at the last general election, while the gentleman who endorsed it, also a business man, was the Liberal candidate in November, 1900, in the eastern riding of the "Queen City."

It is gratifying to us to see the business men who are prominent in the party of which Sir Richard Cartwright is a member joining in the movement which was started by this paper a year or more ago demanding the reorganization of the Department of Trade and Commerce. Since then, the demand has been endorsed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. And now the members of his own party are publicly announcing themselves in regard to the matter. For some time it has been an open secret that the business men within the ranks of the Liberal party have been very much dissatisfied with the inertia of the Minister of Trade and Commerce. And it is to be hoped that now they are "speaking out in meetin'," the inevitable reorganization of the Department over which he presides will be hastened.

A great deal of sympathy is, no doubt, felt for Sir Richard Cartwright. He has spent a generation in the service of his country; and no man in either political party has exhibited, on the whole, more ability, while none have been more above suspicion of the misdeeds which are only too common in political life. But he never was adapted for the portfolio which he holds. At any rate he never took kindly to it. And the result is that, although the Department costs the country a large sum of money annually, it has become almost a sinecure, instead of being what it should be, one of the most important branches of the Governmental machinery.

But sympathy should not permit the commercial interests of the country to suffer. The Department of Trade and Commerce must be reorganized.

A FIRMER CURRANT MARKET.

The stronger tone noticed in previous issues in regard to currants has received a further stimulus during the past week, prices having again appreciated in Greece.

One cable received on Tuesday announced an advance of 1s. per cwt., and the same cable added: "Market active and has the appearance of being stronger soon."

In sympathy with the condition of affairs in the primary market, local wholesalers are advancing their figures, the idea as to price in Toronto for cleaned fruit now being as follows: Fine Filiatras, 6c.; Patras, 6¾c.; Vostizzas, 8½ to 9c. Uncleaned fruit is quoted the usual ½c. per lb. less.

There was recently a slight decline in Provincial currants in the London, Eng., market, but, in the better grades, prices were all firm.

THREATENED SHORTAGE OF RAISINS.

A RATHER interesting state of affairs has developed on the Canadian market in regard to Valencia raisins. The root of it is traceable to the unsatisfactory experience of the trade last year. This season, cautiousness induced wholesalers to place much smaller import orders than usual. And now they are realizing that they have overshot the mark, for, although the shipments by the last of the direct steamers have been received, the wholesalers already find themselves getting bare of supplies, while the holidays are about four weeks distant. In Toronto, this feature is particularly pronounced. The wholesalers there are trying in every direction to get supplies, but have so far met with little success. By Christmas it looks as if there will be little short of a famine.

Wholesalers who are a little better off than their confreres in regard to stocks are asking those who desire to draw on them for supplies about ¾c. per lb. more than they were three weeks ago, while during the past week there has been an appreciation of fully ¼c. per lb.

Prices in Spain are firm, according to cable advices received from there this week, but one cable on Tuesday to a Toronto broker announced a decline of 2s. per cwt. in London, due, it is thought, to purely local conditions. A cable on the previous day from the same city to another broker quoted identically the same firm figures as Spain.

For good brands of selected raisins to the retail trade, 6½c. appears to be the ruling price on the Toronto market, and some of the wholesalers have paid as high as 6c. f.o.b. Montreal. The idea for fine off-stalk to the retail trade is 5¾ to 6c.

After the holidays we look for an easier market, but in the meantime we would advise retailers to insure unto themselves ample supplies for the Christmas trade, for the consumption this season promises to be a good average one.

THE UNITED STATES MANUFACTURERS AND RECIPROCITY.

THE reciprocity convention at Washington has concluded its labors.

The only good it has served is to show that the manufacturers of the United States are by no means yet ready to conclude reciprocity treaties except on a basis that no self-esteeming nation could accept. The chief resolution that was passed recommended that Congress be asked to "open up by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modifications of the tariff in special cases, but only where it can be done without injury to any of our home interests of manufacturing, commerce, or farming."

As The New York Journal of Commerce remarks: "The kind of reciprocity the convention declared for is not reciprocity at all."

Reciprocity, as we stated a week ago, is give and take. The manufacturers of the United States are willing to take, but not one jot or tittle are they willing to give. They want reciprocity, and judging from what has been said in the press and on the platform, they have a strong yearning for it. But, like the Republican party, they are only ready to lower the tariff on things they do not produce on condition that those things of which they produce a surplus may be admitted duty free. It is either the height of impudence, or the grossest of economical blindness, to expect that Canada or any of the other countries with which they desire to establish reciprocity relations will be caught in a trap baited with such a foolish economical proposition.

We said in our last issue that no good thing was to be expected from the convention. We are extremely sorry that our prophecy turned out to be true, for we have always believed that a fair reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States would be a good thing for both countries.

It is true that there are other interests in the United States besides the manufacturers', but it must be remembered that they are a power in the land. No class, we believe, is more powerful.

Lately, they have been preaching reciprocity more vigorously than any other class in the United States. But it is evident, when they gather in convention and discuss the question, that it is not reciprocity they want. They may think it is, but what they really want is that Canada and all other countries with moderate tariffs shall level their protective walls until not one stone is left upon another, while their spike crowned granite wall be left intact.

While there are a great many business men in Canada who favor a reciprocity treaty with the United States, provided it could be secured on an equable basis, yet no one is turning his hand to bring it about. And no public man of either political party would dare to take one step in the direction until the United States had taken one, and a well-defined one at that.

What a great many people in this country would prefer rather than that our Government should again make reciprocal advances to the United States, is that the tariff should be raised on products that come from the other side of the boundary line. Reciprocity of tariffs would be a by no means unpopular cry. And what is significant, there are prominent men in both political parties who have pronounced themselves in favor of such a scheme.

Personally, we would exceedingly regret any such action. It would not be conducive to the best business interests on either side of the boundary. But, we cannot ignore what is to-day so evident a trend of public opinion.

This feeling is born of the one-sided character of the trade between the two countries. Take, for example, the figures for 1900, which is the latest year for which we have complete returns. Of our total imports of $140,337,184, no less than $116,972,554 or 83.35 per cent. come from the United States. The percentage from the whole of the British Empire was but 25.99 per cent. Turning to our exports, what do we find? Simply that the United States bought of our products only $68,619,023 or 35.76 per cent. of the whole, while the British Empire absorbed $114,782,267 worth, or 59.82 per cent. of the whole.

The following table, compiled from official sources, gives the average rate on dutiable goods in Canada and the United States respectively in 1900, and shows the wide difference in the character of the Customs tariffs of the two countries:

|                                             | P. C. under Canadian tariff. | P. C. under U. S. tariff. |

In view of what the various figures we have quoted reveal, is it any wonder that the ranks of those who would wage a tariff war against the United States are daily finding their numbers augmented?

It is to be hoped, however, that the good sense of the business men on both sides of the boundary line will be able to exert sufficient influence to prevent such an untoward event.

TORONTO'S THREE GROCERY ASSOCIATIONS.

TORONTO is somewhat unique in the way of retail grocery associations having no less than three of them.

There is the Retail Grocers' Association, the original organization; the Retail Grocers' Protective Association, called into existence to oppose compulsory early closing, and the Retail Grocers' branch of the Retail Merchants' Association.

In view of the number of associations there are, one must conclude that there is need of organization among the retail grocers. In other words, that there are influences which drive them together for self-protection.

It seems to us, however, unfortunate that the retail grocers should break themselves up into three camps instead of uniting their forces under one organization. It is infinitely better for all concerned that there should be one strong and active organization than three of only moderate strength. It is unnatural to expect that in a city the size of Toronto three organizations can thrive and possess the strength and exercise the influence in the grocery trade they could were they united and pulling together in one boat.

There are, no doubt, difficulties in the way of the amalgamation of the three associations. But it seems to us that none of them are unsurmountable. And the leading members of the three organizations can scarcely render better service to the movement for organization, and consequently for the betterment of the condition of their trade, than to apply themselves to the task of making the three one.

THE APPLE TRADE SITUATION.

THIS year the apple crop has been a failure in all parts of the world excepting perhaps in Nova Scotia and Missouri. In Ontario and Quebec, it only amounted at the outside to 175,000 bbls., of which the Georgian Bay district produced a large percentage, and the total amount available from those Provinces for export will not be over 50,000 bbls. It is expected that for the next four months the Nova Scotian shipments will average 15,000 bbls. per week. In the United States, the shortage will be about 47,000,000 bbls., the total yield there being about 23,000,000 bbls.; and Missouri is expected to produce 65 per cent. of this. Colorado will be able to export to the Southern States over 500,000 bbls., grown on what was a few years ago a sandy desert, while the Californian apple crop, though reported good, will not amount to much. In the New England States the yield is very light.

Last week there were exported to Liverpool, London and Glasgow from New York, Boston, Portland and Montreal 34,695 bbls. of apples as compared with 82,384 bbls. for the same week last year and 80,596 bbls. for the same week in 1899. Up to the present, the total shipments this year from the United States and Canada have been 327,239 bbls. as compared with 694,974 bbls. and 727,339 bbls. for the same time last year and the year before. The following table gives the shipments in detail:

SHIPMENTS IN DETAIL.

| From           | 1901.bbls. | 1900.bbls. | 1899.bbls. |
|----------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|
| Boston.....    | 55,066         | 223,230        | 115,433        |
| New York.....  | 51,712         | 138,594        | 196,521        |
| Portland.....  | 14,563         | .....          | .....          |
| Montreal.....  | 117,251        | 230,470        | 276,658        |
| Halifax.....   | 88,647         | 87,008         | 138,727        |
| Annapolis..... | .....          | 15,869         | .....          |
| Totals.....    | 327,239        | 694,971        | 727,339        |

The total exports of this product from Canada and the United States to Great Britain last year totalled 1,346,000 bbls. and 203,000 boxes, while this year not one quarter of this amount is expected to be available for export.

In New York, as much as $5 per bbl. is being offered for good stock, and their exports to other markets will be practically nothing, only some 15,000 bbls. being on their way, and these are being exported by English buyers into whose hands they have fallen. From these inquiries have recently been made here for Ontario Spies, and it is expected that Chicago will take some of these in a few days. Recent sales for Manitoba and the Northwest have been made at $4.25 per bbl. f.o.b. here, and higher prices in carlots are anticipated.

In Great Britain, since the surplus product of their own orchards and the importations of fall apples have been consumed, better prices are being offered. Dealers are advised to ship their stuff forward without delay, and the latest cable from there, under date of November 22, says: "Market opened strong, and continued so during the day, closing with a slight advance. Greenings, 20s. to 23s.; Baldwins, 20s. to 25s. 6d.; Spies, 19s. 6d. to 22s. 6d.; Russets, 17s. 6d. to 23s. 6d.; Kings, 21s. to 27s.; seconds, 3s. less."

Higher prices are expected for apples there from now on until the end of the season. As the quality now to go forward is generally fine, and while prices may curtail consumption, there should be a plentiful demand.

Anybody who thinks that dealers have had a bonanza this year is mistaken, for the early windstorms in the fall so seriously damaged the crop in many sections, as the fruit was in most cases bought on the orchards, that it has cost the dealers the highest known in years, and it will keep many of them busy to escape with whole skins.

BEET SUGAR AT STRATFORD.

Messrs. W. J. Douglas, Scranton, Pa., and A. Kaufman, secretary and travelling representative respectively of The Canada Beet Sugar Co., Baden, Ont., visited Stratford on Saturday last with a view to interesting the people in that vicinity in the beet-sugar industry. The company propose to build refineries throughout the Province of Ontario. In Baden a free site has already been secured.

NOTHING GIVES THE SAME VALUE.

Hutchison Bros., grocers and provision merchants, Bracebridge, Ont., in renewing their subscription to THE CANADIAN GROCER, say: "We wish to say that there is no journal that gives the same value for our money as THE GROCER. We look for its arrival each week that we may keep posted on the trade markets. We think no up-to-date grocer should be without it."

THE WALKERTON SUGAR CO.

The Walkerton Sugar Co. has been incorporated with a share capital of $300,000 for the purpose of growing and disposing of the products of sugarbeets. The provisional directors are Ruben E. Truax, M.P.P., Wm. Richardson, S. W. Vogin, David Traill, David Robertson, John Rowland, Andrew Waechter, L. C. Benton and J. W. Bandy, of Walkerton, Ont.

MONTREAL'S TONNAGE.

Montreal's season of navigation was practically brought to a close on Saturday. The season has been far from satisfactory, the tonnage showing a marked decrease from previous years.

The following is a comparative statement of the foreign ships and tonnage for the past four years:

|           | Ships. | Tonnage.  |
|-----------|--------|-----------|
| 1898..... | 516    | 1,212,747 |
| 1899..... | 434    | 1,092,955 |
| 1900..... | 416    | 1,038,434 |
| 1901..... | 376    | 988,018   |

The falling off is ascribed to the continuance of the South-African War, which has deprived the port of Montreal of some of its largest vessels.

The Customs collection at the port during the season amounted to $5,485,767, against $5,126,711 for 1900.

FIFTY YEARS IN THE FISH TRADE.

The advertisement of the M. Doyle Fish Co., West Market street, Toronto, in this issue is worthy the attention of all grocers who are dealers in fish, oysters, etc. The Doyle Fish Co. has been established over 50 years and enjoys a large trade. They are agents for Booth's oysters and are also dealers in all kinds of sea and lake fish.

A DEPARTMENT STORE SCHEME.

A. Walker & Co., candy manufacturers, Montreal, have embarked on a new enterprise, novel in its character, and the results of which will be watched with interest by many citizens.

Up to the present it is only the large capitalists who are able to open departmental stores, thus leaving in the shade great numbers of young people who possess in themselves all the qualities requisite to success in large enterprises. A. Walker & Co. have formed an association which will enable any small but enterprising capitalist to play a part in the great industries of the city. The idea is that those who have the means to open only one branch of business are to join together under the same roof and under the one title, and by this means create a great business with less expense than if opening in one particular store.

The former Lepage warehouse, at the corner of St. Catherine and St. Lawrence streets, is to be let in sections. The rent of each location will cover all the general expenses consequent on running an ordinary store. There will be but one branch of each line, joining together under the same roof as many different classes of business as possible, and in this way drawing to this general meeting place a great number of customers.

In this way, any one, whether he has $500 or $1,000, will be on the same plane as the large capitalist; he will confine himself to the special line which he has chosen to sell, having no other liability to the special line which he has undertaken to pay; having sole control only of his section of the store, of his own merchandise and finances, engaging his own staff of employees, exactly as if he was in a building separate to himself.

The distribution of the departments will extend over six days only, from Monday, the 25th inst., to Saturday, the 30th.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, November 27, 1901.

GROCERIES.

TRADE in wholesale groceries is in a fairly satisfactory condition. There is quite a good demand for such seasonable goods as dried fruits, nuts and candied peels. One of the features of trade is the firmness in Valencia raisins, which are higher on the spot. Currants are also firmer. The firmness in the tea market noted last week has been maintained, and the demand appears to be a little better than it was. Canned goods naturally are receiving very little attention, but prices are steady and unchanged. The feature of the sugar market locally is an advance of 10c. in the price of Acadia granulated, making the quotation on that sugar 5c. below the Montreal granulated instead of 15c. as last week. The demand for sugar has also shown some improvement and is now fairly active. Little or no interest is being taken in canned vegetables or in fact canned goods of any kind. The demand for rice and tapioca is steady. Syrups and molasses are attracting little or no attention. Spices are meeting with the usual seasonable steady demand. There is a good demand for nuts, and Valencia shelled almonds are scarce. New season's Grenobles are now on the market. There is a fair demand for Californian evaporated fruits, and a good business is being done in prunes.

CANNED GOODS.

Absolutely nothing new has developed in the canned goods situation during the past week. The demand for vegetables, as is usual at this time of the year, is merely of a hand-to-mouth character, but prices are steady and unchanged. For tomatoes, the ruling price is 82½ to 85c., and for corn and peas 80c. upwards. There are a few canned fruits going out, principally peaches and berries. The idea as to price is $1.75 to $1.90 for peaches, $1.60 to $1.75 for strawberries, $1.60 to $1.80 for raspberries. Canned salmon is meeting with a fair demand, the ruling prices are Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30, and Fraser River, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality, and pink salmon 95c. to $1. In canned meats and canned lobsters, there is very little being done.

COFFEES.

The situation in coffees has continued strong during the past week, and the strength during the past few days has been assisted by the reports of lighter receipts in the primary markets. This firm condition of the primary market has interfered with business in Canada on importation account. Business on retail account is just moderate, and prices remain firm and unchanged. We quote Rio coffee as follows: No. 7, 8c.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. Mild grades of coffee are steady and unchanged.

CANDIED PEELS.

The demand for these is being well maintained and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c. per lb.

John prices current.

NUTS.

Shipments of new season's Grenoble walnuts are to hand this week. There has been a good demand for them, and quite a quantity has been sold to arrive at 10¼c. per lb. It is not likely that there will be many Marbot walnuts on the market this season, as brokers here report that they have received instructions to cancel orders which had been taken. The reason advanced for cancelling the orders is that the quality is too poor for shipment. Dealers are, however, quoting 9½, and 8c. for Bordeaux walnuts. The quality of the latter is good, and shipments are now arriving, Valencia shelled almonds are scarce and in good demand.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is the usual steady demand for both rice and tapioca, and the market is without feature. We quote: B rice, 3¼ to 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; Tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c. per lb.

SPICES.

Locally, there is a fairly steady trade at unchanged prices. Pepper keeps firm, and cable advices report slightly higher prices for cloves. A firm market is also to be noted for ginger.

SUGAR.

The feature of the local market is an advance of 10c. in Acadia granulated, thus restoring the former differential of 5c. below the figures ruling on Montreal granulated. This advance took place on Saturday last. The demand for sugar on the local market has improved during the past week, and a good business is now being done. There is a feeling in certain quarters that the price of sugar has about reached the bottom, and there is consequently a little more confidence in the market. Holders in New York are asking 1-16c. more for raw sugars, or say 3¼c. for Centrifugals. While no transactions at the time of writing have yet taken place on this basis, holders are not disposed to press sales. Beet sugars in Europe have fluctuated between 7s. 3¼d. and 7s. 5¼d. At the moment they are quoted at 7s. 4½d., or 1s. per cwt. below the lowest record of former years, and about 3d. per cwt. above the lowest figure this campaign. Stocks in the United States have been reduced during the past week. The meltings continue at the recent weekly rate of 30,000 tons, while the receipts are slightly less than 20,000 tons. It is expected that the receipts will continue light for some time to come, which, naturally, with a continuation of the heavy meltings, will involve a reduction in stocks. The total stock in the four United States ports at the end of last week was 163,154 tons, against 74,917 tons the same time last year.

TEAS.

There is a better demand on spot both for Indian and Ceylon teas, and the prospects are considered to have distinctly improved. A good many of the better grades of tea have been selling, these teas showing better value than the low grades. There is a strong demand for low-grade Indian and Ceylon teas at prices about 1c. per lb. higher than those ruling a month ago, but the local market is still about 2c. below the figures ruling in the British and primary markets. At the prices ruling here, there are not many sellers, and stocks on spot are getting into small compass—smaller, some assert, than a good many people think. Japan teas are still firm, but very little business is being done.

Mail advices from London, England, under date of November 15, say that at the auction moderate supplies of Indian arrested a further depreciation in prices, and that a slight recovery was perceptible. In regard to Ceylon teas the advices say that although there was no actual recovery from the lower rates of the previous week, there was more disposition to operate, and competition was more general, prices being firm for the lower grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The primary market has shown further strength during the past week, and a cable received here on Tuesday quoted prices 1s. higher, and stated that the market was active and had the appearance of being stronger soon. Local wholesalers are stronger in their views and to the retail trade now, as a rule, quote as follows: Fine Filiatras, 5½c. for uncleaned, and 6c. for cleaned; Patras, 6¼c. for uncleaned, and 6¾c. for cleaned; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c. for uncleaned, and 8½ to 9c. for cleaned.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The position locally is showing a great deal more strength on account of the threatened scarcity, for, although the Christmas holiday is three or four weeks away, some of the wholesale houses are trying to replenish their stocks from local sources, and this search has developed the fact that very few are to be had. As high as 6c. f.o.b. Montreal was paid in at least one instance for selected fruit. The ruling price to the retail trade is now 6¼c. for selected and 5¾ to 6c. for fine off stalk. The market in Spain is firm, but a cable despatch from London on Tuesday reported a decline there of 2s. per cwt., which is thought to be due entirely to local conditions.

MALAGA RAISINS—These are going out well at quotations, which rule as follows: Black baskets, $2.25; "Empire Clusters," $2.60; "Dehesa Clusters," $3.10; "Excelsior Clusters," $4.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.10; "Extra Dessert Clusters," $3.35; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $5.

PRUNES—The demand for prunes is good, quite a quantity going out to the retailers. We quote Californian prunes: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70 80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

FIGS—A fairly good business is being done, particularly in tapnets at 2¾ to 3c. and 3¾c. for naturals.

DATES—Business is only moderate. We quote Hallowees, 4½ to 4¾c., and Sairs, 4¼ to 4½c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Peaches and apricots are selling fairly well, especially in view of the high prices that are ruling. We quote in 25-lb. boxes as follows: Apricots, 13 to 16c.; peaches, 11 to 13c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

A carload of Florida oranges has arrived in good condition and the quality is all that can be desired. They are selling very fast. A carload of Mexican oranges has also come, and they will sell at $2.75 to $3 per box. Several cars of Californian lemons are on their way, and a shipment of Messina lemons has been received, but the latter are a little too green to place on the market yet. Quite a few pears still remain in cold storage. Apples are unchanged and a fair trade is doing. Only a few Ontario cranberries are left on the market, but Nova Scotian berries are being sold in very large quantities. We quote as follows: Apples, $2.50 to $4.50 per bbl.; pears, 40 to 60c. per basket; Canadian grapes, 30 to 35c. per 10 lb. basket; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Malaga grapes $6 to $7; Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5 per bbl., or $3.50 to $4 per box; Florida oranges, $3.75 per box; Mexican oranges, $2.75 to $3 per box; Californian lemons, $3.50 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $3 to $3.50 per box; cranberries, budded, long keepers, $9 to $9.50 per bbl.; Cape Cod, $8 to $8.75; Ontario, $7 to $8; Nova Scotian, $2.85 for a 32-qt. box; pineapples, 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

Potatoes are 5c. per bag higher and there is a good demand for them now at 80c. per bag. They are hard to get, arrivals being poor. Turnips are now more plentiful and are 5c. per peck easier. They sell at 35c. per bag. Not much celery is being received and the prices have advanced 10c. to 15c. per bunch. Radishes are about out of season, but a large amount of greenhouse is expected shortly. We quote: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 40 to 50c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.; cabbage, 25 to 40c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 75 to 80c. per bag; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 10 to 20c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 10 to 15c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The receipts of fresh eggs are practically nothing. Dealers are doing a good trade in cold-stored and limed. Strictly new-laid eggs would bring from 23 to 24c. per doz. Fresh gathered are worth 18 to 20c.; cold stored, 17 to 18c., and limed, 17c. per doz.

BEANS—Trade is fair, but prices are a little weaker. Choice handpicked beans bring $1.70 to $1.75; prime, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY—Trade is quiet in honey. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Clover, 1; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—Are moving nicely. The prices are unchanged. Evaporated apples are worth 9c. in car lots and 10c. in less quantities. Dried apples are selling at from 5½ to 6c.

POTATOES—Dealers say that that they want several carloads, as the supply on hand is small. Prices have advanced 5c. per bag on the track in car lots. We quote 60c. per bag on track. Retail prices are 70 to 80c. for good stock.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a good supply of butter on hand, and there is a fair demand. As usual, the quality of the receipts might be better. The prices are firmer; choice large rolls and select tubs are 1c. higher. Creamery prints and solids are also ½c. higher. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints sell at 20 to 21c., and creamery solids, 19½ to 20c. per lb.

CHEESE—There is a quiet though steady demand for cheese, and fair sales are reported. There is no change in the prices. We quote: Cheese, 9¼ to 9¾c. per lb.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—There have been large arrivals in dressed poultry this week, and on account of the soft weather at the end of last and the beginning of this week the market for turkeys is in a state of congestion. The turkeys that are coming in average very poor and the highest price paid now is 9c. per lb., 1c. lower than last week. The majority of turkeys are selling at 7 and 8c. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; turkeys, 7 to 9.

LIVE POULTRY—Large shipments of live poultry have been received, and trade has been even better than last week, which was a record breaker. Dealers have no cause of complaint as to the quality of the live poultry received, but, owing to their abundance, spring chickens are lowered 1c. per lb. The other prices are unchanged. The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, 5c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 2½c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

GAME—The season for game will be closed in another week. The receipts this season have been about up to the average, and prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Teal and butterballs, 20 to 25c.; bluebills, 40 to 50c.; pintails and redheads, 50 to 60c.; black ducks, 75 to 85c. per brace; canvas-back and mallards, $1.

FISH.

Fresh fish are in good demand and dried fish are selling better. Ciscos are scarce and have advanced 25c. Flitched cod have gone up to $6, being a rise of 50c. per bundle. Trout are 1/2c. higher. Oysters are now in season and jobbers are doing a good trade in this line. The advance in finnan haddies has been maintained. We quote: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; white-fish, 7 to 7 1/2c.; trout, 7 1/2c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscos, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 7 1/2 to 8c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4 1/2 to 5 1/2c. per lb.; steak cod, 6 1/2c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4 1/2c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—Standards sell at $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Large arrivals of Manitoba hard wheat are reported this week, and, owing to the close of navigation, shipments are being hurried to the different storage points. The price is unchanged at 84c. grinding in transit or 82c. Toronto and west. On the local markets the receipts of wheat have been light, and the small amount of peas received were of poor quality. The bulk of the arrivals is in barley and oats. Red and white Ontario wheat has advanced 3c., oats 1/2c., barley 2c. and peas 3 1/2c. per bush. We quote: White and red Ontario wheat, 68 to 76c.; goose, 66 1/2 to 67c.; oats, new, 46 1/2 to 49c.; rye, 58c.; barley, 55 to 61c.; peas, 77 to 80c.; buckwheat, 52c.

FLOUR—The demand is steady and prices are firm in spite of disturbing reports which come from Chicago. There is no change in prices. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.50 to $3.60; Hungarian patents, $4; Manitoba bakers', $3.75; straight roller, $3.00 to $3.15 per bag in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand for oatmeal is heavy and the only case of complaint is the continued scarcity of raw material. The price of rolled wheat has advanced 20c. in bbls., and cornmeal has gone up 40c. The other prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5 75; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $5.25; in bbls., 15c. more; broken lots are 25c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100 lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $4 00; split peas, $4 50; pot barley, $4.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

There is a quiet, but steady trade doing in this line. Prices are unchanged, with the usual quantity of skins arriving.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼c. to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 60 to 65c.; deerskins, 12½c. per lb.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 8c.

SEEDS

Alsike is being offered in fair quantities, and the prices quoted are the top figures. As there are good offerings in red clover, the prices are easier. There is nothing being offered in timothy. We quote: Red clover, $4.50 to $4 80 per bush. for good, choice quality at outside points. Alsike brings from $6 to $7 25 for extra choice seed, but the poorer qualities are quoted lower. Timothy remains at $2 to $2.25.

MARKET NOTES.

Grenoble and Bordeaux walnuts are arriving this week.

Potatoes are scarce, and prices have advanced here to 60c. per bag on the track.

Valencia raisins promise to be scarce on the local market, and prices are slightly higher.

The butter market is not in so congested a condition this week as last, although the quality of that coming in might be vastly improved.

Large shipments of Florida oranges have been received in good condition this week, and several cars of Californian and Messina products of this fruit are on the way.

The price of Acadia granulated sugar has been advanced 10c. per 100 lb., and the differential between it and the product of the Montreal refineries has been restored to 5c., as formerly.

Receipts of live spring chickens have been liberal this week, and dealers have as much as they can do to handle them. Their price has been lowered to 5c. per lb. which is a decline of 1c. from last week.

The receipts of wheat and peas on the local market have been light this week, the quality of the latter being very poor. Red and white Ontario wheat have advanced to 76c. a bushel here for extra good samples.

A large number of turkeys are being received in poor condition. A good many of these are selling as low as 7c. per lb., although as high as 9c. is being paid for extra good lots, which is 1c. lower than a week ago.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, November 27, 1901.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS has been in a very congested state this week on account of the inability of the cartage companies to handle the freight. They are now from four to six days behind. Both the G.T.R. and C.P.R. freight yards are filled with cars awaiting teamsters. The G. T. R. brought over 50 teamsters with their conveyances from Kingston and western points this week, and deliveries are still some days behind. Local merchants have had great difficulty in securing their needed supplies, and all in all the shippers in the different wholesale houses are having a busy time of it. This congestion cannot be set down as caused entirely by poor roads; the main cause seems to be the abnormal run of business. The demand for groceries continues from all parts of the country, even though the winter freight rates are in force. Dried fruits and holiday supplies are all moving well, and what is more important, after last year's experience, the market is in a healthy condition, so far as well-maintained values go. Valencia raisins are stronger, and selected are now quoted at 21s. in primary markets, the advance seeming to be now about 1s. a week. Currants are firm, as are also Sultana raisins. In nearly all lines of fruits the wholesalers seem to find it time to reorder. Prunes are firmer this week and knowing ones predict higher prices. The sugar market is firmer this week. The Acadia refinery has advanced the price of its granulated 10c. per 100 lb. and the local situation has thus readjusted itself. Teas remain firm with a normal business doing. Coffees and spices are in good demand. Rolled oats and other cereals are higher again this week. Payments are first class.

SUGAR.

The sugar market shows considerable improvement this week. Not only is the foreign beet market firmer, but the local conditions have readjusted themselves. Acadia sugar is now sold out of the Ontario and Quebec markets, and, as the surplus stocks are cleared, the price has been advanced until it is again only 5c. below Montreal refined. The local price is $4 10 for granulated and $3.35 to $4.05 for yellows, according to quality.

TEAS.

There is no change to report in the tea market. Prices remain steady in second hands, but are still stronger in first. Cables have been received from Japan during the past week advancing quotations another notch. Stocks seem to be pretty well cleared out of the country, and any that are left will be wanted for home consumption. The market may now be considered closed. The shortage of 2,000,000 lb. that is reported in the exports of Japan tea this year seems to have been principally due to the drop in price in August, when the natives did not consider the remuneration sufficient to repay them for the trouble of picking the tea. When prices took an upward turn, and picking recommenced, the leaves were too far advanced in growth to make good tea, so, as a consequence, the third and fourth crops are very short. As yet, wholesalers are not buying freely at the advanced values, still asking for teas at a price. But, as stocks here are very low, it seems absolutely certain that teas will be wanted. Blacks and greens are in about the same position as last week, steady and firm.

SYRUPS.

There is still a good demand for corn as well as other syrups. The price of corn syrup is unchanged. The ruling prices are 3¼c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.50 in 38½-lb., and $1.10 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

There is a fair demand for molasses between jobbers, but as yet the distributory trade is rather slow. The prices remain as before, 28 and 29c.

CANNED GOODS.

The Montreal wholesalers were much interested in the meeting of the canners in Toronto last week, and would just like to know what they intend doing next season. Some of the wholesalers here are so utterly disgusted with their position on the canned goods market that they are seriously considering the erection of their own cannery. We believe this is no mere threat, but the idea is being taken into serious consideration, and in all probability will be acted upon if the canners do not come at some arrangement whereby the wholesaler will be assured a larger profit and a steadier market. This fall the syndicate has solicited orders for the jobbers at a 2½c. margin. With that profit the wholesalers are not satisfied, and they claim that if they can't increase their returns any other way they are going after some of that $100,000 that the syndicate made this year, by establishing canneries themselves. Some of the large wholesale firms can each handle the output of a whole cannery without any trouble.

The demand for canned goods is only fair. Tomatoes are worth 85 to 87½c.; corn, 80c., and peas, 80 to 95c. The feature of fruits is an advance in peaches to $1.80 to $1.85 for 2's, and $2.65 to $2.70 for 3's.

SPICES.

There continues to be a brisk demand for all kinds of spices. Prices are steady but firm. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 22 to 25c.

COFFEE.

There is quite a brisk movement in coffees and the market is steady. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Java, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is nothing fresh to report. The demand is brisk. We quote in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½c. per lb., and tapioca, 3¼ to 3¾c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—There is a very fair sale for currants and the outlook is very promising. Stocks are very light. Finest Filiatras are worth 5½c. in half cases; 1 lb. cartons, 8c.; and finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—While two or three weeks ago the market may have been in buyers' favor, it is not so now. Values are well maintained, as stocks are light and the demand has considerably improved. Business during the past week has been very encouraging. Finest off stock is worth 5½c.; selected, 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c. The primary market is also higher, selected being quoted at 21s., an advance of 2s. to 2s. 6d. from the lowest point.

CANDIED PEELS—There has been a good business doing in peels during the past week. The best English peels are worth 10 to 10¼c. for lemon; 10½ to 10¾c. for orange, and 14¾ to 14¾c. for citron.

PRUNES—Last week the Californian market declined about ¼c., but this amount has been recovered this week and the outlook is for higher prices, in view of the short crop. The demand for prunes on spot is quite brisk. Californians are worth 8¾c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50 60's, 7½c. for 60 70's, 7¼c. for 70 80's, 6c. for 80 90's, 6¼c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS—The good demand which we have reported for some weeks in Malaga raisins continues unabated. We quote: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

SULTANA RAISINS—The market is steady at 9 to 10¼c., with the demand fairly good.

DATES—Hallowee dates are selling at 4½c.

FIGS—The difficulty is to obtain enough figs to supply the demand. As quickly as tapnet figs arrive upon the market they are absorbed, retailers purchasing freely at about $1 per tapnet. Layer figs are also in good request.

NUTS.

A little lot of Grenobles came to Montreal and were quickly absorbed. There is now none obtainable, and retailers must wait until well into December for their Christmas supplies. Pure Mayettes will then be worth 10½ to 11½c.; shelled walnuts for earliest arrival are quoted at 18½ to 19c. Tarra-gona almonds are selling on spot at 10½ to 11½c., and the best shelled almonds are worth 25½ to 26½c. Filberts are selling freely at 8¼ to 9c.

FISH.

A brisk business is being done in fish. Codfish is higher again this week, wholesalers selling irregularly from $6 to $6.75 per bbl. We quote: Haddies, 6c.; Yarmouth bloaters, 100 in a box, 90c. per box; smoked herrings, medium, 13c. per box; single haddock, 3½c. per lb.; Marshall's canned, kippered and with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz; Canadian kippered, etc., 95c. per doz.; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 green codfish, $6 to $6.50 per bbl.; No. 2 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; No. 1 dressed or skinless cod, 100 lb. case, $4.75 to $4.85; dried codfish, per 112 lb.,

$5; "Ivory" brand boneless codfish in 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 20-lb. boxes, 5½c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 40 lb. boxes, 4½c. per lb.; No. 2 mackerel, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6.25 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $11 per bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $5.50 per ½-bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 1 Nova Scotia choice herrings, $3 per ¼-bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, $6.75 per ½-bbl.; Scotch or Loch Fyne herrings, $1 per keg; Holland or Dutch herrings, 75c. per keg; large salted eels, $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; canned Canadian ¼ sardines, per 100, $3.75; canned U. S. little neck clams, $1.50 per doz.; canned U.S. Kensetts Cove oysters, $1.25 per doz.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; little neck clams, $4; 1-lb. lobsters, flat cans, $9.50 to $10, ½-lb. lobsters, flat cans, $10 to $10.50.

GREEN FRUITS.

New Messina lemons are now offering, and other lemons are lower in price. Spanish onions are somewhat higher, as also are cranberries. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5 per bbl.; Florida oranges, $4.25; Verdilli lemons, 300's $2.50 to $4.50; 360's, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Malaga lemons, half chests, $5.25 to $6; pineapples, 20 to 25c.; Canadian apples, $3 to $5 per bbl.; limes, $1.50 per box; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.75 to $2.25, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 50c.; Spanish onions, 95c. to $1; sweet potatoes, Vineland's, $3 to $4.50; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $7.50 to $9.50; barrel onions, $2.75; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR—The market is firm with an upward tendency. Spring patents are worth $4 to $4.10; winter patents, $3.75 to $3.95; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50; strong bakers', $3.75 to $4.

GRAIN—We quote: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 80 to 80½c. afloat November; peas, 85c.; rye, 56 to 56½c.; No. 2 barley, 54½ to 55c.; oats, 51 to 51½c.; buckwheat, 56 to 56½c.; corn, 67 to 67½c.

OATMEAL—Rolled oats continue to advance in price, western mills now asking $5.50 to $5.60 in barrels. Wholesalers quote $5.85 to $5.90 in barrels, and $2.85 to $2.90 in bags. Fine medium granulated oatmeal is also worth $2.85 to $2.90 in bags.

CORNMEAL—Wholesalers are asking $4.60 in barrels, and $2.45 in bags.

bran has advanced 50c. per ton, sales of carlots having been made at $18, holders asking $18.50. Shorts are very scarce, a car of white shorts sold at $23, and a car of middlings at $22. Manitoba bran in bags, $19.

BALED HAY—The demand continues strong both for local wants and export. Slightly better prices are being paid. We quote: No. 1 timothy at $9.50 to $10; No. 2 timothy, $8.50 to $9; clover mixture, $8; clover, $7.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand continues good both for local and export trade, the feature of the past week being the heavy shipments to Great Britain, amounting to 58,327 cases. This brings the total exports for the season up to 203,646 cases, against 202,554 cases last year, thus turning the big decrease into a slight increase. These large shipments consisted mostly of picked stock. Dealers are quoting 21 and 16c. to the retail trade, for cold storage and pickled stock respectively.

HONEY—The demand continues good for choice white clover in comb, which continues scarce at 13c. Extracted honey is worth 10c. Buckwheat honey in comb is worth 9 to 10c.

POTATOES—The steadier tendency has developed into a much firmer feeling and prices are 10c. per bag higher. Carlots to arrive are quoted at 72½ to 75c.

DRESSED POULTRY—Considerable business is being done in dressed poultry, but there are quite a lot coming forward in poor condition. Dealers are selling turkeys at 9 to 9½c.; geese at 5½ to 6c.; chickens at 6½c. and ducks at 8c.

BEANS—The market is easy, sales of round lots of primes being quoted at $1.32 to $1.35. Handpicked are quoted at $1.40 to $1.45.

ASHES—Receipts are light and prices hold steady, last sales of first pots being reported at $4.40. Seconds are quoted at $4.05 to $4.10 per 100 lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The total shipments of butter from Montreal are 407,656 packages to date this season, showing an increase of 158,339 packages over last year. Yet the market is quite dull just now, principally on account of the large quantity of second-grade butter that is coming forward. Fine creamery is bringing 20c. from the wholesaler, who is jobbing it at 21c. Choice creamery brings as high as 20½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Flax seed is now worth 4¼ to 4¾c.
"Imperial Acme" coal oil is down to 17c.

Rolled oats are advanced to $5.85 to $5.90 per bbl. and $2.85 to $2.90 per bag.

Other cereals, such as cornmeal, shorts, bran and peas, are all higher.

Canned peaches are advanced to $1.80 to $1.85 for 2's and $2.65 to $2.70 for 3's.

Mr. W. H. Dunn, Montreal, has recently added another important agency to his list. He has been appointed agent for Bensdorff's "Royal Dutch" cocoas and chocolates, and now has a full assortment of these in stock.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., November 26, 1901.

BUSINESS has been particularly good this fall. The wholesale grocers seem well satisfied. There is, however, one great difficulty: They have not been able to get their goods forward from the west. Much business has been lost because of this, chiefly in flour, feed, oatmeal, beans, etc. The early-closing movement among the retailers is greatly appreciated by many. One of our principal retailers said to THE GROCER this week that in 15 years he had not seen so much of his family as during the past few months. We regret that many are breaking through their agreement. We trust it may not be completely broken up. In markets, oatmeal is particularly high. In tea, the advance has been sustained. Ginger continues high.

OIL—In burning oil, sales are very large, and prices keep low. A large tank steamer delivered a cargo this week. The quantity of burning oil now imported in wood is quite small. In paint oils, the market is held very firm at the rather higher figures. Lubricating oils are dull, with values unchanged. Seal oil continues to hold firm and higher prices are expected. Stocks held are not large. Cod oil is very firm, and some lots continue to come to hand. Later shipments will be made to England. Wax and candles are unchanged.

SALT—With the arrival of the first direct Liverpool steamer, the coarse salt market has been relieved. Supplies are still short. That arriving found very ready sale at full figures. Some rock salt was also received. In fine salt, prices are unchanged. There is but a limited sale at this season. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 58 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10 lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS—There were some arrivals of salmon during the past week.

CHATHAM ONT.

Prices are rather easier. Stocks here this season are not large. In vegetables, values are unchanged. Goods are being sold at close figures. There are quite good stocks held. In fruits, sales are fair. Values are unchanged. Among the retailers, more fruits in glass are seen than usual, but the wholesale trade have not taken hold of them. In apples and blueberries, the market is supplied by local canners. Had the supply been sufficient, there would have been a large outside demand. In haddies and kippered herring, prices are firm, with stocks light. Domestic sardines sell freely at the rather lower prices.

GREEN FRUITS—In some lines, owing to the hot and dry summer, fruits became very ripe, and do not keep well. Apples are higher, though prices in St. John are at least as low as in Nova Scotia. The fact that much poor fruit is shipped here is one reason. That is now getting pretty well cleaned up. In oranges, prices are firm. The quality is very good. Lemons are rather easier. First arrivals of Messina stock are being received this week. Californian stock is not largely used. Cranberries have been advanced; little now offered except the Cape Cod berry. Some few Ontario grapes are still offered. Stock is standing up well. In Malaga grapes, the stock this year is good, with a fairly-active sale.

DRIED FRUITS—In Valencia raisins stocks are quite light. Buyers, not wishing to be caught as last season, bought lightly; and from a market standpoint they did right. But the market is a little short, particularly in small boxes which cannot be supplied from New York. Stock this year is good. Quality of Malagas is also good. Stocks are not large. New Californians are daily expected, but, again, buyers have taken hold lightly, and no whole carlots are coming. While the market is quite well supplied with prunes, large stocks are the exception. Prices are quite low. In dates and figs there is a good demand at even figures. Peels are moving out freely, though prices are somewhat higher than usual. Citron is the large seller. Evaporated apples move slowly at high figures. Onions are firmly held. Nuts are very free sellers.

SUGAR—Prices show no change from the recent lower values. Sales are large, and dealers are much pleased with the conditions under the card price.

MOLASSES—There have been quite free sales. Values are easy. There is little stock held, except Porto Rico, and that is in few hands. There is very little American molasses selling this season.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs are perhaps a little easier, and the market seems somewhat dull. For strictly-fresh stock, quite high figures are still asked. Butter is also more freely offered, and to bring full figures the quality must be very good. Cheese has but a fair sale.

FISH—This is a more quiet line, the season of larger sales being about over. There is, however, one active line, namely, finnan haddies. These keep quite low, large shipments going west. In dry cod, while prices are still quite high, little or no change is expected. Pollock continue dull. The stock here is light. In smoked herring, even the low figures do not bring active sales. There is a steady sale for kippers; in fact, more could be used. In pickled fish, the market is firm, but quiet. There is a good sale for boneless fish. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.65 to $3.75; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.15 to $2.25 per half bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per half bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In Manitoba flour, prices are unchanged. Ontarios quite firm at the somewhat higher prices of last week. There is but a light stock here, goods bought for week not having arrived. Feed is scarce and high. Oats and oatmeal are out of sight. Some millers have withdrawn prices. Beans are lower in the local market, but it is not thought they will change much. Cornmeal is firm. Barley and peas are high. Hay is firm. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4.00; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $5.75 to $5.90; cornmeal, $3.00 to $3.10; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 49 to 50c.; hand-picked beans, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $4.60 to $4.75; barley, $4.25 to $4.30; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Another packing machine is being put in place by T. H. Estabrooks.

John Sealy is finding an increasing demand, even at the full figures, for pure cod-fish without bone.

The sales of "Red Rose Tea" are growing east and west, with all hands working overtime, is the report.

Dearborn & Co. are offering some of the finest Malaga clusters seen here for some time. They are packed by J. Segalerva.

"Gold Dust" Washing Powder is being well advertised. The large advertisements which are seen everywhere are such as attract attention.

T. Collins is home from a trip to the North Shore. Mr. Collins has a large trade there. One line which he finds a free seller is Fairbanks' lard.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Consumption of Eggs in Great Britain—Miscellaneous Notes.

CONSUMPTION OF EGGS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

AN authority points out that during 1900 Great Britain imported 5,500,000 eggs every day during the year, or, in other words, £15,259 worth daily. Add to this the home supply, estimated at 2,100,000,000 annually, and one will appreciate the enormous daily consumption of eggs in Great Britain—no less than 11,300,000. Moreover, 49 per cent. of the eggs handled in the United Kingdom are imported, and fully 95 per cent. of the eggs consumed in the larger towns of England are of foreign origin. Another fact of interest in this connection is that fully 50 per cent. of all eggs available are from three to seven months old before they reach the tables of the average British consumer. The development of the trade in foreign eggs during recent years, this authority adds, is truly remarkable, and the ease and rapidity with which a trade can be developed and flourish under the most adverse conditions may be inferred from the fact that the export of eggs from Russia has increased from 10,000,000 in 1870 to 1,780,000,000 in 1900. The export from Denmark has risen from 23,000,000 in 1880 to 292,000,000 in 1900, and the import of eggs into the United Kingdom has increased from 100,000,000 in 1855 to 1,000,000,000 in 1885, and 2,025,000,000 in 1900. Year by year the trade in eggs expands, and is still likely to keep on increasing, as there appears to be no limit to the supply or the demand. The trade in Europe alone approaches £100,000,000 annually.

THE DECLINE IN LARD.

The heavy movement of hogs to market has been one of the more potent factors in the recent decline in the market price of lard. How far the farmer will go in reducing his stock of hogs by continuing this process is, of course, problematical, but, as The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter reasons, the decline in hog products may be expected to check the sale of hogs, or at least to cause him to await their fuller development. The result of these various influences may be expected to cause changes which are not at present clearly apparent. If the supply of hogs due to recent heavy shipments has been greatly depleted, and the lower prices for hog products continue for some time, comparatively few hogs will be sent to market, despite the high price of corn, when prices may be expected to again advance; but whether this will bring out a larger supply, though averaging heavier, remains to be seen. At any rate, it is hardly to be expected that prices for lard will reach the level of last year, and certainly not those of 1899, before the end of the present crop year.

WILL CONTINUE AS USUAL.

As J. G. Griffin & Co., Winnipeg, Man., have not received a satisfactory offer for the produce part of their business, they are going to continue it as usual, removing from their present quarters their offices on Bannatyne street and locating them in their packing and cold-storage warehouse on Louisa Bridge on January 1, next. Their present location on Bannatyne street has been leased to Walter Woods & Co., wholesale woodenware.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Smaller arrivals of western hogs are reported this week and the price has advanced 50c. They are now worth \$7.40 in carlots on the track. Partly in sympathy with the higher prices of live hogs, and partly on account of their light receipts, the prices of dressed hogs have gone up from 10 to 15c., and the range of quotations now is \$7.50 to \$7.75 per 100 lb. The venison season is practically over. In other lines there is no change. We quote: Venison carcasses bring from \$6 to \$8 per 100 lb.; saddles, \$8 to \$10 per 100 lb.; beef carcasses, \$5.50 to \$6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, \$6 to \$7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, \$5 to \$5.50 per 100 lb. Veal,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; lambs are steady at 5 to  $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. Live hogs: Selects, \$6, and lights \$5.75 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring \$4.75 to \$5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at \$4 to \$4.50.

In sympathy with the rise in dressed hogs, the cured meat prices are firm, with, perhaps, an upward tendency. Jobbers are doing a good trade in this line, and in lard. Fair receipts and good sales are in order in the latter line. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls,  $11\frac{1}{2}$ c.; medium hams,  $13\frac{1}{2}$ c.; large hams,  $12\frac{1}{2}$  to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs,  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, \$19.50; short cut, \$20 to \$21; lard, in tierces,  $10\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., tubs, 11c., and pails,  $11\frac{1}{4}$ c.

MONTREAL.

Supplies of pork have come forward and there is not that scarcity that was felt last week. The market is steadier than it was. We still quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, \$22.00; Chicago clear pork, \$23.25 for heavy and \$22.75 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, \$22.00 to \$22.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, \$2.25 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), \$2.00 for 1 to 24 pails; \$1.98 for 25 to 49 pails; \$1.97 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, \$1.72½ per pail; Cottolene,  $11\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 20 lb. pails, and  $10\frac{3}{4}$ c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In pork, the market is rather easier. There are fair sales. Considerable domestic mess pork is offered; by many it is preferred. Beef is unchanged. Pure lard is lower; also compound, but there is a fair sale.

WINNIPEG.

CURED MEATS—Smoked hams,  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c.; breakfast bellies and backs,  $14\frac{1}{2}$ c.; shoulders, 10c.; dry salt, long clear, 12c.; smoked long clear, 13c.; shoulders,  $9\frac{1}{2}$ c.; boneless backs,  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c.

LARD—Lard is lower, but at the present quotations are so conflicting it is not safe to quote.

HE COULDN'T READ HUMAN NATURE.

ROB HASSETT told the truth when he said he went for the whole hog or none. It didn't take a year for him to find out what he wanted. A glance however slight and the thing was done. So that morning when he went behind the counter and saw "that man Ford" at the next counter that was enough. At one glance he took the fellow all in, wrapped him up, labeled him and put him away as a cad; and that did the business for Ford so far as Rob Hassett was concerned.

The other clerks after looking over the new comer sized him up and put him down as a good enough fellow and went about their business, as they were in duty bound to do as respectable members of the clerking fraternity. Not so Hassett. "Hates any man the thing he would not kill?" and he proceeded at once to subject "Dandy Ford" to the tortures of an inquisition that could end only in death—as he, Rob Hassett, thought. There was nothing that was not pointed out; commented on and criticized. In the first place he had black hair and blue eyes. "Wherever you see that combination, boys, look out." He dressed too well for a man with $15 a week, and the money that paid for that suit, if it was paid for, had to come from somewhere.

"You can see he changes his collar every day because he is careful to put on a different style every morning; but here's dollars to doughnuts that he hasn't had on a clean shirt for a month. Noticed, I suppose, how he likes burnt coffee? Oh, mark my words, he's a duck!" and when Jim Jarvis, who had got tired of that sort of talk remarked anyway that he wasn't of the "quacking breed, anyway," the laugh that followed told Hassett that he didn't have the sympathy of that crowd, and he kept quiet and determinedly nourished his resentment.

In the meantime that man Ford kept right on in the even tenor of his way. His business was selling goods, the best he knew how and his daily account of sales was finding increasing favor at the office. "He doesn't seem to have any nonsense about him," remarked the head of the department one day. "He's been well brought up and had good schooling somewhere—college, I guess—and is a good man to keep track of. He's something of an athlete, I fancy and you'll notice, now I've spoken of it, that while he's in good condition he isn't fat. His hands are white but I've a notion that if he takes hold of a thing he holds it and if he wants to hit anything hard he does it the first time. I take him for a good all 'round man mentally, morally and physically, and I've a notion, too, that Hassett is going to find out some fine day what happens when he gets the wrong pig by the ear."

Strange to say Hassett formed opposite conclusions. He intentionally rubbed the fur the wrong way one day and because Ford did not care to get into a fuss, Hassett thought he had found Ford's vulnerable place and "went for him." He took every opportunity to make himself disagreeable. He called attention to what he considered Ford's peculiarity of dress—the cut of his hair, the manner of his walk; everything, in fact, that he could ridicule he did, until naturally the young fellow concluded he had had about enough. His fellow clerks thought so anyway and one day when he was passing by Miss Rockwood's counter she took occasion to say to him that she and the rest of the girls—and the men, too, for that matter—thought that a change in the programme would meet with favor.

The reply was characteristic: "He doesn't annoy me. It's like the idle wind which I regard not and then, too, this is no place to hurt him. Let him tire himself out. He'll stop then and I really don't think it's worth minding."

That's what Hassett thought, too, and when he saw the two talking together, he concluded he'd change his tactics. He'd tease Miss Rockwood about the "Dandy" and show him up to be the coward he was. He'd try it the first chance he had and, tickled almost to death with the idea, he waited for an opportunity to carry it out.

It happened the very next morning that Miss Rockwood improved the opportunity offered by the regulations for the clerking force to make purchases any time before eight. She had gone to Ford's counter, had made her purchase and was turning away when Hassett found it desirable to be there, too, and to make a remark that made Ford's face turn white and Miss Rockwood's red.

There was a spring over the counter, a gripping of a coat collar and a neck-band, the lifting lightly up and the bringing heavily down with a tremendous thump to the floor of a pair of elbows and knees, then a smart jerk to a vigorous and sudden standstill and then a voice with a not-to-be disobeyed command in it, said, with alarming distinctness, "Beg Miss Rockwood's pardon, you contemptible cur, before I break every bone in your body!"

There was just breath enough left in the craven's duty to do what had been required of it with the grip still on the collar and then, daring him ever again to insult another lady in that store, "Dandy Ford" gave him a shove that sent him caroming along the counters towards his place behind his own.

There could be but one result, and it took place immediately. Rob Hassett gathered himself together at the earliest moment and left the establishment by the way of the office. Rixford, the manager of the department, who had seen the whole affair, had his little blue envelope ready for him and out into the pitiless world the fellow went "a sadder and a wiser man."—Richard Malcolm Strong in Michigan Tradesman.

THE ART OF WINDOW DRESSING.

DIFFICULTIES IN WINDOW DRESSING TO BE OVERCOME.

WINDOW-TRIMMERS located in the country are wont to complain that suggestions contained in the columns of trade journals, which are in part intended for their benefit, are actually of no use to them because the carrying-out and elaborating of such suggestions would be expensive, and would consume too much time in preparation. It is further stated that small retailers doing business in the country cannot afford to be up to date in the matter of fixtures, backgrounds and other accessories which are essential to modern window trimming. Nor does the business done in small places justify the expense of frequently changing the backgrounds of their windows. In short, the country trimmer must content himself with very much less in every way than is considered a matter of positive necessity by his fellow-worker of the large city.

Not only is he thus restricted in his choice of fixtures and equipments, but he is without the stimulus to better work given him by observation of what others in his line are doing. In the city, a trimmer is surrounded with examples of the best work in his profession, and a short tour of his neighborhood sends him back to his windows full of fresh ideas, his artistic sense stimulated and made active by the work of others. That trimmers watch for and adopt each others' ideas is evident to the most casual observer. A new trim of fixtures once adopted by a smart shop is soon in use throughout the city. The obvious advantages of the city trimmer in this direction are, of course, unobtainable by his out-of-town confrere.

Not only does such observation stimulate imagination, but it also draws a trimmer's attention to faculty, taste and construction in his own work. It is a trait of human nature to quickly note the failures of others. One may often commit an error and be blissfully ignorant of it until the same mistake is made by someone else, when, from the point of view of the outsider, the mistake is at once apparent. So, for the reasons expressed in the foregoing paragraphs, it must be conceded that the work of the country trimmer is beset with certain difficulties which do not obtain in the city. Yet, these difficulties are not insuperable.

The prevailing method of modern window trimming consists of the skillful and tasteful arrangement of a very few articles arranged on fixtures which are remarkable for their elegant simplicity, rather than for size or for cost of the material used in their construction, and which are, in many cases, easily imitable by the most ordinary carpenter or mechanic. Nor is an expensive background necessary. A fresh background composed of simple and inexpensive material is far more effective than one of rich material which is old, shabby or badly draped.

Where the goods displayed are of sombre colors, as in displays of winter clothing, a background of light colors is necessary to show the goods up. Simple fixtures and extreme cleanliness of the window in its every detail are the only necessary accessories of an attractive and trade-bringing window.

The great trouble in a country store is that the window trimming is everybody's and therefore nobody's business. It is no one's especial care. The result of this lack of interest or responsibility on the part of any one worker in the store is, of course, painfully apparent. The glass is dirty and clouded, the fixtures soiled and broken, and the goods evidently thrown in anyhow, and sometimes coated with dust. The background is often too old and shabby. Sometimes there is no background. Can the country retailer in these days of convenient postal arrangements, of parcel delivery, and of easy and rapid transit to large cities, afford to so neglect his windows?

Residents of some country towns on visits to any large city cannot but compare the dirt and careless arrangement of the windows in the shops of such country towns with the elegance and spotless brightness of the city window displays. The articles shown in the windows of the country store may be of the same quality and are possibly offered at a less price than those displayed in the windows of the city shops. They may, indeed, have been bought of the same manufacturer. But do the persons who should be the natural customers of such a store know or believe this? Custom is lost for the sake of a dollar or two spent in new fixtures and a cake of soap for the windows.

If the goods on display are all right, very simple fixtures, and a very clean and well-arranged window will prove to be worth the trouble and small expense occasioned. A merchant in a large city can push his business by means of newspaper advertisements, by posters or billboards, and by many other recognized means of advertisement, besides his window displays. It is not so with the merchant located in the town where there is not a daily paper. His windows are his best advertising medium, the only way in which he can inform customers that it is unnecessary to go to town for, or to order by mail the articles which they need, which he has in stock and which he is in business to sell. There are certainly some small difficulties in the way of first-class window trimming in the country. But, they are not insurmountable. Were they so, the country retailer had better go out of business. With the aid of the units, and a few of the modern fixtures, and with a full understanding of the advantages to be derived from attractive window displays, the trimmer in the country should produce effects in no way inferior to any work which could be done by his city brother under similar circumstances. He should, at any rate, make an effort to do so. —Apparel Gazette.

JONAS' FLAVORING EXTRACTS

ever since they were first placed on the market, over thirty years ago, has been to ASSIST THE DEALER in readily disposing of them to his customers (no matter how difficult to please or economical they may be) and maintain the demand for them, in order that they yield him good returns. To produce this condition for the merchant it became absolutely essential to establish a reputation for our extracts among housekeepers and cooks, in order that they demand them from the retailer. We have attained this desired end by steadfastly maintaining their high standard of quality, which has been, and ever shall be, the basis for their popularity with the public in every part of Canada. We will continue to assist you, grocers, by remaining faithful to the confidence the ladies have placed in our goods. The Christmas season necessitates a great deal of cooking being done, and the busy housekeeper would thank you for recommending JONAS' FLAVORING EXTRACTS—they are economical, save much time and worry, and produce excellent results.

GELATINE AS A FOOD.

MRS. MARY HINMAN ABEL.

ONE of the most interesting chapters in the history of foods is connected with the varying estimate that has been put on the value of gelatine. Science, at every stage of its advancement for the last 200 years, seems to have tried its hand on gelatine, and given a dictum meant to be final. This history, therefore, furnishes one of the best illustrations of the mistakes and the successes that have attended the scientific study of food.

As long ago as 1682, Papin constructed the soup digester, still known by his name, in which, at a temperature considerably above the boiling-point of water, the gelatine part was extracted from bones, tendons and connective tissue. At this time, and even as late as the French Revolution, it was held that the soluble was synonymous with the nutritive, especially in the case of nitrogenous foods; hence, that soup made up of the flavoring matters of the meat, and the gelatine from bone and sinew, contained the full nutriment of the meat. The tastelessness of what remained after this process upheld the belief that it was worthless. Is not this very much what we read in our modern cook-books about soup stock and soup meat? And yet, in these 200 years, gelatine has passed through many vicissitudes; it has been considered a perfect food; then, no food, and even harmful; through good and evil report, it has come to our present place in our list of foods.

It was certainly very alluring, the idea of getting out of worthless bone and sinew this smooth, thick substance. It looked so nutritious that it must be so! Things are still taken for granted, rather than proved, let us remember. This gelatine was very conveniently cut up and distributed in the form of tablets, just so many to the bowlful, and in this form vast quantities were sold and given away, when, after the French Revolution, the Government was obliged to feed great numbers of the people.

It was in France that this new extracted food was most used, and the foremost scientists united in efforts to find cheap methods for making it. Whether they were as zealous in the use of soup tablets on their own tables, we are not told, but the bone gelatine was widely extolled as the best and cheapest food for the poor.

But, somehow, the people did not like this gelatine soup; it had no smell or taste, they said. And their benefactors, no doubt, sternly replied that the poor must not expect fine flavors. But, however, spiced and mixed, the soup did not become popular, and, as if growing a little doubtful themselves, the Philanthropic Society, in 1814, begged of the Medical Academy of Paris further assurance of the healthfulness and value of their bone soup, and the academy replied that gelatine was the most nourishing of all animal foods.

Then did the philanthropists harden their hearts, and the bone-soup edict went forth for all the public institutions of Paris. Many hospitals were put on this diet, and their patients, being helpless, were doubtless the greatest sufferers. In nine years from one hospital 2,750,000 portions were served, although, as the reports of the time tell us, the recipients were very rebellious.

These were the days of belief of the total depravity of human nature and all its instincts, when it was not supposed that natural tastes and desires could give any hints to theory. But when it became evident that even those who could be made to eat the soup were badly nourished on it, it had to be given up, whatever the scientists might say.

Meanwhile, eminent men were at work on the problem. In 1831 the first real experiments were made on dogs, and also on man, for the experimenter himself—one Donne—took, for seven days, only bread and dried gelatine, at the end of which time, he was obliged from weakness and hunger, to desist. The dogs, not being urged on by enthusiasm for science, soon refused to eat the mixture at all.

Two years later Balzac and Edwards very near hit the truth—that gelatine was a food only when mixed with other foods. But none of these early experimenters were careful enough in their methods to arrive at reliable results; but they did enough to upset the belief in gelatine as a food when used alone.

In this state of knowledge on the subject came the second Gelatine Commission in 1841, with whose report the great name of Magendie is connected. This seemed to give a final death-blow to gelatine as a food; but Magendie's work was full of mistakes, as it is now easy to see, and we can please ourselves with thinking how we should have done better where the wise man failed. He took for granted that the dislike of a dog for a certain food proved its worthlessness, and he did not hit on the truth that an animal cannot exist on any one article of food, however nutritious, for any length of time. Again, when his animals pined away in 80 or 90 days on a diet of meat, bread, and gelatine, he concluded too hastily that the gelatine was harmful, instead of proving by further experiments that it was the large quantity of gelatine used that upset the digestion of his patients.

The weak points in this work were soon found. Frerichs, afterwards Professor of Medicine in Berlin, made in 1845 a suggestion that shows the divining power of the true investigator. He said it was quite possible that animals pined away on this food—not because gelatine was present, but because certain organic or inorganic substances necessary to health were not present. Full determination of the value of gelatine as a food was reserved for men of our own quarter of the century. They have had at their service the best of modern methods, and, on this and other questions connected with nutrition, has been done some of the most remarkable scientific work of any time. Bischoff and L'Oit are the great names here, and their decision is that gelatine is "not a food, but a foodstuff," and that its use in a mixed diet is all a matter of quantity and proportion. Thanks to these and other investigators, we know also the probable use that the body makes of this, as well as of other foodstuffs.

L'Oit tells us that gelatine is very readily broken up and absorbed in the system—more easily broken up than proteid or fat—and so is able to take their place to a certain extent. But here comes in the question of proportion as most important; one-fourth of the necessary amount of proteid can be supplied by gelatine as a substitute, but not more. Some proteid is necessary, for, although gelatine can do some of the proteid work, it cannot do any building up of the body—as the muscles, for example. This body-building is the function of the proteid alone.

This touches upon questions of much economic importance. The expensive proteid part of the diet can be reduced to a certain limit; that is, with fats and carbohydrates and a little proteid, one can get on very well—that is, remain in full health and without loss of weight—by adding a certain amount of gelatine to the food, in which case it will do the work of the omitted proteid. This gelatine may be added to the food in the well-cooked tendons and connective tissue of meats, or in some of the many trade gelatines properly hydrated and flavored. That is to be settled by convenience or economy, but fully hydrated and well flavored it must be. Had the bone soup of a hundred years ago been mixed with some of the sapid meat extractives, it would, though not yet a perfect food, have met with no such stout resistance from the poor of Paris.

And what lessons are to be drawn from this long strife and its results? For one thing, that food mixed as nature mixes it is often beyond our skill and imitation. In the connective tissue and other gelatinous parts of flesh and blood, as it goes, we have the right proportion of gelatine to proteid substance, and so eaten it is digestible and nourishing. When either scientists or cooks separate our food into its constituents, and begin to dogmatize on insufficient knowledge as to its nutriment or digestibility, it is then we get into trouble. Many a cook of our own day is under the delusion that prevailed in Papin's time. She exults when the soup becomes a stiff jelly on cooling. She says, "It's so stiff and good," by which she means "so stiff, therefore good." But she has at the same time strained out nearly all the proteid matter, which alone can make the gelatine of her soup nourishing. If it is to be the first course of an ample dinner, other constituents of the food will make all right; but, if it is to be a principal food, as of the poor or the sick, the result will be mal-nutrition of the patient as a proof that nature's proportions have not been followed.—American Grocer.

TOBACCO IN IRELAND.

The experiments in tobacco culture conducted by the Department of Agriculture for Ireland have progressed so far that the Department is now offering for sale 1,000 lb. of Irish-grown roll tobacco, besides smaller quantities of plug, twist, cut Cavanish bird's-eye, cigar and cigarette tobaccos. The Department of Agriculture, when it was formed in April, 1900, undertook the experiments, and appointed a French tobacco expert to supervise them. Unfortunately, the 1900 experiments were vitiated by a month's delay in getting the seedlings, so that the tobacco now on sale will not really represent the best possible results of tobacco-growing in Ireland, and we must wait until the crop of the present year is manufactured before we can judge whether tobacco would be a profitable crop.

ONTARIO'S FRUIT BELT.

President James Mills, of Guelph, presided at the fall meeting of the Board of Control of the Fruit Experimental Stations of Ontario, which was held in the Toronto Parliament Buildings on November 27. From reports received it was made known that some of our very best varieties of apples can be grown on St. Joseph's Island, near Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Peaches, it was found, can succeed along the southern shores of the Georgian Bay, the fruit maturing and the trees standing the climate successfully. They have also forwarded several varieties of fruit trees to the pioneer farm at Dryden, in the Rainy River District, to be used for experimental purposes only. Testing stations are located in all the important belts of Ontario, and the whole work costs only $2,600 a year.

BACK FROM MANITOBA.

Mr. Shaw T. Nishimura, of the Japan Central Tea Traders' Association, Montreal, has just returned from a trip to Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. While in Winnipeg, he appointed Tees & Persse as his special Manitoba agents. He reports the business in Japan teas growing in that part of Canada.

SPANISH PEANUTS IN CAROLINA.

The News and Observer, Raleigh, N.C., publishes figures from representative farmers and business men of the nine counties in North Carolina raising Spanish peanuts. These figures show that the acreage planted this year was 10 per cent. more than last year, but that the yield of the crop per acre will be 26 per cent. less.

CANADA'S CHEESE SHIPMENTS.

ALTHOUGH this season's cheese shipments from Canada show a decrease when compared with those of last year, it does not follow that every year they will keep on decreasing. On the contrary, Canadian cheese has won a reputation for itself on the British market that will insure big demands, and, while the export figures for a given year may show a decrease or decline as the case may be, it does not indicate that the Canadian cheese is losing its hold on the Old Country consumers.

Turning to Canadian butter, it is most gratifying to find that in the same period of time its exports have considerably increased. Its fine flavor makes it a favorite on the market with both dealer and consumer, especially since the steamship companies have offered improved facilities in cold storage. Canadian creamery especially has such an excellent flavor, and can be so very cheaply laid down on the British market that it is becoming a dangerous competitor to other foreign productions which were formerly preferred by the English consumer. What would be of incalculable aid to the Canadian exporters in getting control of the Old Country markets would be the inauguration of a new Canadian fast Atlantic steamship line, fitted up with all the latest innovations in the line of cold storage. But there is one thing that is very hurtful to Canadian butter for the home markets, besides injuring it for the British markets as well, and that is the practice some of the farmers and dealers have of holding their products for higher prices. The result is that a good deal of butter loses its fine flavor and begins to spoil, so that large quantities have to be sold at once, flooding the market with inferior goods. In this way a good deal of money is lost.

A complete outfit, embodying the latest features in milling machinery, is being installed in the Arnprior roller mills, Arnprior, Ont.

AN EGG-PRESERVING PROCESS.

Mr. W. A. Ellis, chemist, of Stratford, N.Z., is the discoverer of a system of preserving eggs which he claims is going to revolutionize things a bit. It is known as the cold sterilizing process, the object of which is to enable eggs to be kept for any length of time in any climate. The cost of treating them is said to be from 4d. to 6d. per 1,000, and eggs from a week to 10 days old can be as effectually treated as new-laid eggs. Mr. J. G. Gow, Government Trade Commissioner, is taking a sample box of the eggs to England, being satisfied that the patent is a good thing, as he was able to eat an egg that had been treated by the process and afterwards kept lying about on a desk for months and handled by all who cared to take it up and examine it. A pretty good test, surely, and Mr. Ellis is to be congratulated upon so near an approach to a fortune. The best part of the invention seems to be its power of converting eggs 10 days old into fresh-laid ones!—Australian Grocer.

GROCERY WINDOW DRESSING

A TRIM TO CATCH THE HOUSEWIFE.

AS the time approaches for the Christmas trims, the question confronting the grocery window-trimmer is: "How am I going to trim my special windows?" The following suggestions may be of some aid in smoothing over the rough places:

For a general display of goods required for Christmas baking the following would on high glass fruit dishes fruits of different kinds; scatter lots of holly in the spaces around.

FOR A CONFECTIONERY TRIM.

The illustration No. 1 conveys an idea for a beautiful confectionery trim. The framework can be made very cheaply at any wood factory. It is wound with colored crepe paper. This can be got at any fancy goods store for about 15c. a roll of three rolled up. Attach one end of strip to your frame and then twist it and tack the other end. The bottom of window is puffed with mauve cheesecloth, and fancy plates filled with chocolates, etc., are arranged here and there about the floor. This trim will certainly be attractive. The colors of the paper are mauve and canary.

Another pretty trim could be made by arranging the crepe paper in curtain effect for a background for your window. Then get a lot of tissue paper, all colors, scissor this up into fine shavings and cover the whole floor of window with the shavings. Take pails of confectionery and around the outside of the pails arrange crepe paper, same as you sometimes see flower pots covered over with. Put a band of colored ribbon about each pole, and tie a bow on each. Have every pail a different color and yet have all the colors in harmony with each other. Arrange these well apart on the floor and in each place a price and descriptive card. This would make a neat, catchy trim for Christmas.

DISPLAY OF CANNED GOODS.

Illustration No. 2 is a display of "Heather" brand goods. This was a trim by Mr. John Ayre for the Robt. Simpson Co., Toronto. This display was one of the best grocery trims we have ever seen, and we congratulate Mr. Ayre on his success in making a trim of this kind.

A POULTRY AND VEGETABLE TRIM.

For a good trim for poultry and vegetables a good idea would be to have a lot

No. 1—A Confectionery Display.

make a neat trim: Get a lot of green moss festooning, arrange it about the background so as to take the bare look off the back of window, festoon it from the ceiling at different heights, hang a spray of holly with red berries here and there, and in this way you will have a neat top and back for your display. Wind a lot of barrel hoops with green moss and suspend them throughout the window, in each hoop place a large bunch of grapes. Cover the floor of window with pure white wrapping paper, then in front of the window near the glass arrange packages of gelatine or cornstarch or any oblong packages in the form of a square, make a row of these squares about 6 inches apart, fill in each square with some line of groceries required for the Christmas baking, such as currants, raisins, peels, nuts, etc.; place a neat price-card in each; between each square lay a small box of figs, scatter a twig of holly with red berries here and there; then get a board about 10 inches wide and length of your window, elevate this about 6 inches and cover with white wrapping paper, scatter holly pretty well over this, and on it arrange bottled jams, essences, salad dressings and bottled stuffs required for cooking; then behind this open up boxes of Valencia raisins, arrange these on the slant by elevating another board behind them; then on another elevation back of this arrange yards. This comes in all colors. The twisted rope effect, as seen in the cut, is made by taking a sharp knife and cutting the crepe paper into strips 1½ in. wide. Don't undo the roll, but cut it when it is of cranberries strung on a string (same as you would string beads). Have, say, 20 or 30 yards of these. Festoon them about your window, attaching sprays of holly about every foot apart. Cover the bottom of the window over with cedar twigs. Lay turkeys and chickens and geese about a foot apart, and in the spaces stand a bunch of celery and lettuce, radishes, etc.

TO AVOID FROSTED WINDOWS.

One of the most annoying things a grocer sometimes has in the winter, and especially around Christmas when his windows are a great factor in his business, is the sweating or frosting over of the window glass. The cause of this is that the warm air inside the store comes in contact with the cold glass, condensing the moisture into drops, which congeal upon the inside of the glass. Now, if the air on both sides of the window is the same, the window will not frost. To accomplish this the back of the window must be tightly closed, and holes from a quarter to half an inch in diameter bored through the sash at the bottom and top of the window. The holes should be about 18 inches apart and as close as possible to the window glass. This will give ample space for the air on the inside to circulate through the window and thus prevent frosting. There must not be any chance for the warm air in the store to get into the window. A further aid to prevent frosting is to give the glass a rubbing every few days with a rag dipped in alcohol or glycerine. H. H.

A TRIP TO THE WEST INDIES.

A guide book to the British West Indies has just been issued by Pickford & Black, the well-known steamship owners. It is entitled "A Trip to the British West Indies." It is profusely illustrated, is replete with information regarding the different islands, while the announcements of commission and general merchants it contains will be of particular interest to Canadian manufacturers and others who are desirous of doing business with the West Indies. Pickford & Black are to be congratulated upon their enterprise and good judgment, and it is to be hoped their efforts to increase Canada's trade with the West Indies will receive the encouragement they deserve. Those who have not yet received a copy of "A Trip to the British West Indies" should drop a card to Pickford & Black, Halifax, N.S., and secure one.

FAILURES IN CANADA.

For the month of October, 1901, the business failures in Canada show a decrease of 21, with a decrease of $216,244 in the value of assets and $423,034 in the amount of liabilities over October, 1900. In October of this year the failures numbered 104, with assets of $187,836 and liabilities of $416,643, while for the same month last year the failures were 125, with assets of $404,060 and liabilities of $884,677.

THE LATE HARRY C. SMYTH.

WE are called upon once more to announce the death of a well-known and highly-respected commercial traveller in the person of Harry C. Smyth, of London, Ont., who has for some time represented The Empire Tobacco Co. in Western Ontario. Many of the merchants on whom he called will regret to hear this sad news, for Harry's kindly disposition and sterling character made him many friends.

He was the second son of John B. Smyth, of London, one of the old time grocers, who will keenly feel the loss of an affectionate and dutiful son. He was also a brother of J. F. Smyth, wholesale grocer, of Windsor.

The Late Harry C. Smyth.

The funeral took place on Thursday, November 14, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and many were the expressions of sorrow and regret made by his host of personal friends who looked upon his kindly face for the last time. The pallbearers were his three brothers, John L., Roscommon, Mich.; James F., Windsor; Frank E., Culver, Indiana; and Messrs. C. J. Wall, Windsor; F. E. Leonard, London, and Henry Sells, St. Thomas.

On October 31, 1900, the total amount of Dominion notes circulating in Canada was $28,113,000, while on October 31, 1901, the total was 30,473,600, which is an increase of $1,114,000 for the month and of $2,460,000 for the year.

BIG MILL AT GODERICH STARTS.

LAST week the big mill of the Lake Huron and Manitoba Milling Co., Goderich, Ont., commenced work after a long rest, during which it was extensively improved in the way of alterations, additions and new machinery.

The elevator has been greatly improved and enlarged, so that it now has a capacity of 8,000 bushels of wheat per hour. It measures 50 x 110 ft., and its cupola has been extended by an addition 14 x 73 ft., 14 ft. high, which will increase its storage capacity by 40,000 bushels.

The mill itself has been extended by the addition of a new boiler-house, 50 x 60 ft., 22 ft. high, built entirely of brick and cement. It contains three Heine water-heaters, which together furnish steam for a 500-horse power engine, which has been improved by the addition of a new piston rod, new valves and a new steam cross head. The main building has been greatly improved by the addition of new floors throughout, and the shafting has also been rearranged and renewed throughout. The grinding floor contains 25 new double stands (10 x 36 rolls), while the sifting-floor contains four of the most improved sifters, which are the largest of their kind ever made, each one of which has a capacity daily of 400 barrels. The reel-floor and attic also have been fitted up with all the latest machinery of the most improved pattern.

The capacity of the mill is 1,200 barrels of flour daily.

This mill is now the property of the Lake Huron and Manitoba Milling Co., with headquarters at Goderich. This concern is formed of Canadians, James Clark being president, Alex. S. McGaw, manager, and Robert McGaw, chief miller.

A. G. BAIN FITTINGLY HONORED.

At an enthusiastic smoker, held in the Board of Trade rooms, Hamilton, on November 27, under the auspices of the Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association, a pleasant surprise was in store for their popular president, A. G. Bain, who was presented with a handsome gold-headed cane by Adam Ballantyne on behalf of the association. Mr. Bain gave voice to his pleasure and surprise in a feeling speech.

Before Judge Morson, of the Division Court, Toronto, George Winston, a butter and egg dealer, sued Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, relatives of his by marriage, for $20.48 for goods supplied. A contra claim was presented and some very contradictory evidence given, but Wilson's counter claim was dismissed and a judgment of $17.28 was given against him.

MR. H. A. BOYCE, representing Hanchell & Co., Barbados, was in Halifax for a day or two last week, and called for an hour's chat with The Merchant about trade between Canada and the West Indies. Previous to his arrival in Halifax, Mr. Boyce had visited a large number of lumber, fish and potato shippers throughout New Brunswick, and from Halifax he proceeded to the Annapolis Valley and around the western shore of this Province. The firm of Hanchell & Co. conduct a ship brokerage and commission business and are well and favorably known to the majority of vessel-owners, both in the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland. They have handled small quantities of Canadian flour, and expect in the future to handle more. Mr. Boyce reports the outlook in Barbados as fairly encouraging, despite the fact that sugar is lower to-day than ever before in the history of the Island. The last crop for export was 65,000 tons, about 15 per cent. more than the average of several previous years, so that the lower price did not have as disastrous an effect as if the output had been merely normal. Mr. Boyce expressed the opinion that it was much too early to speculate on next year's conditions, and said that before the Barbados crop is ready to ship a considerable advance in values might take place. He says the Barbados people are just as anxious as ever to increase their trade with Canada, if our exporters will only see to it that we give them the right kind of goods. The bulk of their purchases go to New York, but, with the present communication afforded by the Pickford & Black steamers sailing fortnightly from Halifax, only lack of enterprise can prevent Canada from getting a larger share of the business.—Maritime Merchant.

SUGAR BEETS IN VICTORIA COUNTY.

On November 28 a deputation, headed by James Keith, Wm. Channon, Geo. Payne, Johnston Ellis and T. Stewart, waited on the Victoria County Council in session at Lindsay, Ont., and asked for a grant of $300 to enable them to secure a man to go around and canvass the farmers to secure a guarantee that at least 5,000 acres of sugar beets would be put in cultivation, that a sugar factory might be established there.

It was pointed out that very favorable conditions existed in that county for the growth of these beets, Lindsay ranking third in the list of 12 towns which the Government had selected as centres in the Province in order that tests might be made, and, only for the unfavorable weather which existed this season, it might have ranked even higher. The yield was found to be from 15 to 21 tons to the acre of a beet yielding a high percentage of sugar, and the price that would be received is in the neighborhood of $4 per ton. Water and suitable limestone were found to be abundant. To secure a guarantee of a sufficient acreage being put under crop, the method they would pursue would be to canvass the farmers, and hold meetings in the school-houses where the names could be secured.

The warden of the county stated that this important matter under discussion would be considered, and, on motion, it was referred to the standing committee on finance and assessment.

According to John Schwartz, grain merchant, Actona, Man., there is a complete blockade of grain at the latter place, he himself having over 50,000 bushels on hand. There are no cars obtainable to remove this surplus. Threshing there has been completed and the farmers report that the district never had a better yield which makes business good for the merchants.

AN EGG INSPECTOR WANTED.

A DEPUTATION consisting of Messrs. D. N. Loynachan, chairman; Wm. Meldrum, of Wm. Meldrum & Son, and John A. Gunn, of Gunn, Langlois & Co., Montreal, representing two of the largest egg-exporting houses in Canada, and P. W. McLagan, representing the Montreal Board of Trade, waited upon the Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, Mr. Parmalee, at Ottawa the other day, and presented a petition praying for a change in the commercial law whereby a Montreal egg inspector can be appointed to fulfil duties similar to those performed by the grain, apple, cheese and butter inspectors at that port. From all accounts, the deputation seem to have been eminently successful in impressing their views upon the Deputy Minister, and they are confident that the Government will take action upon the matter, providing a salary for this position.

An egg inspector would be useful in many ways, the chief of which would be his wholesome influence upon our export trade. He could form grades of eggs according to which English merchants could buy with perfect security and without running the risk of being imposed upon as they have been on different occasions by unscrupulous shippers. On account of such security, greater confidence would be placed in Canadian eggs on the British market, and their relative value would be enhanced.

At present our future egg trade in that country is in peril. Four or five years ago there was not half the competition that Canadian shippers have to contend with to-day, with even such countries as Egypt and Russia struggling for a place on the market. Canada is farther away from England than any other source of supply, and our steamship service is none too speedy. Certainly, we are at a disadvantage, and it will only be by the most strenuous exertions that our exporters will hold the trade they have won. We must be careful that we make our eggs as reliable as they can be made; there is room for improvement. A standard "Montreal Inspected" egg would help us.

There would be many duties at the wharf to which an inspector could attend. He could see that eggs were shipped in heavy enough cases, which at present they are not in every instance.

It is expected also that if a competent egg inspector were appointed, who could be called in as arbitrator in any case of dispute, the quality of eggs coming forward from the country would be improved. As it is now, the country collectors do not seem to realize what a lot of small and poor stuff they ship in, as exporters seem content to stand the abuse, having no tribunal to appeal to. Having a third impartial party to make a valuation, the importance of sending freshly-gathered eggs to Montreal would be brought forcibly to their notice. In this way the quality of eggs going forward ought to be raised several grades.

Lastly, the convenience of having an inspector in Montreal and the ability to secure an inspection ought to draw trade to the Canadian port. In the interests of Canadian trade and Canadian commerce, we hope that the demands of our shippers will be acceded to.

HEAVIER SALES OF SEEDED RAISINS.

ONE of the features of this year's dried fruit sales has been the increased favor shown to seeded raisins. We understand that the sales of this package raisin already total twice the amount sold throughout last season, and the probability is that a number of cars will still be wanted.

And there is much to justify this growing public favoritism. To seed the raisin enhances the cost of it from 2½ to 3c. per lb., considering the pound of seeded raisins equal to the pound of unseeded. But in reality the consumer who buys a pound of seeded raisins gets more weight than she who buys a pound of the unseeded, for, in the latter case, the seeds must be imported, weighed, and bought.

But it is not to escape paying for the seeds that the housewife favors the seeded raisin, it is rather to get out of the trouble of doing the seeding herself. There is no doubt she finds the process a torture, and once she discovers someone who can do the work for her at a slight cost, she will gladly hand over the duty. This summer the prices of seeded raisins were reduced to force the goods in the home; to-day the advertising is bearing fruit.

There is one consideration the retail grocer should not lose sight of, and that is, he loses nothing in the handling of the seeded raisin, as he often does in handling the bulk goods. There is no shrinkage in weight and no danger of him buying less than he pays for. At least, if he does so, the loss falls on the consumer, not on him. He makes so much margin on each package, and it is the simplest matter for him to calculate his profit. Many people think that the seeded raisin is the coming raisin. It seems to be the only Californian raisin selling this year in any quantity.

CHEAP CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.

The condition of affairs on the local market in regard to Californian raisins is just about the same as it was in Valencia raisins before the new season's fruit came to hand, namely, there are quite a few sellers who are willing to take almost any price in order to dispose of their stocks. Judging from present conditions, very few Californian raisins will be imported into Canada this season.

COMBINATIONS FOR CANNED GOODS PACKERS.

IN another column we reproduce, by request, an article from The Canner and Dried Fruit Packer advocating the formation of a combination among the canners in the United States.

The chief foundation upon which our contemporary rests its case is that the industry "is altogether dependent on the whims of Nature."

Undoubtedly the industry is greatly "dependent on the whims of Nature." But, after all, what industry is not directly or indirectly? The greatest of all industries, that of farming, is certainly "dependent on the whims of Nature." The fact that fat years are followed by lean years, and vice versa, places that beyond all question.

We have in the canned goods industry itself this season a striking evidence that Nature has her whims. Throughout this continent, as everyone in the trade knows, Nature has permitted only a small yield of nearly everything the canner puts up. But while Nature has been sparing as to yield she has put into force the law of compensation in the shape of prices, which are in keeping with the size of the pack. Of course, speaking for Canada alone, the syndicate has to some extent regulated both the pack and the price.

Our contemporary says that "the canners have no fault to find with their vocation when everything works smoothly and nearly as planned; it is a satisfactory business when all is right." And in order to keep it right advances the combination theory. It does not, however, specify what manner of instrument the combination shall be.

The packers in Canada have tried several so-called combination schemes. And they have not yet hit upon the particular kind that would overcome the whims of Nature and keep the trade in the ideal condition of "right," although they have sought the desideratum with much patience and labor for half a generation. The present syndicate scheme of which so much was expected, will not, we are told by the packers, exist after the present season closes. And at the meeting of the Packers' Association held in Toronto a couple of weeks ago, the greater part of two days was taken up in trying to devise some scheme to take its place.

One of the difficulties in the way of permanent and successful combinations of which we are often reminded is the unfaithfulness of members who are party to them. But, even if that difficulty could be overcome, there would still be the "whims of Nature" to reckon with. It is true that Joshua is on record as having made the sun to stand still at his command. But no human being since then has ever been able to score against Nature with any degree of success. Nature is powerful as well as whimsical.

But, after all, is there not too much often charged to the whims of Nature? Unhesitatingly we say there is. A whim is defined by Webster as "a sudden start or turn of the mind; a freak; a fancy; a capricious notion; a humor." But while Nature has her whims, they are not her predominating characteristic. We have more regular than irregular seasons, just as we have more sunshine than cloud.

We are afraid that the unsatisfactory conditions which occasionally crop up in the canned goods industry are more often due to the whims of the packers themselves than to the whims of Nature. When, for example, some of them slaughter prices, neglect to exercise proper care in putting up the goods, or fail to employ proper business methods.

FALSIFYING A TREATY.

Years ago—30 or more—we had a reciprocity treaty with Canada. Canucks then used to come to Troy, buy a stove for a pattern, take it up to Canada and make hundreds of others to look like it. These duplicated stoves were altogether inferior, but the casual purchasers did not know that. The stoves were shipped into the United States free of duty and undersold the better home-made article. Of such reciprocity with Canada we have had more than enough.—Troy Budget.

THIS is a sample of the all-too-much nonsense that is appearing in the columns of the press. The reciprocity treaty of 1854 had no more to do with the trade in stoves than the Crimean War had to do with the creation of the treaty.

Under the treaty between Canada and the United States each country agreed to admit, duty free, certain specified articles. These were breadstuffs, provisions, live animals, fruits, fish, poultry, hides and skins, furs, stone, ores and metals, timber and lumber, unmanufactured cotton, flax and hemp, and unmanufactured tobacco.

If the editor of The Troy Budget can see stoves in that list his eyesight must be of a most peculiar type. If he had been as desirous of telling the truth as he was of scoring a point, he would, first of all, have examined the list of articles which the treaty embraced.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE.

NO Presidential message to Congress has been awaited with more interest for a number of years than that of President Roosevelt. The first message of a man of his individuality could scarcely fail to create anticipations more than usually keen. But what, perhaps, most accentuated the interest were his expected references to the questions relating to reciprocity, the trusts and the Anarchists. And, true to expectations, not one of these subjects has been neglected.

In regard to anarchy, he is particularly outspoken. And, in view of the wounds which have been inflicted upon his nation by the evil, he could scarcely be otherwise. Anarchy, he well describes as a crime against the whole human race, and should therefore be dealt with by international treaties.

In what he said in regard to trusts there was nothing new, for he only emphasized the views he expressed from time to time before he was called upon to occupy his present exalted position. In a word, he believes that in the interest of the public the Government should have the right to inspect and examine the workings of the great corporations engaged in interstate business. There are a great many people who advocate the prohibition of trusts. But their doctrines are neither practical nor just. President Roosevelt's suggestion is the only practical and just one.

What interests Canadians most in President Roosevelt's message is the reference to reciprocity. Like his lamented predecessor in office, he recognizes that something along the line of tariff modification is demanded, but, like the manufacturers who assembled the other day in Washington, he is evidently trying to make himself believe that the United States can persuade the nations to exchange something for nothing.

President Roosevelt's remarks regarding reciprocity are not likely to give much hope to those who are champions of the principle.

THE DOMINION WHOLESALE GROCERS' GUILD.

The Annual Meeting and Banquet in Montreal.—Ald. H. Laporte the New President.

THE Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild held a successful series of meetings in Montreal on Tuesday of this week. The annual business sessions were held in the council room of the Board of Trade, both morning and afternoon, and many matters of vital interest were fully and properly discussed. The following delegates were present from outside points:

THE CANNED GOODS SYNDICATE.

The day sessions were private, but gossip has told us of some of the matters discussed. The first was the position of the wholesalers on the canned-goods question and it was unanimously decided that the Dominion Syndicate was, from the wholesalers' point of view, the Dominion "Skindicate." A committee (of one) was appointed to interview the canners on the matter to see if some better arrangement could not be arrived at. It was felt that the 60 per cent. clause was unreasonable and unjust, placing the wholesaler on either of two horns of a dilemma. If the canners wish to protect themselves, it was felt they should forbear from quoting prices till at least a fair estimate could be gained of the probable pack and how much each canner would be able to supply.

A request came up from the wholesalers of the west for shorter time allowances and better discounts, but as the datings and discounts vary all over the Dominion it was felt The Dominion Guild could not take any action.

Insolvency legislation was fully discussed and the need of a Federal insolvency law will be impressed upon the Dominion Government by a strong resolution which was passed. It will be laid before the Premier, the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

THE NEW OFFICERS.

New officers elected are as follows:

President—Ald. H. Laporte, Montreal.
First vice-president—Lieut.-Col. J. I. Davidson, Toronto.
Second vice-president—Mr. H. C. Beckett, Hamilton.

In the evening a banquet was tendered the visiting delegates by their Montreal confreres. The preparations had been placed in the hands of Mr. Albert Hebert, and in accordance with his fixed principles he provided only the best. The tables were spread in the club-room at the Windsor Hotel, and the most sumptuous menu provided by that hotel was served. An orchestra was in attendance and enlivened the proceedings during the early part of the evening; during the latter part no orchestra was needed for there was song and speech and story enough to make everyone merry. Nearly all the visiting delegates were present and there were also the following wholesale grocers of Montreal: H. Laporte, J. B. A. Martin, Jos. Ethier, H. Delorme, J. A. Martin, of Laporte, Martin & Co.; S. J. Carter, of Carter, Galbraith & Co.; D. L. Lockerby, of Lockerby Bros.; Albert Hebert, Zephirin Hebert, Leandre Brault, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie.; L. E. Geoffrion, Armand Chaput, L. O. Demers, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie.; D. C. Brosseau, of D. C. Brosseau.

There also sat down Messrs. J. Stanley Cook, Secretary Montreal Guild; E. H. Cooper, "The Canadian Grocer."

E. Duquette and E. Lebel were singers, and Emery Lavigne, accompanist.

Messrs. Lebel and Duquette are Montreal's two best singers and in fact it may be said that they are unexcelled in Canada, the former as a tenor, the latter as a basso. Their renditions were superb and formed one of the most pleasing features of the evening, particularly the duet taken from Faust.

It was down on the cards that there was to be no speech making, that the affair was to be informal, but when justice had been done to the dinner, toast after toast, was proposed, honored and responded to and before the gathering adjourned many pleasant and interesting things had been said.

President Carter, of the Montreal Guild, was in the chair and after the toast to "The King" had been enthusiastically received Mr. Duquette sang "Rule Britannia," taking his seat amid rounds of applause.

THE LATE MR. GILLARD.

Mr. Carter then proposed a toast to "The new Officers." In doing so he said: "We miss one here to-night whose face in the past has been familiar, one whom we had learned to respect and to love, our late president, Mr. W. H. Gillard. Let us stop a moment and honor his memory." After a pause, he went on with his toast. "We are especially honored to have one of our best citizens of Montreal as next president of The Dominion Guild. He is well known in the west but I assure you he is better appreciated in Montreal, where he is better known. ("No. No." And "He's a daisy.") "Col. Davidson we are all delighted to have as our vice-president, for he brings sunshine wherever he goes." Mr. Beckett was also eulogized.

ALD. LAPORTE'S HAPPY REMARKS.

Ald. Laporte—"Gentlemen. It is a great honor to me to answer this toast. I am one of those who have taken a deep interest in the Guild for years past, but I never expected to be honored with such a reward. I feel to-night to be one of a happy family of Canadian grocers. I am glad to see before me members of the trade, not only of Quebec and Ontario, but I appreciate still more the presence of the gentlemen from the Maritime Provinces. If we have not the other distant members it is not because we have not their good wishes." He showed how the Canadian grocers worked in concert in being able to accomplish so much in such a short time. "I do not expect to be able to do as well as Mr. Carter has done to-night, but with such strong support as I have in the subsidiary offices I have no hesitancy in taking over the duties."

A BENEFICIAL MEETING.

Col. Davidson—"I don't see how you can expect me to speak after eating such a dinner. I wish I could tell you how I appreciate the kind reception of the Montreal members; but I hope that Mr. Beckett, with the gift of speech of an Irishman, will be able to acquit himself in this particular better than I. I feel very keenly that our meeting to-day has been extremely beneficial. It has promoted good friendship and has rubbed off those rough edges created by business."

MR. BECKETT'S ANECDOTES.

Mr. Beckett also replied in a happy strain. "This meeting to-day reminds me of a little boy, the son of a grocer, who was puzzling his head over a problem in arithmetic. Suddenly he looked up at his father, and asked:

"Father, how many make a million?"
"D—few," answered the father.

Other stories he recited also and concluded by thanking the Montreal confreres for their very kind reception and by hoping that the time would come when the grocers of the west could reciprocate.

MR. CARTER IS REMINISCENT.

Mr. Carter then grew reminiscent and traced the growth of The Dominion Guild. He showed how it had grown out of competition between the different parts of the country, and concluded that competition was the life of trade. "If it were not for friendly rivalry we would not find ourselves around this festive board to-night. This is an object worthy of accomplishment to produce the best that is in us. We grocers have produced some of the best men in the Dominion. We are more than hucksters; we are destined to a high calling and I believe we are friends in all sincerity. It is a great honor for me to preside over representatives of guilds from all over Canada except Manitoba and the Northwest. As grocers, we have a great business to foster and a great life-work to perform. Let us then drink to the toast, 'Sister Associations.'"

QUEBEC NOT BEHIND THE TIMES.

Mr. Miller, of Whitehead & Turner, Quebec, responded. "I am sorry that there are not more of these meetings for I be-

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the wholesale trade this week, as far as prices are concerned, is the advance of  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. in both laundry starches and corn syrup, due to the enhanced price of corn. Business in seasonable lines of wholesale groceries is good, and reports generally in regard to business are satisfactory. Naturally at this time of the year very little attention is being given to canned goods of any kind. Coffees are quiet, but prices remain high. Peas are attracting a little more attention, although transactions are still only small. An active business is being done in currants, raisins, prunes, nuts and figs. The scarcity of Valencia raisins is still pronounced, although some small lots have come forward since last week. The currant market is cabled firm from Greece. There is a seasonable demand for spices. The demand for sugars is keeping up well, and the tone of the market is rather better than it was.

CANNED GOODS.

Nothing new has developed in canned goods of any kind during the past week, although, if anything, a little more business has been done in canned vegetables, the price of which remains steady at 82½ to 85c. for tomatoes, and 80c. up for corn and peas. Fruits are meeting with just a moderate demand, at $1.75 to $1.90 for peaches, $1.60 to $1.75 for strawberries, and $1.60 to $1.80 for raspberries. Canned fish of all kinds is rather quiet. The ruling prices for salmon are still as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for 5 case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; Cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15. Practically nothing is being done in canned meats.

COFFEES.

Although stocks in most importers' hands on this market are low, the high prices which are prevailing in the primary markets are preventing operations. The demand on retail account is also quiet. We quote Rio coffee as follows: No. 7, 8c.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. Mild grades of coffee are steady and unchanged.

CANDIED PEELS.

There is a large business being done this week in candied peels, and some good values are being shown. We quote: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

Business is fairly good, and prices are, on the whole, steady. The demand is chiefly for walnuts, filberts, and almonds; the ruling quotations are as follows: Grenobles, 10¾c.; Marbots, 9½c.; Bordeaux, 8c.; and filberts, 9 to 9½c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Business is steady in rice, and there is a fairly good movement in tapioca. The wholesalers are experiencing a shortage in sago, but shipments are nearly to hand.

See pages 35 and 36 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

The ruling prices are: Tapioca, 3 to 4¼c.; sago, 4½ to 5c.; B rice, 3¼c.; Japan rice, 5½ to 6c.

SPICES.

There is a fairly good business being done, and the outside markets rule steady.

SUGAR.

The beet market in Europe has shown a slight decline of 1½d. for the week, the quotation now being 7s.2¼d., but this price is still above the parity of centrifugals in New York, and will have to decline further before American refiners would be interested buyers. Large sales of Demerara centrifugals—in all about 29,000 tons, of which 25,000 tons are for the United States and 4,000 tons for Halifax—are reported. All cane sugars now coming forward would be taken at the firm price of 3¾c., but not many are obtainable except at higher figures. The receipts of raw sugar in the United States last week were again light, being only 13,866 tons, while the meltings were 19,000 tons. The total stocks in the four United States ports at the end of last week were 148,000 tons, against 57,850 tons the same time last year. The demand for refined sugar in New York has been fair during the past week for this time of the year, and prices are firmly held. Willett & Gray, in their report, say that the indications point to a steady market for refined sugars, without important changes for the present. In the Western United States markets there was a decline at San Francisco of 10 points, while New Orleans refined advanced 10 points to the same basis as at New York, and granulated on the Missouri River advanced 13 and 25 points. Business on the local market has been fairly good during the past week, and, taking it all around, it is, perhaps, a little better than it was at the time of our last review. Prices are still on the basis of $4.10 f.o.b. Montreal for Redpath and St. Lawrence granulated, and $4.05 for Acadia. Yellows run from $3.35 for No. 1 up to $3.65 for No. 5 f.o.b. Montreal.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The price of corn syrup has been advanced ¼c. per lb. in barrels, half barrels, and kegs, and 10c. on pails. The quotations are now: Barrels, 3½c.; half barrels, 3¾c.; quarter-barrels, 3¾c.; pails, 38½-lb., each $1.60; pails, 25 lb., each $1.20. Very little is being done in syrups, and the higher prices on corn syrups are checking the demand for them. Molasses is moving fairly well at 23c. and upward for New Orleans, and 32c. for Barbados.

TEAS.

The recovery from the slight easiness of two weeks ago of Indian and Ceylon teas on the London market has continued, and mail advices, under date of November 22, say that moderate offerings of Indian tea had the effect of further steadying the market, while competition was more general, and all grades showed firmness, although no actual rise could be quoted. In regard to Ceylon teas the advices state that the slightly improved tone previously noted was further accentuated, competition being more pronounced with a tendency to higher prices, especially for the lower grades, which were here and there slightly dearer. Medium teas were occasionally irregularly cheaper. The export demand, the advices went on to say, is becoming a very important factor in the market and suitable teas for this trade are generally well supported.

Locally, there has been a little more inquiry for Indian and Ceylon teas, particularly for good medium flavory descriptions. Importers here are beginning to realize that they have got to pay higher prices, and, as a result, from  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1d. per lb. higher has been paid than buyers were willing to concede a week ago. This is particularly for teas which sell at about 7d. London samples of tea have little attraction here just now, as spot teas can be bought cheaper. China green teas are still scarce and wanted, with prices high. Japan teas are firm, but very little is being done.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Cables from Greece on Monday reported the market firm and active at the last quotations. Transactions on importation account at present are naturally light. Wholesalers are experiencing a good demand. Ruling quotations are: Fine Filiatras, 6c.; Patras,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 7c.; Vostizzas,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The scarcity of Valencia raisins is still most pronounced, although there have been some small shipments received, but they are readily absorbed. Some houses report that they are oversold. There is quite a little fruit on the way, however, and it is expected that some of it will be too late for the Christmas trade. Houses which have been quoting slightly lower than others have this week advanced their figures, and  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. now represents the lowest quotation reported for selected raisins, while for fine off-stalk the idea is  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 6c.

MALAGA RAISINS—There is a fair business being done, and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote as follows: Black baskets, $2.25; "Empire Clusters," $2.60; "Dehesa Clusters," $3.10; "Excelsior Clusters," $4.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.10; "Extra Dessert Clusters," $3.35; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $5.

PRUNES—There is a large business being done in prunes this week. Some houses have Bosnia prunes arriving this week. We quote Californian prunes: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{4}$ c.; 80-90's,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 7c.; 70-80's,  $6\frac{3}{4}$  to  $7\frac{1}{4}$ c.; 60-70's,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; 40-50's,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  to 10c. French, 100's,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 4c.

FIGS—There is a good business being done in all kinds of figs, the ruling prices are: Tapnets,  $3\frac{1}{4}$ c.; mats,  $3\frac{3}{8}$ c.; while Elemes range all the way from 8 to 18c., according to brand and quality.

SULTANA RAISINS—Business is just moderate, and the ruling prices are 8,  $10\frac{1}{2}$ , 12, and  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS—Very few Californian raisins are likely to be brought on here this season, but some of the houses have stocks of last year's growth in their warehouses, which they are very anxious to dispose of. Quotations, consequently, are purely nominal, as the holders will be very glad to sell at less than cost.

DATES—There is moderate business at $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{3}{4}$ c. for Hallowees, and  $4\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. for Sairs.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—A fair business is being done for this time of the year. We quote in 25-lb. boxes as follows: Apricots, 13 to 16c.; peaches, 11 to 13c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

A limited quantity of apples are now selling at $5 per bbl., but the majority that are offered bring from $3.50 to $4.50. A shipment of Mexican oranges has come, and that fruit is now more plentiful, with prices 25c. per case lower than last week. Several cars of Valencia oranges are due here in about a week or 10 days' time, and they are now being quoted at $4.50 to $4.75 on the road. Next Monday will see the arrival of a consignment of Californian navel oranges which are on the way, and their prices will probably be from $3.75 to $4 per case. Lemons are more plentiful, but the movement in some quarters is not as brisk as expected. Pears are no longer being offered, and there are no Cape Cod or Nova Scotian cranberries on the market, the only line selling being the budded long-keepers, which are firm at $9 to $9.50 per bbl. Malaga grapes are plentiful, and are a little easier. Messina lemons are 25c. lower. We quote as follows: Apples, $3.50 to $5.00 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Malaga grapes, $6 to $6.50; Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5 per bbl., or $3.50 to $4 per box; Florida oranges, $3.75 per box; Mexican oranges, $2.50 to $3 per box; Californian lemons, $3.50 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; cranberries, budded, long-keepers, $9 to $9.50 per bbl.; pineapples, 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

Potatoes are still very scarce. There has been a lot of dry rot amongst this season's stock, and shippers have been holding back in consequence. Turnips are slow, while Hubbard squash continue scarce. There is no change in prices. We quote: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 40 to 50c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; watercress, mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.; cabbage, 25 to 40c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 80c. per bag; egg plant, 30 to 35c. per basket; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each; vegetable marrow, 10 to 20c. each; pumpkins, 10 to 25c. each; citrons, 10 to 15c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is a good demand for eggs, and prices remain firm. Although the price for fresh eggs is very high, being from 23 to 24c. per doz., there are hardly any being offered. Fresh-gathered sell at 18 to 20c.; cold stored, 17 to 18c., and limed, 16 to 17c. per doz.

BEANS—Are quiet and prices are unchanged. We quote: Choice handpicked, $1.70 to $1.75; prime, $1.50 to $1.60.

HONEY—A quiet demand with a plentiful supply of honey is reported. Prices remain the same as heretofore. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins,  $9\frac{1}{4}$ c.; less quantities, 10c. per lb.; in combs, \$2 to \$3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—The season's trade in dried apples has hardly started, and not many inquiries have yet been made. Evaporated apples still sell at 9c. in cartons and 10c. in less quantities. Dried apples range from 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—The supply of potatoes is poor, and there is room for several carloads. The prices are firm at 60c. per bag on the track, and they retail out at 80c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The bulk of the arrivals of large rolls of butter is of poor quality, being tainted with feed in most cases. Good butter is what is wanted. Prices are unchanged with creamery solids a little firmer. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints sell at 20 to 21c., and creamery solids, 20c. per lb.

CHEESE—The prices are the same as before with a quiet movement. A more hopeful feeling is felt, both here and in Montreal and it is expected that prices will take a jump before long. We quote: Cheese,  $9\frac{1}{4}$  to  $9\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—Last week a good demand for turkeys set in just before Thanksgiving Day, and dealers were able to get rid of a good deal of their surplus stock. The cold weather of this week ought to increase the arrivals, which are said to be fair. The prices are steady. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6 to  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; turkeys, 7 to 9c.

LIVE POULTRY—The receipts of live poultry have been so large as to cause difficulty in the handling thereof, and dealers have ceased to supply crates to shippers to allow them to get rid of the surplus stock. It is stated that the poultry this year were never before in so good a condition. The prices are unchanged. The Canadian Produce Co., 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, 5c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last

5. The only wild fowl that were selling were a few bluebills at 40 to 50c.FISH AND OYSTERS.

The movement continues good, but will not be at its height till the middle of January. Ciscos are still scarce, haddock ½c. lower and finnan haddie has also dropped ½c. The other prices are the same as they were last week. We quote:
Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 14c.;
sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; her-

$1.25; finnan haddie, 7½ to 8c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitch cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to
5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.;
shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes,
4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb.
Oysters—Standards sell at $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects,
$2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The boom on the Chicago markets has made itself felt here in the advance of 3c. in Manitoba hard wheat, which is now selling at 87c. grinding in transit or 85c. Toronto and west. A good movement for export still continues. The grain arrivals on the local market have been light, the bulk of the receipts being in barley and oats. With the exception of a drop of 1c. in barley the prices are unaltered. We quote: White and red Ontario wheat, 68 to 76c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.;
oats, new, 46½ to 48c.; rye, 58c.; barley,
55 to 61c.; peas, 77 to 80c.; buckwheat,
52c.

FLOUR—There is a good brisk demand for this article and in sympathy with the high prices of wheat it has advanced 10c.
per bbl. all round. We quote as follows:
Ontario patents, in bags, $3.50 to $3.60;
Hungarian patents, $4; Manitoba bakers', $3.75; straight roller, $3.00 to $3.15 per bag in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand for oatmeal and rolled oats continues heavy, with perhaps a slight improvement, and prices, which this week are unchanged, will likely take another rise, on account of the scarcity of oats and their lighter quality this year. We quote the same as last week:

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

Sheepskins have gone up 5c. per skin, while a few deerskins are offering at 14c. per lb., 1½c. higher. The wool market is very quiet, but later reports seem to indicate that the prices may improve a little.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼ to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 70c.; deerskins, 12½ to 14c. per lb.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 8c.

SEEDS.

In red clover and alsike there is a somewhat improved foreign demand. The former has advanced 25c., while the latter has made a jump of 75c. per bushel in most cases. Timothy is very quiet. Better prices will be paid for extra fine samples than those given below. We quote: Red clover, $4.75 to $5; alsike, $6.50 to $8, and timothy, $2 to $2.25 per bush.

MARKET NOTES.

The season for game and venison has closed.

Quotations on starch are ¼c. per lb. higher.

The bulk of the arrivals of butter still continues poor.

Extra fine samples of apples are now selling as high as $5 per bbl.

Another advance of ¼c. per lb. has taken place in the price of corn syrup.

Sheepskins have advanced 5c. a skin, while deerskins are 1½c. higher.

A good shipment of Mexican oranges have been received, and prices are 25c. per box lower.

Oatmeal and rolled oats have still a distinct upward tendency, and a further rise is expected shortly.

Last week there were such large amounts of live poultry received that dealers have stopped supplying crates for shipment.

Mr. Crawford Powiss has been appointed resident agent in Toronto for W. Bickle & Co., Hamilton, whose specialties are foreign sugars and coffees.

Manitoba hard has advanced 3c. per bushel out of sympathy with the high prices for wheat prevalent in Chicago, and flour has advanced 10c. per bbl. all around.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, December 5, 1901.

GROCERIES.

ALTHOUGH there is not the amount of goods moving that there was two or three weeks ago, the volume of business continues phenomenally large and the market is in a particularly healthy condition. In fact, it is the unanimous opinion of the trade that December conditions have not been so satisfactory in years. The congestion of shipments that retarded the speedy transportation of goods has now been almost completely relieved, thanks to the endeavors of the railway companies. The most notable changes in prices this week have not come unexpectedly; the advance in corn had prepared dealers for a rise of ¼c. in corn syrup and starch. There has developed on this market a striking scarcity in foreign dried fruits, and it would seem that stocks will hardly be sufficient to meet the Christmas demands. Valencia raisins are difficult to secure in a jobbing way and we have heard of transactions involving 200 boxes of selected at 6¼c. Currants are dearer in primary markets and we understand that western dealers are reordering supplies for post Christmas trade. Meanwhile, till these arrive there will be none too many to go around. Malaga raisins are also wanted in many quarters and all bargains are in sellers' favor. Tarragona almonds are quite scarce and higher. New walnuts have come to hand this week. There is an improving demand for teas at firm prices. Canned goods are unchanged.

SUGAR.

The firmness in raw sugar that we mentioned in our last week's report has proved temporary and prices have receded to 1d. above the lowest point touched, thus dispelling the idea that the local market might perchance take an upward turn. The outlook seems now to be for steady prices. Evidently Montreal refiners have not had confidence in the raw-sugar market as the Customs authorities attribute the falling off in November Customs receipts to the small imports of raw sugar. The demand for Montreal refined has not improved during the week and there is but little speculative inquiry. The local price is $4.10 for granulated and $3.35 to $4.05 for yellows, according to quality.

TEAS.

Montreal teamen are convinced that we are soon to see a reversion from that depression that has dominated the tea market for some seasons. Of course, if the United States Congress removes the tea duty an active market here is a certainty, but even without that aid a better business is anticipated. Already the New York market bears a more cheerful aspect, and while we are absolutely dependant upon the state of things across the border, there is that inexplicable sympathy that always exists.

Japan teas, in particular, are firm. No more low grades are offered in the primary markets and we hear of no jobbing transactions in new teas under 14 cents. Wholesalers are said to have low stocks and the outlook is exceptionally strong. There is a good demand for gunpowders; some new-crop gunpowders that came to hand this week are quoted out of wholesale hands at 32 to 35c. for pinheads; 23 to 25c. for pealeaf, and 20 to 22½c. for imperials.

Latest Colombo reports continue to report a firm market for all pekoes. Mail advices from India dated November 1, say that at latest sale the market opened quiet with a tendency towards lower rates but stiffened as the sale progressed, closing fairly steady though rather irregular with only one point drop on common teas and two points on low mediums. Finer grades, possessing good eup, met with more attention, closing fully firm. Darjeelings, which were rather better, met with strong competition at full rates. From April 1 to November 1, the total exports of Indian tea from Calcutta amounted to 108,071,568 lb. against 120,699,790 lb. last year. Figures show that 70 per cent. more tea has been shipped to Bombay than last season, while America shows a decrease of 52 per cent., Australia, 21½ per cent., London, 9½ per cent. and sundry ports, 1¾ per cent.

SYRUPS.

On account of the advance in corn, corn syrup is ¼c. per lb. higher this week, making quotations 3¼c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 35½ lb., and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

There is a small distributing trade going on in molasses but it has not yet attained very large proportions. The latest advance in corn syrup leads dealers to expect a brisk trade. Barbados is worth 25 and 29c., according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

There is not much change to report in canned goods. Vegetables are selling in small quantities at steady prices. Tomatoes are worth 85 to 87½c.; corn, 80c., and peas, 80 to 95c. There has been a very short crop of peas in France this year and as a result Canadian wholesalers are compelled to ask higher prices. Extra fins are worth $18 per case; lins, $15.50 per case, and mi-fins, $11 per case.

Salmon is in very fair demand. Pink salmon is quoted at $1 to $1.05; spring salmon, $1.30; Rivers Inlet red sockeye, $1.32½ to $1.35; Fraser river red sockeye, $1.45 to $1.47½; Clover Leaf talls, $1.42½ to $1.15, according to qualities.

SPICES.

Although the heavy rush of some weeks ago has spent itself, there is still a good movement in spices at unchanged figures. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 65c. per lb., as to size; Penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 20c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 14 to 16c.; Japan, 10c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 22 to 25c.

COFFEE.

The bull movement of some weeks ago has not been maintained, as it is now realized that the coffee crop must be a heavy one. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

"QUALITY TALKS."

We want to ask a simple question :

Why do Retail Grocers buy imported Pork and Beans and pay two prices ???

Somebody is to blame—WHO IS IT ? ? ? ? ?

We Hold the Secret.

We believe that our quality and flavor is superior to any other Canadian Brand and equal to the imported. Our plain Boston Baked Beans and Pork and Beans in Tomato Sauce will retail over your counter at following prices :

understand that although the rice this year is not as good as usual, the deterioration has been unavoidable. Despatches from Burmah tell us that a continued spell of damp weather fell upon the country before the crops were gathered, and, as a consequence, it is now exceedingly difficult, in fact, one may say impossible, to secure Rangoon rice free from yellow grains. The crop is the poorest in twenty years. We quote in combine district: B rice, in bags, \$3.10; in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bags, \$3.15; in  $\frac{1}{4}$  bags, \$3.20; in pockets, \$3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, \$3 in bags; \$3.05 in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bags; \$3.10 in  $\frac{1}{4}$  bags; and \$3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., and tapioca, 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS — The foreign market is very firm and to lay down fine Filiatras this week would cost 16s. 3d. by the earload and 16s. 9d. in less than earloads. Although stocks here are light local merchants have not as yet followed the western importers in ordering forward additional shipments. Prices are firm but unchanged. Finest Filiatras are worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in  $\frac{1}{2}$  cases; 6c. cleaned; 1-lb. cartons, 8c., and finest Vostizzas, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS — Raisins are raisins these days. While prices show no material advance, the local market is very firm in view of the fact that no one has heavy stocks while not a few are entirely cleaned out. Moreover, it is now only the best brands that are wanted. The foreign market is decidedly firm and local holders are asking small-lot prices for large quantities. Finest off-stalk is worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; selected, 6 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ c., and layers, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 7c.

CANDIED PEELS — Sales of candied peels have been large this week. Prices are steady. The best English peels are worth 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for lemon; 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. for orange, and 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 11 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. for citron.

PRUNES — There is a good demand for peaches and there are orders on the books awaiting the arrival of goods. Californians are worth 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 10-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 60-70's, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 70-80's, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 80-90's, 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS — Malaga raisins continue to be called for very freely; in fact, the good demand is one of the features of the fruit market. We quote as follows: London layers, \$1.50 to \$1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," \$2.15 to \$2.25;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," \$3.30 to \$3.35;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.05 to \$1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," \$1.50 to \$1.60;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.30 to \$1.40.

SULTANA RAISINS — The market is steady at 9 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

DATES — Halloween dates are cheaper on account of heavier arrivals. The price now is 3 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 4c.

FIGS — Comadre figs are 5c. per tapnet higher this week and may now be quoted at $1.05. There is a continued good demand and supplies are none too plentiful.

NUTS

New Grenobles are to hand this week and are of excellent quality. The idea as to selling price is 10 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Tarra-gona almonds are scarce and higher, being now worth 12 to 13c.; at present dealers are afraid there will not be sufficient to satisfy the Christmas demand. Shelled walnuts, for earliest arrival, are quoted at 18 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 19c. Best shelled almonds are worth 25 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 26 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Filberts are selling freely at 8 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 9c.

FISH.

A brisk business is being done in fish. Green cod is now selling all the way from \$5.75 to \$6.25, the upper movement having ceased the last week on account of an improvement in the catch. Manitoba and British Columbian fish are now in stock. We quote: Haddies, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; bloaters, 90c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked, medium herrings, 12c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; whitefish, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dore, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; pike, 5c.; halibut, 9c.; salmon, 9c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, \$5.37 $\frac{1}{2}$  per bbl. No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, \$2.90 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, \$6.50 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, \$6.50 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, \$6 per bbl.; No. 1 green haddock, \$4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, \$5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, \$12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, \$9 per bbl.; Ivory boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, \$5 per case; dried codfish, \$5 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$12 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$6.25 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, \$5.50 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; standard bulk oysters, \$1.30 per gal.; select, bulk oysters, \$1.50 per gal.; Malpeque shell oysters, in shell, \$4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, \$1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, \$1 per doz.; Canadian  $\frac{1}{2}$  sardines, \$3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, \$1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, \$2.20 per doz.

GREEN FRUITS.

Two cars of Californian oranges have just arrived in stock, but as no sales have been made they are not quotable. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, \$1.50 to \$4.75 per bbl.; Florida oranges, \$1.25; Verdilli lemons, 300's, \$2.50 to \$4.50; 360's, \$2.50 to \$2.75 per box; Malaga lemons,  $\frac{1}{2}$  chests, \$5.25 to \$6; pineapples, 15 to 20c.; Canadian apples, \$3 to \$5 per bbl.; limes, \$1.50 per box; cocoanuts, \$3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, \$1.75 to \$2.25, and eight hands, \$1 to \$1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 50c.; Spanish onions, \$1; sweet potatoes, Vineland's, \$3 to \$4.50; Malaga grapes, \$5.50 to \$7 per keg; cranberries, \$7.50 to \$9.50; barrel onions, \$3; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR — The market remains firm under a good local inquiry but buyers are still indifferent about anticipating their wants to any great extent. There is said to be some demand for low-grade winter wheat flour for export. In carlots, we quote: Spring patents, $4 to $4.10; winter patents, $3.75 to $3.95; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50; strong bakers', $3.65 to $3.90.

GRAIN — We quote: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 79 to 79 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. afloat November; peas, 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; rye, 59 to 60c.; No. 2 barley, 57c.; oats, 50 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 51c.; buckwheat, 57c.; corn, 67 to 67 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

OATMEAL — There is a good demand both on local and export account. While values are unchanged the market is hardly as firm as it was last week. Wholesalers quote $5.85 to $5.90 in bbls., and $2.85 to $2.90 in bags. Fine medium granulated oatmeal is also worth $2.85 to $2.90 in bags.

CORNMEAL — The market is firm and tending up. Cornmeal is worth $4.50 per bbl. out of wholesalers' hands, and $2.40 per bag.

FEED — The market is very firm with an upward trend to values. Americans are brisk buyers. Ontario bran is worth $18.50 to $19 in carlots. Shorts are scarce at $20.50 to $22, as to quality.

BALED HAY — There is no diminution in the demand, the great difficulty being in getting supplies. There is a strong undertone to the market. We quote No. 1 timothy at $10 to $10.50; No. 2 timothy, $9 to $9.50; clover mixture, $8.50; clover, $7.50 to $8.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

The market is very firm at advancing prices both for fresh and pickled on both sides of the Atlantic. Fresh eggs sell as they arrive from 21 to 25c. Pickled eggs are selling at 16c.

HONEY — White honey is very scarce and is worth fully 13c. Extracted is selling at 10c.

POTATOES — The market is firmer and sales of carlots of choice stock are reported at 75 to 77 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. About five weeks ago these potatoes would have brought only 55c.

DRESSED POULTRY — A good trade has been done this week but supplies of good stock are none too plentiful. Dealers are selling turkeys at 9 to 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; geese, at

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — The market is steady and it is thought prices have reached their lowest level. Choice creamery, as it comes to the market, brings 20 to 20½c. Western creamery is worth 19 to 20c. Western dairy is worth 15 to 17½c. There is a good demand for rolls but very few are coming in; they bring 16 to 17c.

CHEESE — The market is still quiet although there seems to be a little more willingness to do business over the cable. The idea is growing that the worst has passed and the prediction "The Grocer" made some weeks ago, seems likely to come true. We quote: Finest western, 9 to 9½c.; finest eastern, 8½ to 8¾c., and undergrades, 8 to 8½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Comadre figs are 5c. per tapnet higher.
Tarragona almonds are slightly higher.
New Grenoble walnuts are again in stock.

All Canadian starches are ¼c. lower as also is corn syrup.

Equalized freight rates are now out for Quebec and Ontario.

Hallowee dates are slightly lower on account of cheaper arrivals.

Pot barley has been quite scarce but is again in supply at $2.50 per bag.

There is quite a scarcity of small cheese and wholesalers are asking 10½ to 11c. for them.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., December 2, 1901.

BUSINESS has been particularly active, principally the shipping-out of orders for Christmas. The holiday during the past week has rather increased the rush. Some of the wholesale grocers found it necessary to have their staff back for the full day. The winter-port business is in full swing. Shipments will exceed any previous season. The shipments of hay to Africa have been very large, and a full load of horses will be shipped from here within a week. In markets, the feature of most interest is the high price of oatmeal and oats. In spices, ginger continues high and pepper is much stronger. Cream of tartar is rather higher. In teas, there has been considerable buying in Ceylons and Indians, for direct shipment. The London market is quite high and the local market is firmer.

OILS—In burning oils there is active shipment and prices remain unchanged. Business this season has been very large. In paint oils the firm market continues and stocks held are light. There is a limited sale. Lubricating oils are in light demand, though some sales for future are being made; prices are unchanged. Seal and cod oil are very firm and small lots of the latter continue to be received.

SALT — In Liverpool coarse salt the weekly Liverpool steamers bring regularly, for here, about 2,000 bags; also a small quantity of Liverpool factory-filled. Canadian fine is quite largely taking the place of the latter. In coarse salt full prices are obtained and, owing to high freights, the market is very firm. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 56 to 58c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1. Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; earlons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS — There is a fair, general demand, but dried fruits rather draw attention from these. Vegetables are unchanged. In fruits, there is a fair sale, particularly in peaches, pears and strawberries. The few Californian apricots imported did not sell. There is an outside demand for blueberries, but stocks are short. A fair stock of gallon apples is held; prices are firm. In salmon, the market is now well supplied; prices are easy. Lobsters are more generally offered this season. Domestic sardines are held firm at the lower prices quoted. There is a good sale; imported sell freely. In kippered herring and finnan haddies the demand exceeds the supply.

GREEN FRUITS — Valencia oranges have been received. The quality for the season is very good; they are seldom shipped here so early. Jamaica oranges are still large sellers. Jamaicans and Floridas are shortly expected. The latter will be lower and more freely offered than for some years. Apples are very firm for best grade. The high price is affecting the sale. Some cheap goods are still offered. Cape Cod cranberries are much higher and very firm. In lemons, the market is easy; there is a good sale. Malaga grapes are very plentiful. The American market seems to be very freely supplied and low prices are quoted. Ample stocks are here via Liverpool.

DRIED FRUITS — Business is very active. Californian raisins were to hand last week. Arrivals were lighter than usual, and dealers had stocks largely sold to arrive. Seeded are particularly in demand. Small boxes of both Malagas and Valencias are short; in fact, the Christmas trade will quite well clean up the raisin market. Stocks imported this year were not as large as usual. Business has been much more satisfactory than last season. Californian prunes have a fair sale; stocks are light. Apricots and peaches move slowly. Peels are free sellers. In figs, there is a steady sale. Dates have been freely received and prices are low. Evaporated apples keep high and the sale is not large. In onions, full prices are asked. Nuts were received earlier this year than usual, and sales have been large, except Brazils, which are very high. Walnuts, filberts and almonds are low.

DAIRY PRODUCE — In eggs, prices are unchanged, though the market is very firm; there is a steady sale. Butter is rather easier, supplies being more free for some weeks. It takes very good stock to sell freely, and to bring best price. Cheese is somewhat dull and holders rather anxious to sell.

SUGAR — There has been no change in price during the week; sales are large, particularly granulated. One or two dealers have not come into the agreement. They are compelled to use foreign sugar and they cut under the regulated price.

THE KENT CANNING CO.,

CHATHAM, ONT.

MOLASSES — Prices are quite firm. There is a steady sale, though in a small way. While principal sale is in Porto Rico, some Barbados is sold. Very little American is here. Both maple and sugar syrup in tins are offered.

FISH — In dried cod there continues to be fair receipts. The sale is quite active and prices are unchanged. In pollock, prices are higher and stocks light. At this season slack salted pollock are largely shipped to Portland, Maine, where they bring high prices. Smoked herring keeps low; supplies are quite large. Pickled herring are held firm. Kipperd herring is scarce and but few bloaters are offered. There are a few large herring, and these are largely pickled. Finnan haddies are unchanged and sale active. We quote as follows: Haddies,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5c.; smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, \$1.60 to \$1.70 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, \$2.15 to \$2.25 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; Canso herring, \$5.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, \$1 per box; Shelburne, \$2.50 per  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbl.; dry cod, \$3.50 to \$3.60.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — In flour, a fair business is doing. Prices, particularly in Manitobas, are very firmly held. Oatmeal and oats are very high, and sales are affected. Cornmeal has been advanced during the week. Feed is very scarce and high. Beans are unchanged from the lower prices of the last few weeks. Dealers in all the above complain of great difficulty to get stocks from the west. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $5.70 to $5.90; cornmeal, $3.10 to $3.20; middlings, $2 to $2.3; oats, 58 to 60c.; handpicked beans, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $4.50 to $4.55; barley, $4.20 to $4.25; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A. S. Bowman, representing Rice's salt, reports an exceedingly good demand for the season.

Leonard Bros. are busy shipping finnan haddies west. The demand for these fish is a growing one.

Barton Gandy is receiving upward of 2,000 bags of Liverpool salt by the regular weekly mail boats.

Dates were freely received by the trade during the week. Shipments are much earlier than usual this season.

Baird & Peters have received a large shipment of maple syrup and "Tea Rose" drips from The Imperial Syrup Co.

J. Hunter White, representing The J. K. Armsby Co., and E. Tippet & Co., representing Messrs. Griffen & Skelley, each distributed a can of Californian dried fruit to the trade last week.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, December 2, 1901.

It would be difficult to imagine more glorious weather than Manitoba has enjoyed during the past week. This has greatly facilitated the movement of grain wherever there have been cars to move it in, but the shortage is still most keenly felt, and this has very considerably reduced the purchasing of grain. The fact that grain cannot be got out fast enough is retarding collections, and business is not quite as active as a week ago. Still the volume of business is very large, and all indications point to a splendid holiday trade. There are few changes of price to report.

SUGARS.—The market has advanced 10 per cent. on all grades, quotations now being: Extra standard granulated, $4.95; extra ground, $6.40; powdered, $6.65; lumps, $6.40 to $6.65; bright yellows, $4.30.

SYRUP.—The market shows no change and the demand is only nominal in all lines—Molasses, New Orleans, 35 to 38c. per gal.; Porto Rico, 45 to 46c. per gal.; Barbados, 55 to 57 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per gal. Extra bright, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; medium, 2 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 3c.

COFFEE.—The market remains firm and there is a good demand at 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.

TEAS.—There has been a general advance in the cost of teas of about 2c. per lb., and jobbers here complain of difficulty in getting the lower grade of Japans at prices to meet the demands of their trade.

CEREALS.—The rolled-oat market is very firm and the eastern demand is heavy. Prices are unchanged for the week. Rolled oats, 80-lb. sacks, $2.50; granulated and standard, $2.90 per 98-lb.; split peas, $2.60; pot barley, $2.25 to $2.30; pearl barley, $3.50 to $3.75; cornmeal, $2; beans, $1.90.

DRIED FRUITS.—Another shipment of currants has arrived and show exceptional quality. It was expected that with later shipments prices would drop, but up to the present writing no change has been made and quotations are still 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. for best Filiatras in barrels and boxes. New York advices to this market indicate an advance. Raisins are in good demand at the old figures of \$1.90 to \$2 for fine off-stalk, and \$2.15 to \$2.25 for layers. Evaporated fruits are in nominal demand and without change of price in any line.

STARCH.—All grades of starch have been advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.

WOODENWARE.—The advance of last week is sustained and new lists are in the hands of the trade.

CANNED GOODS.—As fresh vegetables grow scarcer there is an increased demand for tomatoes, peas and corn. While all classes of canned fruits are selling well no change of quotation has as yet been given out. Fruits—Strawberries, heavy syrup, \$3.25; preserved, \$3.60; raspberries, preserved, \$3.25; syrup, \$2.95; blackberries, \$2.75; gooseberries, 2's, \$2.90; 2's, preserved, \$3.60; peaches, yellow, 2-lb. tins, \$4; 3-lb. tins, \$6; pears, 2-lb. tins, \$3.50; 3-lb. tins, \$4.50; apples, 3-lb. tins, canned, \$2.50; 3-lb. tins, preserved, \$3.65; galled, canned, \$1.60. Californian canned fruit in 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ -lb. tins—Plums, green gage, \$4.25; Lombard, \$4.20; damson, \$4.20; egg, \$4.20; peaches, \$4.75; pears, \$4.95; apricots, \$4.75; cherries, white, \$5.50. Canned vegetables—Tomatoes, Boulter's, this season's pack, \$2.20; other brands, \$1.90; corn, 2-lb. tins, \$1.90; peas, 2-lb. tins, \$1.95; beans, 2-lb. tins, \$1.85; pumpkin, in 3-lb. tins, \$2.10.

FISH.—This market has now a full supply of finnan haddies in carlots, which is selling regularly at 10c. The expected car of British Columbian salmon also arrived this week and is meeting with ready sale. Oysters, standards, $2; extra selected, $2.25 per gallon.

HONEY.—There is a fair supply on the market, probably sufficient for the winter requirements, but the Ontario crop being short, prices will remain firm all winter. A good supply of Manitoba honey, made from golden rod, has been secured, and the quality and flavor is equal to the best white-clover honey of Ontario. Cases of 2 dozen, small glass jars, sell at $4.50.

GREEN FRUITS.—All wholesale houses are preparing actively for the Christmas trade, and with the present excellent heated-car service, the demand from the country will be very heavy. Oranges—Californian, Washington navels, 176-250's, $5.25; 650's, $4.75, and 126's, $1.25; Mexican oranges, $4.50 to $5, according to size; Japanese oranges, $1 per box; Californian lemons, $5.25; apples, Washington, $2 per box; Eastern Canada winter apples, $5.50 to $6, according to variety; Malaga grapes, $8 per keg; pears, Californian, $3.50; Washingtons, $3; B. C. Beurre D'Anjou, $2.75; cranberries, of fine quality, very firm at $9.50 with prospects of an advance to $10 before Christmas. Bananas arrive regularly in small lots by express, but are so tender from the heated cars they do not stand reshipment well. The price is $3.50 to $3.75.

BUTTER.—The market is not at all well supplied and prices are firm and advancing. Creamery bricks, 25c. per lb.; packages, 22 to 23c.; dairy butter, sweet and fresh, 18 to 20c.

CHEESE.—The supply of Manitoba is growing limited and one car of Ontario has been received and disposed of, and 500 boxes more are due to arrive next week. The price is firm at 11c.

EGGS.—There are no fresh gathered Manitoba eggs and all supplies of this class are coming in from Ontario. Lined eggs sell at 22c. and fresh-gathered at 25c.

MARKET NOTES.

Among the visitors to the city this week was Mr. Crowl, of Colombo, Ceylon, representing the tea houses of Crossfield, Lambert & Co., of Colombo, and Lambert, Clark & Co., of Calcutta. Mr. Crowl intimated there was likely to be some difficulty in filling orders for the lower grades of tea owing to the advance in prices.

NORTHWEST BUTTER.

The total output of creamery butter from the Government creameries in the Northwest Territories last season was 672,432 lb., an increase of 44,248 lb. as compared with the year previous, when the quantity was 628,184 lb. This increase is very satisfactory, and it is all the more gratifying when it is borne in mind that a prolonged spell of wet weather greatly handicapped operations in some districts. About one-third of the total output was shipped to the British market, where it is reported to have arrived in first-class condition. The largest output appears to have been from the Church Bridge Creamery, where the quantity of butter manufactured rose from 31,674 lb. in 1899 to 65,325 lb. in 1900, and 121,419 lb. this year.

The premises of J. W. Courtage, grocer, Hagersville, Ont., are so far advanced that the grocery department is being occupied. In addition to the shop and storerooms there is a comfortable dwelling attached. The grocery is well lighted by plate glass windows and has an ornamental metallic ceiling. Shelves are placed along the walls and a counter runs along one side and across the back.

lieve they are bound to broaden our minds. Quebec is generally considered behind the times, but I am sure if some of our members would come to these meetings they would be able to dispel that idea and would not be sorry for it. I thank you very heartily for your reception to the toast, 'Sister Associations.' I wish you would come to Quebec and get our members interested."

Mr. Hebert—"All right; we'll go shortly."

A VOICE FROM HALIFAX.

Mr. Bauld, of Halifax—"It has occurred to me how strange it is that there are few speakers amongst us."

Voice—"All workers."

Mr. Bauld: "This gathering has given me great pleasure and when I tell my fellow grocers in Halifax how well we have been received, I am sure they will be glad to be associated with this Guild. I thank you heartily for your kind reception."

APPRECIATION OF MR. WILLS.

Mr. Laporte proposed a toast to Mr. Wills, the retiring Secretary of The Dominion Guild, a position he has filled acceptably since the organization was born, 32 years ago. He eulogized him very highly.

Mr. Wills replied very feelingly, spoke of the many kindnesses shown him, and described, how, on his previous visit to Montreal, he had his health proposed by the father of Messrs. Albert and Zeph. Hebert. "Good-bye. God bless you and give you every opportunity. Some of you are millionaires now, some of you are."

Chorus—"Not."

Mr. Scott gave greetings from the Western Ontario Guild and returned thanks for the very kind reception, "of which," he said, "the half had never been told."

This led Mr. Carter to say that all the credit was due to Mr. Albert Hebert, and so Mr. Hebert was called on for a speech and sung right roundly "He's a jolly good fellow."

MR. HEBERT IS FELICITOUS.

Mr. Hebert—"Now, I'm stuck. I need not tell you how your Montreal confreres have enjoyed entertaining you. We are only sorry we have not the opportunity oftener. I, for one, wish this annual gathering were held monthly. Something struck me a moment ago. I fancy our western friends may be in sad circumstances in the near future. All of you in the Provinces other than Quebec have my sympathy in advance. You may be compelled to visit Montreal for a change from water and plain soda. (Laughter.) Then you will feel disposed to come to Montreal frequently and, to save travelling expenses, you will decide to settle here. You will be welcome in the Province and particularly in Montreal. This Province, you know, is past redemption, but you will always find us hospitable. We admire virtue and try to practice it, but not the extra dry. We have rather a liking for the fruitier virtue."

Mr. Miller then proposed Mr. Carter's health and it was drunk right lustily.

Messrs. Geoffrion and Lockerby were kind enough to say some nice things about "The Canadian Grocer," and though carried away by the enthusiasm your correspondent remembers that he tried to reply.

Mr. Laporte eulogized Mr. Cook and appointed him secretary, as successor to Mr. Wills.

ABSENT FRIENDS.

Mr. Ince proposed a toast to the health of "Absent Friends," and Mr. Geoffrion also spoke on the same toast, expressing regret at the absence of western delegates. They got "He's a jolly good fellow" and Mr. Balfour replied in what Mr. Carter termed the best speech of the evening. He traced the history of the Guild and spoke feelingly of the ex-presidents, including Mr. Ince. Mr. Hebert, sr., whom he said he would come all the way to Montreal to shake hands with, and Mr. Gillard, who, "the longer he lived, the better man he was." I congratulate you on having selected the finest-looking Frenchman in Canada as your next president."

Voice—"Have you a kodak?"

He then proceeded to condemn the papers that bred the race cry, eulogized Sir Wilfrid Laurier (Mr. Balfour is a staunch Conservative), and asked them all not to be Englishmen or Frenchmen, but Canadians.

Mr. Carter called upon the meeting for "God Save the King," and the affair broke up at 11.30. It was generally conceded to have been one of the most successful banquets, small as it was, ever given in Montreal.

PLUM PUDDING FOR GROCERS.

No seasonable line which is a profitable one should be neglected by the grocer, and he is a wise man who is always on the outlook for such. During Christmas everyone eats plum pudding, and thanks to Christie, Brown & Co., Limited, of Toronto and Montreal, it is possible for every grocery to cater to the demand for this delicious article of food. The plum pudding made by this firm is put up in 1 and 2-lb. tins with key attachment, and is not only an attractive line but a profitable one as well.

TO MEET THE WHOLESALEERS.

F. Higgins presided over a meeting of the grocers' section of the Toronto branch of the Retail Grocers' Association last Monday night, December 2, when a long-felt grievance was discussed. This was the habit some wholesale men had of selling direct to the consumers in small quantities. To stop this practice, a committee was appointed to meet the wholesale dealers. A. Snuggs and J. W. Nettleton were elected as representatives on the Credit Collecting and Reporting Board.

HAMILTON TRAVELLERS MEET.

At Hamilton, last Saturday night, November 30, the Hamilton branch of the Commercial Travellers' Association of Canada held a meeting at the New Royal for the purpose of nominating officers and directors for 1902. The result of the nominations are as follows: first vice president, James Hooper (acclamation); second vice-president, Fred. T. Smye (acclamation); directors, J. Cauley, W. G. Reid, H. G.

Wright, J. H. Herring, E. J. Fenwick, H. J. Hickey, T. M. Davis, George McGregor, R. Moncur, George Muttonson (six to be elected).

Of this institution, 500 out of a total membership of 6,000 live in that city and they have paid out to deceased members a large amount of insurance claims during the year. The reserve fund is now over $350,000. They decided, after some discussion, not to hold any public entertainment this year.

T. EARLE, VICTORIA, ASSIGNS.

T EARLE, wholesale grocer, Victoria, and one of the members of Parliament for that city, assigned on November 26.

In 1869 he formed a partnership with J. Rueffe, with whom he had formerly been employed, and together they started in the wholesale grocery business. In 1873, Mr. Earle's partner died, and from that time forward until the present time the concern has been conducted by Mr. Earle himself. Steadily, by dint of attention to his business, he built up one of the finest establishments of its kind on the Coast, and less than two years ago it had assumed such proportions that he was obliged to erect new and splendidly-equipped warehouses and offices on lower Yates street.

Mr. Earle has not confined his attention to the wholesale grocery trade, and therein his friends find the explanation for the present condition of affairs.

The liabilities of Mr. Earle are variously estimated at from $300,000 to $500,000. It is understood that the heaviest creditor is the Bank of British North America, whose claim, it is stated, will amount to $240,000, while the Bank of Commerce and Molsons Bank are also said to be heavy creditors, the latter's claim being placed at $40,000. The liabilities, however, will be practically confined to the banks, there being few, if any, individual creditors.

The assets of Mr. Earle include mining properties, canneries, the wholesale grocery business he operates as a going concern, and his interest in the various companies heretofore mentioned, besides real estate in the city. In fact, his holdings are so extensive that it is not unlikely that they will be sufficient to adjust the difficulty. A number of years ago his assets were valued at $300,000, and these have enhanced since that time. Some of them would be difficult to realize on promptly, however, hence his business embarrassment. The greatest sympathy is felt for him among the business men.

TRADE CHAT.

UNDER the firm name of "La Societe de Fabrication de Fromage de la Paroisse de St. Louis de Lotbiniere, Comte of Lotbiniere," a number of farmers of St. Louis de Lotbiniere, Que., have formed themselves into a partnership to manufacture cheese and butter.

John Hogan, grocer, Halifax, N.S., is confined to his residence through illness.

The floor of the large make room of the Elma cheese and butter factory, Elma, Ont., is being cemented.

Hatt, Morrison & Co., who purchased the grocery stock of V. L. Matthews, Fredericton, N.B., are disposing of the same by public auction.

Under the firm name of Simeon Sevigney, Marchand, Simon Sevigney, of St. Flavieu de Lotbiniere, Que., purposes to carry on a business at St. Flavien, Que.

Ross & Scott, grain buyers and commission merchants, Tilsonburg, Ont., have dissolved partnership after an existence of 19 years. R. C. Scott continues the business.

After carrying on a business as general merchant at Mountain Station, Ont., for three years, W. A. Diamond has made an assignment to G. H. Ferguson, of Kempville, Ont.

On account of continued ill health, P. McCauly, after 30 years in business as general merchant at Glace Bay, N.S., is compelled to retire. He is advertising his business for sale.

J. A. Rice, grocer, Rossland, B.C., has disposed of his business to Vaughan & Cook, who were connected with the Empey firm there up till last summer. Mr. Rice will return to Spokane, Wash.

Francis Bachaud's grist mill, grocery store and dwelling house at Roxton Pond, Que., were recently destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of about $6,000, half of which is covered by insurance.

A fire on November 28, which broke out in A. Friedman's cigar manufactory, on the upper flat of 5 Jordan street, Toronto, did damage to the extent of $1,000 on the stock, which consisted mostly of raw leaf.

PICKLEMEN TO CONVENE.

The annual convention of the travelling salesmen of The H. J. Heinz Co., Pittsburg, will open in that city on January 2. Four hundred salesmen will be present, and the convention will last for 10 days. It is expected to be the largest and most important gathering of the kind which has been held under the auspices of the firm. The Canadian representatives who will be present will be Messrs. P. A. Thompson, from the Maritime Provinces; S. D. Stewart, Montreal; A. E. Adams, Western Ontario, and R. Muat, Toronto.

Mr. John C. Black, of Pittsburg, one of the representatives of the firm, was in Toronto last week.

INDUSTRIAL GOSSIP.

Those having any items of news suitable for this column will confer a favor by forwarding them to this office addressed to the Editor.

THE Imperial Syrup Co., Vancouver, whose factory has been idle for some time, has been absorbed by the firm of Ramsay Bros., confectioners, also of Vancouver. The latter firm will move their plant to the premises of the syrup company as soon as the rush of the fall trade is over, and before very long it is likely that the output of the syrup works and confectionery factory will be largely increased. All four flats of this newly-acquired property are being occupied, and already the erection of a new addition to the west side is contemplated. W. H. Shain, who has been manager of The Imperial Syrup Co. ever since it started, will continue to manage the new concern.

The Enterprise Cigar Factory, at Revelstoke, B.C., is starting a branch at Nelson, B.C.

The new grist mill of Price Bros., Battleford, N.W.T., which is just completed, will have a daily capacity of 50 barrels of flour, which will be of a good strong grade, like unto bakers'. To produce the flour, seven sets of rollers, with a perfect system of screens and bolts, besides many other machines, including a powerful grain crusher with a capacity of two bushels of grain per minute have been placed in position. William & J. G. Greey, millers and manufacturers of mill machinery, Toronto, built this machinery. The mill will have steam for its motive power.

A RECIPE FOR PLUM PUDDING.

Mr. Henri Jonas, of Henri Jonas & Co., Montreal, several years ago compiled a recipe for plum pudding which has become quite popular with housekeepers and cooks. Each year at this season Mr. Jonas is the recipient of many requests for a copy of this famous recipe. During a conversation our representative had with Mr. Jonas, it was suggested that he send out a copy of the recipe to any grocer who would like to have one. He consented to carry out our proposal, and now offers to mail to any reader of THE GROCER gratuitously this recipe. This is a good opportunity, which, no doubt, many of our merchant readers will avail themselves of.

SHOULD CANNERS COMBINE?

[From The Canner and Dried Fruit Packer.]

"TO be or not to be," is just as much if not more a question of modern business life than in the time when Shakespeare lived. Competition is keen and fierce in all lines of business; that is expected and even anticipated as shown by the many remarkable improvements which are brought out from year to year by the "to be or not to be" efforts of a vigorous and enterprising competition.

This constant struggle of "to be or not to be," we believe, has its most fierce and persistent effort illustrated in the canning business—in no other line of commercial affairs or manufacture is there so much anxiety exhibited as in the canning industry. This is caused by the fact that the business is altogether dependent on the whims of nature. It is not an exact science, nor a fixed manufacturing proposition. To further add to the anxieties of those engaged in the canning business, the methods of selling in vogue go to the other extreme and give an exact and binding contract to deliver absolutely a given amount of product for a given price. In other lines of manufacture the propositions of raw material and selling price are at all times usually easy of determining, and if not wholly satisfactory the manufacturer may limit his product, or close down his factory altogether until, in his judgment, the two elements are in a position for him to jump into the market, purchase his raw material and go ahead again and manufacture at the desired profit. Then again, the manufacturer is not retarded or limited by the seasons. The question of profit alone guides him in his decision as to when and how he shall run his plant. He can, if he so desires, close down, or limit production this week or month and go ahead full blast the next week or month. In all these things the canner stands alone and has no option in the matter; he must operate according to the terms and dictates of nature. His judgment is of no value, because he is denied an actual basis to work on. He only knows he can pack his goods at a certain price providing certain conditions prevail at the time of packing, and yet he boldly goes ahead and sells a product which neither he nor nature has at the time of making such sales. He simply risks his all against the variable and irresponsible future acts of nature. He gives a binding contract against an unknown and unknowable proposition. To make the results even more doubtful, in his efforts to secure business, he adds another risk by "meeting the market" or "making the market" at the very outset. When this results disastrously, he gets together with his "brother" (?) packers and forms a gentlemen's agreement; a perfectly secure proposition until the first man can get out through the door. * * * Finally the packing season opens—there are cars of cans in trenches from Maine to California to demonstrate the opening process—and the canner is up against the act of processing, which again has not been reduced to an actual science. In order to secure certain desirable conditions in quality of pack he takes another chance, and possibly loses his entire pack, or if more skilled in the art the loss may be limited to a day or week run.

Such is the business life of the canner, a source of anxiety and worryment from start to finish. There are exceptions, but there are mighty few who haven't gone through such an experience. In other lines of business where there is tangible basis to work on the manufacturers are realizing the wisdom of getting together and yet their business now and ultimately does not nor cannot offer the reasons for associated effort or combination as evidenced by the fickle canning business. Canners have no fault to find with their vocation when everything works smoothly and nearly as planned: it is a satisfactory and profitable business when all conditions are right, and yet, no matter how favorably situated now, the future of the individual factory is far from presenting a favorable outlook.

Taking the natural inconsistency of the business from a business standpoint, and adding to it the increased competition of those already in the industry, and the prospects of vigorous work on the part of the promoter, no one packer can stand aloof and proclaim that his business cannot be affected by such conditions.

The Canner and Dried Fruit Packer in advocating a combination among canners fully realizes that such action would not prove a financial gain for itself but rather the contrary, and yet we advocate it believing that there is no industry whose future is more vitally in need of associated effort. Experience has taught that the salvation of the business lies along the lines of combined effort which can take into consideration the safeguards of the business and for which competition has little regard. As to the manner of getting together The Canner is in favor of a plan which shall include the canners who will reap all the benefit of a wise management and the profits of a business handled on business lines.

VICTORIA BISCUIT COMPANY.

In another column will be found the advertisement of the Victoria Biscuit Company, of Guelph. This firm started business but six months ago, and in that time has gained an enviable reputation for good goods. In Toronto, where competition is so keen, this firm has over 150 customers, and at its distributing agency, 45 Wellington street east, their shipments average about one carload in two weeks.

J. Hoover, who recently had his cheese and butter factory burned down at Springfield, Ont., including a new butter plant only just put in at a cost of $1,200, is going to rebuild an up-to-date factory as soon as possible.

GOULD BROS. MODEL GROCERY.

GOULD BROS., of Uxbridge, have recently completed the remodelling of their store. One of the local newspapers, in referring to the fact, says:

"If there is one thing a man or woman is particularly scrupulous about it is the groceries they buy—what they have to eat. We have all heard about the proverbial 'peck of dirt' which everyone is supposed to eat, but none of us would care to do so if we knew we were doing it, and there is no need for any person in this neighborhood to do so, with the 'Model' grocery right to hand.

"When Messrs. Gould Bros. commenced a remodelling of their store a couple of months ago, not one of their many customers ever expected that the improvements would extend so far or be so complete. To-day they may walk into a store where cleanliness, convenience and comfort are combined for the benefit of both buyer and seller. Light? Plenty of it. The old-fashioned windows have been cut away, and a fine plate-glass front now gives plenty of daylight. At night, the splendid arrangement of electric lights makes everything as bright as day. The electrical fixtures are particularly fine, being of solid brass. The metal ceiling is a pretty pattern in stone grey, while the wainscottings, shelvings, bins, drawers, showcases, counters, etc., are of solid ash, hand polished. The roll-bottom, dust-proof tip bins are the first of the kind ever used in Uxbridge and guarantee to the customers who use rice, tapioca, sugar, fruits, meal and other breakfast foods a cleanly article.

"The whole store, in fact, presents such a wholesome appearance that one feels upon looking around that it would be a pleasure to know that your groceries were purchased here. From the handsome windows in the front to the storeroom in the rear, where the bulk flour, etc., is kept, everything is complete. On the right, as you enter, will be found the canned goods, pickles, spices, and such like. The spice drawers are arranged in perfect order and labelled, each drawer containing whole and ground spice. Then, in order, comes the tasteful arrangement of confectionery; then the firm's famous blends of Indian and Ceylon teas in their black-Japanned air-tight tins. The coffees are right next the teas, and a large new coffee mill, with a capacity of two pounds per minute, has been put in. To go from end to end and tell you all about the good things would be impossible—you must go and see for yourself. At intervals, in the long range of shelving, are air-tight cupboards, surmounted by framed mirrors. At the rear of the store and to the left are two large refrigerators—one for butter, the other for smoked meats. Passing the refrigerators, you enter the office, where the firm's genial bookkeeper, Mr. C. A. Conway, is found behind a pile of ledgers, day books, journals, etc., for here, besides the store business, is handled the extensive milling business of the Messrs. Gould Bros. Behind Mr. Conway sits the managing member of the firm, Mr. H. J. Gould. The office is complete with every up-to-date fixture, including a typewriter and copying press. Mr. Chas. Gould, the other member of the firm, does the grain buying and attends to the outside business.

"The name of Gould has long been a leader in the business circles of Uxbridge and to-day, in Messrs. Gould Bros., the town has two progressive merchants, two keen business men and two good citizens. The present remodelling of their store is only one example of the fact that whatever they do they do well. And any readers who have seen the store will bear us out in our statement that it is a model grocery. In conclusion, we might add that the work of remodelling and decorating was done by Uxbridge mechanics, the woodwork and finishing inside being done by Messrs. Small & McArthur, of The Piano and Organ Company; the painting is the handiwork of T. Tunstill, and the metallic ceiling was put on by T. McGrattan & Company."

THE WORLD'S STOCK OF LARD.

CABLE advices to The N. K. Fairbank Co., Chicago, give the following estimates of the stocks of lard held in Europe and afloat on December 1, to which is added estimates of former years, and stocks in cities named:

on account of the great demand from the packing-houses, which have commenced to do their season's business, as is also the rise in dressed hogs on the local market, the latter now selling at $8 to $8.25 per 100 lb., which is 50c. more than was paid last week. The venison season is over. In

OTTAWA PRODUCE COMPANY.

A large number of shareholders from both town and country attended the second annual meeting of the Ottawa Produce Co. held in the company's building on Nicholas street, Ottawa, where the reports were presented and the following board of directors elected: President, William Meldrum, Montreal; vice-president, E. W. Clark, Ottawa; secretary-treasurer, F. O'Reilly, Ottawa; directors, Dr. A. T. Shillington, B. Slattery, O. Leclair, E. Kidd, M.P.P., North Gower; Ald. R. Hastey, T. Burgess, Carleton Place, and John Bingham.

President William Meldrum, in his address, stated his satisfaction with the egg business this year and recommended the farmers to breed a hen that would lay a large brown egg, as that was the kind of egg wanted on the British market. He was also satisfied with the exports of Canadian butter, and looked forward to increased shipments of cheese after this year.

THE PROVISION MARKETS. TORONTO.

During the past week, Western hogs have been arriving in limited quantities and are 35c. higher. The price for them now is $7.75 per 100 lb. This advance is partly beef, front quarters are 50c. lower, and veal is worth 1 to 1½c. per lb. less. There is no other change in prices. We quote as follows: Beef carcasses, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6 to $7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5 per 100 lb. Veal, 6 to 7½c. per lb.; lambs are unchanged at 5 to 5½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6, and lights $5.75 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

Dealers are doing a good business in cured meats just now, and the prices have a tendency to advance, on account of the high prices of Western and local-dressed hogs, but as yet no change has occurred. Dealers in provisions and the packing-houses are busy cutting pork for curing, but are hampered on account of the limited supply. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11½c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $19 50; short cut, $20 to $21; lard, in tierces, 10¾c. per lb., tubs, 11c., and pails, 11¼c.

MONTREAL.

The hog product market has shown more strength this week on account of an advance in the price of hogs. The cheap grades of Chicago pork are somewhat higher in price, but the better qualities are unobtainable at the moment. The chief difficulty in all lines is to secure the requisite supplies. We now quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22 00; Chicago clear pork, $23.25 for heavy and $22.75 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22 00 to $22.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.25 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), $2.00 for 1 to 24 pails; $1.98 for 25 to 49 pails; $1 97 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, $1.72½ per pail; Cottolene, 11½c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10¾c. for 60 lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Pork is higher and very firm. There is some improvement. Beef shows little change. With cold weather fresh beef is more largely used. For some few seasons it has largely taken the place of pickled beef for the woods. Lard is unchanged from the easier prices of last week.

COLD-STORAGE PROPOSALS.

THE Medicine Hat News is leading in an agitation for such measures as will improve the condition of the ranching industry in the Territories. The ranchers are shut out of the Chicago market, while the embargo on Canadian cattle in Britain prevents the sale of store cattle at advantageous prices. The result is that buyers during the past season have been offering unsatisfactory prices for the best cattle of the herds, and have practically refused to buy beef cattle weighing less than 1,200 lb. Every herd must have a proportion of more or less inferior stock, and the absence of a market for it is a serious loss. The opening of the British market to Canadian store cattle or the admission of our cattle to the American market would prove a remedy. So far as the British market is concerned, we have proved beyond a doubt that there is no pleuro pneumonia in Canada, and have also given a preference to British goods in our markets. This is all we can do in the direction of securing the removal of the embargo. We have also made all the overtures that can possibly be of use toward securing access to the American market on reasonable terms.

The proposal of The News that a cold-storage system be perfected for the shipment of dressed beef from the ranges to the British market is within our own jurisdiction, and does not depend on the uncertain compliance of other Governments. Such a service would provide a continuous market for stock now virtually unsalable, and would at the same time improve the price of choice export cattle. The News gives parallel market quotations, showing that when export steers sold at 3¼ and 3½c. per lb., and butchers' cattle from $2.35 to $2.75 per cwt., in Winnipeg, the poorer grade was selling in Chicago at $5.10 and $5.15 per cwt. There is no reasonable justification for such a wide difference in the price of export cattle, as both must reach the British market in free competition. The difference must be due to the charges of transportation companies and the profits of shippers. In the present state of the transportation problem it is as difficult for the Canadian rancher to get his cattle out of Canada as to get them into foreign markets. If the perfection of a cold-storage system will effect relief, the ranching interests have a reasonable claim for consideration.—Globe.

Orders can be filled by any of the leading jobbers in Canada or direct.

Because a merchant has been selling one thing for a long time is no reason that he should not get out of the rut. There are illicit distillers in Tennessee who think that the Government is wrong and they are right simply because their fathers and grandfathers made "Moonshine" whiskey for a long time before them. The fact that you have been doing something for a long time does not make it right. If you follow that principle you would want your goods delivered in an ox-cart and would be satisfied with a tallow-dip candle. Get in line. Because you have never sold FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND does not argue that it will not give your trade better satisfaction than any other lard. ## HOW TO GET AND KEEP A POSITION.

James J. Hill in Success.

It is one thing to get a position; it is another thing to keep it. Getting a position requires tact, forcefulness, and perspicuity; keeping a position is an art. Getting position is accomplished by a large number of men and women, but the number of those who can keep positions is but a small percentage of the whole.

When one starts forth to look for a position, he must possess the qualities of cleanliness, clearness and perspicuity. One reason for this is that so much depends upon the first impression. Lax methods, unkempt hair, soiled fingers, a necktie awry, and confused speech, are some of the faults that destroy the chances of an applicant. When a man who is conducting a successful business advertises for a janitor or a private secretary, he goes to his office and finds several dozen applicants awaiting him. He hears them, one by one, and notices that this young man has failed to polish his shoes, that that young woman talks with a discordant slang, that so-and-so is carrying the end of a cigarette in his yellow, nicotine-fingers, or that Miss This-and-That is over-adorned with cheap jewellery. He finds that one young man is utterly incapable of expressing himself clearly, and that another has a newspaper with the chart of the horse races sticking from his pocket. Each applicant is denied a chance because his outward appearance arouses suspicion; and the merchant, sick, disheartened and disgusted with humanity, goes home, or to his club, to forget his unpleasant half-day. These statements may seem exaggerated, but they are the plain, unvarnished experiences that business men encounter every day. Frequently employers are obliged to engage slovenly, untidy men and women whom they dislike, because the advances of their business demand more workers and the right kind is not to be had; but you may be assured that when business slackens, such employees are the first to go.

SPEAK PLAINLY

In all matters it is best to speak plainly. Clear, concise, transparent expressions are the ones that carry the most weight. Speech is a wonderful indicator of character. The art of speaking plainly and clearly is as necessary a part of one's education as are the rudiments of arithmetic, and, if I were a school-teacher, I should institute regular lessons in conversation and expression. A man who can talk without making his listener wonder if he were reared in the domain of incomprehensibility is the man who will have the first chance. An employer wants a man who can explain himself, and whose conversation shows that its fountain is a clear, clean mind. We like a touch of vigor in one's speech, but we loathe a hint of egotism or a molecule of self-praise. We like a man who can say, "I will try," with the firm conviction that he will try, but we dislike the man who says, "Why, that's easy!" and arrives at a conclusion of his worth before he knows what he is going to do.

The steady-growing business concerns, the great mercantile houses and the commercial consolidations of the United States have discovered that the men who will conduct the affairs of the future are the men who have been trained for that purpose. The man who will have worked his way from the lowest rung will be the man who will ultimately determine the destiny of the business concern. Our vast business enterprises are becoming larger every year. No man can be trusted with the management of one who does not know every fractional part of the working of that concern with which he is connected, and who has not been a part of that working. Hence the importance of giving work to men and women who will keep the best interests of their employers at heart, and blend them with their own.

BE NATURAL.

If you seek employment as an stenographer, let your appearance tell that you are a stenographer: if you seek employment as a coal heaver, let your appearance show that you are a coal heaver. I do not mean that the stenographer shall be gay with cheap jewellery or redolent with the lingo of the typewriter, nor do I mean that the coal heaver shall be black, grimy and unwashed. But I do mean that you must aim straight at your point: that you must show, first of all, by clear expression, by ready answers, by a polite, gentle, yet vigorous manner, that you are ready to fill the place to the best of your ability. Our country is full of old men who are still looking for positions, because they have failed to master this important factor of application. Be positive that you can do the work that you seek. Never take a place simply to have something to do, for you will only waste your time, and, in a few years, you will be forced out of your position on the charge of incompetency. Be sure that you are willing to do what your employer wants you to do. When you approach a business man to apply for a position, do so in a manner that will make a pleasant impression on him: and, whether you apply for a position as an office boy or cashier, let him know that you are going to work for his interests. Show him clean hands and clear eyes, and that you are ambitious and can prove your character. Do not make promises which you know you may not be able to carry out. Argue the point of salary as little as possible, unless you are asked to accept a starvation figure, and I do not believe that the American lives who does not consider the laborer worthy of his hire. Be firm in your convictions. Never whine or complain. Never tell why you did not succeed in your last place, unless your new employer demands such an explanation: then make it, briefly, and tell the truth. Above all things else, show that you want to take an interest in your employer's business, and that you are a clear-headed, clean-minded, careful, observing person, with excellent habits and a determination that is not bounded by a desire to do nothing more

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA

BLACK

The merit of the Black Teas has established them high in popular estimation. They are drunk wherever the English language is spoken. They follow the flag and drive out less meritorious growths.

OR

But some consumers are wedded to light drawing kinds, with pale liquor and without the full body and richness of the black kinds.

GREEN

The Green Teas of Ceylon and India are made expressly for this trade. In Make, Quality and Price they challenge comparison with other growths.

They are grown, prepared and packed with the same skill by the British Planters who have revolutionized the black tea trade.

They have caught on in Canada and are no longer in the experimental stage. Try them.

than a day's work simply because you are obliged to work. It is needless for me to waste space in telling how to apply for a position; I take it for granted that all know the importance of neat, correctly-spelled, grammatical letters.

WORK WITH ENERGY.

Having secured your position, how shall you keep it? First, and always, by being absolutely honest, for honor and character are man's greatest promoters. They stimulate energy and promote confidence. Who can deny the great power of energy and confidence? After an employer finds out he has an energetic clerk, in whom he can place absolute confidence, that clerk's future is a very promising one.

Go to work with slow, steady, determined effort. Do not grab your pen or shovel as if you knew just what you are expected to do without explanation. Do not give your employer the impression that he has secured a man who is using his brains simply to figure out how far his weekly wage will go—if it will pay only the rent and buy the food, or if it will go so far as to permit of two theatre tickets and a new collar for the dog. Perhaps you think your employer cannot detect such thoughts. He is, perhaps, a keen man, has probably employed scores before you, and has had much practice in reading the expressions of men.

When luncheon or closing time is approaching, do not begin to prepare for leaving 20 minutes beforehand. I know a young man who stopped work regularly at 11.40 a.m. and 5.40 p.m., in order to have plenty of time to "wash up," arrange his cuffs and tie, and brush his hair, so that he could leave promptly at 12 o'clock, for luncheon, and 5.30 p.m., when the store closed. It was some years ago. That man is still looking for a "good job." He has had more than a dozen. He knew how to get them, but he never acquired the art of keeping them. Do not be afraid of trying to do more than is expected of you. This has been the cause of many a man's failure. The bookkeeper who gives up a theatre party or an evening social, in order to try and complete a balance sheet, does not escape his employer's notice. He has shown willingness and has shown the "boss" good evidence that he regards his interest before his own pleasure. You may make mistakes; but, if you do, say so, and make your amends by trying to correct them. Never lie about a mistake, for such a course adds cowardice to an already unpleasant condition.

KEEP YOUR TEMPER.

Determined effort, with an inclination to learn and improve—to master the details of the work you are assigned to do—will greatly modify the hard, unpleasant tasks that fall to one's lot in every position.

Always remember that next to honor, the quality that counts the most is personality. While many will tell you that personality is a gift just as surely as is the art of composing music, let me assure you that nothing else can be acquired as easily as personality, if one has the mind and inclination to acquire it. A bad temper, a sour disposition—becoming cross and petulant when denied your way, speaking with sharpness when a kind word can just as easily be uttered, and letting anger have its sway—are faults that may be overcome if one earnestly and persistently tries to do so. They hinder the acquirement of a desirable personality, and so lessen one's advancement, and, more than all besides, they shorten life. Personality is nothing if it is not the companion of politeness. No man wants to keep a person in his employ who is not polite. Never let a harsh or impolite personality be the weak link in the chain of your qualities. If it is, you can rest assured that it is the easiest link to strengthen. I do not mean to infer that one should be maudlin and putty-like in order to produce personality, or that he should assume politeness. Such a condition or attempt never exalts a man; it simply makes him appear false in the eyes of his employer. Nature made all of us to act naturally. A bad temper can be expurgated the same as any other vice. Don't confound anger and firmness. We admire a man who can assert his rights and stand by them, and we more than respect a man who can say "No," with vigor and purpose, when "No," should be said; but we rightly despise a person who scolds and vociferates.

You can hold your position if you fit yourself to its mould so as to fill every crevice. Be like a cake. At first it is a soft, spongy dough, and is poured into a mould which it but half fills. As it bakes, it rises, and crowds every dent in the mould. Not contented, it bulges over the top; it makes a cake larger than the mould will hold. So, young man and young woman, be larger than your mould. After you have filled every crease and crevice of your position to advantage, work out at the top. It is the largest cake that brings the most money.

ALWAYS KEEP YOUR PROMISES.

Your employer will never ask you to do more than is possible. Remember that an unfulfilled promise is as bad as a downright untruth. Live within your means. Never let a month pass that you do not put something in the bank. Dress neatly and plainly, for an employer marks a man as a fool who apparels himself with extravagance and glaring colors. Never try to win the favor of your employer by slandering your fellow workers. Slander always sticks. Show kindness to your fellow employees, but do not let it be forced kindness, for that deserves no thanks. Resolve slowly, and act quickly. Remember, it is better to be alone than in bad company; that you cannot give your employer full value, if you try to work after a night of dissipation; that silence, like cleanliness, is akin to godliness, and that a clear conscience gives sound sleep and good digestion, and clothes one in an impregnable coat of mail.

Last, but not least, remember that out of business hours your home deserves most of your attention. The employer feels an immediate confidence in a man or woman whose home is free from extravagance, enmity, contempt, wrath, strife, envy, and opposition. Keep happiness in your home, and you will create strength and efficiency for your work.

THE WOOL MARKET IS WEAK.

The wool situation is causing anxiety among holders of last season's clip in this country. There is no improvement in the market, nor are there any inquiries for its export, and there seem to be no prospects for any in the near future. What increases the alarm is that in Great Britain the prices for the coarser grades are at present very weak. The latest advices from there state that Lincoln hogs, a wool a little coarser than Ontario long staple, is selling at a price equivalent to 11½c. laid down here. And in the United States, which country affords a market for almost the whole of our Canadian wool exports, the price of this article is only 25c. per lb. for grades similar to ours. As there is a duty of 12½c. imposed by the United States Government on wool, all the Dominion wool dealers can realize is 11½ or 12c. per lb., which is 3c. lower than they received last year. It was only three or four years ago when 20c. was received for wool here.

FORMING A RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

A Few Hints.

IN all ages men have been accustomed to associate themselves together for purposes of mutual defence, or the attainment of some common object, and for social intercourse. This idea has always manifested itself in the same way. In the days of the Romans the citizens had their collegia, a combination of all the craftsmen and those engaged in commerce, and it is maintained by some that the guilds of the Middle Ages, which Bacon called "fraternities in evil," were the descendants of these older collegia, especially in those Latin countries which have derived many of their laws and customs from old Rome. It is generally conceded that the modern trades unions, corporations, and mercantile associations are lineal descendants of these guilds of mediæval times. They have so many institutions in common, they both assembled at stated days for business in the regulation of labor and of things concerning themselves as a body, and they both are characterized by the holding of periodical feasts. It is with the mercantile associations that we deal with in this matter.

ORGANIZATION ALWAYS FOUND ADVANTAGEOUS.

Those engaged in the buying and selling of goods have always found it to their advantage in multitudinous ways to organize into societies, consisting of all those engaged in commerce, or in their peculiar branch of commerce. As an example of this, take the retail grocers' associations, or retail bakers, of any of our cities where they are organized. As a body they invariably have more weight in any affair touching their business as a whole, and they are enabled to take up lines of action that will safeguard and further their common interests in various ways. They, with a greater chance of success, could enlist the cooperation of all manufacturers and wholesale jobbers in securing more just and equitable prices in all classes of staple and standard merchandise, could prevent misrepresentation in advertisements claiming to sell at less than cost price, and could promote legislation in the direction of simplifying the collection of debts. A large and effective dead-beat list could be made, and they would be able to promote proper equalization of taxation and insurance rates. These are only a few things which they could undertake as a corporate body.

SOCIAL FEATURES.

Then, such an association has also its valuable social features. By stimulating an active and thorough discussion of matters directly affecting their business interests, there would be wider and more extensive reading, and the members would find this to be a source of culture. Their debating and oratorical abilities would be cultivated, so that they would thus be better qualified for any office of the State which they might be called upon to fill by their country. The periodical banquets, balls, parties, lectures, etc., connected with such a society are also a feature not to be passed over, as they are valuable factors in promoting fellowship and good-will and giving the members an esprit de corps which would be to their own good.

BASIS OF ORGANIZATION.

In a small town or village, in the forming of such an association, the best results are obtained by organizing on as broad a basis as possible. Include all the retail merchants, regardless of what particular branch of trade they follow. This makes such an organization stronger numerically, and best results are obtained, as matters such as we have enumerated above as requiring consideration affect all lines alike. Whenever the butchers, bakers, grocers or hardwaremen feel strong enough they are always able to organize themselves into a separate or distinct body or as a branch of some parent association. Another danger of, say, the retail grocers organizing themselves into a distinct association with a distinct and definite policy is that those engaged in the same branch of commerce who are opposed to something in their platform may form themselves into a rival association.

NECESSITY FOR TACT AND KNOWLEDGE.

For the successful formation of a retail association a great deal of tact and skill is required. Its advocates must be well informed as to its objects and aims and its advantages. They should make a careful study of the subject, and if a number, however small, are found willing to hold a meeting and form an association. It may require the services of a canvasser to secure the support of all parties so that the institution may be thoroughly representative and be successfully put on its feet. It then depends on the energy and undaunted resolution of the members to continue what has been commenced. They could by using a great deal of tact induce others to enter with them as they gradually perceived the objects and aims of such a body. The support of the local press is also an invaluable aid.

BEGIN IF ONLY WITH HALF A DOZEN.

If there should be only five or six willing to enter, let them go to work and organize. Such a commencement will form a valuable nucleus for a larger body. As we have said before, it will depend on the members whether their efforts are to be crowned with success or doomed to failure.

PERSONNEL OF ASSOCIATIONS.

An association of retail merchants, of course, confines its members to only those engaged in the retail trade. Its constitution is always thoroughly democratic. Any qualified person is made a member of the association by motion at a regular meeting followed by a ballot the following month. All the officers are usually elected by nomination and ballot at a stated meeting. In cases when they are disqualified an election to fill the vacancy can be held at any regular or special meeting, providing a quorum be present. Of how many the quorum should consist depends on the size of the association.

The necessary officers are: President, vice-president and secretary-treasurer. The president's duty is to call the meeting, to preside thereat, to maintain order and decorum, and sign all orders and minutes. The vice-president performs all the duties of a president in his absence. The secretary-treasurer's duties are most onerous of all. He keeps a record of all the previous meetings, reads the minutes, attends to all correspondence, notifies members of the meetings, keeps a correct account between the association and its members, and charges and collects all fees. If convenient, all the monies collected by him are deposited in some chartered bank approved of by the members. He is also called upon to perform any other duty which the society may demand of him.

The above is the usual constitution of a merchants' association.

Meetings are conducted according to a definite plan. The hour is fixed at a time most convenient for the members to assemble; the president takes the chair and the meeting is declared open, providing there is a sufficient quorum to transact business. The following will be found useful in conducting such a meeting. The order of business being as follows :

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1. Roll-call of officers.
2. Reading minutes of previous meeting.
3. Reading correspondence.
4. Report of officers and committees.
5. Unfinished business.
6. Payment of dues.
7. New business and remarks in the interest of the association.
8. Closing.

By the adoption of a plan similar to this much confusion may be avoided and the transaction of business greatly facilitated.

Fees are levied on each member as settled by the by-laws and the requirements of the association. By-laws are adopted regulating the conduct of the members and other items. The constitution may be changed or amended at any time, but usually due notice and a two-third's vote of all the members is required.

In all matters not laid down in the constitution Parliamentary rules of order and procedure usually are adopted in the government of all meetings.

The above is an outline of how an association may be formed and governed and may set those desirous of forming one on the right track so that they themselves may institute and successfully carry out similar organizations.

Anyone, pausing a moment in consideration, can perceive the benefits and the utility of an association like unto that outlined above. And the dream of the idealist is that all over our fair country such organizations should exist, united to each other through a parent stem that, in anything demanding their united and non-political, cooperative support, it may be forthcoming from every part of the Dominion.

MANITOBA GRAIN INSPECTED.

THE returns for the month of November of grain inspected both at Winnipeg and Emerson were issued recently by Grain Inspector Horn, and, as expected, proved a record-breaker, there being no less than 10,272 cars of grain inspected, making a grand total of 23,078 cars inspected from September 1, the beginning of the present crop year, to November 30.

This amount was made up as follows : Wheat, 22,153 cars ; oats, 732 cars ; barley, 106 cars ; flax seed, 87 cars. Taking the average number of bushels per car, the total amount of grain inspected between the above dates is 19,458,390 bushels, made up follows :

| Grain.          | Ca s.  | Bushels.   |
|-----------------|--------|------------|
| Wheat .....     | 22,153 | 18,386,990 |

During the grain year extending from September 1, 1899, to August 31, 1900, the total amount of grain inspected was 33,663 cars, or 28,252,300 bushels. For the period extending from September 1, 1900, to August 31, 1901, the total amount inspected was only 12,956,670 bushels. It will be seen from the above figures that for the first three months of the present grain year the amount inspected, 19,458,390 bushels, is nearly half as much again as during the whole of the previous grain year, and nearly two thirds as great as for the whole year from September, 1899, to August 1, 1900.

THE MERCHANT FLEETS OF THE WORLD.

In a recent issue of Engineering an interesting comparison is made between the growth of the merchant fleets of the leading maritime nations of the world. The most remarkable increase in tonnage has occurred in the German fleet, which has nearly doubled during the last 10 years. The French fleet has not materially increased, notwithstanding heavy subsidies. The United States fleet has increased by only about 200,000 tons, and Norway, Russia and Sweden all show small gains. The following table gives the details :

|                        | 1890.      | 1900.      |
|------------------------|------------|------------|
| United Kingdom .....   | 10,241,856 | 13,241,446 |
| United States .....    | 1,823,822  | 2,035,062  |
| Danish .....           | 280,065    | 519,011    |
| Dutch .....            | 378,784    | 530,277    |
| French .....           | 1,045,102  | 1,350,562  |
| German .....           | 1,369,311  | 2,650,033  |
| Italian .....          | 816,567    | 983,655    |
| Norwegian .....        | 1,584,355  | 1,640,812  |
| Russian .....          | 427,335    | 720,901    |
| Spanish .....          | 534,811    | 694,780    |
| Swedish .....          | 475,964    | 637,272    |
| Austro-Hungarian ..... | 269,648    | 416,084    |

In a computation of the exports of all the principal countries of the world it is found that the value of all the exports from the various countries in 1898 increased by over $1,140,000,000 by the time they became imports at their destination ; and, while some part of this increase may be due to profits, insurance, etc., a large proportion of it was due to transport charges.

COFFEE PRODUCTION OF INDIA.

THERE were 215,405 acres of land under coffee in India in 1900, all situated in Southern India with the exception of 387 acres. Its cultivation is restricted for the most part to a limited area in the elevated region above the south-western coast, the coffee lands of Mysore, Coorg, and the Madras districts of Malabar and the Nilgiris, comprising 88 per cent. of the whole area under the plant in India. About 52 per cent. of this area is in Mysore, where there were 128,087 acres in 1900, and the plant is grown on 99,088 acres, being 40 per cent. of the whole, in the British districts of Coorg (68,596 acres), the Nilgiris and Malabar (30,492). In Madras there is no extensive cultivation except in these two districts and in Salem and Madura. Coffee is also grown, but on a very restricted scale, in Burma, Assam, Bengal, and Bombay. The fall in prices since 1897 has removed the stimulus which had been given for a few years to the further expansion of the coffee-growing area, while disease has combined with adverse climatic conditions to reduce the yield. The quantity produced last year was but little more than half the quantity produced ten years ago. Altogether 113,813 persons were employed on coffee estates (22,128 permanently and 91,685 temporarily), which is equal to one person to about 2.16 acres. The Indian producer is entirely dependant upon the external markets, which in order of importance are the United Kingdom, France, Ceylon, Asiatic Turkey and Persia, Australia, Arabia, Germany, and Austria-Hungary. France is therefore India's second largest customer for coffee, and takes on an average about one-third of the whole quantity. It is consequently obvious that the Indian coffee producer has an intimate interest in the question of the application to Indian coffee entering France of a higher rate of duty than that imposed upon Brazilian coffee—a question with which the readers of this journal will be familiar. Coffee is not sold, as tea is sold, before shipment for export, and there is therefore no Indian quotation of price. The average price per cwt. in London for East-Indian plantation coffee in 1890 was 106s. 2½d., since when it has steadily declined, until last year, in consequence of the great expansion of the Brazilian production, it reached the lowest known level, viz., 47s. —Tea.

VITALITY OF THE TEA PLANT.

The following remarkable illustration of the vitality of the tea plant is given by a correspondent in The Tropical Agriculturist:—"In 1860 the agent of my firm at Chittagong sent a large quantity of tea-seed to Ceylon. This was planted in a nursery amidst coffee plants; the field of coffee was abandoned in 1862 and with it the nursery of tea. Twenty years afterwards the Chena—20 feet high—was felled, and burnt off, and apparently all vegetation was destroyed. With the first rains, wonderful to say, the tea shot up most luxuriantly, as if it had only been cut down, whilst all the other plants burned off were killed."

NEW GRAIN GRADES.

At a meeting of The Western Grain Standard's board held at Winnipeg on December 3, at which were representatives from Montreal, Winnipeg and other western points, it was decided a new commercial grade for this season's grain crop should be established. So it was resolved that any wheat not fit to go into No. 3 Northern, and so graded by the inspectors shall be graded as a commercial grade. No. 1 wheat, at the discretion of the inspector. Alberta oats were also graded as follows:

No. 1, white Alberta oats shall be plump, clean, and free from other grain and weigh not less than 37 lb. per bushel.

No. 2, Alberta oats shall be reasonably clean and reasonably free from other grains, and weigh not less than 34 lb. per bushel.

A NEW KIND OF RANCH.

The Ontario Fishermen's Bait and Hatching Co., Limited, a new concern, has been formed, which has secured control of Coleman's Flats, Belleville, Ont. It will use them as a grasshopper ranch and will thus supply bait in abundance to the fishermen. Last year Captain Crawford had all the boys in the district catching hoppers for a cent a dozen, which he sold, and made a good deal of money. So this new concern also expects to make a good thing out of its ranch, as the grasshoppers breed fast, and will be well fed. This ranch is said to be the only one of its kind in the world.

ST. MARYS CREAMERY'S SUCCESS.

At the fourth annual meeting of The St. Marys Cooperative Creamery Co., held at St. Marys, the auditors' report was the most satisfactory yet submitted. It stated that during the past 12 months the total milk received was 10,121,405 lb., an increase of nearly 3,000,000 lb. over last year. The total output of butter was 422,933 lb., as compared with 311,546 lb. for last year, showing an increase of 111,385 lb. The total amount received for this butter was $72,986.64.

Since 1898, when the creamery was first inaugurated, there has been a steady growth in the price paid to their patrons for their butter. During the first year they obtained 14.05 cents per lb., while all last season the average amount received was 17.25 cents. Also in 1898, it took 24.58 lb. of milk to produce a pound of butter, while this year it only took 23.93 lb. for the same purpose.

During the four years that this concern has been in operation they have handled a total amount of 39,088,062 lb. of milk, from which there has been made 1,619,993 lb. of butter. For this they have paid out $259,378.63. A dividend of 5 per cent. was declared for this season.

HEIGHTH OF THE TEA PLANT.

The tea plant will grow a height of 20 feet, if left to itself, with a circumference of about the same, but it is kept down to 3 feet by constant pruning. After a year or two of plucking, the plant naturally loses vitality, to send forth abundance of new shoots; it then receives the unmerciful treatment of dismemberment; its branches are lopped off to such an extent that it looks utterly ruined. But as though its vital parts had appreciated the rest, it bursts forth with renewed vigor, and in a few weeks is prepared for the ordeal of another year's constant plucking. It is the practice in some places to prune somewhat lightly every year, and in others to treat the plants with heavier pruning biennially.—Tea, London.

THE FISH TRADE.

A city business man informs us that the fish trade just now is looking black, especially in Brazil. Several cargoes recently shipped there did not realize nearly the sum anticipated. The price keeps good but by some juggling amongst the purchasers abatements on every cargo have been made. One load that was considered exceptionally good leaving here was, on discharging, found undesirable from the buyer's standpoint, who demanded and received £600 abatement. This is outrageous and very few firms can stand a loss such as this. In fact, they prefer to give up the Brazil trade entirely unless such steps are taken to prevent such downright robbery. The European market just now is not in a flourishing state, prices being very weak; and there is no prospect of advance for some time to come. Norwegian and French "lave" have been poured in making it impossible to dispose of our product. The prospects just now are not bright, although the quantity of fish held here is far from being up to the average.—Herald, St. John's, Nfld.

Thomas Pollock, late of Ruthven, Ont., has opened up a grocery store in Brookdale, Ont.

THE OLIVE HARVEST.

Californian olive growers are preparing to harvest their crop. In every orchard in the State the trees are loaded with the fruit, and the acreage devoted to the cultivation of olives is much larger this year than ever before. In recent years the yearly crop of olives seldom ran over 2,000 barrels, or, taking seven barrels to the ton, about 286 tons. The growers who sell their olives as they come from the trees have formerly received $60 per ton for their product, or about three cents a pound. It costs one cent a pound to pick the fruit, thus allowing the growers $40 a ton for their olives. This year the total crop of the State will reach 800 tons, or 5,600 barrels, an increase of 3,600 barrels over last year. The price this year has dropped 33 1/3 per cent. Olives now bring only $40 a ton as they come from the tree, half of which goes to the pickers, thus allowing the growers only $20 a ton.—Scientific American.

EARLY CLOSING AT BRANTFORD.

In Brantford, Ont., there is being gotten up a petition asking that all the stores be closed at 6 o'clock each evening excepting Saturday, when they are to be closed at 10 o'clock. To secure the desired legislation each trade has to get up a separate petition, signed by three-quarters of the persons engaged in each business. As soon as they have secured as many signatures as they can, these petitions will be presented to the city council, asking that a by-law may be passed enforcing early closing.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

SIXTEEN or eighteen grocers were all that braved the wind and the cold rain on the evening of December 9 to attend this year's last meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocer's Association in St. George's Hall, Elm street. But the deficiency in numbers was more than made up by the great enthusiasm of those present. The president of the association, B. Panter, occupied the chair and called the meeting to order as soon as Secretary Edward Hawes was ready to read the minutes of the previous meeting, which, it will be remembered, was held to make arrangements for the association's waiting on the city council in support of the early-closing movement.

A report of the above-mentioned deputation was presented by T. Holmes, who stated that the aldermen seemed afraid to touch the amended by-law on account of the proximity of the local elections, and, as a result, no action had been taken by the Toronto City Council. This report was adopted.

F. W. Johnston then moved that $50 should be taken from the general fund and devoted to an At-Home and oyster supper which he proposed should be held at the beginning of the coming year. R. B. Snow was the able seconder of this motion. But, after an interesting discussion, it was amended so that, instead of having a big oyster supper or banquet, the money so taken should be devoted to the serving of refreshments at each meeting as long as it would last.

The amended resolution was unanimously carried with great applause.

F. W. Johnston is to select two others, who will form a committee and dispose of this aforesaid amount for refreshment purposes.

A rather humorous report of the meeting in which some retail grocers organized themselves into a section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada was given by R. Davis, who had attended that gathering. In his opinion the whole affair was managed by two or three men who formed a sort of family compact and kept all the offices amongst themselves. He said that there was no retail grocers of any great influence, excepting, perhaps, one or two, attached to this new organization.

A committee consisting of David Bell, R. Robertson and W. J. Sykes was appointed by the president to look into the details and report to the executive regarding an annual ball and supper which they propose to have again next year, about February, in the Temple Building, the place used on former occasions.

Edward Hawes was asked to continue in the secretaryship which he at present holds till someone else can be found who is capable and willing and has sufficient time at his disposal to fill the office.

As the picnic business of last summer had not yet been wound up, some of the prizes donated not yet being handed over, it was left to the executive committee to be attended to and the secretary was instructed to write to the donators of the prizes not yet received, asking them to send them in.

Some accounts were ordered to be paid, after which the nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year was proceeded with. The results of the elections were as follows:

President—W. J. Sykes (acclamation).
Vice-President—David Bell.
Treasurer—J. S. Schoales (acclamation).
Secretary—Edward Hawes (acclamation).
Executive—R. B. Snow, F. W. Johnston, J. Nolan, Robert Robertson.
Trustees—J. D. Bond (acclamation), A. White, T. S. Roberts.
Auditors—B. Panter, J. Kendall.

It was requested that each member should bring as many friends as he could with him to the next meeting, which will be in January 1902. At this meeting the reports of the various committees, secretary, treasurer, auditors, etc., will be submitted, and the retiring officers and others will make their addresses. The newly-elected officers will also have something to say.

The meeting then adjourned at 10 30 p.m.

NOW THE E. W. GILLETT CO., LIMITED.

The E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont., has made an application to the Ontario Government for a charter. This company has been conducting business in Toronto for nearly 20 years, and are well known as the manufacturers of "Royal" Yeast, Gillett's Lye, "Magic" Baking Powder, etc. During this time this company was working in connection with an United States concern, but now as the company is organized, the business will be an all-Canadian one. The capitalization of the concern is $300,000, and the provisional directors are: E. W. Gillett, Wm. Dobie, and George Hepburn.

THE CANADA BEET SUGAR CO.

In the County of Waterloo canvassers are hard at work amongst the farmers endeavoring to secure contracts for the required acreage of beets as a guarantee to The Canada Beet Sugar Co. that when the sugar factory is completed there, the supply of beets necessary to keep it running will be forthcoming. Three thousand acres have already been secured, and as soon as 2,000 acres more are assured the company will commence building operations on their sugar factory, which will cost about $700,000. This plant will for the first year require 500 tons and for the second 1,000 tons every 24 hours to keep it running. The necessary seed will be furnished to the farmers, which can be paid for with beets at the rate of $4 per ton. For the second and third years 33⅓c. per ton for every 1 per cent. of sugar in the beets will be given.

The trip made recently from Waterloo county, by a number of business men and others interested, to Michigan proved the possibilities of the industry, and no difficulty ought to be experienced in securing the necessary contracts, as Waterloo is the wealthiest county in the Province, and it will not be necessary to seek for outside capital to carry out their project.

SUNDAY CLOSING IN MONTREAL.

The Montreal Retail Grocers' Association held a very enthusiastic and well-attended meeting last Thursday night at the Monument Nationale, when, besides discussing important matters, 25 grocers were admitted to membership.

Ald. Turner presided. The first matter that was brought up had been mooted at the previous meeting and had created considerable discussion in other trade bodies. This was the matter of Sunday trading. It is felt that there are a large number of shops that keep open on Sunday under one pretext or another, and deprive law-abiding grocers of a considerable amount of business. It was decided to petition the city council to enforce the by-law. Ald. Turner promised to bring the matter up before the council, and it is likely the grievance will be ameliorated.

A campaign will be commenced to have the licence law amended at the next session of Parliament, and Secretary Dixon was instructed to send a letter to all the principal grocers in the Province of Quebec, asking them to assist the Grocers' Association to accomplish this object.

THE ST. JOHN, N.B., ICE CO.

The St. John Ice Co., St. John, N.B., held a meeting last week and elected their officers as follows:

President—Walter O. Prudy.
Vice-president—J. Fraser Gregory.
Secretary-treasurer—James Dart.
Directors—James U. Ru-sel, James D. Seely, L. T. Crosby, D. J. Purdy, M.P.P.

A dividend of 6 per cent. was declared, which will be paid on December 15.

It is not good policy to offer substitutes for Royal Baking Powder, nor to sell the cheap alum powders under any circumstances.

The consumer whose trade is most valuable wants the best and purest goods, and in baking powder this is the "Royal." If he does not find the Royal at your store he will go elsewhere for it, and in so doing there is a liability that he will carry all his orders with him.

THE TEAPOT IN INDIA.

By SIR EDWIN ARNOLD.

IN a recent speech upon the Assam labor question Lord Curzon made a suggestion which may prove to be the beginning of a new era in India. Full of ideas as is the accomplished Viceroy, I am inclined to think that the most brilliant and fruitful of them all was set on foot when his Excellency asked why India could not be induced to drink her own tea. Why not, indeed? we may well inquire. It is known that she grows the best tea in the world, and Assam, indeed, is the original mother-country of the little bush which has become so famous and necessary. Yet, as a matter of fact,

HARDLY AN OUNCE

of tea, black or green, is consumed by Indian natives; it is still as strange and foreign to them as it was to Mr. Pepys when, on September 28, 1660, he wrote in his diary: "I did send for a cup of tea, a China drink, of which I had never drank before." That was the beginning of the "cup that cheers" in England, and it was about the same time when the chairman of The East-Indian Company, writing to Calcutta, added the famous postscript to his letter, "Tell our agent to buy and send hither six pounds of the best tay he can gette." And now what a business it is! Indian and Ceylon between them do an enormous trade, which has quite outpaced the teagardens of China and could and will be greatly extended. Japan and the Celestial Empire are their principal rivals, but

JAPAN DRINKS A GREAT DEAL

of her own and sends all the surplus to the United States, the world in general, which in this case really means Russia, America and England being supplied, the first-named entirely from China, and the others from the general market. Now it would be an excellent thing if India would take to the drinking of tea. That it may become a universal and popular beverage is proved by Japan, where, taken without milk or sugar, its use is constant and pervading. Many other nations have

SPECIAL DRINKS.

The South-American takes his "mate"; the African his "pombe"; the Polynesian "kava," and so on. But the Hindoo has always been contented with simple water. I hardly know of any other potable among them except the liquid in which rice has been boiled, which they call "conjee," and sometimes, perhaps, milk and water, with a little spice in it. The Hindoo housewife does not make stews nor soups—forbidden these things by her creed—and very rarely does she provide anything like a vegetable broth.

MOST OF THE HOUSEHOLD FOOD,

such as chupattis, grain, etc., is cooked on sheets of iron, the saucepan coming very little into the domestic cuisine. The Hindoo housewife knows nothing of cocoa or chocolate, and has never even tasted that coffee of which her Mohammedan sister partakes. But what an excellent thing it would be if Lord Curzon's idea should make her a tea-drinker. Taken as the Japanese take it, pure and simple, without cumbrous paraphernalia, tea-drinking would well suit the population. First of all it would, as in Japan and China, lead to the general habit of boiling all the drinking water. That one custom by hundreds of thousands, for the peasants, once habituated, would take cold tea with them to the fields, and avoid for themselves and their children the terrible evils of the village-tank. Next, tea, though only slightly nourishing, prevents waste of tissue, and helps food to assimilate; so that the trifle spent in a cheap but good leaf would be well repaid. Thirdly, it is a social cup, conducive to conversation and family peace, and would be a great boon to the patient, gentle womenfolk who have such few pleasures.

WOULD SAVE LIVES

Of course, there must be no question of five-o'clock fashions and

ELABORATE TEA EQUIPAGES.

A kettle, a teapot, and some cups should comprise all the machinery necessary. Milk and sugar are innovations introduced by the West; and spoons, plates and cream-jugs, are not in popular knowledge. Every morning the Hindoo household sends forth a mother, an aunt, or a sister to the village well, where the chat of copper, brass, or baked clay is filled to the brim, corked with a tuft of convolvulus or lemon-grass, and carried back to the hut for the day's consumption. The cooking-stove is a hole in the ground with a few stones, the fuel charecoal or cow-dung cakes. Everything is primitive, and will remain so. Yet, if once Lord Curzon's good idea should strike root into the soil, I hardly know than tea-drinking established as a habit among the Hindoos. Besides the countless lives saved by boiling the water, the homes made pleasant by the little social graces which cluster round the teapot, and the pride and comfort of a little luxury embellishing daily life, it would be a stupendous lift for the tea industry of the land. Accordingly the Viceroy's suggestion has been intelligently taken up. An official crusade for the propagation of the teakettle has actually been started. We learn from a high Indian authority: "A tea-distributing agency has been formed, and Messrs. Andrew Yule & Co. have undertaken the work of distribution for three years without remuneration except out-of-pocket expenses. The Tea Association has given a grant of 40,000 rupees. The large agency houses, headed by Messrs. Finlay, Messrs. Muir, Messrs. Yule, Messrs. MacNeill, Messrs. Octavius Steel, and others, have agreed to contribute three-quarters of a million pounds of tea annually. With the present low prices, the native consumption is expected to reach 15,000,000 or 20,000,000 pounds.

WHAT BOON COULD PROVE GREATER

THE OUTLOOK.

Mark how splendid is the outlook of all this! Talk of storms in a teacup: here is promise and potency of golden profits for the planters, enhanced revenue for the Government, and health and pleasure for a population of 250,000,000, all enshrined in a tea chest. If the notion took root, Assam and Cachar might safely double their tea-gardens; the English potters might make a little fortune in each district by turning out such utensils as native taste would demand, and although sobriety is a virtue which few Hindoos have to learn, the use of tea is everywhere seen, and above all in Japan, to be the greatest friend of temperance and gentle manners. There is in the idea of supplying Indian railway travellers with hot and cold tea in place of the untempting and rather perilous water jars now on offer at all stopping stations. Cold, weak tea is probably the best and safest beverage for thirsty throats; and if Lord Curzon's suggestion led to nothing more than a growing habit of boiling drinking water it would be a result worth any efforts. Only too much must not be hoped for. The Hindoo is beyond all men cautious, conservative, and cast-ridden. The tea he uses would have to be specially grown, prepared, and guaranteed, and the Brahmins and higher classes must first be won to the teapot. Perhaps something classical might be found in the scrolls of Hindoo mythology which would sanctify and recommend the tealeaf, as has happened in the case of the sweet basil. In front of almost every Hindoo door will be seen a square earthenware pot marked with rude figures in colored chalk, and containing a dwarf shrub. This is the plant consecrated to the protecting deity; and the Indian housewife would as soon forget to grind the day's grain in the little stone mill as to pour the morning water over the Tulsi-plant on her doorstep. My good friend, Sir Mountstuart Grant-Duff, who, like King Solomon, knows the eastern flora from the cedar to the hyssop, could find, I am sure, something charming and authoritative about that plant which, indigenous in Assam, has borrowed its name of "Tcha" from China, and is least of all known in the land where it grows best and most naturally. If, then, Lord Curzon can teach India to drink tea he would, in my judgment, deserve for ever to rank among her greatest benefactors. —Daily Telegraph.

A WHOLE GOLD MINE

THE HOLY TULSI,

GOING OUT OF POLITICAL LIFE.

IT is with regret that we learn of the decision of Col. Prior, of Victoria, B.C., to retire from politics, either Provincial or Dominion.

He is the type of man of which we have altogether too few in political life, namely, the practical business man.

No doubt politics had some attraction for him; but it must have entailed a good deal of sacrifice on his part to take so much of his time from the hardware business of which he is the head, to devote himself to the affairs of his country. For the time he has been in public life he is deserving of the thanks of those who stand with this journal in preferring the practical business man in Parliament to the man who makes politics a profession with a view to advancing his own interests.

It matters little or nothing what a man's party predilections may be as long as he is a practical business man with a good fund of common sense. Business men are gradually recognizing this. And just as they recognize and practice it will the personnel of our legislative bodies improve.

The respective political parties in Ontario are at present engaged in selecting their standard-bearers for the contest which is to come off at the polls a few months hence, and it is to be hoped that at the party caucuses the business men are exercising their influence on behalf of business men as their nominees. Now is their opportunity. And an opportunity cannot be grasped after it has gone by.

A MEAN MERCHANT.

A VOID meanness, for there is no trait which tends to bring a merchant more readily into disrepute with his customers.

We have in mind a certain retail merchant whose trait of meanness at times leads him pretty close to the verge of dishonesty.

One thing, for instance, that appears to be a common practice with him is in regard to the value he attaches to the United States 10c. piece. If he takes it in over the counter from a child, he reckons it at 8c., but when he gives it out in change he values it at 10c. We know of a family who was curious enough to experiment with him in this particular, and the results were invariably the same.

Another way in which the merchant exhibits his meanness is in adding on a cent here and there to an account when children are sent to pay it. For example, one of his customers who runs a weekly account has discovered that he has been in the habit of adding an additional cent per pound or cent per dozen, as the case may be, if between the time the goods were bought and the time they were paid for the market price had appreciated by that amount. This, of course, he only did when children were sent to pay the accounts, which makes the practice all the more detestable.

A GOOD TRADE SIGN.

The returns regarding the bank clearings in Canada continue to afford a good deal of food for satisfaction.

During November the returns aggregated $163,188,409, an increase of 8.6 per cent. compared with the same month a year ago. For the 11 months ending November the returns aggregated $1,694,440,211, or 17.1 per cent. in excess of the corresponding period of 1900.

It is evident that as long as the bank-clearings' barometer reads so favorably we need not have much concern regarding the trade conditions of the country.

AN UNEXPECTED REVERSION.

DURING the month of November it was a pretty unanimous opinion of the trade that we were to see a marked reversion from the high prices that have been ruling on pork and all hog products for some months. There has been a light supply of hogs all summer—not nearly great enough to supply the demand. It was thought that the high prices that had been ruling would lead to extensive hog-raising both in Canada and the United States, that this fall would see heavy marketing of hogs, and that prices would decline proportionately.

Although this prediction developed into partial truth, and values did decline quite a number of points in November, the bear movement has ceased and a recovery has been going on during the past two weeks. Chicago has advanced 150 points, and it would appear that we are again to see a continuation of very high prices on pork and lard. Lard is 10c. per pail higher on the Montreal market this week, hams, 1c. per lb. and pork, 50c. per bbl. higher. Pork-packers are taking all the hogs offering at 6¼c. live weight and complain there are not enough. Dealers have infinite difficulty in securing sufficient supplies, either from our Canadian or from United States packers.

A circumstance that has upset nearly everybody's calculations has been the high price of corn. It seems that the large line of hogs that has been coming into Chicago has been forced upon the market because the farmers have had no corn to feed them. A statement just at hand points out that the November run of hogs last year averaged 242 lb., and this year only 218 lb., a decrease of 24 lb. per hog. Students of the market take this as an indication that farmers are marketing every available hog, and that the supplies are likely to become smaller, rather than larger. Stocks of lard at the world's ports are 30,000 tierces less than last year. All of which would indicate that pork and lard will not be cheaper, and may possibly be higher, until the spring months.

STRONG STATISTICAL POSITION OF TEAS.

IF statistics are any criterion as to the market condition of any commodity, those relating to tea should incline one strongly to the opinion that high, rather than low, prices are likely to rule during this season.

From figures which have recently been gathered from various sources it is estimated that the shipments of tea this season will be at least 44,000,000 lb. less than last season. Up to a recent date the shipments of China teas were 30,000,000 lb. short of last year; those from India 10,000,000 lb. short, while those from Ceylon and Japan were 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 lb. less from each country than they were a year ago.

Our information this week from all sources indicates a strong market for all descriptions of teas, particularly in China greens, which are almost unobtainable. A small shipment of fine gunpowder was received on the Toronto market this week, but the price asked the wholesale trade is 30 to 35c. per lb.

In London, England, there appears to be some stocking up as a protection against a further increase in the duty on tea. The possibility of an increase in the duty on tea is, however, so small that teamen would scarcely think it worth while to protect themselves were it not for a realization of the fact that the future of the market favors higher prices, and that, therefore, very little risk is being run by anticipating requirements. Both the Calcutta and Colombo markets are also firm. The strength of the market centres largely around teas for price.

From what we can gather regarding the statistical position in Canada, very few teas are held in first hands in London, Hamilton or Montreal, while in Toronto teas for price are becoming scarce, both in Indian and Ceylon descriptions. During the past week in Toronto there have been transactions in some good-sized lots of low-grade

Indian and Ceylon teas. The price of low-grade spot teas in Canada is below that ruling on the London, Eng., market. Consequently, there is, at the moment, little or nothing doing for shipment from that point.

AFFAIRS OF THE ROSS TEA CO.

A NOTICE bearing date of December 4 has been issued to the creditors of the Ross Tea Co., Toronto, announcing that the assets of the company have been sold to Mrs. Jennie Ross, wife of the owner of the business. The letter reads as follows:

RE ROSS TEA CO.

DEAR SIR,—Owing to action being taken by one of the largest creditors, Mr. Ross thought it proper to consult his creditors as to the proper course to be pursued in view of the fact that he was unable to meet his liabilities.

At a meeting held at my office on November 29 the creditors approved of the sale to Mrs. Jennie Ross of the assets of The Ross Tea Co. for the sum of $500, notes for which sum are to be placed in my hands, and, on payment, distributed pro rata among the creditors after deducting necessary expenses. The advisability of disposing of the assets in some other manner was fully discussed, but the creditors were unanimously of the opinion that the proposition of Mrs. Ross would realize more for the creditors than any other way of disposing of the assets and much more than by an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

After collection of these notes you will receive a dividend upon your claim, particulars of which please forward to me.

Yours truly,

RICHARD TEW.

Toronto, December 4, 1901.

Upon inquiry, it is learned that such a meeting was held, at which were present creditors whose accounts were $100 or over in amount. And, as long as the assets were sold at a figure approximating their value, such a transaction as that reported is legal. What strikes one forcibly is the small value that is placed upon such a concern as The Ross Tea Co. The inventory, however, discloses nothing more. The quantity of tea in stock was only about 100 lb., while the rest of the assets were largely made up of one tea-packing machine, office furniture, labels and other printed matter, and $200 collateral in the bank, which last-named item is understood to have shrunk to about $70, on account of returned drafts.

The action referred to was taken by the Lipton Company to recover the amount of $1,250 due on notes which had matured but had not been retired. The action came before the court in Toronto about November 26 or 27, and when an effort to induce the Lipton Company to drop the case and share pro rata with the rest of the creditors proved abortive, the mutiny referred to was held, the object being to consult the other creditors before judgment was given. At this meeting, as already pointed out, Mr. Ross was advised to sell the assets to Mrs. Ross, which, as already pointed out, he did. The Lipton Company also holds additional notes against the company which are not yet due. They are said to be at least equal in amount to those upon which judgment has already been secured.

Prior to the writ being issued by the Lipton Company, the Ross Company offered to pay 100c. on the dollar, provided the former company would accept notes covering a period up to 18 months. This it agreed to do, provided the notes were endorsed, but to this the Ross Company would not consent, and the issuance of the writ followed.

The notes which Mrs. Ross has given for the assets cover a period of from two to six months.

The total liabilities of the company are about $6,000. Against this are assets of $500, minus the amount to be deducted for necessary expenses. Unless this sum is augmented from some other source, it is evident the outlook for the creditors is very poor, indeed.

The Ross Tea Company was started by Mr. Ross shortly after the Monsoon Tea Company, of which he was manager, was sold to G. F. & J. Galt a little over a year ago. The amount of capital he put into the business was about $5 000. The financial difficulty of the company is said to have been brought about largely from excessive expenditure in advertising matter, some $10,000 having been thus expended.

STRONGER CURRANT MARKET.

The currant market in Greece has taken another bullish turn, there having been two or three advances during the week. The aggregate advance is about 2s. per cwt.; and later cables say the tendency is still upward.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

DURING the past week speculative interests have been very busy among canned-goods distributors, tomatoes, of course, getting the most attention; corn and peas have been in active movement. As we anticipated, the question of futures is already developing as one of the most important for the new season, and quite a number of contracts have been signed for peas, corn and tomatoes of the pack of 1902, prices, however, being generally left open. The holders of tomatoes at present appear to be very much inclined to reap the harvest that is in sight. The activity in tomatoes during the past week has naturally resulted in putting quotations a peg higher. Standard No. 3 are quoted at $1.05 to $1.10; extras, $1.20; standard No. 2, 80 to 85c.; gallons, $3.20 to $3.50.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 6.

CALCUTTA TEA SALES.

Sales on Friday, the 1st inst., totalled about 26,000 packages, most of which were disposed of in the auction room. The quality, generally, was again good average, although here and there inferior tea was shown from the Dooars. A better selection from Darjeeling was before the trade, and sellers were fortunate to meet a particularly strong demand and keen competition; indeed, the spirited bidding for these kinds was the feature of the sale; otherwise there was no change in the tone of the market. It was again strong and active, and certain types of high-class tea were dearer; on the other hand, for plain liquoring sorts and commonest descriptions there was no inclination to follow the smart advance last week; if anything, these kinds were a shade easier, though they were not quotably lower. This was to be expected, as it is not unlikely that the recent advance on the home market may prove to be spontaneous, coming as it has before London has handled one-third of this year's crop.—Planting Opinion, Madras, November 9.

PROVISION-TRADE OUTLOOK IN THE U. S.

The week has shown added speculative excitement. It has been provoked among the outsiders, particularly not only by the showing of stocks of the products, but by the rapid advance in prices of corn. Indeed, the corn influence has been uppermost. As the season advances the short crop of the grain appears most significant. Some feeding sections are either out of supplies of corn, or hold moderate quantities of it, and believe that arbitrary prices will prevail before the close of the season. In many localities feeding of wheat is compulsory. Indeed, this wheat-feeding, to which we alluded a fortnight or more since, has been recognized this week in a general way as of quite an extensive order. But the prices of wheat now are advancing as rapidly as corn, and it would seem probable that wheat would be fed in a more conservative way, except in sections where it is impossible to get corn, except by buying it at neighboring markets. It rather looks, however, as though all of the possibilities of the grain markets were being discounted, that the advance is coming too soon, and that the outsiders, as speculators, were all trying to get in before the limit of prices was reached and that the general situation of the grain was swept along to limits not perhaps warranted by actual supplies at present, or the needs for consumption. We, however, have all along contended that the hog crop is a large one, well up to that of the previous year, possibly exceeding it, and that the requirements of grain consequently by feeders are liberal. But the fact that hogs are being marketed in an urgent way, that a larger number of them than in ordinary seasons are of poor weights, means that there is as careful use of the grain as possible, while the materially diminished export movement of corn as against last year, means something in losing effect from the remarkably short corn crop. There is no reason, however, why this should not be a season of remarkably high prices, not only for corn, but for hog products and those commodities associated with hog products, such as cotton oil, etc.—National Provisioner, December 7.

BRITISH CURRANT MARKET.

The wise precaution of having fruit at this particular time ready for immediate delivery has caused the duty-paid clearances of currants to be heavy, but market transactions with dealers commence to show the falling off which is generally expected at so late a period of the year. An absolutely reliable statistical position is very difficult to obtain; in consequence there is a want of confidence in the future, and a great indisposition on the part of dealers and grocers to carry heavy stocks into the new year. The first endeavor of the present season on the part of speculators to force the hand of the trade was made at the end of last week, and the field of operations selected was Vostizza fruit. This growth was forced up about 2s. per cwt., but only a few regular buyers were induced by the manoeuvre into making purchases at the advanced price. How completely unjustified was the proceeding may be gathered from the fact that in less than a week the greater portion of the advance has been again lost, and ordinary Vostizza fruit is now again to be bought at the lowest price touched during the season. The immediate result of the increase in the price of Vostizza has been to accentuate the demand for Provincial and Patras, which growths are this year of such excellent quality as to satisfy all requirements, except the most fastidious, and the present range of prices is quite as high as can be reasonably warranted.—Produce Markets' Review, November 30.

VALENCIA RAISINS IN ENGLAND.

The supplies of Valencia raisins considerably exceeded the expectations of everyone connected with the trade, and buyers showed a good deal of reticence, not knowing what the effect would be. It soon became evident that a decline would have to be instituted before business would be freely done, and a drop of 2s. proved to be sufficient to start the trade, and a considerable quantity changed hands. Towards the latter end of the week a firmer tone prevailed, and prices of the lowest grades advanced 1s. per cwt. The merchants, however, were not anxious sellers, preferring to wait the result of next week's market, which they appear to regard with confidence. The shipments afloat are considerably smaller than last week, and the time is now getting short for further supplies, so that in the event of the annually prophesied rush in December, which very rarely comes about, the holders would be able to obtain handsome prices for their remaining stocks.—Produce Markets' Review, November 30.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

With so many articles of interest attracting the attention of grocers, it is not surprising to find this week a slight falling off in the demand in this branch of trade. Although the present low rates for salmon have induced many to hold larger stocks than usual at this time of the year, it has had a contrary effect on others who have postponed buying in the hope of even further reductions. At present the position is stronger than for some time past, spot stocks are being rapidly reduced, and as a small quantity has been shipped by the overland route this season, the greater part being by sailing vessels which will not arrive before next March or February at the earliest, it is the general opinion that salmon is as cheap to-day, if not cheaper, than it will be for the next two months.—Produce Markets' Review.

MANITOBA'S BIG GRAIN YIELD.

THE following figures, denoting the total yield of Manitoba's grain crop of 1901, have been gleaned from the Government crop bulletin, issued on the 11th inst.

Wheat, 2,011,835 acres under crop; average yield, 25.1 bushels; total yield, 50,502,085 bushels. Oats, 689,951 acres; average yield, 40.3 bushels; total, 27,796,588 bushels. Barley, 191,009 acres; average, 34.2; total, 6,536,155. Flax, 20,978 acres; average, 12.7 bushels; total, 266,420 bushels. Rye, 2,707 acres; average, 23 bushels; total, 62,261 bushels. Total grain crop of the Province is 85,179,858 bushels.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, December 12, 1901.

GROCERIES.

A GOOD business is being done by the wholesale houses this week in all such seasonable lines of goods as foreign dried fruits, nuts, etc. The scarcity of Valencia raisins noted in last week's issue is becoming more pronounced, and, according to cable advices, there is a firmer tone to the market in Spain. In currants, there have been two or three advances in the primary market since our last, and prices are fully 2s. higher. The spice market continues firm, particularly in pepper, which is higher abroad. The sugar market is steady as to price, but the demand is not as brisk as it was. On account of the higher prices on corn syrup, there has been a good demand for bright sugar syrup. Only a moderate business is being done in molasses. Canned goods of all kinds are still only in moderate request, but prices rule steady, particularly on tomatoes, of which further shipments to the United States are reported. Although the outside coffee market has shown a little easiness, prices are still above the views of importers here. There have been a number of transactions in good lots of Indian and Ceylon teas on the spot, and the outside markets rule firm on all descriptions. China green teas are still scarce and high, although we hear of some shipments arriving on the local market this week.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in canned vegetables remains much about the same as a week ago, there being only a hand to mouth consumption. Prices, however, rule steady, particularly on tomatoes, which are quoted at 82½ to 85c. The idea for corn and peas is 80c. up. We hear of further shipments of tomatoes to the United States, one eastern cannery having sent out a lot to Minneapolis within the last few days. One of the representatives of this cannery told THE CANADIAN GROCER that this shipment had disposed of all the tomatoes which it had for sale. There is a small sorting-up demand for canned fruits, particularly peaches, strawberries, raspberries and pears. The ruling prices are $1.75 to $1.90 for peaches, $1.65 to $1.70 for strawberries, and $1.60 to $1.80 for raspberries. The demand for canned salmon has fallen off a little during the past week, but there is still a fairly active business being done for the season. We quote: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15. Shipments are understood to have been pretty well made on the Coast and the market appears to be in a healthy condition, on account of the large quantities which have been exported. Only a moderate business is being done in canned lobster, and in canned meats practically nothing is being done.

COFFEES.

The coffee market is a little easier than it was, although prices in Brazilian coffees are

See pages 37 and 38 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

still above the views of Canadian importers, consequently very little has been done on this account. The local demand for coffee on retail account is still small, but prices rule much as before. We quote: No. 7, 8c.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

CANDIED PEELS.

As is to be expected, an active business is being done in candied peels, and prices rule much as before. We quote: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

A good business is being done in nuts, and the market is now fairly well supplied with all seasonable descriptions. Newly shelled old walnuts have arrived on this market, and they are quoted at from 18 to 20c., according to quality. The demand for Grenoble walnuts has been so brisk that some houses are already out of supplies, and are waiting for the arrival of the second shipment. The ruling prices are: Grenobles, 10¾c. by the bale, up to 12c. for smaller quantities; Marbots, 9½ to 10¼c.; filberts, 9½ to 10¼c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is just a moderate demand for both these descriptions with prices much as before. We quote B rice, 3¼c.; Japan rice, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 4 to 4½c.; sago, 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

The pepper market shows further strength, especially in the black description, which is fully ½c. per lb. above the figures ruling 10 days ago. Cloves are also higher in the primary market, while ginger is holding strong. Locally there is a fair demand for seasonable spices.

SUGAR.

The demand for sugar is less brisk than it was a week ago on the local market, but prices rule steady and unchanged on the basis of $4.10 f.o.b. Montreal for Redpath and St. Lawrence granulated and $4.05 for Acadia. Quotations on yellows are still $3.35 for No. 1, up to $3.65 for No. 3 f.o.b. Montreal. In raw beet-root sugar a new record has been established of 7s. ¾d., the lowest price ever known. The price remained at that figure two days, and reacted on Saturday last to 7s. 1½d., advancing again on Monday to 7s. 3d. Stocks of raw sugar at the end of last week were 130,540 tons against 69,200 tons the same time last year. The receipts of sugar in the United States last week were again light, being 11,520 tons, while the meltings were 29,000 tons. The American refiners are drawing from importers' stocks, these having been reduced over 7,000 tons the last few days. The new Cuban crop is now being made, four central factories having started grinding. Mr. Dumas' first estimate of the new crop is now to hand, and he figures a possible 850,000 tons, or about 220,000 tons in excess of last year.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a fair demand for molasses for baking purposes at 25 to 28c. for New Orleans description in barrels and half-barrels respectively. Bright table sugar syrups are now in fairly good demand at 35 to 37c., the high price of corn description still stimulating business in the former. The ruling quotations on corn syrup are 3½c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb., and $1.20 in 25 lb. pails.

TEAS.

Conditions on the local tea market have improved somewhat during the past week, there having been some good transactions in Indian and Ceylon teas on spot. The turnover was nearly altogether in low-grade descriptions, and stocks here in this kind are getting into small compass. The London market is a good deal above the parity of the price being asked for spot stocks, and, consequently, business is nearly altogether confined to the latter. Advices to hand from Calcutta, Colombo and London report the market for Indian and Ceylon teas strong. In order to protect themselves against the possibility of an increase in the duty on tea, there is rather heavy buying in London, Eng. According to advices from different quarters, it is estimated that the shortage in the quantities of teas shipped from the different producing countries is 44,000,000 lb., of which 30,000,000 lb. were in China tea, 10,000,000 from India, and 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 lb. from Ceylon and Japan. Inquiries made in Montreal, Hamilton, and London, are to the effect that teas held in first hands are in small compass, while, as we have already pointed out, teas for price in Toronto are becoming scarce. The position of China green teas is still very strong. Inquiries are heard from all wholesalers for these teas, but they are very scarce. We hear of a shipment of fine gunpowders coming to hand, and it is being quoted to the wholesale trade at 30 to 35c. There is some inquiry for Japan teas at a price, but they are scarce and dear, and few, if any, transactions have taken place.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Since our last there have been two or three advances in prices in Greece, making the total gain about 2s. per cwt. and later cables say that the tendency of prices is still upward. Locally, there is a good demand for currants, and some of the wholesale houses are reported to be entirely sold out of the cheaper grades. The ruling quotations are: Fine Filatras, 6 to 6½c., and Campos are quoted at the same figure; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 7½ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The feeling in regard to Valencia raisins is stronger than it was a week ago. London quotations are about 1s. 6d. higher than they were, and at least two shipping houses in Denia have notified their representatives here of the withdrawal of quotations. There have been a few offers of fine fruit offered here, and they were quickly picked up by importers. Advices from Denia state that the quantity available for export is very small. The ruling price for selected is firm at 6½c., and for fine off stalk 5½ to 6c.

MALAGA RAISINS—These are meeting with a fairly good demand at steady prices. We quote as follows: Black baskets, $2.25; "Empire Clusters," $2.60; "Dehesa Clusters," $3.10; "Excelsior Clusters," $4.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.10; "Extra Dessert Clusters," $3.35; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $5.

PRUNES—The demand for prunes continues good and prices steady. We quote Californian prunes: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

FIGS—The sale of figs continues good. Mat figs are high and getting scarce on this market. We quote mat figs 3¼c.; naturals, 3¼ to 4¼c., according to quality; tapnets, 3¼c., and Elems figs range all the way from 8½ to 18c.

DATES—Are just in moderate request at 4½ to 4¾c. for Hallowees, and 4¼ to 4½c. for Sairs.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Business continues fair at 13 to 16c. for apricots in 25-lb. boxes, and at 11 to 13c. for peaches.

GREEN FRUITS.

In green fruits, Mexican and Valencia oranges are arriving freely, and a good demand is reported. Florida oranges have been selling well, and a large shipment is expected in a few days. Lemons are still plentiful, and there is a better movement from stock this week. A few pears which have been in cold storage are being offered at $2.50 to $3 per bbl., but they are very slow sellers. A shipment of Cape Cod and also of fancy Jersey cranberries has come, and they are selling briskly at from $9.50 to $10 per bbl., an advance of 50c. over last week. A shipment of Almeria grapes is on hand, with prices at $5.50 to $6.50 per keg. The approach of Christmas makes brisk sales in all lines. We quote: Apples, $3.50 to $4.50 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5 per bbl., or $2.75 to $3 per box; Florida oranges, $3.75 per box; Mexican oranges, $2.50 per box; Californian lemons, $3.50 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian oranges, $3.75 per box; Valencia oranges, $4 to $5.50 per case; Malaga grapes, $6 to $6.50; Almeria grapes, $5.50 to $6.50 per keg; cranberries, fancy Jerseys, $9.50 to $10; Cape Cod, $10; Budd's long keepers, $10 per bbl.; pine-apples, 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

Trade is quieter in all kinds of vegetables excepting carrots, parsnips, beets and potatoes, the latter having advanced 10c. per bag since last week. Hot-house lettuce, mint and parsley are beginning to come on the market. Egg plant, vegetable marrow, pumpkins and citrons are no longer offered.

A few Hubbard squash remain, however. We quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 40 to 50c. per doz.; radishes, 30 to 40c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.; cabbage, 25 to 40c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 90c. per bag; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The Christmas season coming on makes the price for eggs very firm. Strictly-fresh eggs are so scarce that they would command any price up to 28 or 30c. per doz. Fresh gathered are worth 18 to 20c.; cold-stored, 17 to 18c., and limed, 16 to 17c. per doz.

BEANS—A slightly-improved movement is reported. Prices are unchanged at $1.70 to $1.75 for choice handpicked, and $1.50 to $1.60 for prime.

HONEY—The demand has increased slightly, and the outlook is a little brighter. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9¼c.; less quantities, 10c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—There is a normal movement in dried apples, but they will remain quiet until after Christmas. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Evaporated apples 9c. in cartons and 10c. in less quantities. Dried apples 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—This article has been very scarce this week, few being offered. The price has advanced 10c. a bag on the track. We quote: Potatoes, 70c. per bag on track, 90c. per bag in small lots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The receipts of butter are free, with a majority thereof having an off flavor. Creamery butter is finding ready sales. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints sell at 20 to 21c., and creamery solids, 20c. per lb.

CHEESE—The more hopeful feeling in the cheese market, both here and in Montreal, is maintained, and by next week better prices are expected. The movement is fair with a big supply in storage. We quote: Cheese, 9½ to 9¾c. per lb.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY—The receipts this week are light, but, as the demand is poor, prices remain unchanged. The warmer weather interferes with their keeping and sales have to be pushed. We still quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6 to 6½c. per lb.; turkeys, 7 to 9c.

LIVE POULTRY—The bad roads prevalent throughout the country have caused live poultry to be very scarce on the local market. A good shipment has just been made to Great Britain. The price of spring chickens has advanced 1c.; the others are unchanged. The Canadian Produce Company, 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 2½c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The demand for fresh fish is fair, with good receipts in all lines, excepting in ciscoes, which are very scarce. The prices this week are unchanged, but in Baltimore, Md., the price of oysters has gone up 10c., and this, if maintained, will affect quotations here. In this line the demand has been good for this season of the year, and a very fair trade has resulted. We quote: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 7½ to 8c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—Standards sell at $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Although there has been a good movement of Manitoba wheat from western points, the high prices prevalent in Chicago have caused Manitoba hard to take another jump of 2c., and it now is selling at 89c. grinding in transit, or 88c. Toronto and west. On the local market the receipts have been light, and red and white wheat is 3c. higher, while barley, oats and buckwheat are 2c. firmer. We quote: White and red Ontario wheat, 70 to 76c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, new, 48 to 50c.; rye, 58c.; barley, 57 to 62c.; peas, 77 to 80c.; buckwheat, 54c.

FLOUR—On account of the higher prices of wheat, there has been an advance all around in flour. Ontario patents are 20c. and Hungarian patents and Manitoba bakers are 15c. higher, while straight roller has taken a jump of 35 to 40c. per bag. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.70 to $3.80; Hungarian patents, $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.90; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50 per bag in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand still continues brisk from all parts. Oatmeal and standard rolled oats have both advanced 10c. in carlots. The other prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.75; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $5.25; in bbls., 15c. more; broken lots are 25c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; corn-

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

The wool market looks no brighter, and it is altogether likely that the demand will continue poor for some time. Skins and hides are steadily moving, but trade in this line is no better than it was last year. There has been no change.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼ to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 70c.; deerskins, 12½ to 14c. per lb.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 8c.

SEEDS.

The home competition among buyers has caused the prices of red clover and alsike to advance from 5 to 10c. for the former and 25c. for the latter per bushel. As usual, better prices are given for extra fine samples and lower prices for poorer grades than those quoted. Timothy remains very quiet. We quote: Red clover, $4.80 to $5.10; alsike, $6.75 to $8.25, and timothy, $2 to $2.25 per bush.

MARKET NOTES.

Currants are 2s. per cwt. higher in Greece.

The game and venison season is over, and sale is now forbidden.

Further shipments of canned vegetables to the United States are reported.

Beet-root sugar has made another low record, having touched as low as 73. ¾d.

Oatmeal and rolled oats have taken another rise of 10c. per 100 lb. in car lots.

There has been a recent boom in lard, and it is now ¼c. per lb. higher all around.

Sweet potatoes are very scarce, and their price has advanced $1.50 to $1.75 a barrel.

Potatoes still continue very scarce, and the price has advanced 10c. a bag on the track.

Large shipments of Jersey cranberries have been received, and most of them are selling at $10 per barrel.

Valencia raisins are 1s. 6d. higher in London, and some of the shippers in Denia have withdrawn prices.

Good movements of Florida, Mexican, and Valencia oranges, while Californian oranges are just nicely beginning to come in.

The receipts of live poultry have greatly fallen off during the past week, and dealers believe that the country is nearly cleaned out.

R. W. Banks, formerly with F. Dane, has started into business for himself at 48 Front street east, under the style of the Hitlow Coffee Co.

Oysters have advanced 10c. on the Baltimore market, and this will affect the prices here as soon as the present stock on hand is used up.

The poor weather and bad roads are affecting the prices of wheat locally, and red and white wheat have advanced 3c., and oats and barley 2c. a bushel. Manitoba hard has also advanced 2c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, December 12, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE year will close with a good volume of business, December trade being much above that of last year. The market continues healthy throughout. Dried fruits showed several advances this week, chief among which are currants and prunes. The Grecian currant market is cabled nearly two shillings higher on the week's transactions and the tendency is higher. Californian advices bear out our opinion expressed some time ago that we would see higher prices for prunes; they were advanced ¼c. per lb. on Saturday; small sizes are decidedly scarce and the general tone of the market is strong. Raisins, on spot, are scarce and firm, particularly selected and layers. All quotations on Californian raisins are withdrawn and advances on seeded are anticipated in the local market. Almonds continue scarce and firm, while some houses have raised their prices on filberts. Patna rice is ¼c. per lb. higher and all foreign advices indicate a strong market. Canned goods are rather quiet just now but a stiffening in values is looked for when once the demand recurs. Sugars are steady to firm. Gingers and peppers are rather higher and tending upward. Lard is ¼c. per lb. higher; hams are up 1c. and pork 50c. per bbl.

SUGAR.

The sugar market may be described as steady. Quotations vibrate about 7s. 3d., up one day and down the next, so that it looks as if the present range of prices would hold. The New York market is a little firmer and refined have moved up a few points, but there is no marked change. The demand for Montreal refined is fair, buyers operating freely yet not speculatively. The price is $4.10 for granulated and $3.35 to $4.05 for yellows, according to quality.

TEAS.

The outlook for teas is remarkably strong, and we doubt not that if there were any available stocks on the market a speculative demand would set in. As it is the few holders that there are, and these have only small supplies, have advanced their prices, Japans being fully 2c. higher than two months ago. There are now no new Japan teas under 14½c. being offered to wholesale houses. The United States market continues to grow in activity, large sales of bonded teas being reported on the New York market this week. There have been American visitors in Montreal within the past few days and they say it is extremely likely that the tea duty will be removed. If so, what with the increased American consumption on account of the lower prices, and the tremendous shortage in this year's tea crops, we shall likely see a bull market prior to the arrival of 1902 teas on this continent. These are the ideas that are now agitating the minds of the local tea authorities, who not only expect a cessation of chronic dullness but a reaction to exceptional activity.

At present the demand from the country is only fair, and that for small parcels. Stocks in retail hands are reported light.

SYRUPS.

The demand for corn syrup is hardly as brisk as it was before the advance, but, nevertheless, there is a regular trade being done. We quote: 3½c. in bbls.; 3½c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 35½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

As yet but little attention is being paid to molasses. The price is steady at 28 and 29c. for Barbados.

CANNED GOODS.

Although this is a quiet time of the year in canned goods, the situation, both in fruits and vegetables, is one that calls for close attention. We understand that American importers have asked the syndicate for quotations on round lots of Canadian tomatoes, but that no concessions were offered on the prices asked of Canadian wholesalers, showing that there are no surplus stocks in this country that the canners wish to rid themselves of. If stocks in first hands have been narrowed down to such a limit, the likelihood of higher prices in the spring is no remote possibility. It is said also, that the staple fruits, strawberries, raspberries and peaches are in much the same position. Peaches were, indeed, marked up a couple of weeks ago, and a strong market is looked for when the consumptive demand sets in some months hence. There is no doubt that no one has stocked these fruits heavily this year on account of last year's experience.

At present the distributing demand is slack, and prices are steady. Tomatoes are worth 82½ to 87½c.; corn, 80c. and peas, 80c. and upwards. Salmon is moving out fairly well at $1 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

Trade has suddenly fallen off and the spice business is now very quiet. The features of the week are the bull movements in peppers and gingers. It is thought that although nutmegs are still dropping, a sudden turn may occur at any moment. We quote: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochinchina, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochinchina, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There is nothing new to report in coffee. A fair demand is reported. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA

A cable order for 200 bags of English-milled Patna rice brought back an answer this week accepting the order only for 50 bags and quoting 16s. 9d. c.i.f. for the remainder, equivalent to 4½c. laid down here. The market is firm and prices continue to advance. Stocks are pretty well exhausted and local values are ¼c. higher. We quote in combine district: B rice, in bags, \$3.10; in ½ bags, \$3.15; in ¼ bags, \$3.20; in pockets, \$3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, \$3 in bags; \$3.05 in ½ bags; \$3.10 in ¼ bags; and \$3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 14c. per lb., and tapioca, 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS.—Since our last report the Grecian market has advanced nearly 2s. fine Filiatras being quoted by cable at 18s. against 16s. 3d. a week ago. This is a rise of 3s. 6d. from the lowest point touched, which has served to strengthen the local market very considerably. Stocks in wholesale hands are quite low and prices are firm. Fine Filiatras are worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in  $\frac{1}{2}$  cases; 6c. cleaned; 1-lb. cartons, 8c. and finest Vostizzas, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—Supplies are quite scarce; some houses are entirely sold out and have difficulty in filling Christmas orders. This applies more particularly to selected stock which is fully 1c. per lb. above fine off-stalk. Several orders for round lots have come from the west this week. The Denia market is slightly lower at 20s. for selected and 17s. 6d. for fine off-stalk. Locally, finest off-stalk is worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; selected, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ c., and layers, 6 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CANDIED PEELS.—A good business is being done. The best English peels are worth 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for lemon; 10 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for orange, and 14 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for citron.

PRUNES.—The expected has happened and prunes are now 4c. per lb. higher. Prices are still quite reasonable and in view of the short crop the market is quite strong even at the enhanced values. The demand from Canadian dealers is heavy and large arrivals continue to come to hand. Californians are worth 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 60-70's, 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 70-80's, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 80-90's, 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. for 90-100's. Some Californian dealers have withdrawn all offers on small fruit as it is scarcely obtainable.

MALAGA RAISINS.—The demand for table raisins has been and is still quite brisk. There are no surplus stocks and prices are well maintained. We quote as follows: London layers, \$1.50 to \$1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," \$2.15 to \$2.25;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Bucking ham Clusters," \$3.30 to \$3.35;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.05 to \$1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," \$1.50 to \$1.60;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.30 to \$1.40.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The market is steady at the recently enhanced values, 9 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

DATES.—There have been good sales at 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 4c. for Hallowees.

FIGS.—On account of heavy arrivals, the price of tapnet figs has receded to 97 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. to \$1. The demand continues uninterrupted.

APPLES.—Evaporated apples are selling in some quantity at 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ c., while dried are in stock and offered at 7 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS.—All quotations have been withdrawn on Californian raisins, both seeded and loose muscates, and higher prices are looked for. Meanwhile seeded are worth 9 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.

NUTS.

Some dissatisfaction has been expressed with the quality of the late arrivals of Grenoble walnuts. But it seems the dark color was due to the damp weather to which the nuts were exposed just before they were gathered. Walnuts are still quoted quite low, but the crop is well nigh exhausted. Some Jordan shelled almonds are now in stock and Pecan nuts have also arrived this week. A good business is being done. Almonds are quite scarce. Walnuts are worth 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 18 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 19c.; shelled almonds, 25 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 26 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 37c.; filberts, 8 $\frac{1}{4}$  to 9c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

FISH.

Another good week's business is to be reported in fish. Prices show little change. Cod is somewhat easier than it was, on account of heavier receipts and arrivals of fresh fish. We quote as follows: Haddies, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; bloaters, 90c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked, medium herrings, 12c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.; whitefish, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dore, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; pike, 5c.; halibut, 9c.; salmon, 9c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, \$5.37 $\frac{1}{2}$  per bbl., No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, \$2.90 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, \$6.50 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, \$6.50 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, \$6 per bbl.; No. 1 green haddock, \$4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, \$5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, \$12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, \$9 per bbl.; Ivory boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes, dressed codfish, \$5 per case; dried cod fish, \$5 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$12 per bbl., No. 1 Labrador salmon, \$6.25 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, \$5.50 per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; standard bulk oysters, \$1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, \$1.50 per gal.; Malpeque shell oysters, in shell, \$4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, \$1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, \$1 per doz.; Canadian  $\frac{1}{4}$  sardines, \$3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, \$1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, \$2.20 per doz.

GREEN FRUITS.

Californian oranges are now on sale and Valencians have also arrived for the Christmas trade. Apples move slowly on account of the high prices. Green-fruit dealers have supplies of English holly. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, \$4.50 to \$4.75 per bbl.; Florida oranges, \$3.75 to \$4; Californian sunflowers, \$3.75 to \$4; Valencia oranges, \$4; to \$4.25; Messina lemons, \$2.50 to \$2.75 per box; Malaga lemons,  $\frac{1}{2}$  chests, \$5.25 to \$6; pincapples, 15 to 20c.; Canadian apples, \$3 to \$5 per bbl.; limes, \$1.50 per box; cocoanuts, \$3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, \$1.75 to \$2.25, and eight hands, \$1 to \$1.50; Canadian pears (baskets), 40 to 50c.; Spanish onions, \$1; sweet potatoes, Vineland's, \$4 to \$4.25; Malaga grapes, \$5.50 to \$7 per keg; cranberries, \$7.50 to \$9.50; barrel onions, \$3; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; holly, \$4.50 per large case.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

On account of the advance in wheat flour has been advanced and is rather active at the enhanced values. In carlots we quote: Spring wheat patents, $4.10 to $4.30; winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4; straight rollers, $3.65 to $3.75; strong bakers', $3.80 to $4.

GRAIN.—We quote: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 82 to 83c. December; peas, 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; rye, 59 to 60c.; No. 2 barley, 57c.; oats, 51 to 52c.; buckwheat, 57c.; corn, 67 to 67 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

OATMEAL.—The demand has been very fair but offerings are still light and business is consequently quiet. Carloads are firm at $5.50 to $5.60 per bbl. and $2.70 to $2.75 per bag. Wholesalers quote $5.85 to $5.90 in bbls. and $2.85 to $2.90 in bags.

CORNMEAL.—The market is moderately quiet at $4.50 per bbl. and $2.40 per bag in small lots.

FEED.—The tone of the market for feed remains very firm under a good demand from local and country buyers. Sales of Manitoba bran have been made at $21 and shorts at $23 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—An active trade is passing in baled hay and prices are firmly held at the recent advance. In cases they go even higher. We quote No. 1 timothy at $10.50 to $11; No. 2 timothy, $9.50 to $10; clover mixture, $8.50 to $9; clover, $7.50 to $8.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The undertone of the market is still very firm and the demand is good. Strictly fresh sell at 26 to 28c.; selected cold storage at 22c. and Montreal lined at 17 to 18c.

HONEY.—A fair trade is passing in honey, there being a good demand for small lots. White-clover honey in large sections sells at 13c.; strained at 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10c. per lb. Buckwheat honey in comb sells at 10 to 11c. and extracted, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

POTATOES.—The potato market is very firm at 77 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 80c. per bag in carlots for No. 1 stock.

DRESSED POULTRY.—Supplies have been ample and prices are ruling somewhat lower. Choice dry-picked turkeys are worth 8 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 9c.; scalded, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c.; choice chickens, dry picked, 7 to 8c.; scalded, 6 to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; fowls, 4 to 5c.; ducks, 8 to 9c. and geese 5 to 6c. per lb.

BEANS.—The tone of the market is firm at $1.40 to $1.45 for prime in carlots and $1.50 to $1.55 for handpicked.

ASHES.—There is no change to note; the market is quiet. We quote: Firsts, $4.40 to $4.45; seconds, $3.95 to $4; pearls, $6.75 to $7 per 100 lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—There is a quiet but steady market in butter, the local jobbing demand being quite sufficient to prevent any accumulation of stocks on this market. Finest Townships fall creamery is

MONTREAL NOTES.

Patna rice is ¼c. per lb. higher.

Californian prunes are ¼c. higher.

Comadre figs are slightly lower.

Quotations are withdrawn on Californian raisins.

Pearl barley in half barrels is worth $4.60 to $4.75.

Lard is ¼c. per lb. higher and pork 50c. per bbl. Hams are up 1c.

Boiling peas are now worth $1.15 to $1.20 per bushel and are scarce.

Cream of tartar is lower according to latest advices. It is now offered at 66s. 6d. f.o.b. Bordeaux.

Currants are cabled 2s. higher from Patras, making them 3s. 6d. above the lowest point touched.

Flour is 15c. per bbl. higher, wholesalers quoting $4.25 to $4.30 for 75 per cent. patents in small lots.

Watt, Scott & Goodacre have been appointed agents for Porter Bros. Co., one of the largest Californian dried-fruit shipping firms. They have already executed considerable business for them.

Henri Jonas & Co. are in receipt of a letter from Jos. Violette & Co., Bordeaux, France, in which they say: "For your guidance, our market for prunes has gone up considerably and we could not execute orders at former prices. In fact, there is a scarcity of large fruit and we are accepting no orders unless subject to our being able to obtain the fruit."

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of "The Canadian Grocer."

St. John, N.B., December 9, 1901.

IN wholesale lines the rush is somewhat over. There has been a large business done. The season in dried fruits has been the best for at least two years. In fact, all seasonable goods have shown a good movement and stocks are being well cleaned up. Just at present the wholesale trade is not buying very freely. Stock-taking for many will soon be here, and then the early months of the year are quiet. The closing of two large cotton mills early in the year was a matter of very general regret, and it is a great satisfaction to know that they are about to reopen under a very strong management. In markets there are no very marked changes. Ginger is very high.

OILS.—In burning oils trade is very active and prices keep low. The strong competition from Boston at many Bay ports, particularly in Nova Scotia, is not being felt as it was a few years ago, before the importation in tank steamers began. In paint oils, while sales are light, the market is firm, particularly in turpentine. Importers have to pay higher prices, and local prices are likely to advance. Lubricating oils are firmly held.

Orders for spring business are being taken and give promise of a good season. In seal oil values are firm. Receipts of cod oil are about over and prices are high. Wax and candles are very firm.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt stocks on hand continue light. There are, however, regular weekly arrivals, which are likely to be large. Prices are firm and full figures are likely to rule, chiefly because of high freights. In fine salt the sale is chiefly for Canadian, and is not large. As before noted the present prices affect the sale of box salt. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse 55 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1.00; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—In these lines there is little to note. Dealers are finding a fair sale at even figures. Vegetables are unchanged and there is a fair stock here. In fruits, the Christmas trade causes some sale, but the best demand is later. Peaches are the best sellers; fair stocks are here. Our market is quite well supplied with gallon apples, and while the movement is small prices are firmly held at the advance. Salmon have a fair sale at even figures, the demand being for the cheaper fish. Domestic sardines are freely offered at the lower prices. Kipperd herring and haddies are scarce, but are not as high as the market would warrant.

GREEN FRUITS.—Even with the cold weather business continues very active. The Christmas season is bringing extra business. Apples are rather firmer; best stock is very firmly held. Owing to high prices the sale for No. 1's has been large. This suits the exporter. Bishop Pippins have the local demand. In oranges, the market is well supplied; prices are low and the market is easy. There are Valencias, Jamaicas, Californians and Floridas. In lemons, sales are active and quality of stock good; prices keep low. Cranberries are quite high, and there continues to be a fair sale. Native berries are out of the market. Grapes are fair sellers, chiefly Malagas. Prices this season are quite low.

DRIED FRUITS.—This continues to be the active line. Raisins, the backbone of the business, are free sellers. Dealers are finding this a much more successful season than they have had for some years. They bought, however, rather lightly, and supplies are short. Some Valencias are late coming to hand. In small boxes of Valencias the market is very bare. In Californian loose muscatels, few were imported. There is quite a free sale for fours. Seeded are increasing in favor, and quite a quantity have been bought in New York. Direct importations of Californian fruits were only about six cars. Prunes are selling well; prices keep low. In peels, full figures are asked and the market is getting well cleaned up. Dates sell freely. There is quite a call for package goods. Evaporated apples are high and the sale much less than usual. Dried are held at full figures. Onions are rather higher. Nuts are a very large sale, though Pecans and Brazils, owing to the high price, give way to other lines.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter, if extra good, sells quite freely at high prices, but of the second grade the supply is large and business is dull. Cheese is unchanged and the season has not been particularly satisfactory. Factories have, however, got full figures. Exports show little change and prices are firm. Fancy stock is scarce and high.

SUGAR.—Sales have been large and prices are unchanged, but are quite firmly held. Some foreign continues to be received, but much less than before the present agreement between the wholesale trade and the refineries came into existence. In some parts of the Province there is considerable competition.

MOLASSES.—There continues quite a steady sale, chiefly for Porto Rico. While price continues quite low little, if any change, is expected. In fact, the feeling seems to favor rather a firmer market.

FISH.—At this season there is increased sale for fresh fish, as they can be shipped frozen. The supply for the week has been light. Frozen herring seem a thing of the past. Cod and haddock are the fish sold. The shipment of smelt from the North Shore is commencing. This is a very large business. Shipments are made chiefly to New York. In dry cod and pollock prices are unchanged. Codfish, if anything, is rather easier. In finnan haddies prices are rather higher. Shipments are now made by freight. Smoked herring is dull at even figures. There are no bloaters and kippered are scarce. Pickled herring is unchanged. There is a fair supply of Bay herring. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 5 to 5½c.; smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.15 to $2.25 per half bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; kippered herring, 90c. to $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per half bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, rather higher prices rule. There is a good, general business, but the trade find it impossible to get the flour forward from the mills promptly. Many sales are being lost. In oats, high prices are being asked. In oatmeal there is quite a range in prices, but all prices are high. Beans are in fair demand and prices are unchanged, but quite firm. There is a demand for yellow eyes. Barley is again higher. Hay is firm; export shipments are large. Cornmeal is higher. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.70; best Ontario, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3.70; oatmeal, $5.75 to $5.90; cornmeal, $3.10 to $3.15; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 49 to 50c.; handpicked beans, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3; split peas, $4.60 to $4.75; barley, $4.25 to $4.35; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Jones & Schofield have a further supply of "Imperial" maple syrup to hand.

"Pure Gold" herbs and "Pure Gold" jelly powder are two seasonable lines.

Corona figs and Corona dates are on sale with The Maritime Spice and Coffee Co.

Northrup & Co. have a shipment of Cottolene in 20 lb. wood pails just received.

Baird & Peters are showing a full line of Christie's biscuits. In fancy lines they have some particularly fine samples.

A large shipment of pipes and bath-brick from D. McDougall & Co. arrived by the Glasgow steamer this week for shipment west. These goods were entered here and forwarded by the local representative, J. Hunter White.

D. E. Loomer, packer of the "Unity" brand of haddies and kippered herring, called on "The Grocer" this week.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, December 9, 1901.

WEATHER has been fine and mild with light flurries of snow. The mildness and the absence of snow is affecting trade in some lines, but the volume of trade on the whole has been heavy; collections are fair and the general tone of business good. Christmas trade is moving and many of the retail stores are getting their holiday decorations in place and the city already presents a festive appearance. The changes in prices have been few and unimportant.

FLOUR.—The steady advance of wheat during the past week is likely to bring an advance in flour. Millers state that should the price of wheat hold another 18 hours flour will certainly advance 10c. per sack all round. In the meantime prices are standing at the old figures of Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $2 per sack of 98 lb.; Glenora Patent, $1.85; Alberta, $1.65; Manitoba, $1.45; Imperial, XXXX, $1.25; Lake of the Woods Five Roses brand, $2 per 98-lb. sack; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX, $1.25.

CEREALS.—Rolled oats dropped 20c. per sack this week. This drop had two elements in it. First, prices had run unduly high even for the current price of oats and some adjustment was necessary. And again the price of oats dropped in Chicago and a considerable drop in price was looked for here. Contrary to expectations, however, oats have again advanced in Chicago and are higher than they have yet been. The price of rolled oats, therefore, is liable to advance as sharply as it declined. In the meantime prices are quoted at the lower figure: Rolled oats, in 80's, $2.30; standard and granulated, $2.80; cornmeal, $2; split peas, $2.50; white beans, $1.90.

COFFEE.—Lower grades of coffee are very firm and No. 5 Rio is now quoted at 10c.; roast and ground, 12½c.; Mochas and Javas are without change and in fair demand.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS.—Full stocks of both Californian and Mediterranean fruits are now on the market and the quality has never been finer. Natural washed figs in baskets are shown here for the first time. The Californian prunes, apricots, peaches, pears and plums are superb. The prunes, particularly, that are known in the trade as Silver prunes, look like globes of gold. Prices are firm in all these lines, but no change has taken place for the week. Choice Filiatras, 7½c.; cleaned, 8½c.; Sultana raisins, 11 to 12c.; Valencia, fine off-stalk, $1.75; Valencia layers, $2.10 to $2.20; London layers, $1.90 to $2; Californian muscatels, 2 to 4 crown, 6½ to 8c.; prunes, 4½ to 10½c., according to size; apricots, 12 to 13c.; peaches, 15 to 16c.; unpeeled peaches, 10½c.; pitted plums, 10½c.

CANNED GOODS.—Sales at present are rather quiet and without change of price, though any stock that is brought in from this on, will, of necessity, be from 5 to 10c. per case higher, owing to the all-rail rate of freight. Fruits —

Strawberries, heavy syrup, $3.25; preserved, $3.60; raspberries, preserved, $3.25; syrup, $2.95; blackberries, $2.75; gooseberries, 2's, $2.90; 2's, preserved, $3.60; peaches, yellow, 2-lb. tins, $4; 3-lb. tins, $6; pears, 2-lb. tins, $3.50; 3-lb. tins, $4.50; apples, 3-lb. tins, canned, $2.50; 3-lb. tins, preserved, $3.65; gallon, canned, $1.60. Californian canned fruit in 2½-lb. tins—Plums, green gage, $4.25; Lombard, $4.20; damson, $4.20; egg, $4.20; peaches, $1.75; pears, $1.95; apricots, $4.75; cherries, white, $5.50. Canned vegetables—Tomatoes, $2.20 to $2.25; corn, 2-lb. tins, $1.90; peas, 2-lb. tins, $1.95; beans, 2-lb. tins, $1.85; pumpkin, in 3-lb. tins, $2.10.

NUTS.—Supplies for the Christmas trade are now all in and it looks as if Valencia almonds would be scarce. There are plentiful supplies to draw from, but they could not reach here for at least three weeks: Shelled, 30c.; Valencia almonds, 28c.

SUGARS.—There has been no change of price during the week and trade has been heavy. Extra standard, $4.95; extra ground, $6.40; powdered, $6.65; lumps, $6.65; bright yellow, $4.30. Raw sugar is in good demand.

SYRUPS.—All corn syrups are very firm, but without change of price, namely, 3 to 3½c. per lb. Molasses, 35 to 57½c. per gallon, according to grade.

FIBREWARE.—All lines of fibreware have again advanced 10 per cent. No reason is assigned for this. Manila paper has advanced ½c. per lb.

BUTTER.—The market is poorly supplied in all but inferior grades.

GREEN FRUITS.—Californian navel, 176 to 250's, $5.25; 150's, $4.75; 126's, $4.25. Mexican oranges, 176's to 250's, $5; 150's, $4.50. Lemons, $5.25; apples, $5.50 to $6.50, according to variety; cranberries, $10; bananas, $3.50; Malaga grapes, $8.

AFTER A BONUS AT WIARTON.

A special meeting of the Warton town council was held last week at which B. B. Freeman and James Symon submitted a proposition on behalf of The Warton Beet-Sugar Co., asking that the latter should be granted a $25,000 bonus and tax exemption for a number of years. It was urged on behalf of this that Berlin had granted $25,000 and Wallaceburg $30,000 for the establishment of similar industries in those places, which had greatly handicapped the canvassers for stock in the Warton concern, as capitalists preferred investing their money where the best support would be given. After some further discussion, in which it came out that tax exemption was also wanted by the company, the matter was left over for consideration till the next afternoon, when a joint meeting of the council and sugar company would be held.

At the latter meeting, when the matter had been thoroughly investigated, it was decided to submit a by-law giving a bonus of $25,000 to the concern on the 20-year debenture plan. An assessment will be made on the company's property sufficient to yield the town $2,000 in school taxes a year.

Vaughan & Cook have purchased J. A. Rice's grocery business, Rossland, B.C., assuming and paying all his liabilities. All the accounts due to the old firm will also be collected.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

HALIFAX, N.S., December 9, 1901.

THE condition of the grocery trade in the city naturally indicates the general conditions throughout the Province, and this condition at present may be considered as good, and compares favorably with former years.

This is the season when Christmas groceries are in demand, and also when the large number of shore ports, which do not enjoy the privilege of railway communication, and are more or less icebound during the winter season, lay in their winter stock, and Halifax merchants have been doing a large trade in both directions.

The results of the sale of the season's crops are a good index of the general state of trade. When crops are good and sell well, money is plentiful and the country districts purchase largely, and there is no line which feels the result more than groceries. This season the crops have been fairly good, and prices high.

Apples, though not a large crop, have sold high, and happy is the man who has a few hundred barrels to sell. The retail price of Gravensteins in the city markets (the season for which is now over) ran as high as $4 for best No. 1's; ordinary No. 1's, $3 50; No. 2's, $2.50. Bishop Pippins are now selling at from $2 to $3 50. Usually the commission merchants and auctioneers receive large consignments of apples which they sell at auction. This has been rare this season as there was no necessity for any apple-raiser to go off his farm to sell his surplus crop.

The potato crop in Nova Scotia this year was only medium, and prices ruled high. A month ago the wholesale price was 80c. and the retail $1. This bore extremely hard on the poorer classes. Then the Prince Edward Island crop commenced to come in, and the price dropped considerably. The Prince Edward Island potatoes are only of fair quality and never bring as high price as the home-grown article. They sold, ex vessel, as low as 35c., but are now on the rise and are slightly better than 40c. Native potatoes will readily bring 50 to 55c.

Oats also, notwithstanding the large import from Prince Edward Island, have maintained a steady advance, and now bring about 55c. in car and job lots, and will probably run higher. The advance has been steady and regular, cent by cent, for the last month.

Cornmeal, flour, bran, middlings and other feeds have been subject to a steady advance, week by week, and the highest limit has not probably yet been reached.

There has been considerable buying in this line for winter stock.

The retail grocers have had great difficulty in supplying their customers with best creamery butter. The very best fresh home-made creamery retails at 28c., with not enough to supply the demand, while that imported from New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, a week or ten days old, brings 25 to 27c., and Upper Canadian 24c. for finest and 19 to 20c. for ordinary. Every year people are calling for a better class of butter, and there is very apparent good money for those who can produce a superior article.

For the last year or two the wholesale grocers have done considerable trade—and one which is bound to grow largely—in fine lines of fancy preserves, put up in the regular glass jars, by firms in the Upper Provinces. Pears, plums, and many other fine fruits can be bought in this way almost as cheaply as they can be put up at home in the old way. This is where the idea of production in large quantities comes in, in this as well as other lines.

Commercial travellers from various parts of the Province report large sales and a good season's business. The confectionery and biscuit business is reported especially good, and in advance of other seasons. One proof of this is the fact that the firm of G. J. Hamilton & Sons, Pictou, intend immediately to enlarge their premises and extend their plant to nearly double its present capacity. This firm has a number of travellers constantly on the road who cover New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, Ontario and Quebec, as well as this Province.

A BIG MILL FOR NORMAN.

It is stated on good authority that arrangements have been about completed for the erection of one of the largest flour mills in the world at Norman, Ont. The structure will be of solid granite masonry, and will be equipped with the most modern appliances. It is also expected that a big pulp mill will be erected at an early date.

A WESTERN ROMANCE.

From Vancouver comes this story. F. S. Stewart, dry goods merchant, there, has a sister who became engaged to a man named Ross, head of the dry goods department in her brother's store. At the last moment she found that she loved another in the person of Thomas Chappelle, manager of the grocery department of The Hudson Bay stores. Her relatives, who objected to this very strongly were preparing to send her off to Scotland, but she eluded them and was married to Chappelle.

Quantity Selling Depends upon Quality

The extent of the demand for any article is based upon its quality. The demand will increase providing quality is right, but will diminish if below the standard, and all the advertising and glib talk of salesmen will not maintain it if quality is not what it should be. Highest standard of excellence has stimulated, maintained and increased the demand for

We are manufacturing as good vinegars as it is possible to make. There are only a few vinegars as good in Canada—none better. We have sold as wholesale grocers a great many cars of XXX White Wine, Montreal make. The best guarantee we ever got was 72 grains, and then vinegar hardly ever stood the test. All mail orders, besides our usual discounts, will be entitled to a rebate of two cents a gallon. It would cost us more to sell you through a traveller.

TERMS: 10 per cent. 30 days, net cash 35 days. All bills payable in Hamilton, and positively no discount after 35 days.

THE BEET-SUGAR INDUSTRY.

AT Berlin, Ont., the by-law granting the $25,000 bonus to the beet-sugar refinery, to be established in Waterloo county, was given its third reading and carried on December 4.

A number of Peterboro' farmers and influential citizens with the city council heard the representatives of a beet-sugar company, who are desirous of locating there, on December 5. As a result a committee was appointed to wait on the town and county councils with reference to having a by-law granting a $50,000 bonus to this industry submitted to the ratepayers.

At Wiarton, Ont., the town council passed a by-law granting the beet-sugar company there the use of water front or marine allowance for the erection of a switch, and gave its first reading to a by-law providing for an assessment of $50,000 on the property of the same concern.

The Ontario Government has granted a charter to The Dresden Sugar Co., Limited, Dresden, Ont., for the cultivation and refining of sugar beets. The share capital of the concern is $600,000.

WATERLOO SUGAR MEN BUSY.

In the county of Waterloo, Ont., an active campaign is being waged on behalf of the beet sugar industry. Hosts of canvassers are out amongst the farmers inducing them to enter into contracts to put a certain acreage of beets in cultivation. Meetings are being held in the schoolhouses, which influential citizens and representatives of the beet sugar company are addressing. At their close the lists are opened and engagements made with the farmers to put a certain acreage of sugar beets under crop and already the required acreage, 5,000 acres, is nearly secured.

The company state that they will commence building their $700,000 plant as soon as the required acreage is subscribed and local capitalists are sufficiently interested, and expect to have the big factory in operation for next season's crop. The $25,000-bonus by-law has also been formally assented to by the Berlin council. The sugar concern also state that it is their intention to build a standard gauge railway through Wilmott and Wellesley townships, Waterloo county, as soon as sufficient beets are grown along the line to warrant such a procedure.

GALT GETS INTO THE SUGAR SWIM.

At a recent meeting between a committee representing the Galt Board of Trade and outside capitalists, represented by G. C. McMullen, it was settled that Galt is to have also a beet-sugar refinery.

The usual $600,000 will be forthcoming as soon as a 5,000-acreage of beets is secured, a free site and tax exemption furnished by the town, $100,000 subscribed by local capitalists and other minor matters arranged. These proceedings have yet to be ratified by the Board of Trade and Galt town council.

ONE OF THE FIRST.

While chatting with Mr. Henri Jonas, of Henri Jonas & Co., Montreal, a few days ago, a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER was shown a couple of mementoes of Mr. Jonas' travelling days, namely, a membership ticket of the Commercial Travellers' Association dated January 1, 1872, and also a mileage ticket for 1,000 miles. Mr. Jonas was one of the first drummers to become a member of this organization which is now well known as the Dominion Travellers' Association with its membership of several thousands of representatives of the various commercial concerns of Canada.

We wonder if there are any other travellers or ex-travellers who can produce such ancient souvenirs as Mr. Jonas now has in his possession, and which, we might mention, it is his intention to have framed and hung in the Dominion Travellers' Association quarters in Montreal? The mileage ticket reads as follows: "May travel 1,000 miles on regular passenger train on the main line of the Great Western Railway, or on the Toronto, Brantford, Sarnia, Petrollea, or Wellington, Grey and Bruce branches, subject to the conditions on back of this ticket. Not transferable. Good until Dec. 31, 1872."

ANOTHER SALT WELL AT SARNIA.

At Sarnia, Ont., a contract has been let to John J. Mason & Co., Detroit, to sink salt wells on the property of The Cleveland-Sarnia Saw Mills Co. The building will be south of the Baechler mill, and will comprise a granary 150 x 132 ft. and a packing-house 64 x 132 ft., besides other buildings.

The total output at all branches of the "Salada" Tea Co. for the week ending November 30 was 3,000 lb. more than double the same week of last year.

Miss A. Millon, 13 Place D'Armes Hill, Montreal, has been selling some chocolates the interiors of which were alleged to be filled with liquors, and she has to appear in the Police Court to answer the charge. A subsequent analysis showed the candies to contain 2 per cent. of alcohol.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Statistics of U.S. Live Stock—Miscellaneous Notes.

STATISTICS OF U.S. LIVE STOCK.

AT the fifth annual convention of the National Live Stock Association, held in Chicago this week, many interesting papers were read, most of them having to do with the technique of the industry. One paper, however, is of especial interest to the general public, now that there is so much conjecture about prices for beef and the probable size of the supply in the near future. This paper, entitled the "Live Stock Census of 1900," was written by Le Grande Powers, chief of the Agricultural Bureau of the Census Office. Among other things, Mr. Powers said that for the first time the census of the United States has attempted a complete enumeration of the domestic animals of the country. Since 1850, the Government has collected statistics of the animals on farms, but no census has ever been taken of the domestic animals not on farms or ranges; that is, the animals in cities and towns and those possessed by the small householders scattered throughout the country but not living upon farms. There were in the country on June 1, 1900, including those on and off farms, 18,172,914 dairy cows; 11,686,829 other cows, kept mainly for breeding purposes; 15,641,480 calves or neat cattle under one year; 7,041,643 steers one and under two years; 5,227,378 steers two and less than three years; 3,141,722 steers three years and over; 1,337,277 bulls one year and over; 7,273,731 heifers one year and less than two, making a total of neat cattle in the United States (June 1, 1900) of 69,522,734. At the same time, there were 18,532,137 work horses two years old and over; 1,359,652 colts less than one year of age, and 1,473,461 colts one year and under two—a total of 21,365,250 horses.

There were 2,912,958 work mules over two years of age; 255,166 mule colts less than one year old, and 291,458 mule colts one year and over; a total of 3,459,582 mules. There were also 119,992 asses and burros. Of sheep one year and older there were 32,056,129 ewes and 8,060,124 rams and weathers, a total of 40,166,263 wool-bearing sheep. There were also 21,520,062 lambs under one year, making a grand total of sheep of 61,645,325. There were in the country a total of 64,615,363 swine and 1,893,491 goats. The sheep on farms and ranges constitute more than 99 per cent of all sheep in the country. The number of wool-bearing sheep in the United States in the last decade increased from 35,935,364 to 39,936,663, a gain of 11.1 per cent. This gain was confined to one of the five grand divisions of States and Territories, the Western. In the North Atlantic the percentage of decrease was 38.9; the North Central, 18.3; the South Atlantic, 27.4, and the South Central, 46; while the gain in the Western was 104.1. On the ranges sheep husbandry is still a leading industry, and in the Western States we find the number of wool-bearing sheep increasing in 10 years from 10,806,999 to 12,211,335. This increase is confined almost wholly to the ranges, and represents in these States the substitution of 11,000,000 sheep for their equivalent in cattle on the public domain.

COLD STORAGE CO. WOUND UP.

On December 6, at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, Mr. Justice Lount granted an order to wind up the affairs of The Toronto Cold Storage Co., Limited, which admitted insolvency to the extent of $28,940, on the unopposed application of W. N. Ferguson, representing The Linde British Refrigerator Co., Limited, Montreal, on a claim of about $900, which was guaranteed by a bond of The Cold Storage Co.

The company was incorporated four years ago, in 1897, with a nominal capital of $50,000 and a subscribed and paid up capital of $49,750. E. R. C. Clarkson, who has been appointed interim liquidator, has made a statement of the company's affairs, which shows liabilities of $76,779, and assets of $47,839, leaving an apparent deficiency of $28,940.

Thomas Long is president of the company, and the other directors are William Mackenzie, Frederic Nicholls, H. M. Pellatt and A. E. Ames.

The winding-up order was brought about in this way: G. B. Jones, the former manager of The Toronto Cold Storage Co., sold for the Linde concern a plant to The Collingwood Meat Co., Collingwood, Ont., for which he put in a claim of $400 as commission. As the Toronto firm claimed that they were entitled to the commission, the Linde company paid it to them, obtaining a bond of indemnity should Mr. Jones bring an action against them for it. This he did, and, after losing his case at the trial, won it at the Court of Appeal. As the Montreal company had to pay the amount again with costs, they applied to the cold storage company at Toronto for redress, but, as they could not pay, a winding-up order was applied for.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Western hogs are freely offered in carlots, but, owing to the excessive demand from the packing-houses, the price has advanced to $8 per 100 lb., a jump of 25c., and holds very firm at that figure. On the local market, owing to the unfavorable weather at the beginning of this week, the receipts of dressed hogs have been light, and the price remains firm at $8 to $8.25, the bulk of the arrivals selling at from $8.10 to $8.15 per 100 lb. A good demand for lambs has set in, and the price is 1/4c. higher. The other prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Beef carcasses, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6 to $7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5 per 100 lb. Veal, 6 to 7 1/2c. per lb.; lambs, 5 1/2 to 6c. Live hogs: Selects, $6, and lights $5.75 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

The price of cured provisions just now is very firm, owing to the high prices of dressed and Western hogs. Canadian heavy mess pork is 50c. higher, while short cut is firm at $21. Lard has taken a jump of 1/4c., and a good movement in this article is reported. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11 1/2c.; medium hams, 13 1/2c.; large hams, 12 1/2 to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 13 1/2 to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $19.50

MONTREAL.

The market has strengthened during the week, and Chicago shows a rise of 150 points. On the Montreal market, live hogs have ruled higher, under a good demand, at 6¼c. per lb. Lard is ¼c. per lb. higher, now being quoted at $2.35 to $2.37½c. per pail. All Chicago pork is 50c. per bbl. higher. Compound lards are very firm and active, as cottonseed oil and oleostearine are higher. We now quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00; Chicago clear pork, $23.25 for heavy and $22.75 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.25 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), $2.00 for 1 to 24 pails; $1.98 for 25 to 49 pails; $1.97 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, $1.72½ per pail; Cottolene, 10¾c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10¾c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

The market is considerably firmer, particularly in Chicago. Fresh beef is now being shipped into the woods. In barrelled meats sales are rather quiet. Lard is firmer again, but fair stocks are held.

WINNIPEG.

CURED MEATS—No change in price is recorded for the week, but the tone of the market is easier. We quote: Smoked hams, 13½c.; breakfast bellies and backs, 14½c.; spiced rolls, 11¼c.; dry salt, long clear, 12¼c.; backs, 12½c.; square cut shoulders, 9½c.

LARD—We quote: 20 lb. pails, $2.40; 50-lb. pails, $6.70; 3 and 5-lb. in 60-lb. cases, $7.70.

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA

BLACK

The merit of the Black Teas has established them high in popular estimation. They are drunk wherever the English language is spoken. They follow the flag and drive out less meritorious growths.

OR

But some consumers are wedded to light drawing kinds, with pale liquor and without the full body and richness of the black kinds.

GREEN

The Green Teas of Ceylon and India are made expressly for this trade. In Make, Quality and Price they challenge comparison with other growths.

They are grown, prepared and packed with the same skill by the British Planters who have revolutionized the black tea trade.

They have caught on in Canada and are no longer in the experimental stage. Try them.

CEARA WAX.

THE South-American Journal recently published an article from a contributor regarding "carnauba wax," called Ceara wax in the United States, which is characterized as "one of the most curious products of nature," and is produced in the form of a powder or dust on the leaves of the carnauba palm tree (Corypha cerifera). This variety of the palm is to be found in vast numbers on the margins of the river Jaguaribe and its affluents in all the districts of Aracaty, as well as along other rivers in the State of Ceara. It is also to be found in smaller areas in the adjoining States of Piauchy, Parahyba, and Rio Grande do Norte.

Although the tree has many other qualities which render it of service to man, its most valuable product is its wax. Last year the amount of this wax exported was about 1,000 tons. One firm in Aracaty sent over 500 tons to the United States and Europe. The United States consumes the largest quantity in the manufacture of phonograph and gramophone record cylinders. The wax is also used in stearine candle preparations for the purpose of giving the candles firmness and adding brilliancy to the flame. Another use is to give lustre to yellow and russet boots and shoes and to harness, while it is also used as a polish for hardwood floors.

The crop is gathered and prepared from September to March, that being the summer season in Ceara. In favorable seasons the tree is richest in wax about the middle of January. From each tree about six young leaves, not yet fully opened, are gathered by means of pruning shears fixed upon a long pole, and this is repeated twice more during the season. The first quality of wax is produced from the tenderest leaves. Generally it takes from 2,000 to 5,000 leaves to produce enough powder or dust to make 15 kilograms of wax. The leaves, when gathered and selected first and second qualities are laid out in the sun to dry for two or three days. When dry they may be put into a storehouse for an indefinite time or until required for use by the producer. The leaves are then covered by a whitish dust or powder, which is brushed off in a tightly-closed room. The leaves are then beaten with switches, the dust falling to the floor. This dust is afterwards swept up, placed in a tin vessel half full of boiling water, and kept boiling for 15 or 20 minutes, when the wax gathers in a mass on the top of the water. It is then removed and placed in a coarse-meshed, cotton-cloth strainer to allow any water to drain off. When dry the result is a mass of light yellow, hard, vitreous wax. After the powder has been extracted the palm leaves are used in the manufacture of hats, matting and brooms.

A fibre called tucum is also obtained from the leaves, while in some parts of the country the leaves are used in thatching houses. The fruit of the tree has a black pulp of a sweetish taste and is eaten both by human beings and animals. The seed resembles a small cocoanut and makes good food for pigs. It is also used as an adulterant for roasted coffee after it is ground.

On this wax the State of Ceara collects an export duty of 10 per cent. with 5 per cent. additional on the official value, which is declared every month.

FRUIT INSPECTION.

A McNEIL, of Walkerville, one of the Dominion Fruit Inspectors, was in Toronto last week, and to a reporter had something to say in regard to the Fruit Marks Act and its operation. Recently Mr. McNeil made a practical test of the Act by visiting all the fruit stores on both sides of Yonge street and asking merchants whether the fruit received by them was well packed. In nearly every case they answered in the negative. Upon being asked whether there had been any improvement in the packing during the past season, they thought there had been, particularly in peaches. They were not very emphatic about it, however, and when pressed to give names of shippers from whom they had received bad shipments, objected to doing so, and modified their conclusions. The inspector purposes visiting other stores in the city. He attributes the improvement to the seizure of several shipments on Yonge street during the recent season, and the consequent warning to the shippers interested. In addition, a copy of the Fruit Marks Act had been placed in the hands of nearly every fruit grower in Ontario.

"There is really nothing very new in this Fruit Inspection Act," Mr. McNeil observed. "Virtually everything in this Act was contained in a Provincial Act by Hon. John Dryden four or five years ago, but not one in 50, or perhaps 500, ever heard of it. There was no special means of enforcing it; no machinery was set in motion." He believes a chief result of the new Act will be an improvement of fruit prices, consequent upon the greater confidence in the quality of the fruit. There is a lull in the shipment of apples just now, but in a short time, the winter varieties, now stored in Toronto, Thornbury and other places, will begin to move. These will be closely inspected before shipment to Britain. There is this year less than one-third the quantity that was available a year ago.

PRIVATE TOKENS.

A high official of the Finance Department was a few days ago asked whether the Department's attention had been drawn to the circulation in Midland and Penetanguishene of private tokens to their employees which are coming into general circulation there. His answer was that the Department had heard of the movement and The Free Press would not be surprised if steps will be taken to prevent the growth of a practice which in the earlier history of Canada caused immense loss. A leading Canadian banker gives it as his opinion that the issue of these tokens is a serious matter and calls for the attention of the Banking Association. In 1837, he adds, it caused a financial panic in this country. These tokens were put out by hundreds of firms and accepted in good faith by the general public. When the firms failed the holders of the shimplasters and tokens lost their money completely. The same authority goes on to say that much depends on the light in which these tokens are regarded by those who issue them. By some they are said to be merely orders for so much on the company's stores, but if they are passed over the counters for money at other concerns and regarded in the light of cash, it becomes a matter that should be dealt with.—Free Press, Ottawa.

SOME MERCHANTS' EXPERIENCE.

Solomon said in his haste: "ALL MEN ARE LIARS!" He didn't mean it. He was simply so mad with one man that he included all the rest.

Let us not fall into Solomon's mistake. We should take out of our experience the wisdom there is in it and stop right there!

Otherwise we are as stupid as the cat who sat down on a hot stove lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove lid again, and that shows good judgment.
But she will never sit down on a cold one, either.

Now, some merchants have had hard experiences lately with coupon books that were represented to be absolutely correct in count and made up just as good as any other, but they were not, and you won't know what a perfect coupon book is until you have tried either Allison's Coupon Books or Allison's Coupon Pass Books. Both are good, one book suits some, while the other fills the bill with the rest of the merchants.

We are doing a lot of special engraving work now for merchants who use books in large quantities. Our books are carried in stock by jobbers. We will be glad to send you a free sample.

Allison's name on a Coupon Book is itself a guarantee of perfection.

THE ADVERTISING ARENA.

Hints and Ideas For Business Men.

ADVERTISING in a medium that has a standing with the trade from which you seek business, creates a profitable connection between yourself and the buyer. A great many firms when cutting down expenses completely annihilate their advertising. There is a big distinction between economy and annihilation. Discontinuing advertising breaks the helpful connection that has been gained, and it costs more to re-establish the relationship than the cost of keeping connected.

Advertise for people to come to your store. Don't notice them when they come. Let them wait until you finish reading your paper before you wait on them. Then offer them old goods. Lie to them. Beat them on weight and measure. Charge them double prices. They won't call again. Then when your next ad. fails to bring them, say "Advertising doesn't pay."—Advertising World.

ADVERTISING BY KENTVILLE MERCHANTS.

The value of our columns as an advertising medium is now so well known that the leading business firms are all using space. Business in Kentville has improved so much of late and everything gives prospect of unusually large fall and Christmas trade. The merchants, after a long period of quiet time, have prepared for a large business within the next few months and have made large importations. A glance at the different places of business will reveal this and a look over our columns will convince our readers that good bargains can be secured here. So great is the call for extra advertising space that for a few weeks we may not have the regular amount of news we usually carry. However, as all people are buyers, the advertising columns should be of great interest to them.—The Advertiser, Kentville, N.S.

"AD-WRITER'S" ADVERTISING PHRASES.

We understand the desires of the rich and respect and guard the interests of the poor.

Take it easy while you read our advertisement. We want the patronage of those who think over a good offer before accepting it.

To keep up to us means something better to-morrow than to-day—always aiming to benefit the supporters of the store, we take the risk of being benefited ourselves.

The store has grown so big because it has given everybody a better money's worth than any other store. Nothing else could have made it what it is, and nothing else can keep it what it is.

Prices always tending downwards; quality always tending upwards; these are the reasons for the success of these big stores, a success you will easily comprehend when you compare these prices and qualities with the prices and qualities you get elsewhere. We can and will please you. Drop in and see.

Clothing at all figures, to suit all figures. If you weigh 300 we can give you a deal for your money. If you are small and thin, there are some little bargains that will just suit you. If you are one of the tall ones, you may overlook many snaps, but don't fail to look over our offerings.

High-price ranges at low-range prices.

Women find out things! Nearly every married man will tell you this. That is why the Blue Front is so popular with the ladies—they've found out they can buy cheapest and best here.

Learn the lesson of true economy. Buy at the Blue Front, where value and low prices are firmly joined; where fair treatment is assured all; where every article is a worthy one and where credit is given to those who do not wish to pay cash.

The chances are in favor of the buyer every time here. Could not well be otherwise with a superb stock of new furniture, the lowest of prices and terms so liberal they cannot be beaten. The Blue Front is the place for bargains.

Every dollar has a place to fill at this season. Come in and stroll through our store whether you wish to buy or not. But come prepared to change your mind, for stock and prices are irresistible, and you have the benefit of our equitable credit system.

The plums in the picture given away by this paper to-day look luscious and tempting, but all over our house are "plums" equally inviting—they await your picking. Come in and select from the grand stock of home-furnishings those things you need. You'll find superior goods, prices low, and we'll make terms that will suit you.

Every man has two homes, the real and the ideal. Easy enough to get the latter—the one wished for. Simply come to the Blue Front—the place that delights the thrifty—and pick out the needed things. They're here in abundance, at well-liked prices, while our little-at-a-time payments make it easy for those who do not care to pay cash. But, mind you, our cash and credit prices are the same.

RETAIL ADVERTISING IN MONTREAL— MONTREAL GAZETTE.

Former residents of Montreal, who have returned to the city after an absence of some years, find one of the most noticeable changes in the appearance of the retail stores, recently remarked The Montreal Gazette. It is not that there has been such a great gain in numbers, or, generally speaking, in the size of individual establishments, though the growth in this direction in some instances has been most marked, but it is in the appearance of the retail establishments that comment is located. During the past 10 years, and especially the past five, a great change in this regard has been effected. There has been a marked increase in the number of stores exhibiting individuality on the part of their proprietors. In the olden days, a plate-glass window, and rows of counters and shelves constituted all that was considered necessary. Now the artistic perceptions of the architect and the decorator are called into requisition, and proprietors endeavor to make their places attractive by means which but a few years ago would have been considered useless and extravagant. It is the prosperous-looking establishments which do the business now. The man with the cobwebs in his windows, the dingy worn-out oilcloth on his floor, the roughly kalsomined walls, with inadequate and ill-appearing lighting facilities, etc., is being driven to the wall, while those places which are up-to-date, with polished floors, richly-grained and highly-polished woodwork—stores in which every effort has been made to please the artistic sense of the purchaser, are doing the business. There is no question about the expenditure so incurred being wise. The daily returns of sales tell the story. People have grasped the idea that the storekeeper who has endeavored to make his place of business attractive is a man who will have a stock equally attractive, and the instances in which this is the exception are exceedingly few. And the prosperity of these places is daily increasing through the constantly growing number of people who are learning that the best is the cheapest, and who will have no other. But while Montreal's retailers have shown progressiveness in this direction, they have lagged behind in the appreciation of an equally important matter—the value of advertising to the retail merchant. Many of them, it is true, advertise, but few of them do it as effectively as it might be done, or as effectively as they decorate and equip their shops. Yet, it is even more important in producing a growing business—the only kind that is satisfactory. Montreal retailers—or most of them—have much to learn concerning the proper use of printer's ink. A great many have yet to appreciate its value.

FROM THE INSIDE.

"Anyone can deal with the devil"—and so there is a host of writers of glib advertising advice who have little difficulty in solving the innumerable problems of the retailer. Those who deal in theories, however, seldom realize how near the retailer lives to that many-pocketed creature, "the public." The national advertiser knows it mainly in the abstract. If he believes that the coal miners of Pennsylvania can be cultivated profitably, he goes after them with proper space and copy, and, win or lose, his public is largely a factor in a mathematical problem. But the retailer's public is a thing of flesh and blood, and palpability. He lives in the same town with it, sees it every day, knows its wrath when it is displeased, exchanges goods for it, gives its money back, meets it on the street and dreams about it at night. His advertising must be done with extreme caution, for his readers are in the store before the ink is dry on the morning's paper. A sale is never clinched until his customer has eaten up or worn out the goods. When the manufacturer is at fault, the retailer has to be his complaint bureau, and when a bad-gred clerk inveighs against a fussy old gentleman, the retailer pays for it. If the fashionmaker blundered, or a bank fails, or the thermometer goes too high or too low, the retailer pays.—Fame.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Drop a pebble in the water—
Ripples quickly spread around,
Growing larger, larger, larger,
Till like swelling waves they're found.
It may be a tiny pebble,
But the ripple it will make
In an ever-winding circle,
Will spread over all the lake.

Drop an adlet in the paper—
It is read as soon as seen.
Others see it, read it, heed it,
And a fortune it may mean.
It may be a tiny adlet,
But if honest, well displayed,
You may rest serenely certain,
An impression it has made.

GOOD ADVERTISING AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

There is advertising and good advertising. In other words, it is possible to spend large sums of money on advertising and to reap no benefits therefrom, and it is also possible to build up a large business by means of a gradual and properly developed system of advertising. Many kinds of advertising are open to manufacturers, says Ironmongers' Chronicle, but the advantage of using trade journals as advertising mediums are so obvious that we can allude to the subject without fear of being accused of self-interest. To reach the trade the trade paper must be employed, and to reach the cream of the trade the best journal and one which has attained a high degree of popularity should be selected. It is of little use to advertise the manufacturer's name and address, and with a brevity—not commendable—state that the advertiser "makes tools or implements." What is wanted is to impress readers with some special qualities, of production remind them of seasonable lines, lead them to ask for quotations, and either by judicious wording or pictorial illustration induce them to associate that firm alone as the best maker of those particular goods. The makers of novelties and specialties may go further, and stamp upon the minds of their readers the real sterling merit of the goods they offer, and above all, by illustration and description, leave a clear impression on the minds of all who study the advertisement of what the article is like, and to what extent it is likely to become popular. Goods should sell because of their merits, and a clear, living advertisement should be like a clearly explained description. Indeed, those who "live by advertising" say a properly drawn advertisement is equal to a verbal description by an eloquent salesman.

BRITISH CHEESE AND BUTTER SUPPLIES.

THE GROCER'S JOURNAL, London. Eng., says: "During the past 10 years the total supplies of both cheese and butter have distinctly increased, but much more largely for butter than for cheese. Practically, our home production of both cheese and butter is fairly stationary, the fluctuations being more the result of favorable or adverse seasons than anything else. The figures distinguishing colonial from foreign produce show us that for both these products the quantities obtained from the colonies have increased in far greater proportion than have those from foreign countries. Colonial cheese has increased from 45,751 tons in 1892 to 81,460 tons in 1901, an increase of nearly 80 per cent.; whereas foreign cheese has decreased from 59,452 tons to 49,578 tons, a decrease of 20 per cent. in the 10 years. Of colonial butter the increase has been from 6,323 tons to 32,000 tons, or just 433 per cent.; while the increase in our imports of foreign has been from 101,796 tons to 143,459 tons, or 11 per cent. So far as the prospects for the coming season are concerned it is not thought likely that 1901-2 will see larger total supplies of either cheese or butter than in the past year. This is the deduction made from the droughty season in the United Kingdom which has resulted in a very small home make. The United States will send us smaller quantities of both cheese and butter, while it is not thought that the Australasian shipments will be any larger than last season. With this, the increased supplies of Siberian and Canadian butters and of Canadian cheese will not be sufficient to make up for the deficiency in the home production. As a consequence of this rather higher prices are anticipated.

"FACED" INDIAN GREEN TEAS.

THE following is from the proceedings of the general committee of The Indian Tea Association, at Calcutta, on November 5. Letters dated October 4, 11 and 18, from the secretary Indian Tea Association, London, were brought up for final consideration after previous circulation. The principal matters dealt with in these letters were:—

(a) Green teas.—The London committee had considered the circular issued in Calcutta on September 9, in which proposals for bulking green teas in Calcutta were advanced. They were in general agreement with the scheme outlined in the circular. Information was also contained in the letters regarding an offer made by The Baraooora (Sylhet) Tea Co., Limited, to manufacture 200,000 lb. of "faced" green tea for 1902 in consideration of the bounty. This offer had been accepted by the London committee conditionally on (a) funds being available; (b) the tea made by the company in 1901 being suitable; and (c) the teas being sent to the firms in America selected by the Calcutta committee to deal with green teas.

The general committee observed that the offer of The Baraooora Co. had reference to "faced" green teas, which, they understood, were in demand in the United States. The scheme set forth in their recent circular dealt with the unfermented or Ceylon type of green tea, which they believed was preferred in Canada.

CONTAINS VALUABLE INFORMATION.

In renewing his subscription to THE CANADIAN GROCER, Gilbert S. McConnell, Vancouver, B.C., writes: "THE CANADIAN GROCER is a great credit to your company and to Canada. It contains most valuable information, and I am exceedingly well pleased to be one of your subscribers."

CANADIAN SUGAR 50 YEARS AGO.

The following item from The Toronto Globe, of December 13, 1851, was reprinted in that journal on Saturday, December 14:

DR. NAPHEGYI'S BEET ROOT SUGAR.

The doctor has favored us with a sample of sugar manufactured by him at his sugar factory in Paris, C.W., from the sugar beet. Although dark a little in shade, it is pure and crystalline in appearance, and has a very pleasant flavor, much more powerful and more agreeable than muscavado.

To the Merchants of Canada :

DEAR SIRS,—We defy any manufacturer to say that we ever copied his label or tried to work on his reputation for goods.

We have used JERSEY CREAM for our trade mark for years, and still intend to use it until the courts decide otherwise. We claim we have made no infringement on any man's trade mark. The Trade Mark Act is framed to protect the public from being defrauded; that is, a buyer must be willing to swear that he went into a store and purchased an article and was given one so imitated that he did not notice the difference. The man who would take JERSEY CREAM YEAST CAKES for the article that they claim we have copied would have to be stone blind, and a fool. As to damages, gentlemen—when this case is decided we think they will be very much the other way. Go on selling JERSEY CREAM YEAST CAKES. We will stand back of you and every package sold, and it will not only be sold over all Canada, but the United States as well, and we shall start a branch in Buffalo in 1902.

Wishing you each and all a Merry Christmas and prosperous New Year, we remain,

Yours very truly,

THE DOMINION COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE scrutineers, Messrs. Riddell and Common, reported at the annual meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association, held in Karn Hall, Montreal, December 14, that the following had been elected office-bearers for 1901-1902:

President—Mr. James Robinson, by acclamation.

Vice-president—Mr. George Mann, 1,203 votes. The other candidates were Messrs. Gus. Harris, 576 votes, and Fred. Birks, 216.

Directors—Messrs. W. B. Matthews, 1,247; E. F. Doutre, 1,195; R. C. Wilkins, 1,182; W. H. Evans, 1,159; Arthur Fournier, 1,079.

The other candidates were Messrs. W. E. Dickson, A. Gall, R. G. Plow, J. A. Thompson, and F. T. Pilon, but the number of votes cast in their favor was not made public.

Treasurer—Mr. J. S. N. Dougall, re-elected by acclamation.

The total number of ballots cast was 2,078, of which 28 were rejected for various reasons.

Mr. T. L. Paton, the retiring president, occupied the chair. The annual report of the directors was taken as read, the president remarking that it was, perhaps, one of the best statements presented. All the mortgages were in a satisfactory state, except the second mortgage bonds of the board of trade. A proposition has been submitted to the association to forego the interest for two and a half years, to enable the board to erect an up-to-date building, and the proposition had been agreed to.

SECURITIES IN GOOD SHAPE.

The sanction had been obtained, he said, of all the second mortgage bondholders whose addresses were known to the board of trade, and the intention was to tear down the walls of the burned building this winter, and to then commence the erection of a new structure. The association's security would then be better than it was before. He mentioned that this was the twenty-seventh year of the association's existence, and said that during that time there had been 355 deaths, on which the association had paid out $304,000. In many cases these payments were the only money the family had at the time of death.

The names of the 32 members who had died during the year were read, and the report was unanimously adopted.

During the evening, Mr. George Fielders, a member of the association who had returned from the South-African campaign since the last annual meeting, was invited to a seat on the platform.

The trustees of the educational fund reported that of the five pupils under their care at the beginning of the year two had retired. Applications had been received for two scholarships during the year, but the children subsequently removed to Toronto, where education was free. The amount disbursed was $125.75, leaving a balance of $44.46, and, as this was not sufficient to meet requirements for the ensuing year, an appropriation of $150 was asked for.

On the motion of Mr. J. T. Dwyer, seconded by Mr. R. C. Wilkins, the report was adopted, and the appropriation asked for granted.

Mr. James Robinson, the New President.

The trustees of the fund were reelected, namely, Messrs. George Sumner, George Boulter, David Watson, Charles Gurd and Robert Henderson.

The meeting then resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and discussed the revised by-laws of the association.

OBJECTS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The objects for which the association is established are:

1. To promote and protect the interests of commercial travellers generally.
2. To elevate the intellectual, moral, social, and material welfare of its members.
3. To make provision against accident or death, and to assist the widows and orphans of deceased members.
4. To secure from transportation companies, hotels, telegraph, telephone, insurance, and other companies and persons, just and equitable concessions and privileges.

With some slight verbal amendments, the by-laws were adopted, on the motion of Mr. Max Murdock, seconded by Mr. G. A. Mann. Mr. Murdock said that at the first meeting of the directors after the board of trade fire it was discovered that the by-laws had been destroyed. It was thought an opportune time to introduce a new set, and a committee was appointed for the purpose, and it made its presentation to the board three or four months ago.

Mr. Samuel Woods gave notice of motion that, if, after 20 years, a member finds himself unable to pay his annual subscription, it shall be charged against his mortuary account, and deducted, with interest, from the claims of his heir or heirs.

The retiring president thanked the association for the courtesy which had been shown him during his year of office; and the new newly-elected president returned thanks for the honor which had been conferred upon him, an honor which he fully appreciated.

A vote of thanks was, upon the motion of Hon. J. D. Rolland, accorded to the retiring officers.

To Mr. J. H. Morin, who leaves for Toronto next month to join the firm of Messrs. P. D. Dods & Co., a hearty good-speed was wished, and the meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

Mr. James Robinson, the newly elected president, has been a member of the association for 22 years. He was born in Montreal on May 1, 1856, and, since first donning his first pair of bootees, he has been very much felt in the shoe business of Canada. His first experience was with Ames, Millard & Co., now The Ames, Holden Co., Limited, where he worked nine years in the manufacturing departments and obtained an experience that has since been invaluable to him. He commenced to travel for Jas. A. Young & Co., but this concern ceased to exist one year afterward, and Mr. Robinson became identified with the late Hon. G. Bress, of Quebec, with whom he continued for eight years before he launched in the jobbing business on his own account. He began operations in a private house on Park avenue, Montreal, and, although there were lace curtains on the front windows in lieu of a sign, and no outward fact to indicate that a large shoe business was being conducted within, he managed to make a turnover of over $200,000 in the last 12 months he occupied it.

Seven years ago Mr. Robinson took the premises at 208 210 McGill street, and expected to have a couple of flats to spare. However, business grew so rapidly that a year ago he found it necessary to remove to 184 186 McGill street, where he has four storeys and a basement, besides a large warehouse for storage purposes. He has now the largest boot and shoe jobbing business in Canada, employing 15 travellers. Although a shrewd buyer, his appearance in St. Rochs is always welcomed, because he knows shoes and places orders heavy enough to keep some of the factories busy all the year round.

Mr. Robinson's ability as an organizer was well exemplified recently by the successful manner in which he reorganized the Maple Leaf Rubber Co., of which he is now president. He also holds presidential positions in the Durham Rubber Co., Bowmanville, Ont., and in the Shoe Jobbers' Association of Canada.

Mr. Robinson was a commercial traveller who began with little, and, by sheer force of energy and pluck, has built up a big business, and, mayhap, has made some money. At any rate he has lots of friends who believe he has and are glad of it.

LARGE SHIPMENTS FROM PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

The Cacouna sailed this morning, having on board a large quantity of oats, butter, poultry, hay, etc. The following was shipped by Carvell Bros.: 43,000 bush. of oats, 120 tons of hay, 21,000 lb. of beef, 12,000 lb. of mutton, 35,000 lb. of turkeys, ducks and geese.

Since the opening of navigation this summer, up till the present time, the firm of Carvell Bros. have shipped 465,000 bush. of oats, 875 tons of hay, 60,000 bush. of potatoes and large quantities of butter, cheese and other products.

This is perhaps the largest shipment of produce ever made during one season in the history of Island commerce. The total amounts of the shipments are perhaps not equalled in Canada. These shipments are of inestimable benefit to the farmers throughout the Island, and are a direct source of gain to them, as they are thus enabled to secure a ready market for their various products. Carvell Bros. will continue exportations to Newfoundland until the close of navigation.—Daily Examiner, Charlottetown, P.E.I., December 13.

John Barclay, who leased the Credit Valley Grist Mills, at Orangeville, a short time ago, has purchased R. Y. Blytt's, mill at Bellwood, Ont., where he has removed.

THE BEET-SUGAR INDUSTRY.

WIARTON DOINGS.

THE by-law granting the sugar company at Wiarton, Ont., a bonus to the extent of $25,000 has passed its second reading without any alteration, and all that remains is to submit it to the electors. Besides the bonus, an assessment of $80,000 on the company's property is provided for, which will yield $2,000 a year in taxes. It will only cost $1,839.55 to retire the bonus debentures.

PETERBORO' PREPARING.

At Peterboro', Ont., the committee appointed at the recent meeting between representatives of the sugar company and those interested in the sugar industry are sending out circulars to the township councils of that county and also to the adjoining townships of Cavan and Emily. These ask that these municipalities contribute in the providing of the $50,000 bonus which is required before the company will commence building their $800,000 factory in that town. As soon as can be arranged a deputation of farmers and others interested will go to Michigan to see the factories there and interview the farmers who are just now marketing their beets.

WORKING AT GALT.

The by law granting a free site to the North American Beet-Sugar Company, Limited, at Galt, Ont., has been introduced by the local council and will be submitted to the ratepapers on January 6 next. It appropriates $4,000 for the above purpose, the estimated cost of the land required. If the site costs more the Galt Board of Trade will make it good, while if it costs less the surplus will revert to the town.

Stock in the sugar company is being offered for sale and a large amount has already been subscribed. As soon as $50,000 is obtained the sugar people will add an equal amount which will enable them to secure a charter. Charlo, R. H. Warnock, manufacturer, also of Galt, has been appointed trustee to receive subscriptions for stock and acreage contracts.

DRESDEN COMPANY INCORPORATED.

The charter of the Dresden Sugar Co., Limited, Dresden, Ont., has been secured. The incorporators are: James Davidson, Bay City, president; John H. Walsh, Detroit, secretary; S. J. Fitzsimons, Detroit, treasurer; Timothy Hurley, Detroit, and G. E. Weir, Dresden, solicitor.

About 2,200 acres have already been voluntarily subscribed by the farmers, and an agriculturist is going to work immediately to secure contracts for the rest of the necessary 6,000. The plant will cost $600,000, and its capacity will be 600 tons of beets daily. It is expected that the factory will be ready for the making of sugar by the fall of 1902. To increase their facilities in the handling of beets, the Michigan Central Railway will be extended from the north through Dresden to Ridgetown.

TRADE CHAT.

JOSEPH L. SMITH has resigned his position of miller in the Springfield flour mills, Elgin County, Ont., where he has been for the past year and a half, to take charge of the Beaver Valley mills, Clarksburg, Ont.

Bennett & Dunn, Hanover West, Ont., are giving the interior of their store a coat of graining.

Roome & Cole have received the plate glass for the windows of their grocery store at West Lorne, Ont.

W. R. Pike's grist mill at Shannonville, Ont., was burned down recently. It was only partially insured.

A new grocery store and fancy bakery is being opened at Halifax by J. Lounds, next door to W. L. Tuttle's store.

S. Harriette, of Bancroft, Ont., is opening up a general store at Fort Frances, Ont., and has placed G. D. Wadsworth in charge.

James' grocery and butcher shop, at Ashburnham, Ont., has been taken over by John Malalane, who has opened out with a new and complete stock of groceries and meats.

V. L. Mathew's former premises, on York street, Fredericton, N.B., have been occupied by Bloise and Murray Bailey, who have opened out with a new stock of groceries.

To carry on a general store and mercantile business at Petitcodiac, N.B., James E. Humphreys, Clarence Grass, Daniel L. Lutes, John Murray, J. A. Nigilton and the Hon. Josiah Wood are applying for incorporation as The Humphreys & Lutes Co., Limited, with a capital of $12,000 in 100 shares.

Burglars gained admittance to H. Renaud's grocery store, at the corner of St. Elizabeth and Vitre streets, Montreal, by breaking a glass in the door. Several bottles of liquor and some loose change that was in the cash drawer were secured, by this time the proprietor became aware of their presence, and they hurriedly decamped when they heard him coming.

At the annual meeting of the Petitcodiac Cheese and Butter Co., Petitcodiac, N.B., the following were elected officers: President, D. S. Mann; secretary, H. F. Hughes. Directors—C. W. Robinson, Herbert Trites, Harry Douglass, John Hughes. Auditors—W. McCully, Harry Douglas. The report presented stated that 1,218,176 lb. of milk were supplied by 70 patrons. The receipts were $11,039.51.

As a result of recent trouble between union cigarmakers and a Kingston house, Hugh Bennett and William Strong are going to locate a new cigar factory in the Golden Lion block, Kingston. They are going to New York to purchase a stock of tobaccos with which to begin operations.

At Dundalk, Ont., the chopping and gristing departments of Moody & Son's flour and grist mill which is being erected has been started, and the flour department will be in operation shortly. Hector Moody is to be the manager of this mill. In Orangeville, Ont., the woollen mill which has been established by the company is running night and day.

A GOOD FISH STORY.

Down in Prince Edward Island the severe storm of two weeks ago forced a deep body of lully ashore in Kildare River, and when this lully afterwards formed into ice, it was discovered that large numbers of fish were imprisoned therein. The ice of the river has been prospected by a large number of Montrose and Kildare people, who found a multitude of large sea bass, weighing from 10 to 30 lb. each, which were either driven in by the storm or came to the river to spawn. Large quantities of these have been caught and shipped to New York, where it is expected they will bring from 15 to 20c. per lb. At these prices the catch should aggregate the people there $2,500 at least. As the fish are in good condition they will probably average 15 lb. each.

THE EYE OPENER

OUR scales are eye openers for people who have never used a system of getting full and accurate results in handling their merchandise. Many a good, honest, and industrious merchant has failed after long years of patient work and worry, just simply because he gave away more than his profits amounted to, in trying to sell for profit over miserable make-shift weighing devices. Time has proven conclusively that too much care cannot be exercised in the selection of a scale, and time has proven our MONEY-WEIGHT SYSTEM of Computing Scales to be the best.

THE AFFAIRS OF THE ROSS TEA CO.

WE have been informed by Mr. Ross, of The Ross Tea Co., that, while what we said last week in regard to the affairs of his company was substantially correct, explanations are necessary in one or two particulars, in order that wrong impressions may not be created.

The reason, for example, that only 100 lb. of tea figured in the assets was that when The Lipton Co. issued the writ delivery of tea was stopped and the bills of lading were handed over to the representatives of the shipping firms. Then, in regard to the meeting of the creditors. He declared that all the creditors whose accounts were $100 and over were represented and urged him to sell the assets to Mrs. Ross. Two meetings were held, and at the first The Lipton Company's lawyer was present, but the latter did not participate in the proceedings of the second meeting. At the first meeting, Mr. Ross says he offered to pay in full, if given time, as he did not look upon the $6,000 liabilities as a sum impossible to overcome.

Besides excessive advertising, the serious sickness of one of the principal members of the staff had also handicapped the company.

In regard to the notes extended over a period of 18 months, referred to in our last issue, Mr. Ross says he did not refuse to procure an endorser, but it was impossible for him to get one to meet the approval of The Lipton Company.

Within the last few days Mr. Ross has completed arrangements whereby new capital is to be put into the business, and he wishes to emphasize the statement that as soon as possible the company will pay its liabilities in full.

CANADIAN FLOUR FOR AFRICA.

The Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, has received an order from the War Office for 1,000 tons of Canadian flour for shipment to South Africa. This is equal to 10,000 barrels.

Flour exporters to whom "The Canadian Grocer" has spoken, do not look for the development of a large trade with South Africa, Australia being more favorably situated geographically for supplying that market. And our official trade returns do not offer much encouragement, for, while during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, we exported 31,457 barrels to British Africa, only 5,000 barrels were sent during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901.

While a large trade may not be developed in flour with South Africa, it is possible a steady trade for a moderate quantity may be secured. As long, however, as there is an absence of a direct steamship service between Canada and South Africa, we can expect but very little results. Canadian products exported to Africa via New York are frequently allowed to lie on the wharves at the latter point weeks together, goods from the United States being invariably given the preference over those from this country.

CAUSE OF THE WEAK POTATO MARKET.

The American market for potatoes went off considerably last week. A cargo from Scotland and another from Hamburg, arriving at New York, was the cause of the decline. As it is unknown whether there will be heavy arrivals from these ports, it is uncertain whether the market will decline further or not.

THE ADVANCE IN CHEESE.

The improved feeling in cheese reported a week ago has caused the prices in Toronto and Montreal to advance  $\frac{3}{4}$  c. per lb. Holders on this side of the Atlantic have now greater confidence in the future, and are not so liberal in their offerings. Several inquiries have been received from dealers in Great Britain, indicating that the demand there has begun to improve, and the outlook is distinctly brighter. The dealers over there seem to be getting over their cautiousness in bidding, and more cable offerings are being made.

SUGAR AT THE LOWEST POINT ON RECORD.

GRANULATED sugar in Canada is to-day at the lowest point on record, the price at Montreal now being $1 per 100 lb., and at Toronto $1.18. This is the result of a 10c. decline which went into effect at 12.55 p.m. on Wednesday.

Since our last report the sugar market, generally, has become much demoralized. Beet sugar in Europe has again receded to the lowest point on record, which it touched a couple of weeks ago, namely, 7s.  $\frac{3}{4}$  d. f.o.b. Hamburg for 88 degree for December shipment. This is on the basis of 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  c. for centrifugals in New York, and as a result 25,000 tons of beet have been bought in Europe by United States refineries.

In New York the Arbuckles have again led in the reduction of refined, having marked their figures down 10c. The reduction in Canada was doubtless in sympathy with that act.

An increase of 280,000 tons in Mr. Licht's estimate of the European beet crop, making the quantity 6,710,000 tons, has naturally had a bearish influence. And there are those who believe that a 7,000,000-ton crop is not at all improbable.

The number of central sugar factories in Cuba at work on the new crop is increasing, and Willett & Gray, the sugar experts, say that supplies from that crop will soon be available at the seaports.

TORONTONIANS SENDING FIGS TO NEW YORK.

There has been a heavy demand this week in Toronto for natural figs for shipment to New York. As a result from 8,000 to 10,000 bags have been picked up and shipped to that point, several cars being required for the purpose.

Wholesale dealers in Toronto are quite gratified. They had imported an unusually large quantity this season, and these sales on New York account relieve them of a good deal of concern. The wholesale price of naturals in Toronto to the retail trade is 3 $\frac{1}{4}$  c., and one house informs us that they had intended reducing the figure to 3c. had not the demand from New York opportunely come in and relieved it of the necessity of doing so.

THE INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY QUESTION.

THE resolution passed by the Halifax Board of Trade a couple of weeks ago recommending the handing over of the Intercolonial Railway to the Canadian Pacific Railway has naturally become a live subject for discussion. Had any other board of trade in the Dominion adopted such a resolution, it is improbable it would have attracted as much attention, Halifax being the main point on the I.C.R., and consequently more concerned than any other in such a new departure as the resolution proposes.

Whatever may be one's views as to the pros and cons of the question we believe that more good than harm will result from its again being brought before the attention of the people of this country.

The transportation question in this country transcends all others; and it is likely to do so for some years to come. Anything, therefore, which tends to keep the public view centred upon it and stimulates its discussion is to be courted rather than discouraged.

The particular phase of the transportation question which has been thrust upon the attention of the people of Canada by the resolution of the Halifax Board of Trade has, like all other questions, two sides to it.

Undoubtedly there would be some advantages gained by handing the management of the Intercolonial over to the C.P.R. In the first place, it would take the road out of politics, and then it would make it part and parcel of a system stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

But the question here arises: Would these advantages outweigh the disadvantages that would be entailed? Candidly, we do not believe they would. There is an old maxim which recommends us not to put all our eggs in one basket. And in this particular instance it appears quite applicable. At present the I.C.R., it must be remembered, is a competitor of the C.P.R. And experience has taught us that it is not usually for the good of the community when big corporations swallow up their smaller rivals. We all know what a continual string of complaints are coming from the Northwest in regard to tariff rates on the C.P.R. While we believe that the cause of these complaints is not by any means always so much the management of the C.P.R. as the geographical conditions peculiar to a line running through such an unproductive extent of country, yet there is enough of truth in them to warn us against surrendering what we have in the Maritime Provinces for a prospect which, to say the least, cannot be called promising.

In building the Intercolonial the object in view was not so much commercial as political necessities. It was a part of the Confederation compact. It has been a burden on the Dominion Treasury; but it was not expected to be anything else. It does not, however, follow that it will always be so.

The desideratum may not, perhaps, be soonest secured by continuing the railway under Government control direct.

The Minister of Railways is undoubtedly as anxious as the head of any privately-owned railway to be able to present a satisfactory statement at the end of each year. Aside from all other considerations, it would provide exceedingly good political literature. But that which he would do he is prevented from doing by the party system which obtains in the administration of the affairs of the road. In an ordinary business concern, appointments to the staff are usually made on the basis of fitness; in an institution under the management of Government, whatever its political shade may be, the basis is party fealty and strength of political influence. Then there is the horde of hungry office-seekers whose claims for position the strongest of Governments do not appear to be strong enough to resist. A privately-owned railway would certainly never prove profitable under such conditions. And we cannot look for anything else under a Government-owned road.

The tendency of public opinion is undoubtedly strongly tending in the direction of national railways. This, in the face of the evident growing dissatisfaction with the present system of party Government, is significant.

If the Halifax Board of Trade advocated the placing of the management of the Intercolonial under a non-partizan commission it would have found supporters from one end of the Dominion to the other. We have, in Australia, an example of the beneficial results which have been obtained from placing the railways under a commission. And the bringing of this about in Canada is the task to which the business men of this country should set themselves.

In spite of the recurring deficits the prospects for the Intercolonial are gradually becoming brighter. The latest figures regarding the earnings to which we have access are those for 1900, and in that year they were easily the largest on record, being $1,599,422, against $3,780,805 in 1899 and $2,958,243 in 1890, an increase of over 55 per cent. in 10 years.

MISREPRESENTING CANADA.

AT the coronation proceedings in London in June next Canada is to be represented by an arch. And on this arch is to be a snow-capped peak.

We hope that those who have displayed such good taste will also see that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's representative at the coronation proceedings, will be attired in costume in keeping with the arch. His head must be encased in a toque and his garments must be of fur—Arctic bear, of course. And if snowshoes are not on his feet they must be, at least, slung across his back. His manner must not be sunny either; it must be cold enough to freeze the words of the King as he takes the coronation oath. A contrivance by which a little snow can be kept falling on his head would be timely. Unless these little details are attended to it is to be feared Sir Wilfrid may attire himself as the people of England do, thus bringing about incongruous conditions between himself and the snow-peaked arch which might cause a smile at Canada's expense.

But, perhaps, after all, the surest way to prevent incongruity would be to knock the snow-capped peak off the arch and allow Sir Wilfrid to don the regulation court uniform. Snow and ice, at any rate, have altogether too long been made to misrepresent Canada. We have both in winter, of course, but they are not the predominant features of our country; and it is the predominant that should be depicted on a coronation arch.

On the Pacific Coast snow and ice are rare and in December flowers are blooming in the gardens. In Toronto sleighing is of short duration and rare, and even in the coldest parts of the country the atmosphere is so dry that the cold is felt less severely than it is in certain parts of Great Britain, where the climate is damp and chilly.

As a well-known authority on climatic conditions pointed out in The Canadian Magazine a few years ago, "Canada has climates which are as warm in summer as many parts of the South of France, and summers as long as in the central department of that country."

It is to be hoped Lord Stratheona will see that the snow-capped peak is knocked off the proposed arch.

A NEW CEREAL COMPANY.

MR. E. A. SHOEBOOTHAM, as promoter and manager of The North-Western Cereal Co., London, is placing on the market in the two specialties manufactured by that firm, what he claims to be the two finest cereal products offered through the trade. He has had an experience of many years in the growing, manufacturing and selling of cereals and cereal goods. In 1893 he introduced in Western Ontario, for E. D. Tillson, of Tilsonburg, the then new process of flaked cereal goods, in Molina rolled wheat, flaked barley, flaked peas, pan-dried oatmeal, etc., and he recalls interesting stories of the tall guessing some of the merchants made at that time as to what the ordinary yellow pea really was, when shown to them, in those large mellow golden flakes. Later, as agent for The Cream of Wheat Co., of Minneapolis, for over a year and a half, Mr. Shoebotham successfully promoted the introduction of the product of that company through the Canadian wholesale trade. His various wholesale and commission agencies, in addition to experience gained in his retail business of Shoebotham & Co., grocers and pure food specialists, St. James Park, London, has placed him in a position to acquire an intelligent knowledge of what the trade demands, both from the standpoint of health and that of popular favor. Believing in certain specific natural foods, thoroughly boiled or baked in the good old way, as essential to the building up and retaining of full physical and mental force, he is full of forceful argument that it is in the uses of those natural elements of constant development and repair to the system, that we are, as individuals and as a people, what we are. With the latest scientific improvements to hand to equip Canadian mills, and the best wheat berry in the world growing in the Canadian Northwest from which to manufacture, Mr. Shoebotham determined some months ago to produce two lines of goods, to be not only the finest Canadian, but, what he terms, the most superior health-food products in America. With that object in view and to give it his fullest attention, he sold out his retail business, and the result is the formation of The North-Western Cereal Co., with its two initial lines, "Superior Breakfast Cream" (cereal) and "Superior Gluten Flour."

Not only in his own business, but on general trade questions as well, Mr. Shoebotham is ever active in matters affecting the public and commercial interests. As vice-president of The London Retail Merchants' Association, he was the representative of that body on the deputation that waited on the Ontario Legislature at its last session in the matter of trading stamps.

MONTREAL FRUIT GROWERS DINE.

The second annual dinner of The La Chine Horticultural Society, Montreal, held on Saturday evening, December 14, at the Lake View House was a grand success, considering the infancy of this society.

President James Ramsay was the proposer of the first toast, "The King," which was duly honored by the singing of the National Anthem. Speeches were made by A. J. Bowles, of the Montreal Horticultural Society; J. McKenna, of The Montreal Gardeners and Florists'

Club, F. D. Monk, M.P., Jos. A. Des-carriers, K.C., and others. A gold locket was presented to Jos. Bennett, for valuable services rendered.

This society was organized two years ago with a membership of 15, and now it has 150 members on the roll.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusual large sale this season.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report a large sale for the new size "Horseshoe" salmon which they advertise in this issue.

Buyers of Keeler's or "C. & B." marmalade in 2 and 7-lb. tins can get a snap by applying to Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

A large demand for mince meat is reported by T. A. Lytle & Co., who are well-known manufacturers of this table delicacy.

AN IMPROVED CAN.

The Acme Can Works, of Montreal, have just put on the market a can that embodies several improvements that will appeal to all manufacturers or packers in need of the best procurable can. The most noticeable feature of it is that the lid is so fitted on that it does not protrude from the body of the can, allowing the manufacturer to put on a label that will not be wrinkled or torn by the lid, thus materially improving the appearance of the goods. The top of the can is rolled, allowing the lid to be put on quite easily. All users of cans should not fail to procure samples.

SHIPMENTS OF APPLES.

Under date of December 18, Messrs. Woodall & Co., cabled from Liverpool that there were "5,700 barrels of apples selling, and that the market was active and dearer."

During the week ending December 14, the total shipments of apples from Boston, New York, Portland and Halifax to Liverpool, London and Glasgow, were 9,466 barrels as compared with 32,016 barrels for the same week in 1900, and 16,775 for the same period in 1889.

The total shipments of apples from these ports since this season opened were 488,019 barrels compared with 902,006 in 1900, and 901,341 for the same period in 1899.

A VISITOR FROM CEYLON.

Mr. George Croll, of Crossfield, Lam-pard & Co., Colombo, Ceylon, was in Toronto last week and in company with his firm's local representative, Mr. J. L. Watt, called upon a number of the wholesale houses. Speaking of the improved condition of the tea market, Mr. Croll ventured the opinion that he did not think we should, for many years, at any rate, see the market in such a demoralized condition as it was during the last year or two.

MARRIAGE OF R. T. MACDONALD.

Mr. Robert T. Macdonald, the Secretary-Treasurer of The A. F. MacLaren Cheese Co., Limited, Toronto, is no longer a bachelor. He joined the ranks of the benedicts on the 4th inst., when he was married to Miss Edith Annie, only daughter of Chas. Roddy, Esq. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Neil. "The Canadian Grocer" tenders congratulations.

A GROCERY FIRM'S CALENDAR.

Laporte, Martin & Co. have just issued a handsome calendar for 1902, and, as usual, will be pleased to send one on request to any member of the trade, mentioning "The Canadian Grocer."

CREAMERY CHANGES HANDS.

The liquidator of The T. E. Crealy Dairy Co., Limited, Clinton, Ont., has sold their creamery to John E. McGregor, butter manufacturer, who will take charge of it shortly. He intends to conduct the business on a cash basis, and, as under his management the butter made at Cedar Springs realized the highest prices, the outlook there is very bright.

WORKS THE RIGHT WAY.

Mr. W. J. P. McGregor, Toronto, was in Montreal this week calling upon the trade and telling of the merits of his "Quaker" marmalade, McGregor's chocolates and butterscotch.

He is one of those bright young Canadians who put up goods of real value, push them for all they are worth, and are enthusiastic believers in the future of their business.

BAD FISH SHIPPED TO PORTO RICO.

In his report to the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce, the British Consul at Porto Rico makes a serious indictment of Canadian fish-dealers whom he accuses of shipping large quantities of codfish, the majority of which, amongst other food, has been condemned and destroyed by the authorities of that island. As all impure food will be stopped at the port of entry by the Porto Rican Board of Health, dealers in Canada are advised to take warning and refrain from shipping impure fish.

R. W. Hannah, Board of Trade, Toronto, would like to contract for 10 cars of good potatoes for shipment after January 1. If you can offer any write to him.

R. W. Hannah, Board of Trade, Toronto, would like to hear from grain dealers or general storekeepers in Manitoba and the Northwest who can offer a few carloads of Nos. 1 or 2 white oats. If offering any, kindly quote lowest price f.o.b. or delivered at Toronto.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, December 19, 1901.

GROCERIES.

WHILE the volume of business this week exhibits some falling off, there is still a good trade being done. A number of the orders are of the rush description. A large quantity of currants is going out, and the wholesalers complain that they are behind with their orders. The position of the Valencia raisin market continues to increase in strength, higher prices being called this week. A good demand is also being experienced for figs, and a feature of the trade is a demand which is being experienced from New York for naturals, a large quantity of which have been shipped to that point. The sugar market is demoralized, as far as prices are concerned, our quotations being 10c. lower than a week ago. This decline is in sympathy with the outside markets. Canned goods are still attracting little or no attention, but prices rule steady. The coffee market is firm, but very little business is being done. Spices are meeting with a seasonable demand. Teas continue firm in price, and in Indians and Ceylons there have been again some fair transactions booked during the past week.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in canned vegetables is much the same as it was a week ago, the demand being only light, with prices steady and unchanged. The wholesale trade is looking for a brisk demand, after the opening of the new year. The price of tomatoes still rules at 82½ to 85c., and for peas and corn at 80c. upwards. Very little is being done in canned fruits and the ruling prices are still $1.75 to $1.90 for peaches; $1.65 to $1.70 for strawberries, and $1.60 to $1.80 for raspberries. Canned salmon appears to be a little firmer on the Coast, and in some instances, local wholesalers have been unable to get orders filled for further supplies of certain brands. Advices from the Coast say that efforts are being made to reorganize the packers for the coming season, and that if both the Fraser River and Northern canneries can be included and rules and regulations that cannot be evaded are made, it will certainly be a good thing for those whose brands are in most demand. The fixed selling price for Fraser sockeye is $4 f.o.b. the Coast, and efforts that have been made to buy below these figures are reported to have failed. The ruling prices for canned salmon are: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15.

COFFEE.

The outside markets are again a little firmer, and very little business is being done either on importation or retail account. Quotations rule as before. We quote: No. 7, 8c.; No. 6, 8½c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

CANDIED PEELS

A large trade is still being done in this line and the season, so far, has been more than usually good. We quote as follows: Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

A good business is being done in all kinds of nuts. A cable advice received this week says that the market for Taragona almonds is steady at about the same prices which have been ruling all the season. The ruling prices are: Grenobles, 10½c. by the bale, up to 12c. for smaller quantities; Marbots, 9½ to 10½c.; filberts, 9½ to 10½c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

A fair, steady trade is to be noted in this line. We quote: B rice, 3½c.; Japan

See pages 31 and 32 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

rice, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 4 to 4½c.; sago, 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

Nothing particular has developed during the past week and a fair trade is being done in all seasonable lines.

SUGAR.

During the past week the sugar market has become quite demoralized. Beet-root sugar in Europe has again fallen to 7s. 3d. for December shipment, and 7s. 1½d. for January shipment. The former quotation is just on the parity of 3½c. for centrifugal sugars in New York, and is again at the lowest point which the market has ever touched. Both holders and buyers in New York are reported to be somewhat indifferent. The meltings in the United States last week were again in excess of the receipts by about 3,000 tons. On Wednesday, at noon, the price of refined sugars in Canada was reduced 10c. per 100 lb., making granulated on the basis of 4c. Montreal, the lowest point ever touched. This was in sympathy with a similar reduction in the United States. The demand here is poor, being of a hand-to-mouth character. The latest advices from Europe are that Mr. Licht has increased his estimate of the present beet crop by 280,000 tons, making the output 6,710,000 tons.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for molasses is only moderate, and the same may be said of syrups. The ruling price for molasses is 25 to 28c. for New Orleans, and bright sugar syrups, 35 to 37c. The ruling quotations on corn syrup are: 3½c. in bbls.; 3½c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38-lb., and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

TEAS.

There have again been some fair transactions on the local market in Indian and Ceylon teas, principally in low-grade descriptions, although some mediums have changed hands. These transactions would have been larger were not buyers' views still somewhat above the ideas of the sellers. Mail advices from London, England, under date of December 6, say that the tendency in Indian teas has been towards better competition for lower and medium grades, while grades over 7d. attracted less attention and frequently showed a weaker market, especially for broken pekoe kinds. The total shipments of Indian tea from April 1 to the end of November, 1901, were 118,584,800 lb., against 125,420,000 in 1900. In regard to Ceylon teas, the advices say that the comparatively heavy sale passed with fair demand for low-priced teas, but rather irregularly and somewhat cheaper for medium and good-liquoring teas. Darjeeling teas are very dear, and and are practically 1d. higher than a week ago. The Japan tea market continues firm. Locally, there is not much inquiry, and very few offerings are being made. There have been a few sales of China greens during the past week, but these are still scarce and dear.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The outside markets continue firm in price. Locally, the demand continues brisk, and wholesalers report that they are somewhat behind with their orders for cleaned currants. Prices rule same as last week. Fine Filiatras, 6 to 6½c., and Campos are quoted at the same figure; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 7½ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The position of the Valencia raisin market is even stronger than it was a week ago. One house received a cable on Monday announcing an advance of 1s. 6d., also stating that the supplies were short and falling off. Still a later cable to another broker was received refusing an order and stating that the crop was exhausted. Locally, the demand continues active on retail account, and some business has been done on importation account at the higher prices now ruling. Ruling prices are  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to 6c. for fine off stalk and  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to  $7\frac{1}{2}$  c. for selected.

MALAGA RAISINS—The demand for Malaga raisins is fairly good with prices much as before. We quote as follows: Black baskets, $2.25; "Empire Clusters," $2.60; "Dehesa Clusters," $3.10; "Excelsior Clusters," $4.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.10; "Extra Dessert Clusters," $3.35; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $5.

PRUNES—The demand continues good with quotations as before. We quote as follows: Californian prunes: 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's,  $5\frac{1}{2}$  to  $6\frac{1}{4}$  c.; 80-90's,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to 7c.; 70-80's,  $6\frac{3}{4}$  to  $7\frac{1}{4}$  c.; 60-70's,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to  $8\frac{1}{2}$  c.; 40-50's,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  to 10c. French, 100's,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to 4c.

FIGS—The feature of the local trade this week is the large sales that have been made in natural figs for shipment to the New York market. It is estimated that about 8,000 to 10,000 bags have gone forward. This has considerably relieved the local market, which was overstocked, and some of the wholesalers were getting ready to cut prices in order to get rid of their supplies. The ruling price here is  $3\frac{1}{4}$  c. per lb., while in New York the price to the retail trade is said to be 6 to  $6\frac{1}{4}$  c. per lb. We quote mat figs  $3\frac{1}{4}$  c.; naturals,  $3\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  c., according to quality; tapnets,  $3\frac{1}{4}$  c., and Eleme figs range all the way from  $8\frac{1}{2}$  to 18c.

DATES—There is just a fair trade being done at  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{3}{4}$  c. for Hallowees, and  $4\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  c. for Sairs.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—These are meeting with very little attention, and prices rule at 13 to 16c. for apricots in 25-lb. boxes, and at 11 to 13c. for peaches.

GREEN FRUITS.

The influence of the nearness to Christmas is being felt in the green fruit business, and apples, and especially oranges, are being eagerly bought up. Jamaicas and Floridas find a ready sale, while Mexicans and Valencias are great favorites. The Californian crop, which is just beginning to come in, was never in better shape, and dealers are very much satisfied with their quality. Cranberries sell very readily, but there are very few Cape Cod left, while Budd's long-keepers are no longer being offered. Almeria and Malaga grapes are much wanted, and their price remains firm. Apples are meeting with a good demand, and in some fancy lots are selling at $5 per bbl. We quote as follows: Apples, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Jamaica oranges, $4 75 to $5 per bbl., or $2.75 to $3 per box; Florida oranges, $3.75 per box; Mexican oranges, $2.50 per box; Californian lemons, $3.50 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3 25 per box; Californian oranges, $3.75 per box; Valencia oranges, $4 to $5.50 per case; Malaga grapes, $6 to $6.50; Almeria grapes, $5.50 to $6.50 per keg; cranberries, fancy Jerseys, $10; Cape Cod, $10; pineapples, 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

The vegetable market is in rather a depressed condition, and movements from stock are somewhat slow. Greenhouse lettuce and radishes are being offered, the former 10c. lower and the latter 10c. higher per bunch. Large quantities of cabbage have been received which are finding a moderate demand at 30 to 50c. Potatoes are a little easier. We quote: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 30 to 40c. per doz.; radishes, 40 to 50c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.; cabbage, 30 to 50c.; pickling onions, 35 to 40c. per peck; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 85 to 90c. per bag; Hubbard squash, 15 to 30c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—No strictly fresh eggs are being offered, but a good demand has set in for cold-stored and limed from different quarters. The prices are ranging slightly higher. We quote: Fresh-gathered, 19 to 21c.; cold-stored, 17 to 19c., and limed, 16 to 17c. per doz.

BEANS—A better trade is doing in this line owing to the colder weather and inquiries from the lumber camps. We quote: choice handpicked, $1.70 to $1.75; prime, $1.50 to $1.60 per bush.

HONEY—The demand has improved and larger sales are being made. The prices are unchanged. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins,  $9\frac{1}{2}$  c.; less quantities, 10c. per lb.; in combs, \$2 to \$3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—In sympathy with the high prices of green apples, the price of evaporated has advanced  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1c. per lb. A better demand has set in. We quote: Evaporated apples  $9\frac{3}{4}$  to 10c. in carlots and  $10\frac{3}{4}$  c. in less quantities. Dried apples 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—More offerings are being made this week, but the price is still high. Some lots are being offered 2c. lower than last week, the ruling prices being 68 to 70c. in carlots on the track. The retail price is from 85 to 90c. per bag.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Farmers will persist in feeding their cows on turnips, thereby flooding the market with inferior butter, which is hard to move. The creameries have shut down for the season, and their butter has gone up 1c. per lb. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints sell at 21 to 22c., and creamery solids,  $20\frac{1}{2}$  to 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—The improved feeling in cheese reported last week has resulted in a rise of  $\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb., and the market is very much firmer. We quote: Cheese, 10 to  $10\frac{1}{4}$  c. per lb.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY—Shippers are making their usual mistake in holding back their consignments of dressed fowl until within a day or so of Christmas, hoping thereby to obtain better prices. But, instead, the market becomes very weak, in consequence, and dealers find it hard to move stock at the last moment. The receipts this week are poor; the cold weather ought to make them better. Geese are  $\frac{1}{2}$  c. higher, while turkeys are firm at 8 and 9c. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 40 to 75c. per pair; geese, 6 to 7c. per lb.; turkeys, 8 to 9c.

LIVE POULTRY—More consignments of live poultry have come in this week than last, and dealers are making ready for another large shipment to the Old Country. The prices are firm. The Canadian Produce Company, 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds)  $2\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Lake Erie herrings are now freely offered at 5c. per lb., and find ready sales at that price. For this season, a good movement is reported in all lines, the only complaint being the scarcity of ciscoes. Oysters are very firm in price, but, although the Baltimore market is higher, the prices have not been advanced locally. We quote as follows: Fresh fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to  $7\frac{1}{2}$  c.; Lake Erie herring, 5c.; trout,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; herring, 5c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, \$1 to \$1.25; finnan haddie,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 8c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, \$4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, \$5.50 to \$6; boneless cod, in bricks,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.; steak cod,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), \$1.80 per hard wheat, it has taken a tumble of 3c.

since last week and is now selling at 86c.
grinding in transit, or 85c. Toronto and west. Excepting oats and barley, which are 1c. easier, the arrivals of grain on the local market have been poor. White and red wheat are 4c. higher; the other prices remain unchanged. We quote: White and red Ontario wheat, 70 to 80c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, new, 48 to 49c.; rye, 58c.;
barley, 57 to 61c.; peas, 77 to 80c.; buck-are 10c. higher; the other prices are firm, with, perhaps, an upward tendency. There is a continued good movement in all lines.

We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.75; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $5.35; in bbls., 15c.
more; broken lots are 25c. per bbl. extra;

MARKET NOTES.

The Christmas fruit trade is now reaching its height and jobbers are busy filling orders.

All grades of Canadian refined sugars were reduced 10c. per 100 lb. at 12.55 p.m. on Wednesday.

As expected last week cheese has taken a rise of  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. owing to the better feeling in Great Britain.

From 8,000 to 10,000 bags of natural figs have been shipped from Toronto to New York during the past week.

Manitoba hard wheat has taken a drop of 3c., while on the local market, red and white Ontario wheat are 4c. higher.

Creamery butter has, in both solids and pound prints, taken an advance of 1c. owing to the closing down of the creameries.

Live poultry are being more plentifully offered this week, and local shippers are preparing to send another large consignment to Great Britain in a few days.

The vegetable market is in rather a depressed condition generally. Hot-house lettuce is being offered 10c. per bunch lower, while radishes are 10c. higher.

LONDON TRAVELLERS ENTERTAIN.

The London commercial travellers held their annual entertainment in their rooms, Duffield Block, London, Ont., on Saturday evening, December 14. It was in the form of a tramp social. Of course, when it is known that a prize was given for the most disreputable-looking son of the road, it will be understood that they were arrayed in a manner peculiar to the tramp fraternity. An excellent musical programme was provided, and, as every singer and dancer who acquitted themselves well were roundly applauded, the entertainment was a huge success.

TRAVELLERS MAY INCREASE FEES.

A proposal has been left to a committee, and will be brought forward at the annual meeting of the Toronto Commercial Travellers' Association, that each member pay an additional fee of $2 every year at the time he receives his renewal certificate or a new one. One dollar of this is to go to increase the reserve fund, 10 per cent. of the other dollar to the relief, and the balance to the contingent fund. This will sustain the continued payment of $1,000 at death, increase the reserve fund so that $1,200 may be paid, and provide a relief and contingent fund, whereby members who may be disabled may receive financial assistance as a matter of right, instead of having to appeal for voluntary subscriptions as at present.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, December 19, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a brisk movement of Christmas supplies this week, and the large number of rush orders that have come to hand show the retail trade throughout the country to be very satisfactory. Dried fruits, nuts and high-class canned goods are all in good request and particularly in the better grades. The trend of values continues upward. Probably the most noticeable evidence of this is in Californian raisin values which show advances of  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1c. per lb.; the statistical position is strong and further advances are expected. As yet there are some houses that have not yet changed their quotations in sympathy and it would seem a good time for the retailer to lay in his stock of seeded raisins. An order cabled for selected Valencia raisins was turned down this week with the statement that the fine grades were entirely exhausted in the primary markets. Some orders have gone forward for currants at the enhanced values, as high prices are looked for. The scarcity of almonds has led to higher prices; Sicily filberts are  $\frac{3}{4}$ c. a lb. higher and Grenoble walnuts slightly lower. Hallowee dates are  $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. higher. Rolled oats are higher again this week as also is lard.

SUGAR.

The demand for sugar has been quite brisk this week, yet of a consumptive order. The raw-sugar market is without any material change and a steady course of values is looked for. Montreal refined sugar is selling at $3.35 to $4.05 for yellows and $4.10 for granulated. City 5c. extra and Acadian 5c. less.

TEAS.

There is but little to report in teas, as there is very little doing this week. Quotations are all very firm and there is every confidence in the local market. All attention is now centred on the agitation for the removal of the tea duty in the United States as it is felt that the opening of that market must have a wholesome influence on this side of the line. For this reason holders of tea in Canada feel that they have a good thing and they will not let it go at any concession.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair demand for corn syrup and a better demand for bright sugar syrup. We quote as follows: 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in bbls.; 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbls.; 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in  $\frac{1}{4}$  bbls.; \$1.60 in 38 $\frac{1}{2}$ -lb. and \$1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

Just now the demand for molasses is quite slow and it will continue so till February, at least. It would appear now that we are to have a strong market next spring just as we had a weak one last spring, for the latest news from the Barbados is to the effect that the prospects are not nearly so bright as 12 months ago. Stocks of molasses here are by no means large. Prices are unchanged at 28 and 29c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a good business being done in fancy canned goods, but the staple domestic stuff is not moving freely just now. Prices are steady at 82 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for tomatoes; 80c. for corn, and 80 to 95c.

for peas. Salmon is wanted in fair quantities at \$1.00 to \$1.05 for pink; \$1.30 for spring; \$1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; \$1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and \$1.42 $\frac{1}{2}$  to \$1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

Canned oysters are being quoted at $1.30 for 1-lb. and $2.30 for 2-lb., and there has been a very fair inquiry for this relish the last few days. Fruits are in but moderate demand.

SPICES.

The feature of the spice market is another advance in the primary pepper market. The position of both peppers and gingers is exceptionally strong. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

COFFEE.

A fairly good trade is being done in coffee at steady values. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The market for Patna rice continues very strong in view of the temporary scarcity that will exist till the new crop comes on the market, which will not be till next March or April. Meanwhile there are houses disposing of early purchases at prices advantageous to the retailer while they last. We quote in combine district as follows: B rice in bags, \$3.10; in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bags, \$3.15; in  $\frac{1}{4}$  bags, \$3.20; in pockets, \$3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, \$3 in bags; \$3.05 in  $\frac{1}{2}$  bags; \$3.10 in  $\frac{1}{4}$  bags; and \$3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., and tapioca, 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS.—Several orders have been cabled at the advance noted last week. Latest reports indicate that the currant market the world over is strong with a still higher tendency. At present quotations it would cost 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. to lay down fine Filiatras in half cases in Montreal. The demand for currants is very good and prices are firm. Fine Filiatras are worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. in  $\frac{1}{2}$  cases; 6c. cleaned; 1-lb. cartons, 8c. and finest Vostizzas, 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—A cable order this week brought back the information that stocks of fine raisins were exhausted and that only low grades were obtainable. This news only accentuates the importance of the scarcity now felt in Canada. Trade in selected and layers has been very good. Locally, finest off stalk is worth 5 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; selected, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ c., and layers, 6 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CANDIED PEELS.—A good business is being done. The best English peels are worth 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for lemon; 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. for orange, and 14 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. for citron.

PRUNES.—The market is firm at the recent advance. The demand has been quite brisk. Eighty-five per cent. of cars must now be taken in the large fruits. We quote as follows: Californians,  $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 60-70's,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 70-80's,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 80-90's,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is a good movement of Malaga fruit in all grades. We quote: London layers, \$1.50 to \$1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," \$2.15 to \$2.25;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," \$3.30 to \$3.35;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.05 to \$1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," \$4.50 to \$4.60;  $\frac{1}{4}$ 's, \$1.30 to \$1.40.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The Christmas trade has been exceptionally good. A general idea as to values is 9 to  $10\frac{1}{2}$ c.

DATES.—Hallowee dates are higher and are now worth  $4\frac{1}{4}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.

FIGS.—Retailers have been ordering their Christmas supplies quite freely and table figs are heavy sellers. Tapnet figs are worth  $97\frac{1}{2}$ c. to \$1.

APPLES.—Evaporated apples are selling at  $9\frac{1}{2}$  to  $9\frac{3}{4}$ c., while dry are offered at  $7\frac{1}{4}$  to  $7\frac{3}{4}$ c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Prices on Californian raisins which were withdrawn on December 4, pending a rearrangement between the packers and the conflicting interests, have again been named on a basis of a rise of  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1c. per lb. The supply of 2-crown raisins and therefore of choice is limited, and orders can be booked only in the ratio of 20 per cent. on 2-crown or choice seeded. The stock of raisins in California is not half of what it was twelve months ago and the prices on seeded are limited to a quantity not exceeding 100 ears. Another advance is consequently not out of the question. Out of wholesalers' hands seeded raisins are still selling at  $9\frac{1}{4}$  to  $9\frac{1}{2}$  cents.

NUTS.

Shelled almonds are  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. higher and Jordan shelled almonds, 5c. per lb. higher. Grenoble walnuts are a little lower, while Sicily filberts have moved up a notch. A good business is doing. We quote as follows: Walnuts,  $9\frac{3}{4}$  to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts,  $18\frac{1}{2}$  to 19c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts,  $8\frac{3}{4}$  to 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

FISH.

FISH.—There is no change to report in the market this week. We quote as follows: Haddies,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; bloaters, 90c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked, medium herrings, 12c. per box; fresh haddock and cod,  $3\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; whitefish,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; dore,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; pike, 5c.; halibut, 9c.; salmon, 9c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia,  $\$5.37\frac{1}{2}$  per bbl, No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia,  $\$2.90$  per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings,  $\$6.50$  per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings,  $\$6.50$  per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels,  $6\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish,  $\$6$  per bbl.; No. 1 green haddock,  $\$4.75$  per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines,  $\$5.50$  per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel,  $\$12.50$  per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel,  $\$9$  per bbl.; Ivory boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish,  $\$5$  per case; dried codfish,  $\$5$  per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon,  $\$17.50$  in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon,  $\$12$  per bbl, No. 1. Labrador salmon,  $\$6.25$  per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon,  $\$5.50$  per  $\frac{1}{2}$  bbl.; standard bulk oysters,  $\$1.30$  per gal.; select. bulk oysters,  $\$1.50$  per gal.; Malpeque shell oysters, in shell,  $\$4.50$  per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce,  $\$1.45$  per doz.; Canadian kippered,  $\$1$  per doz.; Canadian  $\frac{1}{4}$  sardines,  $\$3.75$  per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size,  $\$1.30$  per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size,  $\$2.20$  per doz.

GREEN FRUITS.

A brisk trade is being done in oranges for the Christmas trade. Lemons are 25c. per box higher. We quote: Jamaica oranges,  $\$4.50$  to  $\$4.75$ ; Florida oranges,  $\$3.75$  to  $\$4$ ; Californian sunflowers,  $\$3.75$  to  $\$4$ ; Valencia oranges, 420's,  $\$4$ ; 520's,  $\$4.75$ ; 714's,  $\$5.25$ ; Messina lemons,  $\$2.75$  to  $\$3.00$  per box; Malaga lemons,  $\frac{1}{2}$  chests,  $\$5.25$  to  $\$6$ ; pineapples, 15 to 20c.; Canadian apples,  $\$3$  to  $\$5$  per bbl.; limes,  $\$1.50$  per box; cocoanuts,  $\$3.50$  per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1,  $\$1.75$  to  $\$2.25$ , and eight hands,  $\$1$  to  $\$1.50$ ; Spanish onions,  $\$1$ ; sweet potatoes, Vineland's,  $\$4$  to  $\$4.25$ ; Malaga grapes,  $\$5.50$  to  $\$7$  per keg; cranberries,  $\$7.50$  to  $\$9.50$ ; barrel onions,  $\$3$ ; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts,  $12\frac{1}{2}$ c.; holly,  $\$4.50$  per large case.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—A fair trade is being done in flour but the demand is for small lots. Values show little change. In car lots we quote: Spring wheat patents,  $$4.10$  to  $$4.30$ ; winter wheat patents,  $$3.85$  to  $$4$ ; straight rollers,  $$3.65$  to  $$3.75$ ; strong bakers',  $$3.80$  to  $$4$ .

FIRST IMPRESSIONS COUNT.

The dealer who is striving as much for the sales of to-morrow as for the sales of to day is the dealer who stands the best chance for doing a successful, profitable business. The demand for pure, healthy, invigorating tea, like is daily increasing. And why? Because tea-drinkers know they can rely on its quality. With JAPAN TEA quality does quality's work for the grocer—one sale is instrumental in producing another—its unapproachable quality is so apparent that a good impression of the seller is produced. That means continued patronage from the purchaser. You grocers who consider the importance of "first impressions" will appreciate the intrinsic merits of JAPAN TEA.

JAPAN TEA

S. H. EWING & SONS, 96 King St., MONTREAL

GRAIN—We quote: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 82 to 83c. December; peas, 87½c.; rye, 59 to 60c.; No. 2 barley, 57c.; oats, 51 to 52c.; buckwheat, 57c.; corn, 67 to 67½c.

OATMEAL—The market is firm and active. Wholesalers quote rolled oats at $6 per bbl. in small lots and $2.90 to $2.95 in bags.

FEED—The tone of the market for feed is firm under a good demand at $21 for Manitoba bran and $23 for shorts per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY—Although the Liverpool market has shown a little easiness values here are quite firm. We quote No. 1 timothy at $10.50 to $11; No. 2 timothy, $9.50 to $10; clover mixture, $8.50 to $9; clover, $7.50 to $8.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market is firm and active at 17 to 18c. for pickled and 22 to 28c. for cold storage and new laid.

HONEY—The demand is rather slow at unchanged prices.

DRESSED POULTRY—The demand for poultry has improved with the colder weather and higher values are looked for. In fact, some dealers are holding out for 10½c. for first-class turkeys. We quote: Fresh killed, dry plucked turkeys, 9½c. per lb.; seconds, 8½ to 8¾c.; choice chickens, dry picked, 7 to 8c.; scalded, 6½c.; fowl, 4 to 5c.; ducks, 8 to 9c.; and geese, 5 to 6c.

ASHES—Business in ashes is dull and prices rule steady. We quote: Firsts, $4.40 to $4.45; seconds, $3.95 to $4; pearls, $6.75 to $7 per 100 lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE—Business in cheese is not extensive for the very good reason that holders here are very conservative sellers, and it is claimed that even 10½c. for finest western has been refused. Finest Septembers are worth 10 to 10½c.; finest Octobers, 9½ to 10c.; finest Township Octobers, 9½ to 10c.; finest Quebec, 9½ to 9¾ cents.

BUTTER.—The butter market is steady under a good local demand and a few export inquiries. Finest creamery is selling to the retail trade at 21 to 21½c., while dealers are paying 20½c. laid down here. Western dairy brings 15½ to 16c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Pure lard is up ½c.

Sicily filberts are ½c. higher.

The cable market is very strong.

Seeded raisins are nearly 1c. higher in California—now's the time to buy.

Small cheese is ½c. higher and is now quoted out of wholesale hands at 11¼ to 11¾ cents.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER

St. John, N.B., December 17, 1901.

BUSINESS is still active though the rush is over at least with the wholesale trade. The retailers are having their turn. It is certain no Canadian city can show more handsomer retail grocery stores than St. John; and now they look their best. In the window-dressing no effort has been spared to make them attractive. The markets are very firm; this is particularly noticed in all pork products. Winter export business is large. The number of steamers entering our port is larger than ever and the railway facilities for handling freight much better. Besides the regular business several steamers are continuously loading hay for South Africa. The St. John men for the present contingent left the city during the past week. There was considerable enthusiasm. Many more men could have been procured.

OILS.—In burning oils business continues very large. Prices this season have ruled low and the market is considered easy. In paint oils the high prices continue, though, at this season sales are but fairly active. Lubricating oils are quiet; prices remain unchanged. Spring orders are being taken. Cod oil is a light stock this year and supplies of seal oil are also short. Wax and candles are unchanged. Fancy candles have a certain demand at this season.

SALT.—There continues to be regular arrivals of Liverpool coarse salt and some large shipments are due. Sales are, however, good and there are little or no stocks on hand. Prices ex-steamer are rather lower, but there is little change ex-store. Sales of Liverpool factory-filled are very light. Canadian seems to have the demand. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—These are not an active line. Vegetables are unchanged in price; there are fair stocks held. In fruits the demand is confined to a few lines and the season is yet early for best sales. Blueberries are the short line, though gallon apples show the best profit. There is little or no sale for the three-pound apple. Meats at this season

UNITED FACTORIES, Limited,

TORONTO, ONT.

are quiet; prices are unchanged. In salmon cohorts are very late in arriving. A good quantity is sold to arrive. In general, sales are not heavy. Dealers seem to have stocked up early. In domestic fish kippered herring are very short and higher prices are expected. Haddies are firm. Sardines are plentiful.

GREEN FRUITS.—Sales are large. Oranges, in particular, sell freely. There is a good variety. Jamaicas have still a large sale, and are nice fruit. Valencias are free sellers. The Liverpool market was rather firmer the past week. The previous low prices are causing extra heavy Christmas sales. Some Californians and Floridas are sold. Lemons are low, and sales good. In apples, the high prices affect business. There has, however, been a good sale owing to the season. Prices are very firm. Cranberries are tending higher. Very few are now offered except Cape Cods. Keg grapes are quite low this season, and at present sell freely.

DRIED FRUITS.—Dealers are short in nearly every line. Citron is particularly short. Importations were fully as large as usual and prices higher, but still the demand rather exceeded the supply. In rasins, small boxes were short, particularly Valencias, but importations were lighter than usual. Seeded Californians were also short, but the market has been supplied from New York. There has been some interest in Californian fruit owing to advances on the Coast. New York did not advance in proportion. In prunes, prices are unchanged. Small sizes are reported short; there is a fair sale. Apricots and peaches sell slowly. There have been further arrivals of dates this week. Sales have been large. The market shows quite an advance. Evaporated apples are held firm at full figures. Sales are not large. Onions are very firm, tending higher.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter shows little advance. Best grades bring full figures, but of medium stock the market is well supplied. There is a fair sale. Cheese are rather firmer, but local sales are not large. Eggs show a wide range in price. For strictly fresh stock retail prices are very high, being really above market value.

SUGAR.—Prices remain unchanged. Sales are very active, particularly for granulated. There are but two grades of yellows offered. The demand is much better distributed than before the even prices were adopted.

MOLASSES.—The market seems rather firmer. There have been steady sales. Stocks held are in few hands. The demand is for Porto Rico. There is still quite a large stock here.

FISH.—The season for fresh fish is now open. There have been some frozen herring offered and the supply is rather better than usual for the season; still there is no large quantity, and a continued supply is doubtful. Fresh cod is in fair receipt, but haddock is scarce. This has caused an advance in finnan haddies. Large quantities continue to go west. Smoked herrings are lower. This is the one dull spot, there being no bloaters and but few kippers. In pickled herring there is quite a range in price. Some few Canso fish are offered. In smelt the season is hardly yet fully open. New York is the big market. In dry cod and pollock prices are unchanged. We quote: Haddies, 5½ to 6c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.60 to $1.70 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.15 to $2.25 per half bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per half bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.60; frozen herring, 90c. per 100; smelt, 5 to 6c. per lb.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—Flour continues scarce and rather higher in price, with market firm. Oatmeal, while high, is more freely offered. Oats hold high. Cornmeal is rather higher and the market is firm. Feed is very high and there is a fair sale. Beans are unchanged from the rather lower prices of the last few weeks. There is a good demand for yellow eyes. Barley is again higher and tending upward. Blue peas are scarce. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $1.70 to $1.80; best Ontario, $1.10 to $1.20; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; oatmeal, $5.70 to $5.90; cornmeal, $3.10 to $3.20; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 58 to 60c.; handpicked beans, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $1.50 to $1.55; barley, $1.25 to $1.35; hay, $12 to $14.

ST JOHN NOTES.

Jones & Schofield are offering pure maple syrup.

J. F. Estabrooks & Son received a shipment of dates this week.

York River lunch oysters is the latest addition to Bowman & Angevine's list of specialties.

Geo. E. Barbour received quite a large shipment of frozen herring this week, the first of the season.

The St. John Board of Trade is distributing a finely illustrated paper published in the interest of the city trade.

J. A. Tilton, the local representative of The Sadler, Dundas & Flavell Milling Co., was in Sussex this week. Mr. Tilton has a large brokerage connection.

An effort is being made to adopt a standard time in St. John. Atlantic standard seems the favorite, as being nearest to local, and if the railways will come into line, will, no doubt, be adopted.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, December 16, 1901.

AS might naturally be expected, trade in the grocery line is well sustained at this season of the year. Crops have been good, work for the laborer has been plentiful, and as a consequence there is a good amount of money in circulation. Fancy groceries are in demand at this season, and sales are extensive. Commercial travellers returning from provincial trips report large sales, and business beyond the average in most of the provincial towns.

There is still a great scarcity of the highest grades of butter, and customers who have been used to buying nothing but the best dairy have to content themselves, in many cases, with a second grade, while the price rules as high this season for a second grade as ordinarily for first creamery. Retail prices run from 23 to 27 and 28c.

Eggs are in demand and fresh stock is retailing at 25 to 27c. Imported eggs are also in the market in large quantities, prices ruling at about 20c.

Flour and feeds have all risen largely during the last week, and the expectation is that prices may run still higher. One merchant in the city advertises a rise of 40c. per barrel in flour. Wholesalers are quoting 10 to 20c. advance, according to grade. Wholesalers who quoted middlings a week ago at $26 and bran at $24 are now quoting $26 and $28. The demand at this season is large and sales have been fairly good.

Prince Edward Island potatoes are still coming in in considerable quantities, but extensive shipments to the West Indies have run the price up from 35 to 42c. Native potatoes rule 10 to 15c. higher.

Apples still rule high, the retail price of Bishop pippins and other such standard varieties being: No. 1, $3.00 to $3.50; No. 2, $2.50 to $3.00. Very few apples are being sold this season at auction. Considerable quantities are being shipped to the Old Country, by various steamers, probably the largest shipment by steamer Evangeline, being 14,999 barrels and 691 half barrels.

Business in fish is fairly active, though prices are not ruling as high as they were a month ago. A story is current that not long ago a Nova-Scotian firm shipped, whether by accident or design is not stated, a quantity of "sour" fish to the United States. These were returned at considerable loss in duty and expenses to the shipper. If by design, the shipper has been taught a lesson which ought to be useful to him.

Fish prices are quoted here as follows: Salmon, No. 1, ex-vessel, $12; No. 2, $9; No. 3, $8. Mackerel, city inspected, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 respectively, $11, $9, $8. Alewives, $3.50 to $3.75; Shore herring, $2.50 to $3.75; Newfoundland, No. 1, $3.50.

The mobilization here of 900 to 1,000 men, and an equal number of horses, from now until January 17, will largely increase the trade, both in wholesale and retail, for groceries, provisions, flour, feed, etc.

CANADIAN FRUIT PACKING.

The Fruit Trade News, of London, England, in its issue of November 30, contains a cut and sketch of Mr. Lewis Woolverton, of Grimsby, Ont., editor of The Canadian Horticulturist. "The whole industry in Canada," concludes The Fruit Trade News, "is developing right and left, and at the present time apples and pears of the finest quality are being shipped to our markets. We have often written in praise of the fine apples and pears that are sent from Canada, as they are unsurpassed by any grown in outside centres. The many Canadian fruit growers are now well up to date in their methods of culture, grading, packing, and shipping, and much of the awakening that has taken place in fruit growing circles is due to The Canadian Horticulturist, The Ontario Fruit Growers Association, and, amongst many other advanced friends of the industry, to Mr. Lewis Woolverton."

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, December 16, 1901.

MANITOBA is experiencing real winter weather at last, the mercury having dropped from 20 deg. above zero to 30 below in 24 hours. There has been another slight snowfall, and these circumstances have tended to increase trade, particularly in the line of heavy clothing, which up to date has moved very slowly. The cold also having put a stop to all kinds of outside farm work, the farmers are turning their attention more to shopping, and this has increased demands on the jobbing trade; in fact, wholesale grocery houses complain that they have almost more than they can do. As is usual during the holiday rush, there are few changes in price, and none of importance.

FLOUR—The market is an active one, the consumptive demand being almost unprecedented. There is a difference of opinion as to price between the two great milling concerns. Ogilvie's have made a 10c. advance, and quote Hungarian patent, $2.10; Glenora patent, $1.95; Alberta patent, $1.75; Manitoba, $1.55; Imperial XXXX, $1.35; Nestor, $1.20. Lake of the Woods Five Roses, $2; red patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX, $1.25.

CEREALS—Rolled oats have, as anticipated, again advanced 10c. per sack, and quotations now are: Rolled oats, in 80 lb. sacks, $2.40; in 40-lb. sacks, $1.22½; in 20-lb. sacks, 63c.; standard and granulated oatmeal, $2.90. Rolled wheat is without change at $2.30. Cornmeal is very firm at $2. Split peas have advanced, and are now quoted at $2.75 to $2.80. Beans are in nominal demand at $1.90 for prime medium.

SUGAR—No change has taken place in this market. There is the usual heavy Christmas demand, and prices remain firm at last week's figures. Extra standard granulated, $4.95; ground, $4.40; powdered, $6.65; lump, $6.40 to $6.65; bright yellow, $4.30.

SYRUPS—The demand for syrups is increasing, and, though prices have not actually advanced, there is a great firmness owing to the high price of corn on this market. Corn syrups always have precedence over the cane varieties. It is likely that there may be an advance in a few days.

DRIED FRUITS—The demand is, of course, very active, and there are some changes in price. Currants are slightly lower here, although New York reports received on this market indicate increasing strength of price and shortage of supply at that point, and advices from Greece report an advance there. In Winnipeg the prices were really abnormally high, and this week have been put down from 7½ to 6½c. for the best grades of Filiatras; cleaned currants 1c. per lb. more. Raisins of all grades are in good demand. Californian raisins are increasingly popular on this market. This is no doubt due to the fact that from year to year the Californian packers have improved the curing of their goods, and while their raisins are not as luscious as Denia fruit, they have the saving grace of being very much less liable to sugar. The seeded raisins in cartons are constantly growing in favor. The consumption this season will be fully double that of last year. The demand for the better qualities of table fruit is marked, and there is some danger of stocks running short before the holiday season is over. Fancy 4 crown muscatels, 7¾c.; do 2-crown, 6½ to 6¾c.; Malaga blue fruit, $2.25 to $5.50 per box, according to quality; Valencia layers, $2.25; fine off-stalk, $2; Eleme figs, 14 to 17c., according to size and grade; cooking figs, 4¼ to 4½c. per lb.

CANDIED PEEL—The demand is unusually heavy, and there is some talk of scarcity in supply. Prices range from 11 to 12½c. for orange, 10 to 12c. for lemon and 15 to 17c. for citron.

RICE—There is a reasonable demand and no change of prices, although it is expected Rangoon will be somewhat easier.

COFFEE—Unchanged, with No. 5 Rio at 10 to 10½c.

FISH—Owing to the heavy storms on the Atlantic seaboard, haddies and bloaters are both scarce on this market. We quote: Finnan haddies, 10c.; Labrador herrings, $4; Holland herrings, in kits, $2; mackerel, $1.80 per kit. Oysters are in good demand at $2 to $2.25 per gal.

CHEESE—There is a very good demand for fancy cheese for Christmas trade, and there is also a good showing of Gorgonzola and Edam—foiled and plain; Roquefort, Neufchatel, Stilton and Ontario Cheddar, besides our own Manitoba cheese, which is selling well at 11c. This list should be sufficient for the most exacting buyer.

GREEN FRUITS—The demand is heavy, and very large shipments have been made during the week for the Christmas trade. We quote: Apples, $5.50 to $6.50; Washington apples, $2 per box; Californian navel oranges, $4 to $5.25, according to size; Mexican oranges, $4.50 to $5 per case; Japanese oranges, $1 per box; pears, Winter Nellis, $3; bananas, per bunch, $3.50 to $3.75; lemons, $5.25; Malaga grapes, $8 per keg; cranberries, $10 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $1 per doz.

HONEY—There is a fair demand. We quote: 60-lb. tins, 15c. per lb.; in glass, $2.25 per dozen; comb honey, 22c. per section.

VEGETABLES—The local market is very quiet, with potatoes at 30 to 35c. per bush. and celery and fresh lettuce in good demand.

MARKET NOTES.

Mr. Bell has purchased the stock of groceries of C. A. Carruthers at 50¼c. on the dollar. The book debts went to other parties at an average of 35c.

The banquet of the Northwest Commercial Travellers' Association will be held at the Clarendon on December 30.

WINDSOR GROCERS AND PROVISION DEALERS.

AT the annual meeting of the Windsor Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association, held November 12, the consummation of a Retail Merchants' Association was effected, and the following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

President, Geo. H. Nairn, grocer.
Secretary, B. G. Dains, grocer.
Vice-President, A. E. Edgar, boots, shoes and clothing.
Treasurer, Robt. Paddon, plumber.
Financial Secretary and Collector, Bruce Allison, grocer.
Auditor, A. J. Valentine, of Dupuis & Valentine, general merchants.

This Association has started out under new auspices, with its membership largely augmented. President Nairn has issued a stirring inauguration message to the membership. The constitution has been revised, and a most useful and successful career is predicted for the new year.

At the first regular meeting of the new Association, held on November 12, a resolution was adopted requesting the various members of different businesses to bring copies of their trade journals to the meeting place. The secretary was also instructed to ascertain the facts in connection with the Dominion Retail Merchants' Association, notice of such an organization having appeared in a recent number of THE GROCER.

This Association has in operation perhaps the most perfect system of protection against dead beats. The secretary will be glad to furnish it to kindred associations on application. His address is P. O. Box 179, Windsor, Ont.

THE WINNIPEG BREAD STAMP.

The Winnipeg bakers object to a clause in the proposed new by-law requiring them to stamp the weight on all loaves. So a deputation from them appeared at the meeting of the market, license and health committee of the Winnipeg City Council recently to protest. They claim that stamping the weight on all loaves would be impossible, owing to the large quantity of fancy bread made. The matter was left to a sub-committee.

"GROCERS' SECTION" MEETS.

Last Thursday night, December 12, the grocers' section of the Retail Merchants' Association, Toronto branch, held their meeting in their room, 155 Bay street. President F. C. Higgins was in the chair.

The question of having a better profit on biscuits was ventilated. The committee that was appointed to wait on the manufacturers and also the wholesale dealers were instructed to do so at the commencement of the coming year.

Some excellent results, it seems, have been obtained from the credit reporting department of the Retail Merchants' Association, one member claiming that he had had recently over $65 collected in bad debts, some of which were outlawed. The appointment of J. W. Nettleton and D. Snuggs to the above committee made at the previous meeting was confirmed.

The executive committee were instructed to bring in a report on the best means of providing an entertainment of some sort or a banquet to start off the new year.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—England's Egg Supply—Miscellaneous Notes.

ENGLAND'S EGG SUPPLY.

IT is possible that the people of this country eat more eggs per head than those of any other, and this may explain why it is that Denmark and Normandy, as well as Ireland, pour millions of these savory breakfast dainties into the English market. But, as if the existing supply were inadequate, New Zealand is now preparing to enter into the competition. The distance of that colony from our shores has hitherto rendered such a trade impracticable. However, a colonial chemist claims to have discovered a preserving process which will keep the eggs in good condition for three years, and, if experiments should fully realize his hopes, the difficulty of remoteness will be surmounted, though the ultimate success of the venture would still remain to be proved. There is such a thing as a public taste, and it is sometimes eccentric, and possibly in this case it might draw a line at the effects of the chemical treatment. But why does the English agriculturist not make a greater effort to retain more of this business in his own hands? If it is profitable to Irishmen and foreigners it ought to be equally so to him. —Grocers' Journal, London.

CHEESE AND BUTTER EXPORTS.

For the season of navigation just closed the exports of cheese from the port of Montreal amounted to 1,799,075 boxes, as compared with 2,075,137 for 1900, a decrease of 276,062 boxes.

For the season of 1901 the total butter shipments from the same port equalled 412,056 packages, as compared with 256,912 for 1900, which is very gratifying, as it is an increase of 155,144 for the year.

ANOTHER MONTREAL SWINDLE.

A swindling gang who alleged that they were a branch of the Smithfield market of London, Eng., opened up business at 94 Foundling street, Montreal, under the name of the Hudson, Robertson Produce Exchange. The partners in this concern were Bishop and Robertson. Soon after they started a tailor obtained a warrant against Bishop for obtaining a suit of clothes on false pretences. But when a detective arrived to execute this warrant, he found that the birds had flown. Upon closer inquiry it was found that they did not pay for anything at all, even the scales which they used being borrowed.

PORK-PACKING AT STOUFFVILLE.

Under the name of the Pakenham Pork-Packing Co., a pork-packing concern has been started at Stouffville, Ont., with a capacity of 1,000 hogs per week. They are utilizing the most improved methods in their business.

FIRE IN A ST. JOHN PACKING HOUSE.

On the morning of December 14, fire broke out in the pork-packing establishment of the F. E. Williams Co., St. John, N.B., and before the flames could be arrested by the firemen, who were notified, considerable damage was done to the stock and machinery valued at about $12,000, but how much it is impossible to say. The building also suffered some slight damage. The total amount of insurance on the building and contents is about $8,800. The cause of the fire is unknown.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

There is a free movement in western hogs with the price remaining firm at \$8 per cwt., though \$8.10 is asked. The local movement in dressed hogs is good, the cold weather bringing in large quantities of heavier hogs, but light shops are mostly in demand. The price is firm at \$8.10 to \$8.25. Lambs are  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. higher, while select live hogs are 50c. higher. We quote: Dressed hogs, \$8.10 to \$8.25; beef carcasses, \$5.50 to \$6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, \$6 to \$7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, \$4.50 to \$5 per 100 lb. Veal, 6 to 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; lambs, 6 to 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Live hogs: Selects, \$6.50, and lights \$6 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring \$4.75 to \$5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at \$4 to \$4.50.

Provision houses are busy cutting pork for curing, and the prices of hog products are very firm, owing to the high prices of dressed hogs. The advance in lard has been maintained, with a good demand for it. The prices are the same as last week. We now quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; medium hams, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; large hams, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 13 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, \$19.50 to \$20; short cut, \$21; lard, in tierces, 11c. per lb., tubs, 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ c., and pails, 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Pork products are very high. Large quantities of round hogs were shipped West from parts of our Province, and now our local packers cannot get supplies. Round hogs sell at 8 to 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Beef shows little change. Lard, which was rather lower, has again advanced, and the market is particularly strong.

WINNIPEG.

CURED MEATS—The market is firm and the demand good. No change in prices is reported for the week. We quote: Hams, 13 $\frac{3}{4}$ c.; shoulders, 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; picnic hams, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; breakfast bellies, 14 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; spiced rolls, 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ c.; dry salt, long clear, 11c.; dry salt backs, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

LARD—We quote: 20-lb. pails, $2.40; 50-lb. pails, $6.70; 3 and 5 lb. in 60-lb. cases, $7.70.

PROVISION NOTES.

P. Burns & Co., Vancouver, have bought the butcher department of the S. Fader Co.'s stores.

A. S. & W. H. Masterman, pork-packers, Montreal, have assigned, and their creditors will meet on December 23.

The pork packing branch of the T. E. Williams Co., Limited, grocers and pork-packers, St. John, N. B., was damaged by fire. The loss is covered by insurance.

The new soap factory at Preston, Ont., is now running at full capacity, turning out a good quality of soap, suitable for woollen mill purposes.

MIDDLESEX CHEESE OUTPUT.

The total cheese sales on the London Board of the County of Middlesex production for the last 12 years amounted to 372,191 boxes, which, at an average weight of 65 lb. to the box, equals 24,192.415 lb., for which the sum of $2,153 124 has been paid to the manufacturers. The following table gives the number of boxes sold and the range of prices paid each year for the last 12 years :

|           | Sales,boxes. | Price per lb.c. |        |
|-----------|------------------|---------------------|--------|
| 1890..... | 44,078           | 8                   | to 10½ |
| 1891..... | 44,850           | 8½                  | to 10½ |
| 1892..... | 44,424           | 8½                  | to 10½ |
| 1893..... | 31,114           | 8½                  | to 11  |
| 1894..... | 40,336           | 8½                  | to 10½ |
| 1895..... | 27,452           | 3 1-16              | to 8½  |
| 1896..... | 16,349           | 6½                  | to 10½ |
| 1897..... | 47,775           | 7½                  | to 9½  |
| 1898..... | 31,600           | 6½                  | to 9½  |
| 1899..... | 18,019           | 7 9-16              | to 11½ |
| 1900..... | 16,896           | 9 1-16              | to 11½ |
| 1901..... | 9,298            | 8 1-11              | to 9½  |

From the above it will be perceived that the largest sales were made in 1897, when a total of 47,775 boxes were sold at an average price of 8½c. per lb., the range being 7½ to 9½c. The highest prices were paid in 1899, when 11½c. was received, while the lowest was in 1895, when some of the lots only realized 3 1-16c. per lb. The highest average, 9½c., was obtained in 1893.

EGG EXPORTS FROM CANADA.

The total exports of eggs from Canada for the year ending June 30 were 11,363,914 doz., having a total value of $1,692,286, as compared with 10,187,966 doz., with a total value of $1,457,942, exported the year before. This is an increase of 1,175,948 doz., and, in value, of $234,354. The average price received has been 14.9c. per doz., as contrasted with an average figure of 14.3c. for the previous year. The table below gives the total exports and their value in detail :

| To                           | Quantity.  | Value.      |

TO JOIN THE RETAIL MERCHANTS ?

In Kingston, Ont., the Retail Grocers' Association is discussing the advisability of joining with the Retail Merchants' Association. At a meeting of the grocers, which was held there on December 11, this matter was brought up and considered, but, as only a small number were present, no action was taken, and the matter was left over until the next meeting. Besides, at this meeting a number of accounts were passed.

HOW TO DRAW NEW TRADE.

By J. Nathan Price.

EVERY retailer, no matter in what business he may be engaged, is anxious to know how to draw new trade to his store, and, indeed, if he does not know how to do so he cannot succeed, because in time some of his old customers, for one reason or another, leave him. If he cannot secure new customers to take the places of the ones who have ceased to patronize him his business will go backward. Good advertising is the most commendable method of accomplishing the desired result, and by that I mean straight, legitimate advertising in the local newspapers. But there are other ways of advertising, and that is by introducing schemes. I have read recently some articles submitted in a competition for a prize to be awarded the merchant who has "worked the best scheme," and the evidence of these merchants is conclusive that the merchant who uses his brains will succeed. Perhaps one of the best schemes ever worked was the one originated by Sir Thomas Lipton—long before he had been honored by the title—and was proprietor of a little provision store in Glasgow, Scotland. He had an educated pig covered with a blanket, on which was written an advertisement for his hams and bacon. The pig would be taken to a block 10 or 12 blocks away from the store and then released, whereupon he would at once start back for the store. A crowd would follow, and the pig would, of course, lead them to the Lipton store. We have the word of Sir Thomas for it that "many would follow the pig into the store and make purchases." Another scheme, that was used by a Pennsylvania merchant and which caused trade to increase 50 per cent., was the giving away of an alarm clock to every person who purchased $25 worth of goods. A card was given with the first purchase and the amount of purchase stamped thereon. When the total of purchases aggregated $25 the card was accepted in payment for a clock. As no cards were stamped unless cash was paid for the goods, the scheme not only brought new customers, but caused many of the regular ones who had been in the habit of having goods charged, to pay cash also. The story is told of another merchant who had about decided to give up the attempt of making his business pay, when news came to him that a little church in the town was about to raise money to put up a new edifice. He proposed to the leaders of the church that he get up a supper, the proceeds to go to a building fund. The supper was held, and every sandwich was wrapped in a paper having printed on it "Adams' Building Fund Supper." The merchant's name was Adams, and he grew to be so popular because of his generosity that the $62 the supper cost him proved to be a good investment, for his business prospered wonderfully ever after. As I have said, there is no doubt about the success of the merchant who uses his brains. There are numbers of schemes that can be worked to advantage. They will suggest themselves to the man who gives a little thought to the matter, and local happenings in a town will help one to grasp an idea. For instance, I know of a church in Jersey City that held a fair last week. Near the church are two meat markets. One has been there for years, and its proprietor serves a majority of the members of the church with meat. The other market was opened a month ago, and its proprietor is unknown in the neighborhood. Had he gone to the people who had charge of the fair, and offered to give 5 per cent. of his profit to the fair fund for the week during which the fair was held, he would have secured the trade of many of the church members.

Now, there is another side to the working of schemes. When they include the giving of presents to attract trade they lead to competition, and before it ends each merchant is trying to beat his competitor by giving something more costly. Therefore, I advise against the present-giving practice. If you see a chance to do yourself good by offering a percentage of your profits to some charity or to help some church, there can be no objection to your doing so, because there is not much chance, and but little likelihood that it will lead to an epidemic of profit-sharing. Out in Topeka, Kan., the merchants are at this writing striving to rid themselves of all sorts of gift enterprises, and had not the gift-giving there grown to be a losing venture it is reasonable to presume the practice would not have been considered of enough importance to call for united action. These merchants have signed an agreement which provides that no merchant shall issue premium stamps or give away any articles in any gift enterprise whatsoever or any advertising scheme other than the regular established methods. The practice there had gotten to the stage where the butchers were giving away photographs and heads of cabbage with two pounds of spareribs; the grocers were giving away a bottle of catsup with a bag of salt, and the hardware men a set of pots with every cooking stove. It is apparent that action was necessary. There is undoubtedly new business to be gained in working schemes, but discretion must be used in selecting the schemes. It would please me greatly to have the opinions of my readers on this subject. If any of them have used schemes I should like to have accounts of what success was gained.—Butchers' Advocate.

P.E.I. CHEESE PRODUCTION.

This season there has been a falling off in the production of cheese of 20,000 boxes in Prince Edward Island. This is to be attributed to the long drought in the early part of the season and the poor pasture all summer. Besides the horn fly was particularly active the past season. These two things combined have so greatly interfered with the supply of milk that a number of factories had to close down before the end of the season.

One thing that is gratifying to the cheese men of the Island is the steady improvement in the quality of the cheese. The peculiarly distinct flavor, known as the "Prince Edward Island" flavor amongst dealers has almost entirely disappeared to the great gain of the cheesemakers there.

The Inverness Salmon Cannery at the mouth of the Skeena river, B.C., has been purchased from Turner & Ford by C. F. Todd, Victoria, owner of the Beaver and Richmond canneries on the Fraser river.

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA

BLACK

The merit of the Black Teas has established them high in popular estimation. They are drunk wherever the English language is spoken. They follow the flag and drive out less meritorious growths.

OR

But some consumers are wedded to light drawing kinds, with pale liquor and without the full body and richness of the black kinds.

GREEN

The Green Teas of Ceylon and India are made expressly for this trade. In Make, Quality and Price they challenge comparison with other growths.

They are grown, prepared and packed with the same skill by the British Planters who have revolutionized the black tea trade.

They have caught on in Canada and are no longer in the experimental stage. Try them.

THE UTILIZATION OF WASTE.

PETER J. AUSTIN, in an article contributed to the September Forum, notes some methods for the utilization of waste as follows :

"Common garbage is boiled down, and the grease, when purified, is utilized in making soap. City refuse is used as fuel to make steam and electricity, and certain chemicals can be extracted to purify drinking water, while from the ashes cement is made. Cesspool matter is dried into a powder and forms a valuable fertilizer. Waste soapsuds from textile factories are precipitated with lime and a gas is obtained with three times the illuminating power of coal gas. Glycerine is also produced.

"The list of articles that are made from a dead horse picked up on the street is hair-raising : Mattresses, glue and gelatine, sausage coverings and pin cushions. Bones furnish empyreumatic oils, tallow, paints, shoe blacking, sulphate of ammonia, etc. Human hair is used for manure ; old boots, under the chemist's magic, become wine jelly. From an old skirt a fine grade of whiskey has been made, and wholesome, palatable sawdust cakes are common.

"Some of the products obtained from sawdust are gas, wood alcohol, acetic acid, tar, oils, benzole, paraffine, naphthalene, carbolic acid and creosote. Artificial wood, capable of taking a high polish, is made from sawdust ; also parquet floors, terracotta, lumber and dinner plates.

"Skim milk produces sizings for paper, waterproof glues and paints. Fish scales make artificial pearls. Deposits in wine casks, purified, become cream of tartar, and cork waste forms the basis of linoleum."

PRUNE VINEGAR.

According to the San Francisco Chronicle, the Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station is performing a very useful service in some experiments which it is making in producing vinegar from prunes. The most serious problem which confronts Pacific Coast prune growers is the profitable disposal of the very small prunes and of that portion of the larger sizes which partly ferments in drying. In bad drying years there are more of these inferior prunes than growers would be willing to acknowledge, and it has been the custom to dump everything into stock, to the great injury of the reputation of the fruit. It will probably be difficult to stop this practice. Nothing, in fact, will stop it but a severely discriminating market, but in those years when the prune crop is very large there is always a great quantity of small prunes selling at a very low price and seriously injuring the market for the larger sizes. Last year there was an excess both of small and poor prunes. An effort was made to convert this stock into brandy, for which purpose it is largely used in France. But the French are a brandy-drinking people, while Americans drink whisky, and all sorts of brandy appear to sell there just as all sorts of whisky sell here. Our distillers found that by ordinary processes brandy made from prunes had a taste which was not liked, while if this taste were refined out the product cost more than grape brandy. So that outlet does not seem to promise well. We should suppose, however, that alcohol for the use in the arts could be profitably made from prunes.

CANNED GOODS OF THE FUTURE.

SLOWLY but surely our food supply is being concentrated in the conventional tin can, and the term "canned goods" every day covers a greater multitude of virtues, if not of sins. Why not can human virtues ? We bottle up electrical energies in safe storage batteries ; we embalm every human thought and feeling in word symbols, and we preserve the precious tones of loved ones in the cylinder of the phonograph. Who then shall deny the possibility of canning mental and moral qualities, and supplying human deficiencies in these to order, by the case ? Canned food at this moment enables us to live at all, to think and to feel. Why not take the next step, and can thoughts and feeling ? The grocer who reads this may yet listen with unmoved countenance to the consumer's inquiry : "Have you any canned fine sentiments to day ? Any fresh brilliant ideas ? Oh ! My wife wants you to send up two cases of 'Premier' sweet temper, and half a dozen cans of connubial affection, if you are sure that it is genuine, and a couple of cans of square dealing for my business lunches."

We only anticipate by a few years' time when we print a probable extract from a future market report of canned goods as follows :

"Premier" Common Sense—Scarce and much sought for.

Humility, "Meek" Brand, Talls—Very little of this commodity sold on male orders, possibly because of its liability to swell and burst the cans.

"Premier" Perseverance—This brand has the reputation of "getting there" and staying.

Patriotism, "American" Brand—Cheap and popular, with prices well sustained. Showy labels have stimulated consumption.

"Premier" Veracity—Sales limited, but demand is of a healthy character.

"Premier" Originality—There are many counterfeits of this brand, but dealers are rapidly learning to detect them and reject imitations.

Self Denial — Stock low, with little demand. Halves and quarters sell better than wholes.

"Premier" Integrity, Square — Scarce and high, but regarded by the trade as a good investment, even at higher cost.

Misrepresentation, Trade Talls—The best class of trade has never kept this in stock, in spite of the large apparent profit on sales.

"Premier" Good Manners—These goods have made friends everywhere. Attempts to supersede them by showy substitutes have not been successful.—The Peacemaker.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants, by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information, no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial, fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence Invited.

A Two Cent Mistake

Don't amount to much in any business, but the sticking point is that a clerk is just as liable to make a mistake of $2.00 as he is of two cents, and a few mistakes like this would pay for enough of Allison's Coupon Books to last a year or more. With these books mistakes are impossible.

If a Man Wants Credit

for $10, give him a $10 Allison Coupon Book, charge him with $10, and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for ten cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all. And so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. NO PASS BOOK. NO WRITING. NO TIME LOST. NO KICKING. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? # CHRISTMAS REMINISCENCES WITH A GROCERY FLAVOR.

By Thomas Martindale, in Grocery World.

A TYPICAL grocery window display of 15 years ago showed the window dressed with a full barrel of currants, trimmed off with gaudily-shaded ribbons, tied around the sphere of fruit. One side of the window would be banked up with nuts, the other with plum puddings, citron, lemon, and orange peel, and such other things as tempt the palate and warm the cockles of the heart at the Christmas season.

A few days before Christmas during these times an Englishman came to see me with which he had for sale. As their green hulls were still sticking to them, they made a very attractive appearance.

I asked the price, and was told 45c. per lb. They came in casks, the Englishman said, and he had seven, each containing 800 lb., or nearly three tons in all. He wanted me to buy the lot, but I naturally declined, as I had no use for more than an infinitesimal fraction of that quantity.

The next day found me in New York, and it occurred to me that I might be able to find some of the same nuts in the market, when it might pay to buy 10 or 15 lb. to scatter around the window to set it off.

I fetched up in a large wholesale grocery house, which had as manager of the fruit and nut department a nervous and rather impulsive foreigner. I asked him if he had ever seen the nuts in question, stating that I had been offered them the day before at 45c. per lb., and that they were a beautiful attraction. He said no, but he would keep his eyes open for them, and would let me know if successful.

Two hours after that I had occasion to go back to the same store. The foreigner came to me joyfully and said he had just succeeded in finding some of the nuts. As I afterward learned, the same Englishman who had seen me had seen him, and scenting a large demand from my inquiry, he had bought the whole seven casks! He offered them to me at 39c. per lb.

I shall never forget the poor fellow's look of utter dismay when I explained that I didn't want many—only a few to throw about the window—and then 10 lb. would be all I cared for. The man flew off the handle and went all to pieces. He talked French and Italian at the same time, and finally turned on his heel and left me in disgust.

I have always been known as a practical joker, so I decided to have some fun with this irascible foreigner. I went out and got a broker, told him the story and induced him to go in, look at the nuts and take a sample, and in half an hour go back and bid him 15c. for the lot. Another broker did the same thing, with the effect that before the day was over the poor foreigner was nearly crazy.

This house published a weekly price-list in the form of a trade paper. It was exceedingly amusing to note, during the next few issues, the progressive advertising of these nuts. The first issue after they were put in stock they were given quite a vivid description and large space, being quoted at 45c. per lb. The next issue they were quoted at 35c. Meanwhile Christmas had come and gone, and the need of such merchandise had become less strenuous, so the succeeding issue offered them at 20c., and the next at 15c.

The last act in the drama was where these unfortunate nuts were offered as "the greatest bargain the house had ever known" at 5c. per lb.! This much it said and nothing more.

In former holiday seasons every grocer sold barreled currants. That was before the currant industry had assumed its present condition, and when nobody thought of cleaning currants as now. The operation of opening and breaking up barrels of currants, as then conducted, was tedious, dirty and trying. So much as preface.

THE WILLING CLERK.

One of our customers was anxious to have a youthful relative of his employed in the store, and in soliciting a chance for him he expatiated at great length on the young man's willingness to do anything, no matter what. I told him to send him alone. As soon as he appeared I at once put him to work breaking up barrels of currants, and with a three-pronged auger screwing and tearing them loose, so that they could be broken up in smooth, even masses for putting in boxes and barrels ready for tying into packages.

By the time this willing youth had disintegrated some five barrels of currants, he had become an object ludicrous to see. He had a peculiar habit when in a perplexed frame of mind of every now and then running his fingers through his hair. Then he seemed to have some affection of the skin, which made him do lots of scratching around his neck and face.

So that when the young man's relative appeared to make a friendly call on him, and see how he liked his work, and was shown to where the youth was employed he was utterly unable to recognize him by any outward semblance. His clothes were covered with juice from the crushed currants, his hair was matted with juice and dirt, and his own mother could hardly have recognized him from a colored boy.

The relative sat down and began to commune with him. The youth said he wished his relative would get him some other job, as he was thinking currants, working currants, dreaming currants, and eating currants, and if he wasn't taken out before he had worked another five barrels there would be nothing left of him but currants.

At the end of the melancholy recital the youth broke down and wept copiously.

The two of them then came out to me. The relative asked that if I couldn't give the boy some other work, to please release him. But the youth himself, said, "For God's sake, Mr. Martindale, let me go."

A $50 MISSTEP.

Another Christmas I had as extra clerk an exuberant young man from the Emerald Isle. He had landed in Philadelphia only about two or three weeks before. He had a luxuriant crop of curly hair, and was as green as the proverbial emigrant can be, but he was brimming over with native wit, and so I hired him, more for the pleasure of listening to his wit and noting the many awkward and funny things he did, than from any expectation of getting any profitable work out of him.

However, he did very well. He was ready and willing, learned easily, and, as a rule, remembered what he learned. There was one exception, which I will relate.

We had an elevator running from the basement to the third floor. On the store floor and the second floor, it had patent folding doors, which cost us a set. The third floor had no patent doors, but was open.

One Saturday night a customer came in for a 30-lb. box of candles. The gas had gone out in a nearby store, and a clerk had been sent out in a hurry to get candles.

I said to the young emigrant from the "ould sod":—

"Hugh, do you know where the candles are upstairs?"

"Shure, I do, sorr," he replied, "they're in the thurd-story front room."

"You're right," I said. "Now take a candle and go up and bring down a box of 16s."

"Oh, yure honor," says Hugh, "shure I don't need a candle. I cud lay me hands on thim candles on the darkest noight that iver you seen!"

"Never mind what you could do," I said, "do as you're told; go up and take a candle."

He started up the steps, and I thought nothing more of the matter until I heard a terrific crash. Down came the Irishman, first through the patent elevator doors on the second floor, then through those on the store floor, landing in the cellar and doing just $50 worth of damage in his rapid descent.

I ran down the cellar to help pick him up, expecting to find him dead or seriously injured. Instead of that he was standing up, carefully feeling all over himself for broken bones. Finally, he said, "Glory be to God, I'm not kilt!"

I said, "Hugh, how in thunder did you do it?"

"Shure," said he, "it's aisy enough to tell yure honor how I done it—I just put me fut in the wrong place."

But this putting his "fut" in the wrong place cost us $50, just the same.

Our packages are larger and more attractive in style than any others.

The quality of our goods is superior to anything else on the market.

THE UNITED STATES TEA DUTY.

THE reasons set forth by those in the United States who are petitioning Congress to remove the duty on tea are as follows :

TEA TRADE SUFFERING.

1. The tea trade is the only large interest in our country which has suffered continually during the past four years of prosperity. Theirs is the only article in the grocers' list of 1,000 which has been called upon to bear the burdens of the Spanish War. They have borne this burden for four years at the risk and with the impending danger of destruction, and now ask to be relieved of this burden as the war is practically over.

"We lay special stress on the fact that the tea tax was not imposed by the Dingley tariff law, but was created two years after that law, that it has absolutely no bearing upon the general tariff law and is, in fact, contrary to the underlying principle of the protective tariff system ; that it was created solely as a war measure, and its repeal would in no wise raise the question of the tariff revision. Other leading articles, such as tobacco and beer, on which tax was levied for war purposes, have been partially relieved and the war tax on proprietary medicines was entirely removed.

TEA A UNIVERSAL NECESSITY,

2. It enters into every household of the land and is used by the entire adult population. It has been classed as an untaxable article for 50 years, excepting in times of war, because it is a necessity for so many, including a large proportion of the poorer class. For this reason the duty imposed during the Civil War was removed in 1872, or as soon as the revenue would warrant doing so. It seems needless, therefore, to collect any tax whatever in times of peace and surplus on an article required by a large majority of the people.

It is well understood by those who have studied the subject, that this duty of 80 per cent. has so enhanced the cost that the retail dealer has been obliged either to use an inferior quality or advance the selling price. Consequently, the importation of the better grades which have been used in this country for many years has greatly decreased, and should present conditions continue, will become extinct, and while the poorer class could formerly buy a desirable tea at 25c. per lb. they are now obliged to pay 35c. per lb.

REDUCTION IN PROFITS.

3. While the consumer is suffering as above related, tens of thousands of wholesale and retail grocers are deprived of the living profit heretofore derived from this leading article. For example, if an importer should do a business in tea of $1,000,000 per annum, he would be obliged to lend over $700,000 for duty to his customers without interest, while his profits are being reduced more than one-half.

These large additional sums for duty have to be trusted out on long credit without remuneration and without benefit either to seller or buyer. The citizens injured by this oppressive burden number tens of thousands of wholesale grocers and hundreds of thousands of retail grocers.

4. The tea trade, heretofore one of the large interests of this country, is becoming seriously crippled and injured through this oppressive tax.

COMPARISONS WITH COFFEE.

While tea is made to bear 80 per cent. of duty, coffee, its great rival, has been allowed to come in free of any tax. Reliable statistics show that during the last four years, or since the duty was imposed, coffee has increased in importation about 100,000,000 of pounds per year, while tea has decreased over 13,000,000 pounds per year.

The article is threatened both in quality and quantity to such a serious extent by this burden that it has fallen to a secondary position on the grocers' list. While consumers are deprived of a good quality the dealers are deprived of a reasonable profit and a leading article of commerce is threatened with extinction.

The only objections that have been heard to repeal from the committee on ways and means are two-fold :

1. That tea importers petitioned for a duty, and
2. That the repeal will open up the question of the tariff.

Both objections are fallacious, for the tea importers only petitioned for a duty before the enactment of the Tea Adulteration Act, and when no barrier existed against the importation of impure and unwholesome tea. It was considered that a duty might help to discourage the importation of inferior and adulterated tea.

NECESSITY FOR DUTY PAST.

When an effective barrier was raised by the Tea Adulteration Act against these objectionable grades of tea, trade ceased to petition for a tea duty, with the exception of two or three individual importers, who alone to-day of the entire community ask for its preservation.

The only reason assigned by these individuals for a continuation of the duty is that its oppressive burden might possibly crush out some of the smaller competitors. It is certain that 95 per cent. of all dealers advocate the repeal, and that not 5 per cent. are in hesitation.

As the tariff question was not opened for debate when the tea duty was passed in the war measure, neither should it be opened when it is repealed.

As it was imposed exclusively on account of the Spanish-American War, so logically it should be discontinued under the cessation of that war.

It has always been a war measure exclusively, and the former duty was repealed as soon as possible after the close of the Civil War.

Therefore, in times of peace and when a large surplus is in the treasury, it is a uselessly oppressive tax.

To the Merchants of Canada:

DEAR SIRs,—We defy any manufacturer to say that we ever copied his label or tried to work on his reputation for goods.

We have used JERSEY CREAM for our trade mark for years, and still intend to use it until the courts decide otherwise. We claim we have made no infringement on any man's trade mark. The Trade Mark Act is framed to protect the public from being defrauded; that is, a buyer must be willing to swear that he went into a store and purchased an article and was given one so imitated that he did not notice the difference. The man who would take JERSEY CREAM YEAST CAKES for the article that they claim we have copied would have to be stone blind, and a fool. As to damages, gentlemen—when this case is decided we think they will be very much the other way. Go on selling JERSEY CREAM YEAST CAKES. We will stand back of you and every package sold, and it will not only be sold over all Canada, but the United States as well, and we shall start a branch in Buffalo in 1902.

BETTER FACILITIES FOR ST. JOHN.

At St. John, N.B., the C.P.R. is making extensive enlargements and improvements whereby the shipping facilities are greatly improved. The stock yards are being extended so that the company will be able to take care of from 1,500 to 1,800 more cattle. A new freight shed, 40 x 420 feet has been contracted for with D. W. Clark & Son, and the number of conveyances from the elevators has been increased, thus enabling grain to be delivered to vessels in any of the five berths available for use. Tracks have also been laid to the different warehouses, increasing the accommodation of the yards so that they will be able to contain 1,500 more cars than last winter. Finally, there is a flour shed being built, which will enable large consignments of that article to be stored till ready for shipment by steamer.

A NEW FISHING CONCERN.

H. J. Bray, of Victoria, B.C., who has been engaged in the fishery business for 30 years, both on the eastern and western coasts, has being appointed fishery manager of a new concern that is being formed at that place. This company will be capitalized at $50,000 in $100 shares, and will be known as "The Hardy Bay Fishing and Trading Co."

A freezing plant for salmon, herring, and cod will be established at Hardy Bay, on the northeast coast of Vancouver Island. They will also smoke and salt fish, if necessary, and will erect a wharf. Altogether about $25,000 will be spent on their plant at this point.

The company will confine itself to no fishing limits nor to any particular kind of fish; but on account of their abundance and the great demand from all quarters, both in Canada and the United States, a leading feature will be the catching of halibut. Herring and salmon will also be caught in large quantities.

B. C. FRUIT FOR THE NORTHWEST.

During the past few years the growth of the fruit trade and the increasing productiveness of British Columbia is very gratifying to those interested in that business. The ability of Manitoba and the Canadian Northwest to provide a market for the fruit products of that Province seems fully established. The following figures only record the shipments per The Dominion Express Company, but are representative of the growth of this trade during the past four years, which has increased over 500 per cent., the exports per year being as follows:

| Year.     | Fruit ExportedPounds. |
|-----------|---------------------------|
| 1897..... | 140,980                   |
| 1899..... | 430,250                   |
| 1900..... | 702,638                   |
| 1901..... | 757,446                   |

In the shipments of this year were included 9,206 boxes of strawberries, the balance being made up of other small fruits.

The lateness of this crop accounts for the comparatively small increase of this year, as the products of Washington and Oregon were able to get on the Northwest market first, and thus reducing the prices, and the British-Columbian shippers found it more profitable to rely on the Vancouver and the Coast markets.

AH, THERE'S THE RUB!

Tea-growing in the United States is to be developed if possible. The American Tea-Growing Association of South Carolina has planted 700,000 tea plants on a portion of its tea farm near Charleston. As we have pointed out before, tea-planting in some of the Southern States, if protected and fostered by the United States Government, which knows how to encourage home industries, may one day play an important part in supplying the United States market with tea, but the time is not yet. Meantime, to grow tea which can compete with that of India and Ceylon in the matter of flavor and price is a task which will tax the ingenuity of all concerned in the cultivation of tea in America.—Home and Colonial Mail.

HAY FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

In South Africa the Canadian hay is reported to be the best that goes there. The New Zealand hay is like straw, and is fed only to oxen and mules. The hay from Argentina is all from Alfalfa grass, a plant of the bean family, something like clover, which the horses will not eat. The same kind of hay comes from the United States, so the British Government will have to draw all their hay from the Dominion, as they will have to keep a large force in Africa for at least three years. It is, therefore, predicted that there will be a great export of Canadian hay.

The North-end grocers, of St. John, N.B., kept their stores open after 7 p.m., till the Christmas trade was over.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, December 21, 1901.

IN local circles the week has shown the usual falling off in business incident to the Christmas trade, all orders having been rush orders for the Christmas luxuries.

In the retail trade, however, the amount of business has been greatly beyond expectations. Never in the history of Winnipeg has Christmas-buying begun so early—never such a demand for expensive goods—this being particularly noticeable in the matter of tropical fruits, fancy cheese, expensive lines of potted goods, crystalized fruits, and in fact all lines of expensive confectionery.

Retail merchants in Winnipeg have had all they could do during the past week, all stores having been kept open until 10 o'clock. In the country it is very much the same, as country merchants report trade exceptionally good. The commercial travellers are rounding back in Winnipeg for the holidays, and in all lines they report having placed heavy orders for spring delivery.

FLOUR.—The market in flour continues to show a very good demand. Ogilvie's are holding their advance of 10c. per sack reported last week, but The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. have not come up to it. Prices for the week are, therefore, as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $2.10; Glenora, $1.95; Alberta, $1.75; Manitoba, $1.55; Imperial XXXX, $1.35; Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Five Roses, $2; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.45; XXXX, $1.25.

CEREALS.—Rolled oats remain firm and they are worth: 80-lb. sack, $2.40; 40 do., $1.20; 20 do., 65c. Granulated standard oatmeal, $2.95. Cornmeal is very firm and also shows a tendency to advance although the last advance in the United States has not taken effect yet, their present quotation being $2. Split peas remain firm at the advance of last week and are selling at $2.75 to $2.80 per sack of 98 lb. White beans are in fair demand at $1.90; pearl barley, $3.75, and pot barley, $2.30 per sack of 98 lb. There is little demand for either pearl or pot barley.

CANNED GOODS.—There has been a very heavy demand for all extra fine fancy lines during the week, staple lines having moved more slowly and prices have remained unchanged. Fruits.—Strawberries, heavy syrup, $3.25; preserved, $3.60; raspberries, preserved, $3.25; syrup, $2.95; blackberries, $2.75; gooseberries, 2's, $2.90; 2's, preserved, $3.60; peaches, yellow, 2-lb. tins, $4; 3-lb. tins, $6; pears, 2-lb. tins, $3.50; 3-lb. tins, $4.50; apples, 3-lb. tins, canned, $2.50; 3-lb. tins, preserved, $3.65; gallon, canned, $1.60. Californian canned fruit in 2½-lb. tins—Plums, green gage, $4.25; Lombard, $4.20; damson, $4.20; egg, $4.20; peaches, $4.75; pears, $4.95; apricots, $4.75; cherries, white, $5.50. Canned vegetables—Tomatoes, $2.20 to $2.25; corn, 2-lb. tins, $1.90; peas, 2-lb. tins, $1.95; beans, 2-lb. tins, $1.85; pumpkin, in 3-lb. tins, $2.10.

DRIED FRUITS.—Dealers were notified that there has been an advance on all Californian raisins of from 1 to 1½c. per lb. The trade here have advanced the price, but not to so great an extent. Three-crown muscatels are quoted at 8½c. and seeded, 10 to 11c., according to brand. Californian prunes have also advanced and the price now is 5 to 10c., according to size. Californian figs are offering in 1-lb. packages at $1.50 per box.

SUGAR.—The market has remained stationary and with limited demand. Granulated, $1.95; bright yellows, $1.30. There has been an unusual demand for powdered and lump sugars.

SYRUPS. No change in price or situation.

COFFEE.—The market is very firm at 10 to 10½c. for No. 5 Rios. As is usual at Christmas there is an increased demand for Mochas and Javas.

GREEN FRUITS.—The country trade has been the heaviest on record and the houses are pretty well cleaned up. City prices on oranges have eased slightly for the moment but may advance before long. There is nothing new to quote in other lines. Holly and other lines of decorations have met with ready sale.

CURED MEATS.—The demand has not been quite so heavy this week owing to the large sale of poultry and fresh meat for the Christmas trade, but prices are ruling firm. Smoked hams, 13½c.; shoulders, 10½c.; picnic hams, 8½c.; breakfast bacon, bellies and backs, 14½c.; spiced rolls, 11½c.; dry salt long clear, 11c.; dry salt backs, 11½c.

LARD.—The demand is good and there is no change in price. 20-lb. pails, $2.40; 3 and 5-lb. tins in 16-lb. crates, $7.70; 50-lb. pails, $6.70.

BUTTER.—The supply continues very short and the demand keen. Jobbing houses are getting 24 to 25c. for all the creamery bricks they can lay hands on. Dairy butter in small tubs and rolls, if fresh, brings 17 to 18c.

CHEESE.—The demand is very good and price firm at 11c. for Manitoba and 10½c. for Ontario.

EGGS.—The receipts have been extremely light and prices are very high. The few cases of fresh Manitoba eggs received this week have sold at 30c. Ontario fresh gathered are worth from 24 to 27c., according to their date. Guaranteed new-laid bring 35 to 40c. wholesale and retail at 45c.

POULTRY.—The demand has been larger than usual and some six or seven cars have already been received from the east, chiefly turkeys. Prices are firm. Chickens, 10c.; ducks and geese, 10c.; turkeys, 13 to 13½c.

VEGETABLES.—The market has been a very slow one all week, with few sales of any importance. Potatoes are still selling at 30 to 35c. per bushel. Cabbage is very scarce and worth $30 per ton. Celery is also scarce and advancing in price. Spanish onions show considerable demand at 3½c. per lb.

FISH.—The scarcity of haddies continues and eastern shippers are declining further orders, as they find themselves unable to fill those now on hand. Labrador herring are also scarce at $1 per barrel. Lake Winnipeg white fish is now offering on this market at 5c. per lb.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, December 21, 1901.

OUR winter weather has come at last. Snow is now falling, and off and on during the last three days the ground has been covered to the extent of six or more inches. The tram cars are running as usual, the sleigh-bells are jingling in all directions and the change in the weather seems to make no difference in the number of people seen on the streets.

* * *

The number of people seen on the streets, unless under peculiar circumstances, is quite an index to trade, and Christmas shopping must be done whether it rains or shines. Trade in the fine-grocery line—as, in fact, in fancy goods in all lines, has been brisk during the last week, especially in the retail line. This is quite evident from the rush of their delivery teams day and night to a late hour.

* * *

Just at this season the wholesale trade is not so brisk, except for the hustling off of small orders for Christmas trade, when the retailer had a better trade than he expected. In another week stock-taking will commence, which will fill in the time until spring orders commence to make up.

* * *

During the week there has been considerable trade in cheese, and the wholesale price is firm at 11 to 12c., which is somewhat higher than the Montreal quotations. Archibald's cheese, made in Antigonish, is the best of the home product, and some of the dealers are holding all they have at 12c. Considerable cheese has been shipped this season to the West Indies, but generally in small quantities.

* * *

The steamer "Benedick" arrived this week from West Indies with 3,000 tons of sugar for the Acadia Sugar Refinery. The steamer "Nauphia," which sailed from Hamburg on December 7, arrived in port this morning, also bringing 3,000 tons of sugar for the Acadia Sugar Refinery. This concern is turning out a large quantity of the refined article this season.

* * *

This is the season for turkeys. Everybody must have one for Christmas. Considerable quantities are coming in from the country districts, all of very fine stock, and the wholesale price has risen during the last few days from 11 to 12c.

* * *

Potatoes are still plentiful, and the price remains steady at 42c. Considerable quantities are still coming in from P. E. Island, but this supply will soon be, if it is not already, cut off by the change in the weather, and the prospective close of the P. E. Island outports. One schooner arrived from the Island this week with 4,700 bush.

* * *

The steamer Dahome sailed for Liverpool this week, a part of her cargo being 3,095 bbls. of apples and 150 carcasses of mutton, the latter of which is very dull in this market. Advices received this week from sales of the large cargo of apples taken across by the steamer Evangeline, show that the average price received had been close to £1.

* * *

The steamer Oruro sailed a week ago for Barbados, Demerara, St. Lucia, Trinidad and other ports; the Beta sailed about the same time for Bermuda, Jamaica, Turk's Island and other ports. Both carried the largest cargoes of the season. R.C.H.

TO INVESTIGATE COMPLAINTS.

The Ottawa Government has appointed W. G. Parmalee, Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, as a commissioner to investigate certain matters of dispute regarding the weighing of cheese at Montreal. Grave complaints have been made by the farmers, who contended that under the present buying system, they were not credited with full weight on their scales by the buyers. This matter was taken up and discussed at meetings of cheese and butter associations, chiefly in Quebec and the eastern part of Ontario. In consequence of these disputes and representations made to him, the Hon. Sydney Fisher, after discussing the matter, has appointed Mr. Parmalee to make a searching inquiry. He is empowered to summon witnesses under oath, and recommend such amendments to the existing law as he might find necessary.

G.T.R. INJURING HALIFAX.

The Grand Trunk has been greatly injuring the export trade of Halifax by refusing to send its cars laden with freight destined for the West Indies either by that port or St. John. In proof of this, Pickford & Black, managers of the steamship lines running from that port to the West Indies, have submitted a number of letters from shippers in various parts of Canada, all stating that the railway positively refuses to send their cars to Halifax and St. John, and the only way left is to ship their freight via New York.

The board of trade is asked to interfere.

So great has been the influx of wheat at Moose Jaw, N.W.T., that the grain elevators there, which have a storage capacity of $140,000 bushels, are completely blocked.

T. A. Lytle & Co., encouraged by the largely increased sale of "Sterling" brand pickles during the year now closing, are making preparations for a large output of "Sterling" goods for the new year.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. have just received a carload of Griffin & Skelley's seeded raisins that were delayed on the road one week. All the travellers are in for the holidays, but letter orders will receive prompt attention.

AN AFTERMATH.

CHRISTMAS Day should be the retail and wholesale grocers' thanksgiving day, for the holiday trade is really their harvest. Like the yields of the field, the crops from the coffers are affected year by year by many influences, and as the merchant prepares for the season that he knows is sure to develop changes in markets and consumptive demand, he sows his seed just as the farmer does, doubtful as to the ultimate yield.

If Wednesday had been the thanksgiving day we suggest, the grocers of this country would have had thankful hearts, for the holiday trade of 1901 has been extremely profitable in almost every way. And it is all the more remarkable coming as it has upon the year following a trade most adverse and disheartening.

Business in holiday fruits is characteristically speculative. This year the market was pretty much in the interest of buyers. Valencia raisins and currants, the two big staples, varied quite considerably, but, unlike last year, dealers did not buy heavily at the top notch and then watch a falling market. Certainly, everybody did not get in at the low point, but, by a series of small purchases, wherever it was considered opportune, our importers at least averaged themselves on the market. And, moreover, both Valencia raisins and currants are now a little above the starting point.

But if there was one boon to the market more than another this year, it was the fact that the bulk of the trading in fruits has been in high grades. First of all, wholesalers were sickened of poor stuff last year and learned the lesson well to buy only standard brands, and the best qualities of those brands. Consumers also learned to appreciate good fruits, and, as a result, there went up a cry for the best stuff obtainable. The slow selling currant on the market has been the Provincial. Fine off-stalk Valencias did not move freely until selected and layers were cleaned out of the market and people were driven to them.

During the past two weeks there has been an extreme scarcity of high-grade Malaga raisins. Some high-class natural figs were tested on this market for the first time and were absorbed like water on dry ground. Everywhere you look in the fruit market you will see evidences of a strong demand on the better grades.

This turning to more expensive goods is, in itself, enough to give thanks for. A wholesaler was giving THE CANADIAN GROCER an experience on this point the other day. "I once wanted to buy some lard in Chicago," he said, "and upon inquiry for a price for the best brand, I got back the reply that the second grade was good enough for this market and an offer at a pretty low price. I took pride in telegraphing back: 'Your best brand not good enough for Canada, but give us a price on it.' Out of sheer stubborn patriotism, I paid a high price for that lard, and, do you know, that very importation of lard brought me three regular customers I know of, by its high quality. I believe sincerely it pays everybody concerned to handle only the best goods."

The Grocery World, of Philadelphia, comes to hand with a cover striking and appropriate for the Christmas holidays, and with reading matter on the inside which must have been found most helpful to that paper's readers in making preparations for the holiday trade. The publishers of The Grocery World are to be congratulated on their good taste and judgment.

FALSE EXPORT ENTRIES.

THE instructions sent out by the Customs Department to the collectors at the different ports to prevent misrepresentation as to the country of destination of goods being exported have come none to soon.

If our official trade returns in regard to the exports are to be of the value they should be, it is obvious they should tell us the true destination of the goods which leave our shores. If goods intended for Great Britain or some other port on the other side of the Atlantic are entered for the United States at the Customs House, it is clear that the United States figures in the returns as a larger buyer of Canadian products than she really is.

We have on more than one occasion referred to this matter, and are, therefore, glad the Customs Department has at last taken steps to prevent the continuance of the practice.

We do not know the motive that actuates all in making these false export entries, but we know that some at least do so with the object of keeping their competitors in the dark as to the real destination of their goods. Some have without any hesitation acknowledged this to us.

Aside altogether from the falsifying of entries which such a practice necessarily entails, it is shortsighted from a business standpoint.

One of the drawbacks to Canadian trade in foreign countries is that the products of this country are not sufficiently advertised. It means, in other words, that we are not as enterprising in pushing business as we should be. Only the other day we came across an article in an English trade paper pointing out this in no unmeasured tones. Then we have not yet forgotten the criticism of Sir Christopher Furness along the same line.

Now, it is quite clear that the more Canadian goods are placed in a given foreign market the more will the attention of the people therein be drawn to them and the better will they become acquainted with them, which is the end all wideawake business men seek.

We have been informed by a high official in the Customs Department that vigorous measures will be adopted if necessary for the carrying out of the instructions regarding the falsifying of export entries. We may therefore expect the officials of the Department to be as watchful regarding these as they already are in regard to false import entries.

BRITISH RESTRICTIONS ON CANADIAN CATTLE

A MEETING was held in Edinburgh early in December to consider the restrictions imposed on the importation of Canadian cattle into the United Kingdom. There were about 50 present, consisting of agriculturists and others interested in the subject. It was unanimously decided to continue the agitation for the removal of the restrictions and to enlist the sympathy of members of Parliament. The Canadian Government is also to be asked to cooperate.

Although, a few months since, the President of The Board of Agriculture, Mr. Hanbury, in decided tones, told a deputation that he would never consent to the removal of the disabilities against Canadian cattle, it is evident that the agriculturists of Scotland are determined to persevere.

The restrictions which, it will be remembered, went into force several years ago, compel the slaughter of Canadian cattle on arrival at the port of entry, thus cutting off the supply of "stockers" or animals which the farmers fattened for the home market. These restrictions were put into force because of a supposed case of pleuropneumonia found in an animal in a Canadian shipment. The evidence was of the flimsiest character. And, although no case prior to that or subsequent to it has been discovered in Canadian cattle at home or abroad, the unjust restrictions have been maintained in spite of the protests of the Canadian Government and the pleadings of the agriculturists and others in the United Kingdom who desired their removal.

There are a good many in Canada who have watched the matter closely who have come to the conclusion that the restrictions have developed into a species of protection, not against pleuro-pneumonia, but against the importation of live cattle at all, the power behind Mr. Hanbury being the English farmer. Be that as it may, there is no pleuro-pneumonia in Canada; and Mr. Hanbury himself has acknowledged that. It is, of course, not called "protection" in England, but it has a decided protectionist flavor just the same.

When the restrictions were imposed it was feared that the cattle trade of Canada was little short of ruined. They undoubtedly placed an obstacle in the way of its development. But an obstacle by no means always means ruin. The proof of this is the fact that the exportation of live cattle is larger to-day, both in the aggregate and on British account, than it was when the restrictions were first imposed. This will be gathered at once from a glance at the following table:

EXPORTS OF LIVE CATTLE.

due to the removal in 1897 of the United States quarantine against Canadian cattle as the result of a mutual arrangement between the Dominion and United States Governments. As a proof of this it is only necessary to mention that, whereas in 1896 Canada only exported 1,646 head of cattle to the United States, in 1897 the number was 35,998; in 1898, 87,905; in 1899, 92,834; in 1900, 86,989 and in 1901, 46,244 head. The falling off in the exports to all countries last year was, of course, due to the scarcity of cattle in this country.

One good effect of the restrictions imposed by the British Government on the importation of Canadian cattle was the stimulus it gave to the dressed beef industry, our exports of which during the last fiscal year were nearly 10,000,000 lb., whereas five years ago they did not reach 2,000,000 lb. This, it will be noticed by the following table, was due to the development of the British trade in this particular product:

EXPORTS OF BEEF.

|           | Total exports.lb. | Exports to G.B.lb. |
|-----------|-----------------------|------------------------|
| 1897..... | 1,871,120             | 384,633                |
| 1898..... | 1,086,985             | 485,625                |
| 1899..... | 506,360               | 81,214                 |
| 1900..... | 3,037,780             | 2,549,453              |
| 1901..... | 9,859,786             | 8,819,213              |

The aggregate value of our export trade to the United Kingdom in live cattle and dressed beef last year was $8,960,388 against $6,477,441 five years ago, an increase of 38 per cent. The total to all countries was $9,889,217 in 1901, and $7,240,015 in 1897, an increase of over 36 per cent. It is evident that, in spite of the British restrictions, there is a great deal in the live cattle and dressed beef trades to encourage us to put forth greater efforts in the future than we have in the past.

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN.

SEVERAL weeks ago, Mr. Henri Jonas, of Henri Jonas & Co., Montreal, announced through the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER that he would be pleased to furnish any grocer with a recipe for plum pudding. Grocers in every section of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, availed themselves of Mr. Jonas' offer, and wrote in for the recipe, which was gladly sent them.

We cite this instance to show that the circulation of this journal is not confined to any one section of the country, but covers the grocery trade in every Province of Canada. We make no unreasonable claim when we state that all shrewd dealers anxious to keep up with the developments of their business subscribe to THE GROCER. A trade paper of this nature becomes a business necessity to the merchant interested in all matters appertaining to the grocery trade, whether his business be located in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick in the far east, British Columbia in the extreme west, or in the intervening Provinces.

THINK FIRST AND THEN RESOLVE.

We are all near enough to the season of new resolutions to make the present opportunity to glance back over the experience of the past year in order that the causes of our failures may be located.

The better we know ourselves, the better are we able to resolve on ways and means for future guidance in our several vocations.

THE BEET-SUGAR INDUSTRY.

HOW LINDSAY FEELS

AT Lindsay, Ont., the advisability of granting such a bonus to the beet-sugar capitalists as is being demanded from Peterboro' is coming up for discussion. It is felt that it would be unwise for them to open up negotiations, as they could not grant the entire sum of $50,000 without increasing their tax rate to a burdensome point. But if money can be made in the manufacture of sugar in Ontario, it is felt that the superior soil and the excellent railway facilities of Lindsay will tempt some of these capitalists to erect a plant without even the inducement of a bonus.

ALL GOES WELL AT GALT.

The canvassers of The North-American Beet Sugar Co., Limited, Galt, Ont., are very much encouraged by the way farmers and others are subscribing for stock. Great confidence prevails amongst the farmers as to the capabilities of their land for beet-sugar raising, and the campaign for stocks has reached a stage that means a mammoth beet-sugar factory there in 1902. Already over $15,000 has been subscribed by the farmers alone.

ECHOES FROM WATERLOO

In Waterloo county the beet-sugar campaign goes merrily on, and in the township of Wilmott alone over 2,500 acres have already been subscribed, the average being about five acres to each contract. And in Cassell the G.T.R. promise to put in a siding for shipping beets, if enough acres were secured there. At the meetings which are held daily in the school-houses and halls, instruction is given as to the manner of raising and marketing the beets, and contracts are received.

WIARTON NOT SO SLOW.

The supporters of the Wiarton beet-sugar bonus by-law are actively engaged canvassing and holding meetings, that its passage by the electors may be an accomplished fact. It is pointed out that sugar beets would never be lacking, as the Wiarton people could have the whole county of Wellington to draw their acreage from, as limestone of a suitable quality does not exist in the latter place. As over $300,000 has been subscribed by local capitalists alone, great weight is added to those supporting the above. At a recent public meeting, where the mayor and a number of the most prominent citizens spoke in favor of the bonus, great enthusiasm was displayed and the citizens organized themselves into committees to carry on the campaign.

WHAT IS GOOD-WILL ?

GOOD-WILL is a term with which every business man is more or less familiar, but there are very few people who understand the meaning of the term in its business sense. This will hardly be wondered at when it is taken into consideration that even the most learned legal authorities differ materially as to the meaning and limitations of the word, one English jurist even going so far as to say that "good-will is a term that can hardly have any precise signification." Lord Eldon, in 1810, defined good-will as being nothing more than the "chance that the old customer will resort to the new place," while Lord Herschell condemns this definition as being entirely too narrow, and looks with favor upon the definition given by another judge, Lord Hatherleigh, who declares good-will to mean "every possible advantage that has been acquired by the old firm in the carrying on of its business, whether connected with the premises or with the name of the late firm, or with any other matter carrying with it the benefit of the business."

When we come to look into the questions that crop up when the transferring of good-will is considered, we find that the main question of "What is good-will?" does not permit an off-hand interpretation. Thus, for instance, there is one kind of good-will that must be kept on a distinct footing, viz.: professional good-will, as, for example, the good-will attached to the business of a lawyer or medical man. It would not at first blush appear that a doctor, whose reputation depends upon his own personal ability, could transfer that reputation to somebody else—perhaps not fully qualified—for a pecuniary consideration, and therefore one would be inclined to say that there could be no such thing as good-will in the business of a medical man. As it happens, however, one cannot take up a medical journal without finding several advertisements of doctors offering to sell the good-will of their practice. The good-will in these cases cannot stand for anything more specific than a promise on the part of the retiring physician to do his best to persuade his patients to patronize the new practitioner, and to "say a good word for him" wherever possible.

There is, however, another consideration which enters into professional good-will, and that is the promise not to compete with the successor, or to carry on business within a certain radius. If the retiring physician were to open up a new office a few blocks away from the old it is exceedingly probable that, if he were at all popular with his old patients, the latter would be willing to go a few yards out of their way in order to continue their relations with him, and, therefore, an agreement as to the good-will of a medical man, in almost all cases, contains a stipulation that the retiring practitioner will absolutely withdraw from the locality.

It will be readily seen that this kind of good-will is entirely different in character from the good-will of a grocery, for instance, in the latter case the good-will being entirely local, and being attached to the place alone. Of course, it might happen that even a grocer's personal reputation would be the sole drawing feature about the place, and in that case he will have to exercise his persuasive powers in trying to qualify his successor for the carrying on of the work, in the same manner as does the professional man; but generally speaking the patrons of the corner grocery will continue their patronage, no matter whether it is conducted by Smith or Jones, and we can, therefore, come to the conclusion that still another side of good-will is the good-will of locality.

There is, however, a good-will which does not depend upon locality nor upon introduction, but which is identified with the name and nature of the business. Thus, it matters not to the general public, which is a large consumer of somebody's patent grade of soap, who happens to be in charge of the manufacture of that soap, and so long as the old name of the article is kept up and the quality not deteriorated, the good-will will not be affected to the slightest degree. It is this last kind of good-will which one encounters most frequently in the commercial world. While, of course, the personality of a business man may have something to do with the success of his business, it is generally safe to say that the good-will of the business will not materially suffer by an exchange of owners, and the largest class of good-will, therefore, depends upon the reputation of the name of the business and not of the personality of the business man.

Still a further illustration of this may be seen in the case of a newspaper or periodical which has changed hands. In this instance the circulation of the periodical, of course, constitutes the good-will and, generally speaking, the good-will will not suffer by the change of ownership.

When the question of valuation of good-will is deeply gone into and the legal aspect of the subject is considered in all its branches, it will be readily seen that the question of what really constitutes good-will is one requiring careful and weighty consideration before a solution can be arrived at.—Accounties.

"In the matter of Ceylon Greens."

You are a grocer, and so long as you are catering to the wants of the people you will have to give them the best the world affords for the price paid; that is, of course, if you intend to stay in the race. ## ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, December 26, 1901.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS during the past week has been of the usual holiday sorting-up nature. The orders have been numerous, but small. The holiday trade this year has been of a fairly-satisfactory character, especially as far as the volume of business is concerned. The only complaints we hear of are in regard to the margin of profits, which are small, as a rule. The most striking feature of trade this week is a further decline of 10c. in the price of refined sugar, in sympathy with the weakness in the United States. Little or nothing is being done in canned goods, and in foreign dried fruits there has been a good business, with prices decidedly strong and supplies in Valencia raisins light. The tea market continues strong. Coffees are in light demand, but prices are firm.

CANNED GOODS.

The volume of business, as is usual at this time of the year, is light, and there is nothing of interest to note. The ruling price for tomatoes is still 82½ to 85c.; peas and corn, 80c. up. Only an occasional order is being received for canned fruits, which still rule at $1.75 to $1.90 for peaches, $1.65 to $1.70 for strawberries, and $1.60 to $1.80 for raspberries. There is still only a moderate demand for canned salmon. The ruling prices for canned salmon are: Fraser River sockeye, $1 42½ for 5-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15.

COFFEES.

The coffee market continues to rule strong, and Tuesday's cables announced an advance of 5 points over the previous day's figures. The strength of the market is largely interfering with the import business as wholesalers are looking for lower prices before placing orders. A feature of the local trade during the past week is some transactions that have taken place in Mexican and Santos coffees for export to New York and Chicago. The retail demand for coffee is light. Quotations rule as before. We quote: No. 7, 8c.; No. 6, 8¼c.; No. 5, 8½c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

CANDIED PEELS.

There is still a good business of a sorting-up character being done. We quote as follows. Lemon, 10 to 12½c.; orange, 11 to 13c.; citron, 15 to 18c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

There has been a fairly good demand during the past week for all kinds of nuts for the holiday trade. We quote: Greenobles, 10¼c. by the bale up to 12c. for smaller quantities. Marbots, 9½ to 10½c.; filberts, 9½ to 10½c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Business is quiet and prices unchanged in both these lines. We quote: B rice,

See pages 31 and 32 for
Toronto, Montreal, and St.
John prices current.

3¼c.; Japan rice, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 4 to 4½c.; sago, 4½ to 5c.

SUGAR.

The demoralization of the sugar market noted last week has become more pronounced. Since our last advices the Arbuckles have reduced their prices a further 5c. with an extra discount of 1 per cent., making their total reductions 19c. per 100 lb. below those of the Sugar Trust. On Monday the American Refining Company reduced its quotations on hard sugars 25c. per 100 lb., and on softs 15c. per 100 lb. The Arbuckles did not allow themselves to be outgeneraled by the Trust's move, but reduced their quotations a further 10c., still giving the extra 1 per cent. discount. This was promptly met by the Howell Refinery. The independent refineries are, therefore, 4c. per 100 lb. lower on granulated than the Sugar Trust, the quotations being $4.37 and $4.41 respectively on granulated sugars. The difference between granulated and centrifugal sugars is now 71 and 75c. respectively. Centrifugals for the week are down 3-32c., the quotation now begin $3.66 duty paid New York. During last week stocks at the four U.S. ports were increased by 6,000 tons. Owing to the near approach of stock-taking local dealers are quite indifferent, and the movement from second hands is extremely light and absolutely for present requirements. Prices locally are 10c. lower all around in sympathy with the outside markets, and the basis for granulated is now $3.90 Montreal, and $4.08 Toronto. The price of both refined and raw sugar has again made a new record. Beet sugar is now down to 6s. 9d.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is naturally only a small business being done and prices rule as before. The ruling price for molasses is 25 to 28c. for New Orleans, and bright sugar syrups, 35 to 37c. The ruling quotations on corn syrup are: 3½c. in bbls.; 3¾c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38-lb., and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

TEAS.

The position of the tea market continues strong. Advices early this week say that there is a good demand from Russia for Indian teas, which has put the price of good pekoes up to a very high figure. The advices further state that the position of the market is very strong, and that higher prices may be looked for after the holiday season. The Indian tea season is over, and the shortage is confirmed at a high point. The situation locally continues to improve. As far as we can learn, there is nothing in Indian and Ceylon low-grade teas under 12c. that can be considered merchantable. The local market is still below the parity of the London market. It is said the teas arriving are not costing less than about 13½ to 14c. Mail advices from London, under date of December 13, state that with a good demand recent valuations on Indian teas were fully maintained, competition being very strong for all teas up to about 7d. per lb. Other grades occasionally showed some irregularity, but bidding appeared to be decidedly more general than of late. Good medium pekoes still continue very cheap and should attract greater attention. There was decidedly more life in the bidding for Ceylon up to 6d. per lb., which was a trifle dearer, while grades between that and 8d. were very firm. China green teas are still scarce and dear.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The demand continues good and price firm. Fine Filiatras, 6 to 6½c., and Campos are quoted at the same figure; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 7½ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The position of the market continues strong. Locally, the demand is good and stocks light. We quote: Selected, 6½ to 6¾c., and fine off stalk, 5¾ to 6c.

MALAGA RAISINS—There has been a fair sorting-up demand. We quote as follows: Black baskets, $2.25; "Empire Clusters," $2.60; "Dehesa Clusters," $3.10; "Excelsior Clusters," $4.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.10; "Extra Dessert Clusters," $3.35; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $5.

PRUNES—Trade keeps fair. We quote as follows: Californian prunes: 100 110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80 90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 50's, 8¾ to 10c. French, 100's, 3½ to 4c.

FIGS—Trade has been good during the past week. We quote mat figs 3¼c.; naturals, 3¼ to 4½c., according to quality; tapnets, 3¼c., and Eleme figs range all the way from 8½ to 18c.

DATES—Trade is fair at 4½ to 4¾c. for Hallowees, and 4¼ to 4½c. for Sairs.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Trade is fair for the time of year, and prices rule at 13 to 16c. for apicots in 25-lb. boxes, and at 11 to 13c. for peaches

GREEN FRUITS.

The Christmas green fruit trade has never been better than this year, especially for oranges. Floridas sold exceptionally well, and Mexicans and Valencias, which were in excellent condition and came in earlier this year, were in better demand than in former years. The Californian orange season has just fully opened, and the fine condition of the fruit made them favorites with many. Grapes were good sellers, while cranberries have been mostly all sold out. The prices of the latter have been very firm, owing to the big demand from all quarters. Apples are being offered sparingly, and extra fine stock is worth $5 per bbl., but the bulk that are offered sell at from $4 to $4.50. The market for lemons is also good. Californian oranges are from 25 to 50c. per box easier. We quote: Apples, $4 to $5 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; Jamaica oranges, $4.75 to $5 per bbl., or $2.75 to $3 per box; Florida oranges, $3.75 per box; Mexican oranges, $2.50 per box; Californian lemons, $3.50 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian oranges, $3.25 to $3.50 per box; Valencia oranges, $4 to $5.50 per case;

Malaga grapes, $6 to $6.50; Almeria grapes, $5.50 to $6.50 per keg; cranberries, fancy Jerseys, $10; pineapples, 23 to 25c. each by the case.

VEGETABLES.

The Christmas season does not seem to affect the vegetable market to any great extent. Cabbages and turnips are finding a slow sale. Carrots and parsnips are quiet. Cabbages are freely moving, and are 10c. higher. Potatoes are very firm, and are selling at from 5 to 10c. more per bag. We quote as follows: Carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 30 to 40c. per doz.; radishes, 40 to 50c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; cauliflower, $1.00 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c.; red cabbage, No. 1, 5 to 10c.; cabbage, 40 to 60c.; dry onions, $1 per bush.; potatoes, 90c. to $1 per bag.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The movement from stock of cold-stored and limed has been brisk. Fresh-gathered are very scarce. The prices are very firm, but no change has yet been made. We quote: Fresh gathered, 19 to 21c.; cold-stored, 17 to 19c., and limed 16 to 17c. per doz.

BEANS—The movement is fair, the demand being moderate. We quote: Choice handpicked, $1.70 to $1.75; prime, $1.50 to $1.60 per bush.

HONEY—Demand has somewhat improved, the inquiries being more numerous. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9¼c.; less quantities, 10c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED APPLES—There is a quiet trade in this line. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Evaporated apples 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. in less quantities. Dried apples 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—The price of potatoes has advanced from 5 to 7c. per bag since last week, and they are now bringing 74 to 76c. per bag on the track. There is a good demand at from 90c. to $1 per bag retail.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a moderate demand, especially for choice dairy 1-lb. blocks, which are firmer, in some cases 1c. per lb. more being received. Creamery is firm, with good inquiries for export. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 19c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints sell at 21 to 22c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—The advance in cheese has been maintained, and prices are very firm, with an upward tendency. We quote: 10 to 10¼c. per lb.

POULTRY AND GAME.

DRESSED POULTRY—Turkeys are very scarce, and high prices for them are prevalent, as high as 11c. being paid. Ducks are also very scarce, and are 5 to 10c. per pair higher. Geese are 1c. per lb. higher. We quote: Chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; ducks, 50 to 80c. per pair; geese, 7 to 8c. per lb.; turkeys, 8½ to 11c.

LIVE POULTRY—There have been smaller arrivals of live poultry this week. The country seems to be relieved of its surplus stock, and trade in this line will probably be greater. The Canadian Produce Company, 36 and 38 Esplanade east, Toronto, will pay until further notice for spring chickens, 6c. per lb. For ducklings, 5c. per lb. For hens (including last year's birds) 2½c. per lb. These prices are for live weight on arrival. Crates shipped free and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens.

GAME—Although the game season has been closed for some time, those who have licenses are exposing for sale some game which they had placed in cold storage. We quote: Canvas back, 75c.; red head, $3; pin tail, 75c.; blue bill, 60c.; mallard, $1 to $1.25 and black duck, $1 to $1.25 per brace.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Oysters are exceptionally good sellers, being now in season, with prices very firm. In fish the trade is good, especially in Digby herring. Ciscoes are ½c. lower. Frozen fish are now on sale instead of fresh. We quote as follows: Frozen fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; herring, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 14c.; sea salmon, 13 to 15c.; haddock, 6c.; perch, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 7 to 7½c.; Digby herring, 60 to 75c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112 lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb. Oysters—Standards, $3.75 per small pail or $1.50 per Imperial gallon; selects, $2 per Imperial gallon.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The prices of Manitoba hard wheat are unchanged at 86c. grinding in transit, or 85c. Toronto and west. There has been a good delivery of oats on the local market and prices are 1c. lower. Barley has not arrived in such large quantities recently, and the price has gone up 2c. per bush. The other lines are quiet. We quote: White and red Ontario wheat, 70 to 80c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, new, 47 to 48c.; rye, 58c.; barley, 59 to 63c.; peas, 77 to 80c.; buckwheat, 54c.

FLOUR—As millers and flour merchants are now taking stock there is a small movement of flour this week. Things will continue quiet until the advent of the new year. The prices are unchanged. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.70 to $3.80; Hungarian patents, $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.90; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The larger deliveries of oats have resulted in a decline of 20c. in oatmeal and 10c. in rolled oats. This will only be temporary, however, and millers expect an advance in a short time. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.55; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $5.25; in bbls., 15c. more; broken lots are 15c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $4.00; split peas, $4.50; pot barley, $4.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

Country wool handlers feel that the prices their wool brings is far below its value, and have been not very liberal in their offerings lately. Consequently, the receipts have not been quite up to the mark. But the market continues very weak and higher prices will not likely be obtained. Even as it is unwashed wool is being bought 1c. lower in some cases. Sheepskins are 5c. higher.

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼ to 8¾c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 75c.; deerskins, 12½ to 14c. per lb.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 7 to 8c. per lb.

SEEDS.

No further change has occurred. Outside shippers have not met the advances recently made, and the seed market is rather unsettled. The movement is normal. We quote: Red clover, $4.80 to $5.25; alsike, $6.50 to $8.50, and timothy, $2.25 to $3 per bush.

MARKET NOTES.

Finnan haddie is being offered at ½c. per lb. less.

Californian navel oranges are from 25 to 50c. per case lower.

Potatoes are becoming scarcer, and the price on the track is 5 to 7c. per bag

BOGUS UNITED STATES DOLLARS.

During the Christmas rush some person or persons have caused bogus United States dollars to be extensively circulated throughout Toronto. They are of good color and ring well, but are light in weight and will not stand the acid test.

A CORRECTION.

In last week's issue of THE GROCER we stated that Marie Leclerc was registered as the proprietress of the business of Leclerc & Letellier, Quebec; the name of the proprietress should have been Marie Letellier, the widow of Alp. Letellier.

ELEVATOR CASE SETTLED.

At the non jury sittings at Woodstock, before Justice Ferguson, the case of the Town of Goderich vs. The Goderich Elevator Co. was settled. The matter in dispute between the two parties was some $7,000 interest which had accrued during the delay in getting a deep channel to the elevator. As neither party wanted to foot the bill, the case was brought into court, and, upon the advice of the judge, it was finally agreed that the company would assume $2,500 thereof and the town the balance. So it was arranged that on February 1, 1902, the company will pay the town $52,500, being the $50,000 in stock temporarily taken in the elevator company, together with the company's share of the interest. The town will then guarantee the bonds of the company to the extent of $50,000, besides giving them 10 years tax exemption, excepting school taxes, free water and fire protection.

MAY MEET IN WINNIPEG.

On the suggestion of F. W. Thompson, vice-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, prominent Winnipeg business men are making efforts to have the next annual meeting of the association held in that city. W. Georgeson, president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, E. L. Drewry, and Mayor Arbutnot are all interested and will leave nothing undone to induce the association to fall in line with their suggestion.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, December 26, 1901.

GROCERIES.

THE Christmas trade is over and it has been conceded to have been one of the most successful in the history of the grocery trade. Of Christmas supplies our importers bought very carefully this year and as a consequence stocks are now well cleaned up and several houses are in absolute need of supplies. As the French New Year's trade counts for nearly as much in this city as the English Christmas trade, we can expect that the Montreal wholesale grocers will carry over but light stocks into the new year. Supplies of all sorts of dried fruits are now being rushed forward to meet the moderate but regular demand of the next few months. Meanwhile currants, Valencia raisins, Malaga raisins, figs, Tarragona almonds and peels are all bringing full prices on account of their scarcity. The feature of the week has been the marked decline in the price of raw beet sugar, which came as a great surprise to the trade here. The latest cable is 6s. 9d., a decline of 3d. to 4d. on the week. Needless to say the regular market is easy. The lard market is rather firm and Fairbank's compound is marked up a fraction. Teas are quiet this week with prices firm and unchanged. Latest reports from the Barbados indicate better hopes for the coming crop of molasses. In spices the upward trend in peppers and gingers is maintained.

SUGAR.

The raw beet market has developed a further weakness this week and the latest cable to hand quotes December beet at 6s. 9d., a drop of more than 3s. on the week. The decline is a direct result of higher estimates of the season's crop and the doubt as to the world's ability to consume the heavy supplies at present prices. The New York market has declined another 5c. and while the local refiners have not followed suit, the market may be said to be weak. The local price to-day is $4 for granulated and $3.25 to $3.95 for yellows.

TEAS.

At the beginning of the week there was a fair movement of large lots of teas, but the last day or so has seen no business done. The demand we speak of has been quite general covering fine Ceylons, Japans, greens and China blacks. All prices are held quite firmly. There has been a good deal of inquiry for 13½c. Japans, but offerings at this figure are decidedly scarce.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair demand for corn syrup and a good trade is being done in sugar syrup. We quote corn syrup: 3½c. in bbls.; 3½c. in ½ bbls.; 3½c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 35½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

A circular from the Barbados, dated December 7, says: "Our reaping season will probably open about February next. During the fortnight we have had some good rains, very favorable for the young crop. The plant canes are doing well, and the ratoonings have also improved, although low for this time of the year.

The weather is now much cooler." The local demand for molasses is fair at 28 and 29c.

CANNED GOODS.

Trade in canned goods is pretty well confined to expensive grades. Staple articles are quiet at previous prices. Tomatoes are worth 82½ to 87½c.; corn, 80c. and peas, 80 to 95c. Salmon is wanted in fair quantities at $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

The upward movement in gingers and peppers continues and dealers here will probably advance prices on the turn of the year. We quote: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

COFFEE.

There has been a good business doing in coffee this month. Roasted coffees are worth: Mocha, 27 to 32c.; Javas, 25 to 32½c.; Rios, 13 to 18c.; Santos, 15 to 22½c.; Maracaibos, 15 to 22c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

All reports confirm the scarcity of English milled Patna rice and values on the local market are very strong. We quote in combine district as follows: B rice in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½c. per lb., and tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS.—The arrivals of additional stocks of currants have been disappointing and the supplies in local hands have been no more than enough for the holiday consumption. Consequently prices are well maintained. Fine Filiatras are worth 5½c. in ½ cases; 6c. cleaned; 1-lb. cartons, 8c. and finest Vostizzas, 7½ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The demand for raisins has been quite brisk and the entire season's trade has been highly satisfactory as stocks have been well cleared out at remunerative prices. There has been quite a scarcity of the better grades and the stringency will be felt in the local market this coming week. Locally, finest off-stalk is worth 5½ to 5¾c.; selected, 6½ to 6¾c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c.

CANDIED PEELS.—One of the features of the market this week has been the great scarcity of peels. Some big houses say the demand has been so brisk and regular that they are virtually sold out of their entire importations. Consequently prices are very strong. Lemon peel is worth 10½c.; orange, 11½c., and citron, 16½c., a slight advance on last week's quotations.

PRUNES.—Prunes are active and strong. We quote as follows: Californians, 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7½c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6½c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

MALAGA RAISINS.—Cheap grades are about the only Malaga raisins obtainable. Even the largest houses are sold out of the more desirable grades and are compelled to buy from hand-to-mouth. We quote: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—Hallowee dates are firm at 4¼ to 4½c.

FIGS.—Tapnet figs are firm and layer figs are selling well. Tapnets are worth 97½c. to $1.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS.—The market is strong at last week's advance with a special activity in seeded raisins which are selling at 9¼ to 9½c.

NUTS.

Tarragona almonds are very scarce. We quote as follows: Walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 18½ to 19c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8½ to 9½c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

There has been a very brisk holiday trade done at current quotations. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $4.50 to $4.75; Florida oranges, $3.75 to $4; Californian sunflowers, $3.75 to $4.00; Valencia oranges, 420's, $4; 520's, $4.75; 714's, $5.25; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.00 per box; Malaga lemons, ¼ chests, $5.25 to $6; pineapples, 15 to 20c.; Canadian apples, $3 to $5 per bbl.; limes, $1.50 per box; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.75 to $2.25, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Spanish onions, $1; sweet potatoes, Vineland's, $4 to $4.25; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $7.50 to $9.50; barrel onions, $3; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12½c.; holly, $4 per basket.

FISH.

FISH.—The coming of Advent has stimulated quite a trade in fish. We quote as follows: Haddies, 6½c.; bloaters, 90c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked, medium herrings, 12c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 6½c.; pike, 5c.; halibut, 7c.; salmon, 9c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $5.37½ per bbl., No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.90 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $6 per bbl.; No. 2, $5; large, $7; No. 1 green haddock, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, $5 per case; dried codfish, $5 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $12 per bbl., No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6.25 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $5.50 per half bbl. and $11.00 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gallon; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There is a quieter feeling in flour and it would seem that western millers find difficulty in securing the recent advance. In carlots we quote as follows: Spring wheat patents, $4.10 to $4.30; winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4; straight rollers, $3.65 to $3.75; strong bakers', $3.80 to $4.

GRAIN — We quote: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 82 to 83c. December; peas, 87½c.; rye, 61 to 62c.; No. 2 barley, 57c.; oats, 48½ to 49c.; buckwheat, 51 to 54½c.; corn, 75 to 76c.

OATMEAL.—The market is quite firm, carload lots being worth $5.50 to $5.60 in bbls. and $2.70 to $2.75 in bags. Wholesalers ask $6 and $2.90 and $2.95.

FEED.—The market continues firm with sales of Ontario bran in bulk at $20 to $21; shorts, $22 to $23; mouillie, $28 to $30 for the genuine stuff.

BALED HAY.—Deliveries have been better but prices are very high. Nearly as much is being paid in the country as in this market. We quote No. 1 timothy at $10.50 to $11; No. 2 timothy, $9.50 to $10; clover mixture, $8.50 to $9; clover, $7.50 to $8.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—A good local demand has been experienced during the past week and as stocks are declining prices are advancing. Pickled eggs are selling somewhat freely at 17½ to 18c. and round lots of fresh fall eggs have been bought at 22c. Fresh fall selected bring 25c. Strictly new laid are very scarce and will bring up to 50c. a dozen.

HONEY.—The scarcity of choice white clover honey in comb is still a feature of this market. Further sales of round lots have been made at 12 to 13c., as to quantity. Extracted white is worth 11c. in small quantities. Buckwheat honey is worth 9 to 11c. and 8 to 9c. strained.

DRESSED POULTRY.—Some heavy purchases of dressed poultry were made for the Christmas trade. The dry-picked turkeys were picked up at 9½ to 10c., and scalded sold slowly at 7 to 8½c. There was an urgent demand for spring chickens at 5½ to 9c., and the demand is not over yet. Ducks sold at 8 to 9c.

ASHES.—The few lots arriving meet with ready sale, the last business reported of first pots being at $4.40 to $4.15 per 100 lb. Seconds are quoted at $4 to $4.05, and pearls, $6.75 to $7.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—There is a fair business doing for export at 20½ to 20¾c. for choice creamery. The local trade is also taking a few tub lots at 20½ to 20¾c. and in a few instances jobbers have paid 21c. for fancy. In dairy butter the market is dull.

CHEESE.—The cables report a much firmer market and it would seem that values must go higher. Sales of finest western Septembers have been made at 10 to 10½c., the latter figure being the top figure paid on the spot.

SUING THE RAILWAY COMPANY.

On the strength of a report from Ottawa, that the Dominion Government has decided that the freight and passenger rates had been illegally exacted, in so much as they had not met with approval of the Governor-General-in-Council, two Vancouver firms are commencing actions under section 290 of the Railway Act to recover damages. These are the J. Clerihue and the Upper Yukon Consolidated Co., and the amount fixed is $20,000 each. The above being for excessive charges in freight and passenger rates.

Walker & Co., egg dealers, Chatham, Ont., desire to enlarge their warehouse by bringing out a two-storey addition to King street. As the walls of a brick building would, in case of fire, cave in and destroy all their eggs, J. S. Walker, a member of the firm, waited on the city council asking permission to construct this extension of wood, since the Chatham by-laws forbade the erection of a frame building at that point. After some discussion, the matter was referred to the property committee.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., December 23, 1901.

CHRISTMAS business was good. There was not quite as much snow as we would have wished. This particularly affects buyers from outside and outside trade. The agitation for a standard time is continued, and it is the hope of all that a uniform time will be adopted. Atlantic standard seems the more popular. It is nearest to local time, and what appeals to very many, it would give longer evenings. Stores would open 24 minutes earlier and close 24 minutes sooner. This would be appreciated, particularly in the summer. In markets there is no great change. Sweet stuffs are rather easier, while fish, and particularly fresh fish, are rather higher. Dried fruits are firmly held.

OILS.—In burning oils prices are unchanged. Sales are very large. The low values continue. In lubricating oils the prices are unchanged. Sales for present shipment are very high. There is a good business being done for futures. Cod oil netted the producers, perhaps, the best prices ever paid. In seal oil values are very firm, full figures ruling this season. In paints and oils business is small except where orders are being placed for future delivery. Stock here is very light. Fancy candles have a splendid sale at this season.

SALT.—Three steamers arriving this week brought each a quantity of Liverpool coarse salt, but though this was a large quantity to arrive in one week it was largely sold ex-steamer. Prices are very firm and full prices will rule. There is a marked difference between prices ex-steamer and ex-store. In fine salt the movement is light. It is chiefly Canadian. We now quote: Liverpool coarse, 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1.00; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—Salmon continues to arrive, but there is only a limited business. Prices at present rule easy though no change has yet been reported. In vegetables fair sales are made at even figures. New oysters are quoted at prices rather lower. Fruits have a fair sale. In apples sales here are almost entirely confined to gallon lots. In domestic fish packers suffer from having no organized method of marketing their product, and though some lines, such as kippered herring and haddies, are short of demand, particularly kippered herring, prices keep low because there are so many packers who compete among themselves for the trade.

GREEN FRUITS.—Business is very active. Apples are not selling as freely. The best grades are too high and the cheaper apples are well cleaned up. Bishop pippins are large sellers. In oranges Jamaicas are still large sellers and the quality is extremely good. It is still early for good Valencias, though they sell freely. For the best trade Floridas are having a good demand. Some Californians are sold. In lemons, prices are still low, but there is an active business Retailers are not in business for the mere good of their health—PROFITS are what they want. Bee Starch gives a good percentage, and being positively unsurpassed it is safe for a grocer to push it.

In many localities Bee Starch has displaced all others.

BEE STARCH CO., Montreal.

being done. Cranberries are rather higher. A larger quantity than usual of Nova-Scotian berries were sold this year. In grapes, Malagas have sold very freely and stocks are well cleaned up.

DRIED FRUITS.—Values are firmly held. Stocks of all kinds are light. Californian fruit shows quite an advance. Of late quite large quantities of seeded raisins have been bought in New York. These continue to grow in favor. While New York prices have advanced they can still be bought to cost lower than if imported from the Coast. Peels are very scarce, particularly citron. Dates have been advanced some three shillings and are very firm, with higher prices expected. The sales this season have been large. In Malaga raisins, prices for import are rather higher. Evaporated apples are firm; sales at the high prices are light. Dried apples seem higher here than in the west. Onions are firm and tending higher. The sale of nuts this year has been very large. Peanuts are higher.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Eggs are rather easier and lower prices are expected as the Christmas demand is over. While fancy stock has been high, good case eggs have kept at reasonable figures. Butter is rather easier. The quantity of average grade is still large. Extra stock sells quickly at full figures. In the local market cheese is unchanged.

SUGAR.—Sales have been large. Prices are rather lower. All grades, except No. 2 granulated, are off 10c.; it is off 5c. But two grades of yellows are offered. The quality in all lines of sugar shows improvement.

MOLASSES.—There is a fair business and prices in Porto Rico show some range, but the market is unchanged. Consumers, or at least the retail trade, are getting molasses cheap. The outlook is for a good crop next season. Some little Barbados is still offered. Little American molasses is being handled.

FISH.—Fresh fish, which are an important factor at this season, are somewhat scarce and prices have been advanced. Haddock being scarce has caused funnans haddies to go up. This is a large business. In the north shipments of smelt are not yet in full swing. In pickled herring prices are rather easier though no change is yet noted. Smoked herring are low. There are no bloaters. Some alewives are still held; the season has been rather dull. There are no shad. Dry cod are unchanged—just a fair business. Pollock are dull, and very few frozen herring are being received. We quote as follows: Large and medium dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 6 to 6½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½ to 3c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.00 to $2.25 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—Flours are rather higher, particularly Ontario grades, and prices are firmly held. Oatmeal is still high and the price is affecting the sale. Some nice profits are being made. Oats are high and little is doing. Cornmeal shows rather less demand owing to the continued high price. Beans are unchanged at reasonable figures. Barley is again advanced. Split peas are high. Blue peas are about out of the market. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5.00; best Ontario, $3.50 to $4.20; medium, $3.70 to $3.90; oatmeal, $5.75 to $5.90; cornmeal, $3.30 to $3.35; middlings, $2.20 to $2.30; oats, 49 to 50c.; handpicked beans, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $4.75 to $4.95; barley, $1.65 to $4.75; hay, $12 to $14.

ST JOHN NOTES

The St. John correspondent extends a Merry Christmas to all.

Geo. E. Barbour has a large shipment of Fairbank's lard to hand, bought before the advance.

Hall & Fairweather have received a shipment of Valencia raisins, which will help to relieve the short market. They have some small boxes.

This Christmas has seen a larger demand for seeded raisins than ever before. To supply the shortage large quantities have been brought from New York.

Our two large cotton mills are again running. They are now called the Cornwall and York Mills. This is the best possible Christmas present to many of our people.

Mr. Miles, representing Theo. H. Estabrooks, is spending Christmas at his home in England. He will put himself in touch with the tea market there. The buyers of "Red Rose" will get the advantage of any particular values offering.

TRINIDAD SUGAR INDUSTRY.

AFTER the lowest crop in 1900 for 20 years the 1901 sugar crop of Trinidad was above the average, and the cost of production was proportionately lessened. The new English duties injuriously affected the price in two ways—first, the anticipation of the Budget caused large European stocks to be transferred to this country so as to escape the expected duty; and secondly, only one-third of the Trinidad crop was in time to escape the duty. Many estates probably lost money or only saved cost. The average cost of production of yellow sugars for the London market was £10 5s., the price obtained was £11, and the profit, therefore, was only 15s. The speculative character of the industry is illustrated by the following incident: The usine of St. Augustine, with its groups of estates, of about 4,500 acres, was closed last year. The machinery was valued at £30,000; there was no demand for it as a going concern, and the Government was able to acquire the whole property for £9,100. The rapid increase of the industry of cane-farming is, however, a good feature, and is likely to impart greater stability to the enterprise of sugar-making. In the present year the quantity of farmers' canes ground has been nearly 170,000 tons. The relief to the planter in cultivation expenses must, therefore, be very considerable.—Home and Colonial Mail.

NIAGARA FRUIT MEN MEET.

Last week The United Fruit Growers Association of the Niagara Peninsula held their annual meeting at St. Catharines, Ont. There was a good attendance of representatives from all over the district.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, William Hendershott, Thorold; 1st vice-president, D. J. McKinnon; 2nd vice-president, Mr. Honsberger; 3rd vice-president, F. G. Stewart; 4th vice-president, James Dunlop; secretary-treasurer, Carl E. Fischer; Executive Committee—Albert Pay, W. Armstrong, James Carnohan, R. Thompson, A. Haynes, W. H. Bunting, S. H. Rittenhouse, Thomas Berriman, C. W. Vandenburg, A. Railton, C. W. Vanduzer, F. A. Goring, M. Pettit, W. H. Gainer, W. A. Hutt, George X. Walker, W. C. McCalla, William Freel, G. A. Robertson, S. M. Culp.

The San Jose scale and the grading of fruit came up for discussion. It was found that as to the latter the majority of those present were in favor of the growers themselves grading, packing in boxes, and marking their apples.

W. H. Bunting, the fruit commissioner, to the Pan-American, gave an interesting address on the Dominion exhibits there.

The banners of the Niagara district exhibitors, who won gold and silver medals, were distributed at the meeting.

TO PROTEST AGAINST RATES.

At a meeting last week in Toronto of the Railway and Transportation Committee of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the schedule of rates proposed on the Yukon and White Pass Railway, a line only 95 miles in length, were considered. As the rates on 100 lb. of freight over that railway were $2.70 for 95 miles, while from Toronto to Montreal, a distance of 333 miles, the freight charges amounted to 12½c. per 100 lb., the secretary was instructed to write to the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. He was told to point out that while the difficulties in the cost and attending the building of such a road were recognized, the rates proposed were felt to be excessive, and so it was thought that they should insist on a considerable reduction. Archibald Campbell, who is chairman of the Railway and Transportation Committee, will appear before the Privy Council in support of the letter from the committee.

WHAT MAKES FLAVOR IN TEA.

The Indian papers mention that Mr. C. R. Newton has made the discovery of a ferment on the tea leaf which produces the flavor of tea, and that he has applied for a patent for its utilization in some form. The gentleman in question is civil and mechanical engineer at Kurseong. As regards the flavor of tea it is quite an open point whether the ferment has any effect on the flavor of teas. The investigations which Mr. Mann, the Indian expert, is conducting, will probably throw some light on this point.—Home and Colonial Mail.

SAILING DIRECT TO EUROPE.

Horace Hazard, of Charlottetown, and the board of trade of that place, have, for some time, been endeavoring to promote the sailing of a steamship from Prince Edward Island direct to the ports of Great Britain. So the steamer Daltonhall recently arrived in Charlottetown harbor and took on board over $135,000 worth of the Island's produce, and sailed for Liverpool direct. This is affording great encouragement to the promoters of the scheme.

ASK INCREASED DUTY.

On December 19, the Minister of Finance, at Ottawa, was waited on by a deputation of market gardeners of Ontario and Quebec, who asked for a higher rate of duty on vegetables coming into Canada. The Ontario gardeners were headed by Archie Campbell, ex-M.P., and those from the lower Province, by F. D. Monk, M.P.

As large quantities of vegetables are being imported from the United States, our own people, over 4,000 of whom gain a livelihood by the growing of vegetables for consumption in large cities, were greatly handicapped in finding a market for their products. A slight increase in the duty was suggested as a remedy, and the deputation was promised that their plea would be considered.

At the request of the bakers of Montreal, the Finance Committee of the Montreal Council have decided to appoint a municipal inspector to inquire into the quality of bread, the places where it was baked, etc. The duties of the new officer will begin on May 1 next.

It has been reported to Ottawa that the board on western grain standards has been influenced by speculators to grade Alberta oats as inferior so that the speculators may make a haul. In the Edmonton district there are grown 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 bushels of oats, which are claimed to be equal to the best grown in Canada.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

December 26, 1901.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N. B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page 14.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices. All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

PRESERVE MANUFACTURERS AND WAR CONTRACTS.

From Scottish Trader, Glasgow, Dec. 7.

LORD WILLS and a special jury were last week engaged at the Liverpool Assizes for two days hearing the case of Walter Scott & Co., preserve manufacturers, Rock Ferry, against Thomas Donnelly, tin canister maker, Liverpool, for breach of contract. The plaintiff claimed £360 in respect of damages sustained through breach of agreement on account of defendant supplying defective tins. Defendant counter-claimed for £412 for tins supplied and soldering done by him. Mr. Horridge, K.C., and Mr. Rigby Swift were for the plaintiffs, and Mr. McCall, K.C., and Mr. F. E. Smith were for the defendant.

In opening the case for the plaintiffs Mr. Horridge stated that they had supplied the Government with several large contracts, and had no complaint whatever until their dealing with the defendant, Donnelly. The last order received by the plaintiffs from the War Office was for 200,000 tins of strawberry jam, and plaintiff entered into contract with the defendant for the supply of these tins, which were guaranteed to be of strong plate, well made and soldered, and free from leakage. After the plaintiff had delivered and the Government had accepted upwards of 160,000 tins, it was then found that the last consignment of 40,000 tins (to complete the contract of 200,000) arrived at Woolwich in a leaky condition, and were rejected. On receipt of the intimation of the rejection, Mr. Campbell, of the plaintiff's firm, requested the defendant to accompany him to Woolwich for the purpose of inspecting the damaged condition of the tins. After the inspection the defendant instructed Mr. Campbell to have the goods sent home, and he would replace, free of expense, the rejected tins, and pay all railway and other expenses caused by the rejection. This was accordingly done, and the plaintiffs completed their contract with the War Office. The defendant thereupon sent invoices to the plaintiffs for the substituted tins, and repudiated payment of any expense caused by the rejection, and sought payment of an account of £412. The plaintiffs thereupon served Donnelly with a writ for £360, being the amount of their out-of-pocket costs caused by his defective work.

Mr. McCall, K.C., admitted that if the rejection was due to defective work by the defendant, then he was liable, but he should endeavor to show that the rejection was caused by rough usage or handling of the cases in which they were packed, either on the part of the plaintiffs' servants or the railway.

Mr. Campbell, who was under examination for nearly two hours, testified to the cases being properly handled at their works, and carefully loaded on to the railway lorries, and that on the return of the cases from Woolwich they bore no trace whatever of any rough usage or handling. Witness also stated that it was not his experience that tins, no matter what care was taken of them, would get dented. The plaintiffs presented a very strong case.

Mr. McCall, in opening for the defendant, admitted that his client had acted throughout the whole negotiations in a most unbusinesslike way, and had been far outclassed by Mr. Campbell, of the plaintiffs firm, who, in his series of clever and business letters, saddled his client for the entire loss and all liability.

When the court resumed after lunch, Mr. McCall intimated that he had come to the conclusion that his case should not be kept up longer, and that he was prepared to allow plaintiffs judgment of £260, and that the defendant's counter claim must fall, the defendant undertaking to pay all the costs of the action.

His Lordship.—A very proper thing to do.

Mr. McCall.—The defendant desires me to say that he feels this to be a result due to a large extent to the unbusinesslike way in which he neglected to answer letters from the plaintiffs.

His Lordship.—Not answering letters, of course, goes a long way. I am very reluctant to believe that people can receive a series of letters of this kind without anything in the shape of a written protest, unless the case made out by the letters is substantially true.

Mr. McCall.—Letters stating one side, and unanswered and unprotested against, are evidence that it is very difficult to meet, and it had an overwhelming weight in my mind in giving my client the advice I did.

Mr. Horridge agreed to the terms, but did not accept Mr. McCall's statement as an explanation of the letters.

The case caused immense interest in Liverpool and district, many leading preserve manufacturers being present, as well as the leading tinplate and canister manufacturers. Several of the large sugar refiners, many of whom pack syrups in tins, were also present, and who were, therefore, all interested in watching the case.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

FROM Australia, New Zealand and the River Plate, for the nine months of this year, the following are the total meat imports into Great Britain, with the fluctuations, as compared with the receipts during the same period of last year: From Australia—738,206 mutton carcasses, increase 280,197; 365,341 lamb carcasses, increase 90,213; 67,497 beef quarters, decrease 122,761. From New Zealand—1,340,231 mutton carcasses, decrease 200,258; 1,300,683 lamb carcasses, increase 41,180; 108,409 beef quarters, decrease 32,614. From the River Plate—1,950,261 mutton carcasses, increase 65,546; 1,149 lamb carcasses, decrease 1,530; 322,972 beef quarters, increase 155,532.

Victoria, Australia's, export of frozen mutton during 1900 amounted to 210,592 cents, which compares very favorably with that of 1898, 125,611, though exceeded by the quantity in 1899, 236,577 cents. The value of mutton leaving the Government cool stores for shipment during the year was £47,983, and beef, £13,843, the total value of all produce passing through being £1,479,022. Frozen pork, to which trade greater attention is to be given, represented £3 030.

ENGLISH MEAT EATERS.

Chambers' Journal gives the following symptom of market conditions in England and of the improved condition of the middle classes as meat eaters.

Meat has made no pretense of going down in price of late years. It has ruled high for a long time, notwithstanding enormous importations from abroad; and, paradoxical as it may appear, the fact is in itself to some extent a symptom of easier times. Though the quantity of meat in our markets has increased enormously, prices have not gone down, because there have been so many more people who could afford to eat it.

THE TONE OF TRADE.

The domestic market is stronger than the foreign, because our home consumption has steadily increased with the financial improvement of the mass of our people.

The export brokers do not feel a brisk trade. Orders are plentiful, and inquiries prolific, but at European prices based on European conditions. Contract orders must, of course, be filled, and a trading basis be maintained. Beyond these exigencies in the export market very little goes abroad unless the American trader is outbid.

Hides are strong enough but a bit off in quality as a general rule. The demand holds strong and sustained. The oil market has its vibrations due to the vacillation of the hog market, but the undertone is strong.

Lard has lost no real ground. There is a disposition to hammer this product for output reasons. The manufacturer has his own troubles in the high price of raw products, but the maker of those products has bought stock in a high market, and the by-products must help bear the burden.

Trading is generally good in the face of the large element of speculation in lard, pork products and other articles.—National Provisioner, New York.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The cold weather that has prevailed lately has increased the offerings in Northern and Western hogs, which are now 10c. easier. They now sell at $7.90 per 100 lb. in carlots. On the local market, the receipts of dressed hogs have been moderate, the bulk being of the heavier variety. Light shop hogs are very scarce. The market this week is not quite so firm, but the prices remain unchanged. We quote: Dressed hogs, $8.10 to $8.25; beef carcasses, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6 to $7 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5 per 100 lb. Veal, 6 to 7½c. per lb.; lambs, 6 to 6½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.50, and lights $6 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

The prices of all hog products are very firm, and Canadian short cut barrel pork is 50c. higher, owing to the better feeling therefor on the British market. Lard still continues very firm. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11½c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $19.50 to $20; short cut, $21.50 to $22; lard, in tierces, 11c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼c., and pails, 11½c.

MONTREAL.

The market is steady to firm. Boar's Head Compound is advanced ¼c.

per pound. We now quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00; Chicago clear pork, $23.25 for heavy and $22.75 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 12 to 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.25 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's), $2.02 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.00 for 25 to 49 pails; $1.99 for 50 pails and over; Snow White and Globe compound, $1.72½ per pail; Cottolene, 10¾c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10½c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Pork is very firm. The stock of best grade barrelled pork is very small. There is but a fair demand. In beef, the market is dull, and, compared with pork, prices are low. A fairly large stock of pure lard is held. Prices are firm and high. For best compound there is a fair sale.

CORNER BEEF FROM HEAD MEAT.

The meat from cattle heads is very serviceable for putting into canned stock when it is more profitable to employ it here rather than in the sausage department. The stock employed is the meat trimmed from the heads, known as cheek meat. The latter when taken from the bullock's head should be stripped therefrom in as large pieces as possible and not in fragments and shreds as might be the case when employed in the making of sausages.

The meat after being taken from the head should be thrown into a large vat of clean, cold water, washed well, and then allowed to soak for 24 hours, for the purpose of eliminating the blood and also to lighten the color of the meat which naturally is very dark and very glutinous. It is quite necessary during the progress of the soaking, to stir the meat a few times to expose all the pieces to the action of the soak water and also to change the water at least once during the 24 hours.

In hot weather it is necessary to put ice in the soaking vats in order to keep the water cool—a necessary precaution, as cheek meat contains so much gelatinous matter. The meat is, after soaking, drained off and taken to the pickling-room or cellar and placed in 75 deg. pickle for 15 days. As this pickle is rather light, growing weaker as the time advances, it is advisable to put with it a mild preservative, such as borax or boracic acid. For each 1,000 lb. of meat, 2 lb. of boracic acid or 3 lb. of borax will be sufficient, although these quantities may be slightly increased on this class of meat without detriment.

A much improved article over the plain and only cheek meat product is obtained by using with it, one fourth of its weight of beef shank meat, cured in the same way. When ready for canning, the meat is shrunk or blanched for an hour in boiling water, care being taken to have the small shank meat and trimmings, when used, well distributed through the other meat to insure uniformity. For 2-lb. cans, stuff into each can 1 lb. 13 oz. meat. The cans are then wiped, capped, and the centre vents stopped in the usual manner. The cans are then processed in the open water bath at 212 degrees Fahr. for 2 hours and 15 minutes. The cans are then removed, the vents opened with an awl or similar instrument and then stopped up again as soon as possible. It is necessary to have the vent holes picked by awls so that the meat may be picked out of the holes, thereby allowing the cans to exhaust properly, and also to facilitate the work, as the vents cannot be stopped until the can is thoroughly and completely exhausted.

After this process has been properly carried out, the cans are returned to the water bath and boiled off for three hours, when they are removed and showered until cool.

For 1-lb. cans; they should be processed for 2 hours and then boiled off for two hours, both in the open vat, using the same precautions as to exhausting the cans, etc.

DEVELOPMENT OF CANADA'S BACON TRADE.

At the recent Winter Fair in Guelph, Ont., a most interesting address was given by Mr. J. W. Flavelle, of The Wm. Davies Packing Co., Limited, on the bacon industry of Canada. It was undoubtedly one of the best ever delivered in this country on the subject. The following excellent report of the address is from The Weekly Sun, Toronto: I have heretofore hesitated about expressing a definite opinion on the matter of breed. But, in my opinion, the time has come when an unequivocal expression of opinion on this point should be given.

EVERYBODY LISTENED THEN.

This was an intimation that a most important statement was coming, and in a moment, even in that densely packed hall, there was a silence that was broken only by the speaker's voice—a clear indication of the intensity of the interest felt in this most important matter.

Either as pure breeds, or for the purpose of cross-breeding, Mr. Flavelle continued, the breed that gives us the largest percentage of select bacon hogs is the Yorkshire. I have no interest in any breed. I speak simply as a bacon curer; from that standpoint, basing my judgment on the experience of years, there is no question that the greatest improvement is to be looked for from the free use of good York males. In the West, where the predominant type is of short and of undesirable form, this is especially true, and I would like to see a wide distribution of York males all over that section of the country.

WHERE THE TAM LACKS.

The objection to the Tam in the west, where he is chiefly bred, is that he seems to lose his identity in crossing. Thousands of sides of bacon have been sold in the British market from Western Ontario that graded No. 2 simply because the hogs from which these sides were taken showed the heavy fat shoulder, that is characteristic of the western hogs—and a characteristic that Tams seem unable to remove.

That is where the York has the advantage. He has the peculiar quality of fixing his own impress on the offspring in crossing with other breeds.

Wiltshire sides are made from all breeds, but what we want for breeding purposes is a hog that will give the largest percentage, under average conditions, of No. 1 bacon, and that hog we find in the York.

$1,000,000 A MONTH.

Dealing with the magnitude and phenomenal development of the bacon industry (which he hopes to see still further developed by means of improved breeding), Mr. Flavelle said: At present this industry is causing the distribution in this country of $250,000 a week, or rather better than a million dollars per month. Ten years ago the amount distributed was $10,000 per week, or $40,000 per month. Ten years ago the factories of Canada had a capacity of 4,000 hogs per week; at the present time they have, easily, a capacity of 45,000 hogs per week.

What has brought about this stupendous development that has taken place in one short decade? The development is due, in the first place, to the efforts of the packers in the earlier years to educate our farmers up to an appreciation of the possibilities in the trade; and I do not think I shall be accused of bad taste if I say in that early educational work, Wm. Davies, sr., occupied a first place. In the second place, credit is due to Prof. Robertson, who, in many lines, has rendered incalculable service to the people of this country, and also to the farmers' institutes and the Experimental Farm at Guelph. And, thirdly, credit must be awarded to the active and intelligent cooperation of the farmers of Canada, who are raising more hogs, of better quality, than ever before.

EDUCATIONAL WORK COMMENDED.

I desire to emphasize the point that the educational work which is being carried on through the Ontario Department of Agriculture is invaluable. In that connection I believe that the extent of the influence which goes out from this Fair is hard to measure. The Farmers' Institute lecturers who assemble here acquire information that could not well be acquired in any other way—information which is afterwards disseminated all over the Province.

Then Mr. Flavelle undertook to show why, in his opinion, despite the phenomenal progress of the past, we cannot look for any great increase in the future. There is, he said, a general mistake, due to a misstatement of the facts, as to the extent of the British market for Canadian bacon. There is a general belief that the British market for such bacon is practically unlimited. This misapprehension has arisen from the statement as to the enormous clearances from United States packing houses, and the inference has been drawn that the market to which this American bacon goes is open to us. This is quite an error. American bacon goes to the North of England manufacturing districts, and for this peculiar market the Canadian hog is not the most suitable type. There is no fair chance for us to compete successfully for that particular class of trade.

WHERE BRITAIN GETS HER BACON

There are four principal sources from which supplies are drawn for that part of the British market for which we are competing. These are England itself, Ireland, Denmark-Sweden, and Canada. For the supply of that market England herself is contributing 5,000 hogs per week; Ireland, 5,000 to 12,000 per week; Denmark-Sweden, 18,000 to 28,000 per week, while Canada (which in this case practically means Ontario), is furnishing 25,000 hogs per week. We have thus reached a point at which the Dominion is furnishing a larger proportion of the Wiltshire sides consumed by England than is any one of the rivals of this country.

ONLY MODERATE INCREASE LOOKED FOR IN FUTURE.

This trade in which we are competing is a restricted trade. In that trade normal conditions have, I believe, now been reached. I am inclined to think the share of the supplies for this market that are drawn from Europe will remain about stationary, and that Canada will claim and secure the business of meeting the natural increase in the British demand.

But I do not believe we can hope for more than this natural increase. We

CEYLON TEA

BLACK

The merit of the Black Teas has established them high in popular estimation. They are drunk wherever the English language is spoken. They follow the flag and drive out less meritorious growths.

OR

But some consumers are wedded to light drawing kinds, with pale liquor and without the full body and richness of the black kinds.

GREEN

The Green Teas of Ceylon are made expressly for this trade. In Make, Quality and Price they challenge comparison with other growths.

They are grown, prepared and packed with the same skill by the British Planters who have revolutionized the black tea trade.

They have caught on in Canada and are no longer in the experimental stage. Try them.

shall have to struggle even for that. It is always easier to secure first place than to hold it. In order to do this we shall all have to be true to the best interests of the industry. The breeders will have to produce the best breeding stock. The feeders will have to feed in the best possible way, and the packer will have to adopt the best system of curing and marketing.

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE CALLED FOR.

There must, too, be a fair measure of confidence between all concerned. There has been altogether too much of the statement "If packers want the best hogs why do they not pay the price?" There is enough that is unfair in this to make it mischievous. The packer cannot make the price of the hog. All he can do is to pay an average price based on the average price he receives for his bacon. If there is collusion to fix prices it is your right to submit the packers to the most searching criticism; but where there is no collusion, where there is the freest and most open competition, nothing but mischief can come from the statements made. The delivery of hogs in Canada is 25,000 per week; the capacity of Canadian factories is 15,000 hogs per week; thus the factory capacity is 20,000 beyond supply, and therein is your assurance of free and full competition.

WELL TO BE BELOW DANISH IN PRICE

So far as price is concerned, I would like to see Canadian bacon sell high in England and to see Canadian hog-producers get good prices for their hogs; but I do not think it would be well to see Canadian bacon up to or above the price of Danish. It is by getting below the price of Danish that we can prevent the increase of Denmark's share in supplying the English market and hold that increase ourselves.

LESS AVERAGE AND MORE IDEAL DEMANDED

There has been too much of average quality in the hogs sent to market. The Government, as leader of the people, should endeavor to raise the average; there should be a striving after the ideal. We have culled out pretty severely as packers, but it is harder to do that now than when there were fewer of us. (Laughter.) But there should be mutual confidence between all parties in the trade. We should each try to do our part in improving the quality of our product, and look to the Government to see fair play between us all.

The Government, said John Oliver, of The Palmerston Packing Co., can do something on its own account by taking measures for the reduction of freight rates.

WHERE DENMARK HAS THE ADVANTAGE

Why should not our bacon sell as high as Danish in England? asked someone, after Mr. Flavelle had finished his address.

"Because," said Mr. Flavelle, "Danish bacon can be carried to the English market in 21 hours; no preservatives are needed in the curing of it, as are required in our case; and there is, further, still a prejudice against our product in England because some people in that country even yet class our bacon with that from the United States, not having fully realized that there are two countries in North America. To-day Canadian bacon is selling in England at about 51 to 52s. per cwt., as against 57 to 58s. for Danish."

WHY PRICES FLUCTUATE.

"What is the cause of the extreme fluctuation in price of hogs—$1.50 in a week or two?" Mr. Flavelle was next asked.

"The extreme fluctuations in England," was the answer. "The bacon trade affords a striking resemblance to the fruit trade. In Toronto you may send a lot of early strawberries home in the morning, bought at 20c. per box, and in the evening hear hawkers calling 'three boxes for a quarter.' A sudden rush may have caused the drop. Just so in bacon. A sudden rush of supplies may at any time cause a reduction. The marketing of a lot of hogs in November, that will reach England as bacon at Christmas time, when other foods are wanted, has the same effect.

"The largest percentage of overfats," said Mr. Flavelle, in answer to another question, "are received between now and March, because farmers, in trying to escape the November drop, hold their hogs until overdone. In all cases hogs should be marketed just as soon as they are ripe."

PERCENTAGE OF NO. 1 IN RECEIPTS.

In reply to someone else, Mr. Flavelle said that about 20 per cent. of the hogs now being received class as Nos. 2, 1 or 5 per cent. as soft, and 3 per cent. as bruised.

Manager Wilson, of the Ingersoll factory, put the percentage of bruised much higher—10 to 15 per cent.

A farmer in the hall said the drover was mainly responsible for these bruises.

"But the farmer is partly responsible," responded Mr. Flavelle, "and my mother once told me, when I was partly responsible for a wrong condition of things, to take all the blame to myself and try to effect a remedy." Mr. Flavelle further said part of the bruising is done to hogs when carried in farmers' wagons, by striking against the cross strips over the top of the box in which they are carried.

In reply to another question, Mr. Flavelle said there was a difference between the ideal and No. 1. No. 1 is a commercial term, which includes all that can go into that commercial class; but even in No. 1 there are variations between those that are exactly as wanted and those just a little below this standard. Mr. Flavelle said that at present 70 per cent. of the sides received by The Davies Co. are classed as No. 1, and about half of these are ideal, or just what are wanted.

TRUSTS IN ANCIENT INDIA.

WE live in an age of trusts. By most people they have been thought a product of the rapacious trading spirit of our American consins, but this, it seems, is not fair to our American consins, their origin being really far more ancient than anything American. A letter recently sent by a Sanskrit scholar to The Frankfurter Zeitung, states that "Trusts" were known to the natives of ancient India, for the Yajnavalkya (II. 219), the code of law with which the Mann forms even at the present time the basis of the law administered to the natives in Indian courts, contains the following directions: "The highest money-fine is to be applied to people who unite and fix the prices of products to the detriment of artisans and artists, although they are well aware of the rising and falling of prices. The same fine is also to be applied to all merchants who exclude merchandise by a wrong price, or are selling the same at the latter." The Yajnavalkya law-book was introduced about 300 years A.C., and the part quoted above fully shows how advanced was the economic life of the ancient Indians even in those early times. Incidentally it also furnishes, in regard to the prohibition of trusts, an interesting sidelight on the school of thought at the age referred to. Verily, there is nothing new under the sun.—Commercial Intelligence, London.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

No. 9

EVERY store-keeper who wants a brightly lighted store should use this lamp—it is the only one giving 200 candle power.

IT makes its own gas automatically and is cheaper to run than a center-draft oil lamp.

THERE is no smoke or smell, of any kind, from it.

HUNDREDS of them are in use and every one is giving satisfaction.

AUER LIGHT CO., 1682 Notre Dame St., MONTREAL.

IF THE LAMP IS NOT ALL YOU HOPE IT TO BE WE WILL CHEERFULLY RETURN YOUR MONEY.

BRADSTREET'S

Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000.

Offices Throughout the Civilized World.

Executive Offices: Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York City, U.S.A.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants, by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information, no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial, fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence invited.
